OFFICE OF THE SECRETARY OF STATE
STATE OF MISSOURI
JEFFERSON CITY 65101

Dear Fellow Missourians:

You have in your hands a slice of Missouri history--the 66th Edition of the Official Manual, State of Missouri. Since 1878, Missourians have turned to the "Blue Book" to find the information they need about our state government, our history and our culture.

This year, we commemorate the pioneers and innovators who helped build the foundation of modern-day Missouri. One of those was the renowned inventor from southwest Missouri, George Washington Carver. He reminded his fellow citizens that, "No individual has any right to come into the world and go out of it without leaving something behind."

Carver's attitude has inspired untold numbers of researchers, institutions and people throughout our state's history. From our immigrant ancestors who explored this land, to the trailblazers in research whose scientific discoveries helped change the world, our state has embraced bold ideas and daring ventures.

Missouri is, indeed, a land of new beginnings--a crossroads for agricultural and scientific advancement, as well as a sought after destination for immigrants and new Americans. Such a potent combination creates a dynamic environment where innovation can take root and thrive.

In commemorating Missouri visionaries, I want to remember two noble public servants we lost this year--former Senator Thomas F. Eagleton and former Lieutenant Governor Harriet Woods. Their combined years as elected officials totaled nearly a half century. Both will remain role models for coming generations of Missourians.

Dr. Albert Einstein once said, "Learn from yesterday, live for today, hope for tomorrow. The important thing is not to stop questioning."

This book is dedicated to Missouri's spirit of inquiry and exploration and with it our quest for a future that brightens all our lives.

Very truly yours,

Missouri's Innovators of Yesterday, Today, and Tomorrow

The 2007-2008 Missouri Blue Book is dedicated to Missouri's innovators of yesterday, today, and tomorrow and their contributions toward making the world a better place.

YESTERDAY

Adventure . . . Discovery . . . Innovation. Missouri has long been recognized for its contributions to our nation's progress and development.

Our tradition began in earnest in 1804, when Lewis and Clark's Corps of Discovery set out from St. Charles to explore the new frontier. In time, other innovators and trailblazers would fill the pages of Missouri history. For example, George Washington Carver devised over 300 uses for the peanut and developed a crop rotation method that revolutionized agriculture. Astronomer Edwin Hubble classified galaxies and applied the laws of physics to explain the expansion of the universe. William Lear designed a number of aviation-related electronic devices, and worked to develop new materials for airplanes and an antipollution steam engine.

Missouri also gave the world such innovative thinkers as engineer Henry Shreve, who altered the design of the steamship so it could navigate shallow waters and created a boat to clear log jams and snares, and Robert Maurer, who helped design the first optical fiber for use in telecommunications. Luella Owen, a self-educated geologist and speleologist, did field work on unique geological features of the American West, and wrote Cave Regions of the Ozarks and Black Hills. James Ferguson did critical work on liquid crystal displays, which are essential parts of wrist watches, laptop computers, and television screens. Other innovators include one-time University of Missouri assistant professor and Nobel Prize winner Barbara McClintock, whose discovery of mobile genetic elements, or "jumping genes," helped lay the foundation for modern genetics. Fellow Nobel Prize winner Jack Kilby was a co-inventor of the integrated circuit, which forms the basis of almost every electronic product used today.

Thanks to their daring quests, Missouri and the world have benefited from better medicines, more plentiful food, and new communications and transport technologies.

TODAY

In 2007, Missouri is still leading the way in scientific discovery. Individuals and groups across the state continue innovative research whether working alone, in universities, or in health science, biotechnology, and aeronautical companies. Today Missouri is a twenty-first century laboratory where leaders from the worlds of industry, agriculture, and technology come together to find common ground.

Problem solvers are at work developing alternative energy sources and devising new ways to dispose of waste in order to help preserve resources and land for future generations. They are creating crops that can withstand pestilence and drought, helping in the global fight against hunger. Engineers are building components of America's space shuttles, airplanes, and satellites, eliminating obstacles to communication and bringing people together. Medical researchers are taking part in the mapping of the human genome and in scientific research that sheds new light on the causes of disease, laying the groundwork for finding tomorrow's lifesaving cures.

TOMORROW

An even more expansive role is envisioned for Missouri as our young people catch the spirit of discovery. Partnerships between universities, school districts, private foundations, and companies are offering new and exciting opportunities to inspire and prepare young Missourians to make a difference through science and progress.

The University of Missouri-St. Louis administers Students and Teachers as Research Scientists, a six-week summer program that gives talented high school students and their teachers the opportunity to participate in research projects in the sciences. The program works to enhance knowledge and encourage careers in scientific research and discovery by pairing students and teachers with practicing research mentors.

The University of Missouri-Rolla is home to an American Society for Metals weeklong summer program, where dedicated high school seniors learn about material science, engineering, and careers in the engineering field. Washington University sponsors the Young Scientist Program, entirely run by student volunteers, which promotes science and scientific careers to high school students from disadvantaged backgrounds through exposure to research projects and mentoring by active scientists.

Northwest Missouri State University offers an accelerated, two-year residential school, the Missouri Academy of

Soybean Research
University of Missouri-Columbia

Science, Mathematics, and Computing, for talented high school students. Students in this program live and work in a community of peers while pursuing college coursework and focusing on new advancements, technologies and solutions for tomorrow.

As George Washington Carver said, "Since new developments are the products of a creative mind, we must therefore stimulate and encourage that type of mind in every way possible."

In dedicating this year's Blue Book to Missouri's role in scientific progress, we pay tribute to those who have made our state a leader in innovation and discovery, as well as to those who continue this tradition.

Laura Jolley

Charles Elliot Gill was one of the countless amateur photographers who emerged in the 1880s with the advent of more simplified cameras and manufactured glass plate negatives. No longer forced to drag their darkrooms and dangerous chemicals around with them, photographers could easily photograph places and events in their own communities that had never been captured on a negative before. Gill spent years documenting life in the Upper Ozarks with his 1906 SEROCO extended view camera and it is because of his love for photography and his strong sense of identity that we have this view into a rural lifestyle that in great part no longer exists.

Gill was born July 8, 1869, to staunch Methodists and educators, Joseph and Martha Gill. The Gill family settled at the head of the Meramec River in Dent County where they raised wheat and cattle. Joseph Gill was also a teacher, a county school commissioner, and a State Representative. Reading and music were encouraged in the large Gill family. Charles Gill took less to farming and more to self-education for most of his life. Charles read anything he could lay his hands on. His favorite past time seems to have been escaping into the fantasy world of The Youth's Companion, a popular national journal that encouraged writing, traveling, and hobbies of all kinds, including amateur photography.

When Gill was 18 years old he received his first camera, but he did not actively begin documenting life in the Ozarks until 1910. Prior to this his main preoccupation was traveling. Although he admitted to great homesickness on his first trip West in 1895, he continued to break the monotony of farm life by traveling and making frequent trips to both coasts. While traveling, he supported himself with whatever jobs the local economies could provide. Gill never learned to drive. He relied solely on the kindness of people and his value of hard work to get by. He made his last trip West in 1947, at the age of 78.

Despite his love of travel, Gill always returned home to Dent County and farm life. He was married briefly to Myrtle Hayes in 1917. The couple remained together long enough to have a son, Edward Addison Gill, in 1918. By 1921, however, Myrtle tired of her husband's roaming and the couple divorced. He never remarried. Instead, when not attending to the farm, he filled his life with reading, writing, and taking pictures. Although he was not a particularly successful farmer, Gill was raised to appreciate the self-sufficient rural lifestyle. The rituals of farming and rural community activities ordered Gill's life and became the focal point of what he chose to capture with his camera. His photographs are both documentary and artistic and help to illuminate the Ozarks experience.

For more than 30 years Gill used the same camera. He washed his glass plate negatives in a stream behind his house. He grew old in a time of immense change, although he was not particularly eager to embrace change himself. His photographs show how the Ozarks region was affected by the passing of time and how it simultaneously remained a simple and beautiful place.

Charles Elliot Gill finally sold the family farm in 1943 and moved to Salem, Missouri. He died on July 15, 1962, at the age of ninety-three. His son Ed Gill, who resides in Salem with his wife Eileen, donated his father's collection, consisting of 722 glass plate negatives and some original prints, to the Missouri State Archives.

Acknowledgements:

Countless people throughout state government again assisted us in compiling the information in this edition of the state's Official Manual. Many thanks to these dedicated public servants. You helped make our enormous task possible.

Thank you to the many members of the Secretary of State team who helped along the way. Specifically I'd like to thank a handful of people whose assistance has been invaluable: Laura Jolley in our Records Services Division provided us with the wonderful photographs used to illustrate the feature story. She is also the resident expert on the Gill photograph collection and provided us with the many pictures from this collection that you will see throughout this edition. Also from our Records Services Division, Shelly Croteau and John Korasic edited the feature story and their expertise is gratefully acknowledged and appreciated. Thank you also to Don Hamilton and Terry Davis in our Division of Information Technology for helping us organize the personnel section.

And what can I say about the dedicated and talented members of the Division of Publications? Julie Stegeman and Michael Douglas-Llyr have done this many times before and it just gets better and better. Their dedication does not go unnoticed and I thank them for their many hours of work on this massive project. It would not be in your hands without them. Thanks to Charlotte Meek for her tenacity and good humor, and for keeping the rest of the office in order as we made our way through this "blue book season." This past year we said good-bye to Jade Long, who left us to pursue her love of writing. Jade's attention to detail and quick wit will be missed, but we wish her well and much success. Kate Swearengen took over for Jade toward the hectic end of the process, but she's a quick study and her help has been most appreciated. We are happy to have her on board.

On behalf of Missouri Secretary of State Robin Carnahan, and myself, we extend our heartfelt gratitude and hope you enjoy the 2007-2008 Official Manual.

For the Sake of the Children: Missouri's Immigrant History

Robyn Burnett and Ken Luebbering

Introduction

Fredrich Steines was a Prussian teacher who came to Missouri in search of the freedom and opportunity promised in the New World. He arrived in St. Louis in July 1834 with his wife and children, his parents, and several other members of his extended family. Within a month his wife and all four of his children had died from cholera. "Was it not, in great measure, for the sake of my children," he wrote in an anguished letter home to his relatives, "that I had attempted the great undertaking?" Steines' letter expresses the hope of most immigrants to Missouri that the sacrifices they make in uprooting themselves from their homes and settling in a foreign land will be rewarded by better lives for themselves and their children. Fortunately, not all immigrant experiences end so tragically, and most immigrants realize at least some of their dreams.

Immigrants figure significantly in the history of Missouri. They have contributed to the state's culture, politics and economy. They came in search of economic opportunity, political freedom and religious liberty. Most, like Fredrich Steines, came full of hope and expectation. Their stories share similarities, but the range of immigrant experience is wide and varied. The stories of individuals illustrate both the patterns and the varieties of the immigrant experience.

Most of Missouri's immigrants came for economic reasons, pushed from their homes by land shortages, crop failures, poor wages or faltering economies and pulled to Missouri because of opportunities here – for jobs, land or a new beginning. Bridget Byrne left County Mayo in Ireland at the age of thirteen or fourteen in 1869, believing she could find employment to support herself in St. Louis. First she worked as a maid for a wealthy family, then as a seamstress in a garment factory. Hers is a story repeated countless times.

In contrast to those who came for economic opportunity, a smaller number came for political reasons. The "Forty-Eighters" who fled the German states following the failed democratic revolutions in 1848 arrived in St. Louis in the 1850s and formed an important part of the state's intellectual elite. Carl Schurz, for example, became an important journalist, serving as editor of the St. Louis Westliche Post for a time. In 1869 Schurz won election to the U.S. Senate from Missouri and went on to an illustrious national career in public service.

A desire for religious freedom motivated some, as well. In 1838 several hundred Lutherans arrived in St. Louis looking for a place to practice their religion without the oversight of the state church in Saxony. Some stayed in St. Louis while others settled in Perry County. Helped in the early years by their American neighbors, the settlements eventually prospered and these Saxons became the nucleus of the large and influential Missouri Synod of the Lutheran Church. Later in the nineteenth century and again in the twentieth, European Jews fleeing religious and ethnic persecution also immigrated to Missouri.

A sense of religious calling motivated some immigrants. Roman Catholic priests came to Missouri to help establish churches and schools, and often became leaders in their communities. Italian-born Bishop Joseph Rosati developed a plan for opening the first hospital west of the Mississippi in 1829, enlisting the financial support of Irish businessman John Mullanphy and recruiting Sisters of Charity to run the hospital. Many immigrant nuns committed their lives to serving others, founding schools, orphanages and hospitals. Second- and third-generation immigrant women also joined religious orders, carrying on the work of those pioneering nuns and contributing to Missouri's educational, medical and economic development.

Sisters of St. Mary of the Third Order of St. Francis.

Whether they came for economic, political or religious reasons, word of better opportunities drew many immigrants to Missouri. News arrived in letters from previous immigrants and books extolling Missouri's virtues. Immigration societies promoted the state as an attractive destination and large employers such as railroads and meatpacking companies sent recruiting agents to Europe to find cheap labor. All were effective in enticing people to leave their homes for a new beginning in Missouri.

Once immigrants were settled, they often drew family and friends from the old country through a process called "chain migration." Immigrants wrote letters home of their experiences in Missouri and encouraged their friends and family members to join them. In every large immigrant group in Missouri, established immigrants helped those newly arrived by providing shelter, work and an entry into American society. In some areas of the German states in the mid-1800s, authorities prohibited the popular practice of reading immigrant letters from the pulpit in the village church because of a fear that the land would become depopulated. In 1855 twelve-year-old Elise Dubach's family decided to leave their home in Switzerland, where they lived comfortably on the income from their rented dairy farm, after a letter from Elise's Uncle Christian praised Missouri and marveled at the opportunity to own land in America. A few months later Elise and her family joined Christian and his wife in the bustling, westward-looking town of St. Joseph. It was not an easy transition, however. Within two weeks, her mother died and her world changed forever as she became household manager for her father and two younger brothers. Elise later married, had children and grandchildren, and according to her own story lived a long and happy life.

Such stories of immigrant experiences that begin badly but end happily are common. Friedrich Muench immigrated to Missouri in the 1830s as part of a German settlement society. After some members of the group absconded with the society's money, he and his brother-in-law used their own funds to pay back what the rest had invested. He and his wife settled on a farm near Dutzow. Quite unprepared for life as a farmer after a classical university education, Muench clumsily harvested his first crops using a sword from the Napoleonic Wars. From that inauspicious beginning, however, he went on to become a successful farmer and an important agricultural innovator and writer.

Others not so fortunate failed in their dreams of a better life. Henrietta Geisberg Bruns came to Westphalia with her physician husband Bernard in the 1830s. Opposed to the move from the beginning, Jette, as she was called, never found happiness in Missouri. She lost five young children, three of dysentery within the space of three weeks, and an older son killed in the Civil War. To the end of her long life, Jette believed she should have resisted her husband more strongly and remained in Germany.

Through the stories of individual immigrants, ordinary and extraordinary, patterns emerge. Immigrants did not come in a steady stream but in distinct waves. Byrne, Muench and Dubach were part of the greatest mass immigration that came predominantly from the German states and Ireland beginning in the 1830s and continuing until the outbreak of the Civil War in 1861. The Civil War caused a brief decline in immigration, but following the war German and Irish immigration resumed in significant numbers. The next important wave came from eastern and southern Europe and peaked in the 1890s and early 1900s. Following the outbreak of World War I in 1914, immigration to Missouri and the nation decreased dramatically. Since then, federal legislation has shaped immigration to the state. After the first world war, the U.S. Congress acted to curb immigration by imposing tight restrictions on the number of immigrants allowed to enter the country. These limits remained in place until 1965, although there were some exceptions for European refugees following World War II and again for Cold War refugees.

Southern town. The men of this group provided many of the business and political leaders in the early years of statehood. Whatever their economic class, these settlers gave the state its early southern culture and political bent.

Small numbers of new immigrants as well as descendants of English, Welsh, German, Dutch and other nationalities who had come to Colonial America joined the early Scotch-Irish settlers in Missouri. A few of these early settlers were Jews from the German states or from the Austrian Empire. They spoke German and were generally referred to as "German Jews." Among them was the Block family, originally from Bohemia, who settled in Missouri in the early decades of the nineteenth century. Nathan Abeles, fiancé of one of the Block daughters, joined them but was too poor to support a family when he arrived. Unable to find a job as a clerk in St. Louis, he became a peddler. Starting with only fourteen dollars, within a year he had earned enough to marry and settle down.

In addition, in early St. Louis a relatively small number of Irish immigrants made a significant impact. Approximately one hundred Irish business and professional men, some of whom were French army veterans, entered St. Louis society shortly after the Louisiana Purchase. This group included prosperous merchants, the city's first sheriff and the publisher of the first newspaper, the Missouri Gazette. One of the most notable of these early Irish settlers was businessman and philanthropist John Mullanphy, who was said to be the richest man in the Mississippi valley when he died in 1833. Mullanphy became wealthy after he heard that the War of 1812 had ended. He raced to New Orleans, arriving ahead of the news, in order to buy up cotton that was nearly worthless because of the British blockade. He paid four cents a pound for all he could acquire, then shipped it to England a few days later after the blockade had ended, selling it there for thirty cents a pound.

Missouri Transformed: The Arrival of Germans and Irish

In the decade after statehood, global economic forces were at work in ways that would transform Missouri's landscape, architecture, economy, political culture and even its cuisine. In the wake of the Napoleonic Wars, the economies of the western German states were nearing crisis. The amount of land suitable for growing crops proved insufficient to support the increasing population. The cottage-based linen weaving industry used by farm families for decades to provide additional income collapsed as the European clothing market was flooded with cheap garments manufactured in the newly industrialized Great Britain from cotton produced in the American South.

It was largely out of those western German states that the first large wave of immigrants began arriving in Missouri in the early 1830s. The arrival of Prussian lawyer Gottfried Duden in 1824 both heralded and precipitated this influx. Duden had come to believe that large-scale emigration was the best solution for German economic problems, and he came to Missouri in search of a good location for large German settlements. Duden spent three years living on a farm in Warren County during a period of extremely mild summers and winters. As a result, his book, Report on a Journey to the Western States, published after his return to Germany, was fulsome in its praise of Missouri. Duden's book was one of about fifty relating to life in the United States published in the German states during the first half of the nineteenth century, books that fired the imagination of many Germans. Interest was so great that it became known as "emigration fever," and it infected thousands of Germans seeking a better life. Germans organized emigration societies to help people arrange their journeys to America.

Several large groups came to Missouri as a result of the work of these societies.

In addition to the thousands arriving from the German states, some settlement societies were made up almost entirely of German speakers from the eastern United States. These groups drew both newly arrived Germans as well as German-speaking descendants of earlier immigrants. One such group founded the religious utopian community of Bethel in northeast Missouri. Envisioning a grand city in the west where German language and customs would be maintained, the German Settlement Society of Philadelphia founded Hermann in the late 1830s.

However, when Fredrich Steines arrived in St. Louis in 1834, Missouri had no grand cities. Steines found fewer than twenty German families and a few unmarried Germans among the city's population of about 7,000. Not all new German immigrants to Missouri settled in St. Louis, but virtually all of them passed through it because the city served as a transportation hub for the land to the west. Some stayed briefly while they earned money to buy land or made arrangements to travel farther into the state. Others remained permanently.

Within a period of a few years, St. Louis had become a city of immigrants. By the 1840s so many Germans lived in St. Louis that Emil Mallinckrodt wrote his brother that he heard so much German spoken on the streets that he could imagine himself back in Germany. Furthermore, the Germans he saw there were successful. These new immigrants provided St. Louis with countless skilled craftsmen and businessmen. Adolphus Meier was the son of a lawyer and worked in the shipping business as a young man. He opened a hardware store when he arrived in St. Louis in 1837. He exported tobacco and cotton and opened the first cotton-spinning mill west of the Mississippi in 1844. By 1850, nearly one-third of the city's 78,000 residents were German.

St. Louis Germans were not a homogeneous group, however. Divided by class, religion and different dialects, they were more likely to see themselves as Bavarian Catholic or Saxon Lutheran than simply German. The German-speaking Jews who arrived in the 1840s and 1850s also formed congregations according to nationality, for example: Bavarian, Bohemian or Polish.

Other Germans traveled farther inland, with most settling in the areas along the Missouri River between St. Louis and Jefferson City. Westphalia in Osage County, according to the 1860 Census, did not have a single family headed by a native-born American. Many Germans arrived with enough money to buy good land or the skills to earn it fairly quickly. They took advantage of the fertile land to establish farms and vineyards around villages near the river. Between 1830 and 1860 they transformed the river valleys and rolling hills of the state into a veritable German landscape, dotted with substantial stone, brick and wooden houses and barns on farms and in villages. Always, it seemed, there was a Catholic, Lutheran or Evangelical church on the most prominent hill in town, providing both a physical and symbolic center to the community.

The prosperous farms and the towns they supported effectively settled the Missouri frontier by 1860. In addition to St. Louis and the Missouri River valley, the areas of heaviest German concentration were along the Mississippi River, north of St. Louis in St. Charles, Lincoln and Pike counties and in the southeast in Perry, Cape Girardeau and Ste. Genevieve counties. Smaller concentrations of Germans settled in other areas, such as in St. Joseph. Although there had been a handful of other immigrants before the Civil War, including Poles, Bohemians and Belgians, the communities they established were quickly overrun by the wave of Germans. Still others, notably the Cornish and Welsh miners who came in the early years of statehood, remained in the state only a few years before moving on to find work in other states.

Germans quickly became the largest immigrant group in Missouri. While the 1830 Census counted only 155 “not naturalized” foreign-born residents in the state, by 1860 foreign-born Missourians numbered 160,525, almost 14 percent of the state’s total population and outnumbering Missouri’s slave population for the first time. More than half were German. Germans remained the majority of the state’s immigrants until the 1910 Census. German-language newspapers, theaters, churches and community groups sprang up everywhere they went. German stonemasons, farmers, vintners and stained glass artists changed the physical and cultural landscape of Missouri.

They also changed the political culture of the state. German immigrants were overwhelmingly antislavery. This brought them into conflict with the slave owners who effectively controlled Missouri politics. In the 1860 presidential election 70 percent of the voters supported a moderate approach and hoped to avoid conflict. Missouri elected Claiborne Fox Jackson governor as a moderate, but he quickly began talking of the dangers of the North and the advantages of secession. Through their participation in the political events of 1860–61, Missouri’s new German immigrants helped tip the balance against the plans of those politicians who wished to see Missouri secede from the Union.

Jackson supported a special convention to determine the state’s future. Outgoing Governor Robert M. Stewart appealed for moderation, and Missouri’s voters heeded his warnings, choosing no pro-secession delegates to the convention. Then Jackson mobilized the pro-southern state militia near St. Louis to capture the Union Arsenal. Rapid enlistment of large numbers of St. Louis Germans into the Union army led to the capture of the entire state militia and the virtual end of the secessionists’ hopes of having Missouri join the Confederacy.

During the antebellum period a second major immigration to Missouri took place, also driven by economic and political forces beyond our borders. British policies in Ireland excluded virtually all Irish Catholics from land ownership and encouraged Anglo-Irish landlords to produce food for export. Consequently, when potato blight struck the chief food crop of the Irish peasants in 1845, the results were disastrous. The blight continued through 1846 and 1847, and the lack of any meaningful relief measures resulted in a major famine. By 1847 the British solution to the famine was to ship the Irish peasants elsewhere, and more than 100,000 were sent to North America in that year alone. By 1848 landlords were evicting their starving Irish tenants by the thousands. During those horrible years, between one-half and two million died in Ireland while more than a million emigrated. By 1860, more than 43,000 Irish had come to Missouri. Nearly 70 percent settled in St. Louis, and there were small enclaves of Irish immigrants in communities throughout the state. Outside St. Louis the largest concentrations were in Jackson and Buchanan counties.

These immigrants typically arrived with little money. Furthermore, they came from rural areas and brought few skills useful in an urban environment. Prevented from buying farms by their lack of funds and unable to get well-paying jobs because of their lack of skills, they faced a situation only slightly less harsh than in Ireland. Although there were a few attempts to establish Irish farming communities, led in part by Father John Hogan, none succeeded. Consequently, virtually all of Missouri's Irish immigrants settled in cities and towns.

The St. Louis Irish took laboring jobs on the busy docks or in the various mills and factories in the booming city. Some left the city to help build the state's railroads. A dozen Irish laborers worked as gardeners on Henry Shaw's country estate, which later became the Missouri Botanical Garden. Young Irish women often found jobs in domestic service.

The Irish dispersed throughout the city, but in Old North St. Louis – an area just north and slightly west of downtown – “Kerry Patch” became a neighborhood symbolizing the city's Irish. The Sisters of Mercy arrived in 1856 to serve the poverty-stricken neighborhood. They cared for the poor and ill, and opened an industrial school for girls, an orphanage, and a Sunday school for African American women and girls. For decades, Kerry Patch remained one of the city's poorest neighborhoods. As the Irish became more financially secure, they moved out of their ethnic neighborhoods into more affluent areas.

St. Louis' new immigrants, especially those who were poor, uneducated and Roman Catholic, were not always welcomed. In fact, the combined numbers of Germans and Irish arriving in St. Louis in the 1840s and 1850s led to a hostile reaction among some of their American neighbors. The anti-immigrant Know Nothing Party gained control of city government in the 1840s and quickly shut down public transportation on Sunday afternoons to prevent the Germans from going to their theaters and beer gardens. In 1855 the administration of the city's Know Nothing mayor, Washington King, passed Sunday closing laws to control German Sunday activities. The Irish, too, were the focus of anti-immigrant sentiments. Although the city's sizeable population of Catholics meant the Irish were subjected to less hostility than in other cities, an 1844 riot that destroyed medical laboratories at St. Louis University had strong anti-Catholic overtones. Once large numbers of “famine Irish” arrived, according to historian William Faherty, the Know-Nothings came to identify St. Louis Catholicism with the new Irish immigrants. Election riots in 1854 concluded with an anti-immigrant mob attacking Irish homes and businesses and threatening to destroy Catholic churches in the city.

Industrialization and the “New” Immigrants

The Civil War caused a decline of almost one-third in Missouri's population, and the state's leaders looked outside Missouri's borders to alleviate the labor shortage. Before the war's end, Governor Hamilton Gamble appointed an agent to promote Missouri as a destination for European immigrants. In 1865, the General Assembly followed Gamble's recommendation and created the Missouri Board of Immigration to publish information describing the state's resources and advantages and to appoint agents to travel to the eastern United States and Europe to promote and aid immigration to Missouri. Because German immigrants were particularly sought, the board printed materials in German to better advertise the state. Gamble himself made recruiting trips, and private businessmen also helped promote the state. Efforts proved successful, and the 1870 Census showed more than 222,000 foreign born Missourians, an increase of nearly 40 percent over 1860. Germans and Irish remained the overwhelming majority of Missouri's immigrants until the end of the century. The 1880 Census reported 48,898 Missourians born in Ireland, and more than 106,000 from the German states. These later immigrants added to the growing population of St. Louis and filled in less populated rural parts of the state. Many who came during the 1880s settled in cities and towns as cheap land became less available.

During these decades more immigrants than before came from southern and eastern Europe. These new immigrants often faced hostility even from some older immigrants they might have expected to welcome them. For example, although there were areas of cooperation between the two groups, bitter differences arose between German Reform Jews already established in Missouri and the Orthodox Jews arriving from eastern and southern Europe. Very soon two separate Jewish communities existed in St. Louis, and in Kansas City Orthodox Jews opposed the policies of the German Sabbath School and opened new schools.

Although there were immigrant communities in Kansas City and St. Joseph neither became an "immigrant city" like St. Louis, where more and larger immigrant communities developed. Bohemian Hill was settled by Czechs, Austrians, Hungarians, Slovaks, Croats and Serbs; The Hill became home to a large concentration of Italians. Many immigrant neighborhoods centered on a church: Bohemian Hill around St. John Nepomuk and the Greek neighborhood around St. Nicholas Greek Orthodox Church near Forest Park. In a 1916 survey of immigrant housing, published in The Immigrant in St. Louis, sociologist Ruth Crawford, a member of the faculty of the St. Louis School of Social Economy, reported neighborhood enclaves of Italians, Poles, Jews, Russians, Spaniards, Austro-Hungarians, Croatians and Syrians. She described appalling housing conditions: until 1914, for example, the entire district then called "Dago Hill" had no sewers and in one tenement 175 Italians lived in 34 rooms.

Immigration to rural Missouri after the Civil War was fostered by recruitment by the railroads, which were extending their tracks dramatically. From 1865 to 1890 the number of miles of track in Missouri grew from 800 to more than 6,000. Railroads needed settlements along the new lines to provide workers, goods to transport and markets for goods produced elsewhere. As a result, they recruited both in Europe and the eastern United States to bring people into these areas. This effort brought more diversity to rural Missouri, depositing pockets of Bohemians, Scandinavians, Slavs, Hungarians and Italians around the state. For example, Danes and Swedes settled near Rolla. Slightly to the east, Welsh and Irish settlers worked the clay and iron deposits. More Germans, some new immigrants and some second- or third-generation Americans of German descent, came from Minnesota, Wisconsin, and Illinois during this period as well, most notably to St. Joseph and the southwestern part of the state, including Joplin and Freistatt. In the same area, a group of Polish immigrants transformed Bricefield into Pulaski field. Members of that group included the Anton and Anna Pointek family, who fled intolerable political conditions in their partitioned homeland. Because they were unable to pay the ship's fare for the entire family, the oldest son worked for his passage and they smuggled the youngest child onboard, stowing him away in a trunk. One of the last groups to arrive as part of the railroad expansion was the Italian community at Knobview in the 1890s (later renamed Rosati), resulting in the development of one of the most important areas of the state's wine industry.

Railroads were not the only large businesses to recruit immigrants from Europe. When the first slaughterhouses opened in Kansas City in 1871, the city's population was a mere 32,000. As the stockyards grew so did the city, and by 1890 the population was 132,000, including many new immigrants. Following a failed strike by German and Swedish workers at the stockyards in 1893, the owners sent recruiters to southern and eastern Europe to find new workers to replace the fired strikers. Croats, Slovenes, Serbs, Russians, Lithuanians, Poles and Slovaks flooded into the city. Seen as scab labor by the earlier immigrants and disdained by Americans as dirtier, less intelligent and less honest, they faced incredible hardships.

Isolated, unable to speak English and dependent upon representatives of the stockyard owners for virtually everything, they were easy targets for the unscrupulous. Often paid as little as one-quarter the prevailing wage and forced to work in brutal conditions, their lives here were nothing like what they had imagined when they left their homes with a dream of a new life. Men and women worked at a frantic pace on the "killing lines," sometimes in freezing temperatures with their feet soaked in several inches of animal blood. In these desperate poverty-ridden circumstances many died.

Others, through hard work, ingenuity and good fortune, endured and succeeded. Immigrants in many times and places needed ingenuity to survive, and the newcomers to Kansas City were no exception. Like many urban residents, those fortunate to live in houses used backyards to raise gardens and keep animals. Here their rural European backgrounds provided useful skills. Chickens supplied eggs and meat; cows and goats produced milk, butter and cheese as well as meat; rabbits and pigs were raised for meat. Women who lived near the stockyards gathered grain for animal feed from what had fallen from the railroad cars, and perhaps even more ingeniously, went each morning to milk the old dairy cows that had arrived the previous night before they were slaughtered.

Catherine Heislen Kroeger, Jefferson City, c1913.

Even businesses in smaller towns recruited cheap labor from abroad. An example is the cement factory in Ilasco, near Hannibal. Like the Kansas City stockyards, the world's largest cement company enticed workers from eastern and southern Europe. Here the company established and maintained a "company town," controlling ownership and leasing of lands and operating shops providing goods and services. John Moga, an immigrant from Romania, came to work as a blaster in the cement factory at Ilasco in 1903. He became a citizen in 1913 and served in the U.S. Army during World War I. He died in 1920 in a quarry explosion, leaving a wife and four children. The company refused to pay damages, saying his death was his own fault. Here, too, in a seemingly inevitable part of the immigration process, many Missourians, including members of earlier immigrant groups, looked down on the new immigrants. This new kind of corporate recruitment of immigrants was different from the recruitment of Germans by books such as Duden's. However, letters home from these later immigrants still caused subsequent chain migration as family members and neighbors followed them to Missouri.

While Europe provided virtually all of Missouri's immigrants in the first century of statehood, a few came from other places, including Latin America and Asia. Alla Lee, probably the first immigrant from China to settle in Missouri, arrived in St. Louis in 1857. Within a year he had married Sarah Graham, a young Irish immigrant. He may have been the only Chinese immigrant in Missouri until about 250 Chinese came from San Francisco in 1869. A smaller group arrived from New York the following year. Both groups relocated in an attempt to find an environment less hostile than in the other two cities. In addition to growing hostility toward the Chinese, particularly on the West Coast, the completion of the transcontinental railroad in 1869 helped spread Chinese immigrants throughout the country as railroad workers looked for new employment. Because of the Chinese Exclusion Act in 1882, which prohibited additional immigration from China, the Chinese remained a very small group concentrated in Hop Alley, a single square block bordered by 7th, 8th, Market and Walnut streets in St. Louis. Most earned their living running hand laundries.

The period between 1840 and 1914 saw the state's largest influx of immigrants. In each Census after 1860, the state had more than 210,000 first generation immigrants, with the highest total, 234,869, in 1890. In that year almost half of Missouri's immigrants lived in St. Louis. By contrast Jackson County, with the second largest number of foreign-born, had only 22,000. At the end of the century, the majority of Missouri's immigrant population was still German; the Irish, with about 15 percent, were the second largest group. While the percentage of new immigrants never surpassed the 1860 Census, if we add to those numbers the second-generation immigrants, children of foreign-born parents, the percentages are staggering. For example, in 1870 first- and second-generation immigrants totaled 40 percent of Missouri's population.

World War, Cold War and Closed Borders

World War I marked a turning point in the lives of many, if not most, of Missouri's immigrant population. War against Germany and the Austro-Hungarian Empire evoked hostility toward those Missourians who had come, or even those whose parents had come, from those nations. The German language was stricken from the curriculum in St. Louis schools. German-language church services all but disappeared, even in rural Lutheran and Evangelical churches. Demands that the immigrants "Americanize" or "go back where they came from" increased. Beer was foreign and, therefore, unpatriotic. An ad in a Springfield newspaper in favor of prohibition proclaimed, "The Kaiser Must Go! The Saloon Must Go! They are the Foes of Democracy and of Sane Legislation." The period between the Civil War and 1917 had been something of a Golden Age for these immigrants, a time when they could maintain their language and their cultural traditions while knowing that they were at the same time fully American.

Suspicion that immigrants were somehow "different" meant that some saw them as disloyal or not really American. Such sentiments were not limited to Missouri, and following the end of the war Congress acted. Responding to growing opposition to new immigrants, in 1921, Congress passed the first legislation restricting immigrants from countries other than China and revised this legislation in 1924. These laws established limits, effective in 1929, on the maximum annual number of immigrants from each nation. These figures were based on the number of immigrants from each country already in the United States. Immigration slowed to a trickle, and the quota system ensured that virtually all new immigrants would be European. Other than exceptions for certain groups of refugees following World War II, this system continued until legislation in 1965 established hemispheric quotas and gave preference to attracting skilled workers and reuniting families. In 1978 hemispheric quotas were abolished in favor of a limit on total immigration.

As a result of the federal restrictions, Missouri's immigrant population declined steadily between 1921 and 1965. The state's total white, foreign-born population dropped from 228,896 in 1920, 5.5 percent of the total population, to a low of 65,744 in 1970, less than 1.5 percent of the total population. The Census during those years did not record the number of non-white foreign-born residents. Even at the low point, however, there were an additional 311,692 Missouri residents with at least one foreign-born parent, which brought the total of first- and second-generation immigrants to more than 8 percent of the population. While numbers declined, there was little change in the countries of origin. In 1980, German immigrants were still more than twice as numerous as Italians, the second largest national group.

One exemption to federal quotas between World War II and 1965 was political refugees. Small in number compared to earlier waves of immigration, some of these immigrants, especially from the Soviet Union and countries within the Soviet sphere in central, eastern and southern Europe, found their way to Missouri. Like the German "Forty-Eighters" of a century before, Hungarians fleeing a failed democratic revolution in 1956 came to St. Louis. By 1960 there were small but significant numbers from the USSR, Hungary and Yugoslavia. In that year, Soviet immigrants outnumbered those from all other European nations except Germany and Italy.

Following the removal of quotas based on national origin in 1965, immigration to the state slowly grew through the 1970s and 1980s before increasing rapidly after 1990. The removal of quotas led to a more diverse population of immigrants in Missouri than ever before. The Missouri Hospital Association reported in 2007 that more than ninety languages and dialects were being spoken in St. Louis. According to the 2000 Census, Asians comprised the largest continental group, with Europeans second, Latin Americans third and Central and North Americans fourth. Mexican immigrants became Missouri's largest national immigrant group, although with 25,191 reported in the 2000 Census they do not begin to approach either the numbers or population percentages of the Germans and Irish from 150 years ago. While first generation German immigrants comprised about 5 percent of the state's population in 1880, Mexican immigrants in 2000 made up less than one-half of one percent of Missouri residents.

The St. Louis' Chinese community provides one example of changing immigration patterns.

By 1960, Chinese laundries had virtually disappeared, replaced by restaurants as the most common business. The new Chinese population, though still small, was dispersed throughout the city and suburbs, and many were managers, technicians, physicians or other professionals. During the 1970s and 1980s, immigrants from Vietnam and South Korea, some of whom were ethnic Chinese, also arrived, increasing both the numbers and diversity of the Asian community.

A large percentage of the Koreans found work in existing Chinese restaurants or established their own. The Vietnamese were predominantly political refugees fleeing their homeland after the fall of the U.S.-backed government. Many arrived with few or no possessions, traumatized by their flight and the time they spent in refugee camps. Even for educated professionals, language barriers often made initial attempts to find employment difficult.

St. Louis' Chinese community became increasingly dominated by professionals, a trend strengthened by the People's Republic of China crack-down on the democracy movement after demonstrations in Tiananmen Square in 1989. In response, the U.S. government lifted virtually all restrictions on Chinese students and faculty studying and working in this country.

More than half of the immigrants currently in Missouri arrived during the 1990s. This increase was the result of the same factors that have driven immigration throughout history. Many immigrants escaped unstable and violent political situations in Europe, Asia, Africa and Latin America. The Bosnians who fled civil war in their newly created nation, for example, constituted Missouri's second largest group of European immigrants in 2007, after Germans.

Like earlier immigrants, the most recent are concentrated in the prime working age. Only 42 percent of native born residents of the state, as opposed to 59 percent of immigrants, fall within the 25 to 54 age group. The explanation for this is simple: immigrants come to work. They are drawn by economic opportunities. For example, Missouri's meat processing industry has been the most important factor in attracting recent Hispanic immigrants, just as it did German, Scandinavian and Slavic immigrants to Kansas City a century ago. The Kansas City metropolitan area, home to the state's oldest Hispanic community, has about 30 percent of the 2007 Hispanic population. Modern meat processing plants scattered around the state, have brought large numbers of immigrants into rural Missouri for the first time in nearly a century.

Most of these rural immigrants come from Mexico, although there are migrant workers from the Caribbean and South America who harvest crops in Missouri's Mississippi delta counties. While there is a perception that most of today's immigrants are undocumented, that is true of only about 15 percent of Missouri's Hispanic population, according to the Immigration and Naturalization Service. This estimate was corroborated by University of Missouri Extension researchers. As with the European immigrants who preceded them, Missouri's Hispanic immigrants typically come as two-parent families intending to make the state their new home. They bring the dreams of immigrants of all periods in our nation's history, dreams of better lives for themselves and their children in a land of political and religious freedom and economic opportunity.

Assimilation and Cultural Persistence

The stories of individual immigrants show that many factors account for the differing experiences immigrants have: whether they came alone or as part of a family or an organized group; where and when they settled; their gender, socioeconomic class, language, religion, level of education, vocational skills, and age at the time of immigration. Of course, the experience of immigration has some elements that affect almost all who find themselves uprooted from one life and put down again in a new world. They find themselves in an alien culture, with values, behaviors and traditions at odds with the established residents. At times they are likely to be confused, homesick, mocked and even threatened. All will be caught in the tension between the pressure to assimilate to the new culture and the desire to maintain their own. This tension is at the heart of the immigrant experience. Almost all will find ways to adjust to their new surroundings while holding onto some of what they have brought with them.

Immigrants begin to assimilate into their new culture almost as soon as they arrive, but the speed and manner of that assimilation varies greatly for a number of reasons. Isolation from the larger society is the most significant factor. When immigrants have been able to live largely among their own group, they preserved their traditions much longer. Germans who settled in large numbers in more isolated areas such as Osage County in the 1840s found it easier to maintain their language and customs far longer than those who settled among Americans or immigrants from other groups. German-language newspapers thrived, and German remained the language spoken in the home and in church for as long as a century after their arrival until World War II and even after in some communities. Italians on The Hill in St. Louis also held onto their language and customs for a relatively long period. Age, English proficiency, educational level, job skills and socioeconomic class also affect how rapidly immigrants become integrated into the larger society.

Hostility directed toward immigrants is also a factor, but its effects vary. It is, however, an unfortunate fact of life for many of Missouri's immigrants. From the anti-immigrant campaigns of the Know Nothings in the 1840s and 1850s and the attacks on German Americans during World War I to the hate crimes directed at Hispanic immigrants in the twenty-first century, hostility causes some immigrants to try to blend in quickly, while others become even more determined to maintain their ethnic heritage. Anti-immigrant sentiments are not limited to the native born population. Members of “older” immigrant groups often look down on “newer” immigrants as less intelligent, less hard-working and less willing to assimilate than themselves. It is one way for earlier immigrants to see themselves climbing the socioeconomic ladder.

In general, people have understood assimilation, or “Americanization,” as a process in which immigrants give up their old beliefs and behaviors and adopt those of the larger society. Assimilation is more complex than that, however. It is always a process that changes both the immigrant and the larger society. The Germans and Irish transformed Missouri in profound ways in the mid-1800s, while they also underwent change as they adapted to their new lives. Missouri’s wine industry and ethnic heritage tourism clearly attest to the two-way nature of assimilation.

Immigrants change the lives of those around them. This can happen in the public sphere in dramatic ways, such as Missouri’s course of action before and during the Civil War. It can also be seen in less profound ways, such as food or holiday traditions. Hamburgers, spaghetti and tacos are ubiquitous in our diets, all of them brought by immigrants. Immigration enriches society, contributing more workers as well as new food, music and ideas. To say that we are a state of immigrants is to repeat a cliché, but it is accurate. We can no more understand Missouri’s history and heritage without acknowledging the role of immigration past and present than we can without recognizing the importance of political movements, religion or the role of economic factors in shaping our state. Understanding the nature and processes of the immigrant experience can help us design public policies that maximize the benefits of current and future immigration to our state while minimizing the inevitable difficulties.

Dear Fellow Missourians,

Some of my fondest memories come back to life in the pages of our old family scrapbooks. Whether it's a picture of my brothers and me piling into our station wagon for a family reunion or all the neighbors gathering together to celebrate Grandma Carnahan's 80th birthday party at an old-time log cabin raising, these photographs bring back fond memories of family and friends and remind us of the beauty of our state.

My brothers Randy and Russ, and me

That is what inspired the idea of dedicating this year's photo contest to Missourians' family photos. Our state is blessed with a diverse mixture of people, cultures and regions. And many cherished memories come to life through our family photos.

So the theme for the 2007-2008 Blue Book photo contest focuses on family life in Missouri and is aptly titled the "Missouri Family Scrapbook."

We received thousands of photos from Missourians in every corner our state. Of course, I wish we could print them all. Choosing winners among the many wonderful entries was a real challenge, but it was a great pleasure to review them all. Special thanks to everyone who submitted photos and to those in the Secretary of State's office who assisted with the selection process.

I hope that you enjoy these photographs which show just a

State Symbols of Missouri

THE GREAT SEAL OF MISSOURI

The Great Seal was designed by Judge Robert William Wells and adopted by the Missouri General Assembly on January 11, 1822. The center of the state seal is composed of two parts. On the right is the United States coat-of-arms containing the bald eagle. In its claws are arrows and olive branches, signifying that the power of war and peace lies with the U.S. federal government. On the left side of the shield, the state side, are a grizzly bear and a silver crescent moon. The crescent symbolizes Missouri at the time of the state seal's creation, a state of small population and wealth which would increase like the new or crescent moon; it also symbolizes the "second son," meaning Missouri was the second state formed out of the Louisiana Territory.

This shield is encircled by a belt inscribed with the motto, "United we stand, divided we fall," which indicates Missouri's advantage as a member of the United States. The two grizzlies on either side of the shield symbolize the state's strength and its citizens' bravery. The bears stand atop a scroll bearing the state motto, "Salus Populi Suprema Lex Esto," which means, "The welfare of the people shall be the supreme law." Below this scroll are the Roman numerals for 1820, the year Missouri began its functions as a state.

The helmet above the shield represents state sovereignty, and the large star atop the helmet surrounded by 23 smaller stars signifies Missouri's status as the 24th state. The cloud around the large star indicates the problems Missouri had in becoming a state. The whole state seal is enclosed by a scroll bearing the words, "The Great Seal of the State of Missouri." (RSMo 10.060)

THE STATE FLAG

Nearly 100 years after achieving statehood, Missouri adopted an official flag on March 22, 1913. The flag was designed by the late Mrs. Marie Elizabeth Watkins Oliver, wife of former State Senator R.B. Oliver. The flag consists of three horizontal stripes of red, white and blue. These represent valor, purity, vigilance and justice. In the center white stripe is the Missouri coat-of-arms, circled by a blue band containing 24 stars, denoting that Missouri was the 24th state. The Oliver flag embraced national pride, and at the same time expressed characteristics of Missouri and Missourians.

The three large stripes were symbolic of the people of the state—the blue stripe represented vigilance, permanency, and justice, the red represented valor, and the white stripe symbolized purity. The Missouri coat-of-arms appeared in the center of the flag, signifying both Missouri's independence as a state, and its place as a part of the whole United States. Having the coat-of-arms in the center of the national colors represents Missouri, as it is—the geographical center of the nation. By mingling the state coat-of-arms with the national colors of red, white, and blue, the flag signified the harmony existing between the two. Twenty-four stars surrounded the coat-of-arms, representative of Missouri's position as the 24th state admitted to the Union. (RSMo 10.020)

MISSOURI DAY

On March 22, 1915, the 48th General Assembly set aside the first Monday in October each year as "Missouri Day," due to the efforts of Mrs. Anna Brosius Korn, a native Missourian. In 1969, the 75th General Assembly changed the date to the third Wednesday in October. Missouri Day is a time for schools to honor the state and for the people of the state to celebrate the achievements of all Missourians. (RSMo 9.040)

THE STATE FLORAL EMBLEM

On March 16, 1923, a bill was signed naming the white hawthorn blossom the official state floral emblem of Missouri. Known as the "red haw" or "white haw," the hawthorn (Crataegus) is a member of the great rose family, which resembles the apple group. The hawthorn blossoms have greenish-yellow centers and form in white clusters. More than 75 species of the hawthorn grow in Missouri, particularly in the Ozarks. (RSMo 10.030)

THE STATE BIRD

On March 30, 1927, the native bluebird (Sialia Sialis) became the official state bird of Missouri. The bluebird, considered a symbol of happiness, is usually 6½ to 7 inches long. While its upper parts are covered with light blue plumage, its breast is cinnamon red, turning rust-colored in the fall. The bluebird is common in Missouri from early spring until late November. (RSMo 10.010)

THE STATE TREE

On June 20, 1955, the flowering dogwood (Cornus Florida L.) became Missouri's official tree. The tree is small in size, rarely growing over 40 feet in height or 18 inches in diameter. The dogwood sprouts tiny greenish-yellow flowers in clusters, with each flower surrounded by four white petals. The paried, oval leaves are olive green above and covered with silvery hairs underneath. In the fall, the upper part of the leaves turn scarlet or orange and bright red fruits grow on the tree. (RSMo 10.040)

THE STATE SONG

The "Missouri Waltz" became the state song under an act adopted by the General Assembly on June 30, 1949. The song came from a melody by John V. Eppel and was arranged by Frederic Knight Logan, using lyrics written by J.R. Shannon. First published in 1914, the song did not sell well and was considered a failure. By 1939, the song had gained popularity and six million copies had been sold. Sales increased substantially after Missourian Harry S Truman became president. (RSMo 10.050)

INTRO. Slowly and dreamily

The musical score is written for piano and voice. It begins with an introduction marked 'Intro. Slowly and dreamily'. The piano part features a series of chords in the right hand and single notes in the left hand, with a 'p' (piano) dynamic marking. The melody for the voice part is written on a single staff. The lyrics are: 'Hush - a-bye, ma ba - by, slum-ber-time is com-in' soon; Rest yo' head up - on my breast while Mom - my hums a tune; The sand-man is call - in' where shad-ows are fall - in', While the soft breez-es sigh as in days long gone by.' The score includes various musical notations such as treble and bass clefs, key signatures (one flat), time signatures (4/4), and dynamic markings like 'p' and 'p sost.'. Chord symbols like 'F', 'C7', 'Bb', and 'G7' are placed above the piano part. The piece concludes with a final chord in the piano part.

THE STATE MINERAL

On July 21, 1967, the mineral galena was adopted as the official mineral of Missouri. Galena is the major source of lead ore, and the recognition of this mineral by the state legislature was to emphasize Missouri's status as the nation's top producer of lead. Galena is dark gray in color and breaks into small cubes. Mining of galena has flourished in the Joplin-Granby area of southwest Missouri, and rich deposits have been located in such places as Crawford, Washington, Iron and Reynolds counties. (RSMo 10.047)

THE STATE ROCK

Mozarkite was adopted as the official state rock on July 21, 1967, by the 74th General Assembly. An attractive rock, mozarkite appears in a variety of colors, most predominantly green, red or purple. The rock's beauty is enhanced by cutting and polishing into ornamental shapes for jewelry. Mozarkite is most commonly found in Benton County. (RSMo 10.045)

THE STATE INSECT

On July 3, 1985, the honeybee was designated as Missouri's state insect. The honeybee, (Apis Mellifera) yellow or orange and black in color, is a social insect which collects nectar and pollen from flower blossoms in order to produce honey. The honeybee is common to Missouri and is cultivated by beekeepers for honey production. (RSMo 10.070)

THE STATE MUSICAL INSTRUMENT

The fiddle became the state's official musical instrument on July 17, 1987. Brought to Missouri in the late 1700s by fur traders and settlers, the fiddle quickly became popular. The instrument was adaptable to many forms of music, could be played without extensive formal training and was light and easy to carry. For generations, the local fiddle player was the sole source of entertainment in many communities and held a position of great respect in the region. (RSMo 10.080)

THE STATE FOSSIL

The crinoid became the state's official fossil on June 16, 1989, after a group of Lee's Summit school students worked through the legislative process to promote it as a state symbol. The crinoid (Delocrinus missouriensis) is a mineralization of an animal which, because of its plant-like appearance, was called the "sea lily." Related to the starfish, the crinoid which covered Missouri lived in the ocean more than 250 million years ago. (RSMo 10.090)

THE STATE TREE NUT

The nut produced by the black walnut tree (Juglans Nigra), known as the eastern black walnut, became the state tree nut on July 9, 1990. The nut has a variety of uses. The meat is used in ice cream, baked goods and candies.

The shell provides the soft grit abrasive used in metal cleaning and polishing, and oil well drilling. It is also used in paint products and as a filler in dynamite. (RSMo 10.100)

THE STATE ANIMAL

On May 31, 1995, the Missouri mule was designated as the official state animal. The mule is a hybrid, the offspring of a mare (female horse) and a jack (male donkey). After its introduction to the state in the 1820s, the mule quickly became popular with farmers and settlers because of its hardy nature. Missouri mules pulled pioneer wagons to the Wild West during the 19th century and played a crucial role in moving troops and supplies in World Wars I and II. For decades, Missouri was the nation's premier mule producer. (RSMo 10.110)

THE STATE AMERICAN FOLK DANCE

The square dance was adopted as Missouri's official American folk dance on May 31, 1995. Square dances are derived from folk and courtship dances brought to the United States by European immigrants. Lively music and callers are hallmarks of square dancing. The caller directs the dancers by singing the names of figures and steps to be performed. (RSMo 10.120)

THE STATE AQUATIC ANIMAL

The paddlefish (Polyodon Spathula) became Missouri's official aquatic animal on May 23, 1997. Only three rivers in Missouri support substantial populations of the paddle-fish: the Mississippi, Missouri and the Osage. They are also present in some of the state's larger lakes. The paddlefish is primitive, with a cartilage skeleton, rather than bone. They commonly exceed five feet in length and weights of 60 pounds; 20-year olds are common, and some live 30 years or more. (RSMo 10.130)

THE STATE FISH

On May 23, 1997, the channel catfish became the official fish of Missouri. The channel catfish (Ictalurus Punctatus) is slender, with a deeply forked tail. Young have spots that disappear with age. The catfish does not rely on sight to find its food; instead, it uses cat-like whiskers to assist in the hunt. The channel cat is the most abundant large catfish in Missouri streams. Its diet includes animal and plant material. Adults are normally 12 to 32 inches long and weigh from a half-pound to 15 pounds. (RSMo 10.135)

THE STATE HORSE

On June 4, 2002, the Missouri fox trotting horse became Missouri's official state horse. Missouri fox trotters were developed in the rugged Ozark hills of Missouri during the early 19th century. Bloodlines can be traced from early settlers to Missouri from the neighboring states of Kentucky, Illinois, Tennessee and Arkansas. The distinguishing characteristic of the fox trotter is its rhythmic gait, in which the horse walks with the front feet and trots with the hind feet. This gait gives the rider a smooth gentle ride. (RSMo 10.140)

THE STATE GRAPE

On July 11, 2003, the Norton/Cynthiana grape (Vitis Aestivalis) was adopted as the official state grape. This adaptable, self-pollinating variety has been cultivated since the 1830s and is likely North America's oldest grape variety still commercially grown. Norton/Cynthiana has long been prized by Missouri vintners for its hardy growth habit and intense flavor characteristics, which produce lush, dry premium red wines of world-class quality and distinction. (RSMo 10.160)

THE STATE DINOSAUR

Hypsibema missouriense is a type of dinosaur called a Hadrosaur or “duck billed” dinosaur. It was a herbivore with jaws that contained over 1,000 teeth.

Hypsibema had evolved specialized teeth to handle the tough, fibrous vegetation of the time. Hypsibema lived in Missouri during the Late Cretaceous Period. Hypsibema was first discovered in 1942 by Dan Stewart, near the town of Glen Allen, MO, and became the state’s official dinosaur on July 9, 2004. (RSMo 10.095)

THE STATE AMPHIBIAN

On June 5, 2005, the American Bullfrog (Rana catesbeiana) became the official state amphibian. The bullfrog is the largest frog native to Missouri and is found in every county. Most Missourians are familiar with the deep, resonant “jug-of-rum” call, which is typically heard on warm, rainy nights between mid-May and early July. The idea for the bullfrog designation came from a fourth grade class at Chinn Elementary School in Kansas City. (RSMo 10.170)

THE STATE GAME BIRD

The bobwhite quail (Colinus virginianus), also known as the northern bobwhite, became the official state game bird on July 13, 2007. The northern bobwhite is found throughout Missouri in a variety of habitats. In the fall and winter, northern bobwhites form loose social groups better known as a covey. A covey will generally contain ten to twelve quail, but can have as many as twenty or thirty birds. The familiar two- or three-note "bobwhite" whistle is made by males in the spring and summer to attract females. (RSMo 10.012).

THE STATE INVERTEBRATE

On June 21, 2007, the crayfish (also known as crawfish and crawdad) became the official state invertebrate. Crayfish are an important food source for Missouri fishes.

Missouri supports more than 30 species of crayfish (including seven species that occur nowhere else in the world). Crayfish are found in every county of the state and contribute to our unique biodiversity and conservation heritage. The nomination of crayfish for state invertebrate came from Mrs. Janna Elfrink's elementary school class in Reeds Spring, Missouri. (RSMo 10.125)

THE STATE REPTILE

On June 21, 2007, the three-toed box turtle (Terrapene carolina triunguis) became the official state reptile. Most Missourians are familiar with this land-dwelling turtle. Three-toed box turtles, as their name implies, typically have three hind toes. The hinged bottom shell allows the turtle to retreat inside as if enclosed in a box. Males have red eyes and females have brown eyes. (RSMo 10.175).

THE STATE GRASS

Big bluestem (Andropogon gerardii) was designated as Missouri's stategrass on June 11, 2007 as a result of efforts by the Fourth Grade class at Truman Elementary School in Rolla. Big bluestem is native to Missouri and occurs throughout the state, with the exception of a few southeastern-most counties. It is a major component of Missouri's tallgrass prairies where it impressed the first explorers by sometimes growing tall enough to hide a person on horseback. The name bluestem comes from the bluish-green color of the leaves and stems that turn an attractive reddish-copper color in autumn. (RSMo 10.150).

Governor

Elected November 2, 2004

Term expires January 2009

MATT BLUNT (Republican) was elected as Missouri's 54th governor on November 2, 2004, carrying 101 of Missouri's 114 counties. He was commissioned by the people to chart a course of economic growth and fiscal responsibility and has moved Missouri in a positive new direction.

Blunt successfully made education the state's highest priority, created a state government that lives within taxpayers' means, worked to address Missouri's health care crisis, protected working families by holding the line on job-killing taxes, and established an economic climate that has led to tens of thousands of new, family-supporting jobs for Missourians.

Governor Blunt has increased state funding for Missouri's public schools every year he has been in office, securing more than a half of a billion dollars in new money for Missouri classrooms in just the first three years of his administration. Blunt also implemented a new school funding formula focused on the needs of Missouri school children and has more than doubled higher education scholarships. In addition, Blunt enacted college tuition controls and significantly increased funding for Missouri colleges and universities.

His groundbreaking Lewis and Clark Discovery Initiative provides $335 million for new state-of-the-art learning centers for Missouri students and strengthens the Missouri Technology Corporation, which will capitalize on innovative research already being conducted in our state and help build on Missouri's strong position as a leader in technology and research fields.

Blunt rejuvenated the state's economy and implemented policies that are spurring economic growth. He has modernized state government and made it more efficient, turning an inherited $1.1 billion deficit into a surplus without a tax increase. Lawsuit reform, regulatory reforms and bold new initiatives like the Missouri Quality Jobs Act and Downtown Revitalization and Economic Assistance for Missouri (DREAM) initiative have helped turn Missouri's economy around.

Blunt brought the state's priorities together with the people's priorities. He signed meaningful pro-life legislation that has helped reduce the number of abortions in the state and protects the sanctity of human life.

Governor Blunt is ensuring the future of health care for Missourians. He has worked to develop a quality system of health care for low-income Missourians that helps Missourians to improve their quality of life and has set an ambitious goal to lower the number of Missouri's uninsured.

Blunt championed and signed legislation establishing a renewable fuel standard in Missouri, helping to position Missouri as a leader in ethanol production and consumption.

Blunt's aggressive steps to protect Missouri children from evil sexual predators has made Missouri a national model in the fight against these dangerous criminals. Enhancements to both the sex offender registry and law enforcement's arsenal are helping to keep Missouri children safe.

Governor Blunt was born November 20, 1970, in Strafford, Missouri and spent his childhood on a small farm. He attended public schools in Strafford, and graduated from Jefferson City High School. He graduated from the United States Naval Academy with a bachelor's of science degree in history.

During his more than five years of active duty naval service, Blunt received numerous commendations. He served as an engineering officer on a frigate, USS JACK WILLIAMS (FFG-24) and as the Navigator of a destroyer, USS Peterson (DD-969). His active duty service included assignments in Operation Support Democracy, involving the United Nations blockade of Haiti, missions to interdict drug traffic off the South American coast, and on duties involved in the interdiction of Cuban migrants in 1994. He also served in Operation Enduring Freedom, America's response to the terrorist attacks of September 11, 2001.

Prior to his election as governor, Blunt served as a member of the Missouri General Assembly (District 139) and as Missouri's 37th Secretary of State.

As secretary of state, Blunt oversaw landmark election reform that helped restore Missourians' confidence in the state elections process. He also introduced dramatic technological and process enhancements that reduced costs and improved customer service.

Governor Blunt married Melanie Anderson Blunt in March 1997. They are the proud parents of one son, William Branch Blunt, born in March 2005. The Blunts attend a Baptist church near their home.

The governor is elected to a four-year term during the same year as a presidential election and may seek re-election to a second four-year term. No person may hold the office for more than two terms.

Responsibilities

The governor appoints the members of all boards and commissions, all department heads in state government and fills all vacancies in public offices unless otherwise provided by law. The board members of Missouri's state universities and colleges are appointed by the governor. The governor also selects the members of the Supreme and Appellate Courts of Missouri from names submitted by the State Judicial Commission. The governor appoints members to the state's six urban election boards, two police boards and the Board of Probation and Parole. Most appointments require the advice and consent of the Senate.

The governor addresses the General Assembly on the state of government and recommends changes or other actions to be taken. A budget is submitted by the governor to the General Assembly within 30 days after the assembly convenes. The budget contains the governor's estimates of available state revenues and an itemized plan for proposed expenditures.

All bills and joint resolutions passed by both houses of the legislature are submitted to the governor for consideration. The governor must return the legislation to the house of its inception within 15 days after receiving it. The governor may either approve a bill, making it law, or return it to the legislature with objections. When the legislature is adjourned, the governor has 45 days in which to consider a bill.

The governor performs many other duties assigned by constitution, statute or custom. For example, the governor issues writs of election to fill vacancies in either house of the General Assembly. The governor also has the power to grant reprieves, commutations and pardons, but this does not include the power to parole.

In addition to other duties, the governor is a member of a number of boards and commissions, such as the Board of Public Buildings and the State Board of Fund Commissioners.

Moreover, the governor is the conservator of peace throughout Missouri and is commander-in-chief of the state's militia. The militia may be called out to execute laws, suppress threats of danger to the state, and prevent and repel invasion.

The governor has the authority to remit fines and forfeitures when it is believed that an injustice was done or great hardship was suffered by the defendant.

Executive Department

The executive department consists of all state elective and appointive employees, except those of the legislative and judicial departments.

Missouri Governor's Mansion

Governor Matt Blunt, First Lady Melanie Blunt and their son William Branch Blunt are honored to call the Missouri Governor's Mansion their home.

First occupied by Gov. B. Gratz Brown and his family in 1872, this stately three-story brick building is one of the oldest and most beautifully restored Governors' homes in the United States. The mansion is perched on a bluff near the State Capitol Building and provides a scenic glimpse of the Missouri River. Built and finished in the renaissance revival style, the residence entry consists of an imposing portico with four dignified pink granite columns. A Victorian atmosphere greets visitors as they enter the great hall with its dramatic 17-foot ceilings, a rare free-flowing staircase of solid walnut, and one of the best collections of period furnishings in the country. Designed by George Ingham Barnett of St. Louis, the mansion has been listed on the National Register of Historic Places since May 21, 1969.

Missouri First Ladies' portraits are featured throughout the mansion along with loaned works of art created by world famous Missouri artist George Caleb Bingham, who also served as Missouri state treasurer from 1862–1865; the Thomas Hart Benton and Harry S. Truman family portraits are by Greta Kempton.

The Blunts enjoy making "the people's house" their home and appreciate the opportunity for their son Branch to grow up surrounded by stories and pictures that showcase Missouri's rich history and heritage. Branch is the first child raised in the mansion since Christopher "Kit" Bond was governor more than 20 years ago.

Mrs. Blunt is devoted to helping her husband strengthen Missouri. She has traveled across our state delivering speeches and visiting with countless Missourians about their hopes and aspirations.

Mrs. Blunt has also strived to be a role model to other Missourians through her volunteer work in many charitable organizations. As Missouri's First Lady, Mrs. Blunt has participated in Scholastic Read for 2006 and 2007, Habitat for Humanity's Women's Build, and serves as honorary chair of Missouri Citizens for the Arts.

To support her initiative of women's and children's wellness, Mrs. Blunt serves as Missouri's honorary chair for the American Heart Association's Go Red for Women Campaign; she has participated in the Susan G. Komen Race for the Cure and serves as spokesperson and honorary chair for that foundation's Mid-Missouri Affiliate; serves as honorary chair of the Junior League of Springfield's Crisis Nursery of the Ozarks; and has joined the Governor to ensure immunization cards are issued to every Missouri newborn. She supports Missouri's Amber Alert Portal System, Child Passenger Safety Week, and the Missouri Child Resource and Referral Network.

Approximately 60,000 people visit the Missouri governor's mansion annually.

<sup>1</sup>At the time of the elections of McNair, Bates and Williams, and of the first election of Miller in 1825, there were no organized political parties in Missouri. Individual popularity prevailed. All called themselves Jeffersonian Republicans, or what now are called Democrats.

Lieutenant Governor

Elected November 2, 2004

Term expires January 2009

PETER D. KINDER (Republican) was elected Missouri's 46th Lieutenant governor on November 2, 2004, carrying 91 of Missouri's 114 counties.

Born and raised in Cape Girardeau, Kinder attended Cape Girardeau Public Schools and continued his education at Southeast Missouri State Univ. and the Univ. of Missouri-Columbia. He graduated from St. Mary's Univ. School of Law in San Antonio, Texas, in 1979, and was admitted to the Missouri Bar in 1980.

From 1981 to 1983, Kinder served as a member of U.S. Representative Bill Emerson's Washington staff and then worked as an attorney and real estate representative for Drury Industries. In 1987, he became associate publisher of the Southeast Missourian.

In 1992, Peter Kinder was elected to the Missouri Senate where he served 12 years. Kinder was elected President Pro Tem when the Republicans regained the majority in 2001. When Kinder successfully ran for lieutenant governor in 2004, he became only the second sitting President Pro Tem to be elected lieutenant governor.

As lieutenant governor, Kinder serves as the official Senior Advocate for Missouri. While in the Missouri Senate, he sponsored and passed the Elderly Protection Act of 2003, which increased the penalties for elder abuse crimes. Through his leadership as President Pro Tem, Missouri crafted the Missouri Senior Rx plan, providing prescription drug coverage for the poorest seniors. In 2005, Senior Rx transitioned into Missouri Rx and now enrolls over 170,000 Missouri seniors. Kinder currently chairs the Missouri Rx Plan Commission.

Lieutenant Governor Kinder was instrumental in passing the 2006 Assisted Living Bill, a top priority of multiple senior advocacy organizations. This legislation clarified the definition of "assisted living" and gave seniors more options and choice in the type of long-term care facility they want to call home.

Kinder has led the fight for veterans issues. As President Pro Tem, he chaired an interim committee that studied subsidizing veterans homes and providing assistance to Missouri troops returning home from combat in Afghanistan, Iraq, and other parts of the world. In 2005, Lieutenant Governor Kinder proposed and helped to pass the Missouri Military Family Relief Fund, which benefits family members of the Missouri National Guard and Reserve personnel who have been called to active duty.

Kinder is currently coordinating the Missouri Mentor Initiative, a pilot program that encourages state employees to mentor children by receiving up to 40 hours a year in paid time off to volunteer. He also advocated for funding the Amachi Program that assists Big Brothers/Big Sisters of Missouri to mentor children whose parents are incarcerated in Mo. prisons.

The lieutenant governor is a member of several boards and commissions including: Tourism Comm. (chair); Mo. Development Finance Bd. (chair); and the Mo. Housing Development Comm.

Kinder served on three special committees in 2005 and 2006. He co-chaired the Mental Health Task Force, providing 25 recommendations to prevent abuse and neglect in the mental health system. The Gov't. Review Commission made numerous recommendations to reform state government and agencies. The Energy Task Force examined ways to conserve energy usage and implement a comprehensive energy strategy.

Kinder is a member of the United Methodist Church, Beta Theta Pi social fraternity, Missouri Farm Bureau, Cape Girardeau Chamber of Commerce and Lions Club. He is active in many civic causes, including extensive work with Southeast Missouri Port Authority, United Way, Nature Conservancy, American Cancer Society and Boy Scouts of America.

Kinder has been honored by various groups including: Missouri Right to Life Defender of Life; NRA; Univ. of Mo., Presidential Citation Award; Boy Scouts of America Eagle Scout; St. Louis Children's Hospital, SSM Cardinal Glennon Hospital, and Children's Mercy of K.C.; March of Dimes; SE Mo. State Univ. Alumni Assn. Distinguished Service Award; St. Louis Business Journal Legislative Award; Support Your Troops Committee Award; Mo. Farm Bureau Outstanding Service to Agriculture; St. Louis Regional Commerce and Growth Assn. Lewis and Clark Statesman Award for Outstanding Leadership; Mo. Restaurant Assn. ## Qualifications

Missouri's lieutenant governor must be at least 30 years old, a U.S. citizen for at least 15 years and a resident of Missouri for at least 10 years before being elected to the office.

The lieutenant governor is elected for a four-year term and is subject to re-election.

Duties

The lieutenant governor is the only statewide elected official that is part of both the executive and legislative branches of state government. Under the constitution, the lieutenant governor is ex officio president of the Missouri Senate. The lieutenant governor is elected independently from the governor, and each can be members of different political parties. Upon the governor's death, conviction, impeachment, resignation, absence from the state or other disabilities, the lieutenant governor shall act as governor.

By law, the lieutenant governor is a member of the Board of Public Buildings, Board of Fund Commissioners, Missouri Development Finance Board, Missouri Community Service Commission, Missouri Housing Development Commission and the Tourism Commission. The lieutenant governor is an advisor to the Department of Elementary and Secondary Education on early childhood education and Parents-as-Teachers program, and the state's official advocate for senior citizens.

Roles of the Office

In recent years, the lieutenant governor has embraced more responsibilities, especially relating to seniors, veterans, tourism and service. These modern developments have made the lieutenant governor more visible and accessible to Missourians. The 13 different boards and commissions on which the lieutenant governor serves provide many more opportunities to help Missouri citizens. These boards and commissions cover a wide variety of functions for Missouri's diverse population.

Governor/Senior Advocate

By statute, the lieutenant governor is the official Senior Advocate for the State of Missouri. This office investigates problems and issues on behalf of senior citizens. The lieutenant governor's office works very closely with the Department of Health and Senior Services to ensure the safety and well-being of Missouri's senior citizens. The lieutenant governor now chairs the Missouri Rx Prescription Drug Program.

Our military veterans exemplify the meaning of service. They have answered the call of duty, boldly facing death, injury and uncertainty. Their sacrifice should never be forgotten. The lieutenant governor chairs the Governor's Council for Veterans Affairs and is proud to advocate for issues vital to our Missouri veterans.

Lieutenant Governor Kinder actively promotes the Missouri Military Family Relief Fund, a state-administered fund assisting families of the Missouri National Guard and reservists who have been deployed for the global war on terrorism. Those interested in donating should contact the Missouri Veterans Commission at (573) 522-4220 or make an income tax check-off donation when filing a state income tax return.

The lieutenant governor's office also houses the Veterans Remembrance Project, recording the memories of veterans who have served in foreign wars. A video kiosk is now operating in the State Capitol as a way for visitors to watch these recorded sessions.

Chairing the Missouri Tourism Commission, the lieutenant governor helps market Missouri to the rest of the world. Out-of-state visitors bring new revenues to Missouri businesses, and new tax dollars to Missouri. Centrally located in the United States and bordering eight other states, Missouri hosts tens of millions of visitors each

Lieutenant Governor Kinder also sponsors the Senior Service Award to promote and highlight the positive accomplishments senior citizens selflessly provide their communities. ### MISSOURI'S STATE CAPITOL

State government in Missouri focuses on the state's beautiful, domed Capitol, dominating the bluffs of the Missouri River in Jefferson City.

The dome, rising 238 feet above ground level and topped by a bronze statue of Ceres, goddess of agriculture, is the first view of Jefferson City for travelers arriving from the north. The structure is Jefferson City's leading tourist attraction and is a mecca for school groups who arrive by busloads, particularly during General Assembly sessions when they fill the galleries to watch the Senate and House of Representatives in action.

In addition to housing the two legislative bodies, the Capitol provides office space for the governor, lieutenant governor, secretary of state, treasurer, state auditor and some administrative agencies. The structure is also notable for its architectural features, including its eight 48-foot columns on the south portico and six 48-foot columns on the north side; its 30-foot-wide grand stairway and its bronze front doors, each 13 by 18 feet—the largest cast since the Roman era.

The Capitol's first floor features the State Museum. Outstanding paintings, pediments and friezes decorate the Capitol interior. A prime attraction is a series of Thomas Hart Benton murals in the House Lounge.

Statuary is a prominent feature of the Capitol grounds. Heroic bronze figures depicting Missouri's two great rivers, the Mississippi and Missouri, and a 13-foot statue of Thomas Jefferson dominate the south entrance. A bronze relief depicting the signing of the Louisiana Purchase by Livingston, Monroe and Marbois and the Fountain of the Centaurs are the most outstanding features on the north grounds.

The present Capitol, completed in 1917, and dedicated in 1924, is the fourth Capitol in Jefferson City. Before the seat of government was moved to Jefferson City, the functions of Missouri territorial government were based in the Mansion House, a hotel in St. Louis, and later at the Missouri Hotel, also in St. Louis. The upper story of a mercantile store in St. Charles was designated as temporary capital of the state in 1821 and remained the seat of government until 1826 when Jefferson City became the permanent capital city. The first Capitol in Jefferson City was located on land now occupied by the Governor's Mansion. It burned in 1837, apparently after some hot coals fell out of one of its fireplaces. A second structure completed in 1840 and expanded in 1887-88 burned when the dome was struck by lightning on February 5, 1911. A temporary Capitol made of lathe and stucco was erected in an area to the east of the present building and was used from 1912 to 1917.

The present Capitol was constructed for $4,215,000, including site and furnishings. It is five stories high, 437 feet long, 300 feet wide in the center and 200 feet wide in the wings. The dome is 238 feet high and the height of the wings is 88 feet. It includes over 650,000 square feet of floor space.

Robin Carnahan

Secretary of State

Elected November 2, 2004

Term expires January 2009

ROBIN CARNAHAN (Democrat) was sworn in as Missouri's 38th Secretary of State in January 2005. Since taking office, Secretary Carnahan has focused on providing excellent customer service, cutting red tape for Missouri businesses, protecting investors and ensuring fair and accessible elections.

Carnahan has ascended quickly as one of the most effective public servants in Missouri and nationally. In 2005, the non-partisan think tank The Aspen Institute identified Carnahan as a "rising star" in American politics and selected her as one of twenty Rodell Fellows nationwide, chosen for their ability to work across party lines.

As Secretary of State, Carnahan works to protect investors, particularly Missouri seniors, by cracking down on those who attempt to defraud investors and by educating Missourians about investing. Carnahan's efforts on behalf of Missouri investors, such as developing the "Missouri Investor Protection Center" and securing landmark settlements have gained her recognition as a national leader in securities law enforcement.

Secretary Carnahan also has used technology to cut red tape and costs for Missouri's small businesses. In only her first two years in office, these innovations saved Missouri companies $4.5 million and increased certain online filings by half. Carnahan has also helped launch other innovative online services, like the interagency online one-stop-shop for Missouri businesses called the "Missouri Business Portal."

Secretary Carnahan believes good customer service means making information more accessible to Missourians. As the administrator of Missouri's State Archives, she ensures the preservation of historical documents and has made thousands of records available on the Internet. These pioneering efforts, like the award-winning Missouri Death Records Database, have earned praise from historians and genealogists worldwide.

As overseer of the Missouri State Library, Carnahan is committed to modernizing and strengthening Missouri's public libraries by increasing access to information through the use of technology and by promoting summer reading and literacy programs.

In 2007, Secretary Carnahan launched the Missouri Digital Heritage Initiative. This landmark program will connect the resources of the Missouri State Archives, the State Library, and local organizations to expand historical information accessible on the Internet.

As Missouri's chief election official, Secretary

Carnahan is committed to ensuring fairness and transparency in Missouri elections. She led the way for the establishment of Missouri's first statewide voter registration database, combining the voter lists of the state's 116 local election jurisdictions into one statewide list.

Secretary Carnahan believes that well-trained election officials are vital for well-run elections. As a result, she promoted a statewide effort that identified more than 1,700 new Election Day poll workers for the 2006 election, and after the election, she published a comprehensive report on the 2006 election that proposed improvements for future elections.

In 2007, Secretary Carnahan championed a new address confidentiality program, called "Safe at Home," to help protect survivors of domestic violence, sexual assault and stalking.

Secretary Carnahan grew up in Rolla, and is a member of the Baptist Church. After graduating from Rolla High School, she continued her studies at William Jewell College and at the University of Southampton and earned a bachelor's degree in economics, graduating magna cum laude. Carnahan went on to earn her law degree from the University of Virginia and then returned to Missouri to practice business law with the St. Louis law firm of Thompson & Mitchell. In 1990, Carnahan went to work with the National Democratic Institute in central and eastern Europe to promote democracy and free elections. Carnahan also served as an executive at the Export-Import Bank of the United States, where she explored innovative ways to help American companies increase their sales of goods and services abroad.

Today, in addition to carrying out her duties as Secretary of State, Carnahan continues to manage her family's 900 acre farm and Angus cattle operation near Rolla.

Carnahan's family has a lengthy history of devotion to public service. Her father, Mel Carnahan, served as Missouri's Governor, Lt. Governor and State Treasurer, and her mother, Jean Carnahan, was the first woman to serve Missouri in the U.S. Senate. Her grandfather, A.S.J. Carnahan, a Congressman from south-central Missouri for 14 years, was appointed by President John F. Kennedy to be U.S. Ambassador to Sierra Leone. Her brother, Russ Carnahan, is currently a U.S. Congressman representing Missouri's third congressional district.

The Secretary of State is responsible for the registration of all Missouri and out-of-state business entities doing business in Missouri. These business entities may be for profit and nonprofit corporations as well as other business classifications such as: professional corporations; close corporations; agricultural cooperatives; mutual associations; limited liability companies; limited partnerships; limited liability partnerships; limited liability limited partnerships; and other business entities. Missouri corporations must file articles of incorporation while out-of-state corporations must obtain a certificate of authority. In addition, corporations file various documents required by law, such as annual reports and articles of amendment, merger, consolidation, dissolution, termination and withdrawal.

Currently, there are approximately 178,000 active corporations doing business in Missouri and 515,000 inactive corporations on file. Each corporation must annually register with the corporations section the names of its officers and directors. The section processes more than 150,000 annual reports each year; over 72 percent of the annual reports are filed online for a reduced fee by using the Secretary of State's website, saving businesses millions of dollars each year.

Most businesses are required to file a fictitious name registration with the Secretary of State's office. More than 27,500 new fictitious name registrations are processed annually, with the majority of these filings completed online.

Other online services include organizing a limited liability company; obtaining and verifying a certificate of good standing; printing copies of available filed documents; obtaining forms for filing a new business entity; and accessing the business entity database to search for a business or corporation. In recent years, the division created the online Small Business Advocacy Center (www.sos.mo.gov/business/sbac/), and partnered with other agencies to create the Missouri Business Portal (www.business.mo.gov) to help Missouri businesses navigate state government and help their businesses grow.

Approximately 2,000 Missouri trademarks and service marks are filed annually with the Business Services Division.

The Secretary of State's office is the centralized office for the perfecting of personal property liens and other creditor interests under the Uniform Commercial Code (UCC). These liens are "perfected" by filing a financing statement in the accepted national format indicating the debtor name and address and the secured party name and address along with a description of the collateral. Once a lien or other interest is filed and perfected, the public is considered "on notice" regarding those liens. These financing statements are effective for five years; they may be continued for an additional five-year term by filing a continuation statement within six months prior to expiration. Eighty-five percent of the UCC filings with the Secretary of State are now completed online. UCC forms and the fee schedule for filing are available online.

Through the Safe at Home program, survivors and their minor children may use a substitute mailing address through the Secretary of State's office for all their first class, legal, and certified mail. In addition, the program allows survivors to use a substitute address on their government records and public filings to keep their address confidential and out of the hands of potential abusers.

The Office of Secretary of State oversees all statewide elections for both candidates and issues. Candidates for the six constitutional state offices, U.S. Congress, the General Assembly, and various circuit judges file for election with the Secretary of State. Statewide ballots for primary, general, and certain special elections are also prepared by the Secretary of State, and certified copies of those ballots are sent to local election officials. It is the responsibility of the office to canvass, certify and publish election results.

Missouri has nearly 4 million registered voters, and in the 2006 November general election,

2.1 million voters went to the polls.

In Missouri, elections are run at the local level by local election authorities (county clerks or election boards). In addition to assisting Missouri's 116 local election authorities with their duties in administering elections, the Secretary of State promulgates rules governing elections and electronic voting systems. The Secretary of State is required to publish the Missouri Election Laws for use by county clerks and election boards. Additionally, the office produces various election materials, including instructions for poll workers, calendars of annual election deadlines, a website, training videos and a manual for election authorities. The elections division cooperates with other officials, schools and civic organizations to provide materials to support voter registration, responsibility and education, and oversees the "It's Your Turn, Be a Poll Worker" statewide poll worker recruitment initiative. In early 2007 the office released a report, Voters First: An Examination of the 2006 Midterm Election in Missouri, which identified issues and proposed improvements in Missouri's election administration.

The Secretary of State also certifies statewide ballot measures that are proposed by the General Assembly or through the initiative and referendum petition process, including the oversight of signature verification. Before an initiative petition can be circulated, the petition and a summary statement must be approved by the Secretary of State and the Attorney General, and the State Auditor adds a fiscal impact statement. For an initiative changing state law to be placed on the ballot, signatures must be obtained from registered voters equal to 5 percent of the total votes cast in the last gubernatorial election in six of Missouri's nine congressional districts. For an initiative changing the state constitution to be placed on the ballot, signatures are needed from registered voters equal to 8 percent of the votes cast in the last gubernatorial election in six of the state's nine congressional districts. In 2006, 18 initiative petitions were approved for circulation, six were returned with signatures for approval, and three were ultimately certified for the November 2006 ballot. The full texts of ballot issues are published in newspapers around the state and printed for display at polling places. The elections division oversees the signature collection process for new political parties and the nomination of independent candidates for offices that file with the Secretary of State.

The Secretary of State is responsible for coordinating Missouri's compliance with federal law, including the Help America Vote Act of 2002 (HAVA) which requires increased training for election officials, poll workers and voters; at least one voting system per polling place that is accessible for voters with disabilities; and a statewide voter registration list. The creation of an interactive statewide voter registration list database has improved the ability of local election officials to manage their voter registration records and keep Missouri's voter list up to date and accurate.

For more than 80 years, the Secretary of State has been responsible for ensuring compliance with state securities laws through activities of the Securities Division. This responsibility includes enforcement of the law when violations occur, and the regulation of investment sales through registration of securities, broker-dealers, agents, investment advisers and investment adviser representatives. State securities laws are intended to protect investors from unfair practices and fraudulent investment schemes. The Secretary of State appoints the securities commissioner, who administers these laws and oversees the Securities Division.

The enforcement section of the Securities Division receives and investigates complaints from Missouri investors. A toll-free Investor Protection Hotline (800-721-7996) is maintained so investors can report complaints or make inquiries about firms or professionals in the securities business. Each year the office initiates around 200 investigations, many of which result in cease and desist orders, licensing revocations, civil penalties, criminal prosecutions, or investor restitution. The enforcement section typically collects over one million dollars in penalties, payments, and restitution each year. The audit unit of the enforcement section performs random examinations of the offices of broker-dealers and investment advisers to ensure compliance with the Missouri securities laws.

The registration section regulates the registration of individuals, firms and securities.

As of June 2007, there were 109,986 agents, 1,841 broker-dealers, 6,491 investment adviser representatives and 1,499 investment advisers registered in Missouri. Prior to granting each registration an application review process is conducted to determine if applicants are sufficiently qualified to participate in the securities business. The registration section also reviews proposed securities offerings to ensure that Missouri approved offerings are "fair, just and equitable." The staff receives filings of federal covered securities and reviews requests for exemption from the registration provisions, provides interpretative opinions of the securities laws and assists Missouri issuers seeking to raise funds with securities law compliance. In the 2007 fiscal year, the registration section staff received filings or exemption notices for over 2,000 securities offerings and collected over $11 million in revenues for the state of Missouri.

The Securities Division also oversees the Missouri Investor Protection Center, which creates and promotes investor education initiatives designed to educate and assist both current and future investors. The center also includes a website and a Senior Investor Protection Unit to help educate and protect Missouri's older investors.

The responsibilities of the Missouri State Library are to provide library and reference services to Missourians and Missouri state government, provide library services to the blind and individuals with disabilities, and promote the development and improvement of library services throughout the state.

Library Development

The Library Development section supports libraries through consulting, administration of grant programs, continuing education and statewide programs. The consultant staff works with librarians and library governing boards to improve the quality of library service for all Missouri citizens. Through research, publications and personal contacts, consultants provide assistance on general library issues and needs, promote the organization and development of library services, manage statewide projects and maintain statistics on library services in the state.

grams to provide funds and services for libraries. State-funded programs include state aid for public libraries, both per capita funds and equalization payments to libraries in poor counties. Public library costs for materials are supported through funds appropriated from the income tax on earnings of out-of-state athletes and entertainers. The State Library also coordinates the funding for the REAL (Remote Electronic Access to Libraries) Program which provides Internet access for public libraries through MOREnet and database content for public, K-12, and academic libraries. The federal Library Services and Technology Act provides funding for grants to libraries and statewide projects, including continuing education and training, technology infrastructure, and development of library service for underserved populations, such as seniors and persons with disabilities. The State Library also partners with several private sponsors to administer projects and grants to support library services.

Ongoing projects include coordination of the Missouri Summer Reading Program, digitization of primary resource material for the Missouri Digital Heritage Initiative, development of library literacy programs in libraries and coordination of literacy efforts with other state agencies and the statewide literacy center, a statewide calendar for library-related continuing education events, and the collection of public library statistics. A quarterly online newsletter, Show Me Libraries, serves to inform library staff and trustees of Missouri library events. The State Library works intensively with local libraries on development and support of the use of technology to improve library services for Missourians.

As one of 50 state affiliates with the National Center for the Book in the Library of Congress, the Missouri Center for the Book promotes the state's book culture and library heritage.

The State Library also serves as the lead agency for the State Census Data Center program, a cooperative venture with the U.S. Census Bureau.

Secretary's Council on Library Development

The Secretary's Council on Library Development advises the Secretary of State and the State Librarian on matters that relate to the state's libraries and library service to Missouri citizens.

Reference Services

Telephone: (573) 751-3615 / FAX: (573) 526-1142

The Reference Services section delivers library services to meet the informational and research needs of state government. This objective is achieved through current awareness, library materials collections in multiple formats, monthly publications and online databases provided at the state employee's desktop.

Keeping Up, a daily newspaper clipping summary of news about the activities and operation of state government, is distributed electronically to the legislature and state agencies, and an online version is available to the public. Table of contents service allows state employees to receive the table of contents and full text articles from periodicals that assist in the performance of their duties. It is distributed electronically as the current periodicals become available on the statewide periodicals database. Missouri State Government Publications, a bibliography of state publications, is published monthly on the Secretary of State's website.

To support the research work done for state government, the State Library maintains a materials collection of 50,000 books, 436 magazine subscriptions, 24 newspaper subscriptions and 451,000 microfilm holdings of government documents, journals and newspapers. The State Library participates in MOBIUS, the statewide union catalog of academic libraries. State employees have access to MOBIUS collection through the State Library. In addition, Reference Services subscribes to an increasing number of online databases geared to the needs of state government. Most of these databases are provided to state employees at their desktop.

The State Library is a congressionally designated library depository for the U.S. government publications. As a selective depository, over 100,000 documents are housed. The library is statutorily responsible for collecting state government publications and providing access to them for the citizens of Missouri. This is now done through a trusted, electronic repository making the full text of the publications available via the Internet.

While the State Library's research services and service-initiatives are directed to the members of the legislature and employees of the agencies of state government, it is open for use by the general public.

Wolfner Library for the Blind and Physically Handicapped serves as the public library for Missourians unable to use standard print because of a visual or physical disability. The library loans a half million books and magazines in Braille, recorded cassette, and large print, from its collection of more than 300,000 volumes. Playback machines are also loaned to users of the recorded materials. More than 12,000 individuals and 983 institutions, including nursing homes, schools, hospitals and hos-pices, use the library. In addition to the circulation of books and magazines, Wolfner provides reference and information services, children's programming, interlibrary loan, a newsletter, catalogs and bibliographies, descriptive videos and access to the collection via an online public access catalog (OPAC).

Wolfner services are available to qualified Missourians at no charge. Applications for service are available directly from the library, a local Missouri public library, or on the Secretary of State's website. Wolfner is Missouri's regional library in the national network of libraries serving individuals who are blind and disabled, in cooperation with the National Library Service of the Library of Congress.

The Wolfner Library for the Blind and Physically Handicapped has a rich history of library service, predating the Missouri State Library and the Library of Congress network. Loaning Braille books to a multi-state region in 1924, Wolfner became one of the first 18 regional libraries for the blind designated by the Library of Congress. Named in memory of noted ophthalmologist Henry L. Wolfner and originally administered by the St. Louis Public Library, Wolfner became part of the Missouri State Library in 1977, and physically moved to Jefferson City in 1985.

Missouri State Archives

The Missouri State Archives is the official repository for government records of permanent value. Its mission is to foster an appreciation of Missouri history and illuminate contemporary public issues by preserving and making available the state's permanent records to its citizens and their government.

Records in the Archives holdings date from 1770 to the present. They include executive, legislative and judicial records; records of state departments and agencies; Missouri's history under French and Spanish colonial and U.S. territorial rule; military records from the War of 1812 through World War I; the region's role in the nineteenth century fur trade and America's westward expansion; trademarks and business records; and women and African-American history.

Holdings currently total more than 336 million pages of paper; 400,000 photographs; 194,000 reels of microfilm, and 270,000 microfiche. The Missouri State Archives is one of the most used state repositories in the nation and has been formally acknowledged by historical and genealogical organizations for its service to its patrons. While thousands of researchers visit or write to the Archives each year, a dramatic upsurge in use has come from visits to the Missouri State Archives growing web pages—up 62% in Fiscal Year 2006.

Over the last few years the Missouri State Archives has become involved in a number of important initiatives: The African-American History Initiative is designed to stimulate interest in African-American History through educational projects and the promotion of a broad awareness of the holdings of the Missouri State Archives. The Missouri State Archives has also played a leading role in the bicentennial commemoration of the Lewis and Clark Expedition. The nationally recognized St. Louis Circuit Court Records Project, begun as a traditional archival project, is now part of a complex consortium. At the instigation of the Missouri State Archives, an academic advisory board composed of scholars representing nine institutions helps guide its work.

While the St. Louis Circuit Court records project is large, it is just one of many court projects currently being conducted across Missouri. The Archives preserves on microfilm the probate and circuit court records of Missouri's county courts. To date, the Archives has been involved in 505 preservation projects in every county in the state. There are currently 72 such projects. The Missouri State Archives also partners with the Supreme Court of Missouri Historical Society, which funds two legal internships and a legal fellowship for the Archives.

The Archives is devoted to educating the public about materials in the Archives' holdings. It accordingly provides programs for schools and civic groups, sponsors traveling exhibits, offers tours, and supports and maintains a regular calendar of monthly educational programs and historical entertainments. "Archives Alive," brings history to life for thousands of Missouri fourth and fifth grade students each spring through live musical performances. The "Friends of the Missouri State Archives," formed in 1989, which promotes and supports the Archives has underwritten many of the costs associated with these outreach activities. The State Archives also hosts student interns and practicum students from Missouri colleges and universities; creates historical exhibits, offers a public speakers series, sponsors regional National History Day activities; and provides tours and talks for school and civic organizations.

Volunteers are an important resource of the Missouri State Archives. In Jefferson City they provide invaluable assistance to the staff, helping with reference services, acting as guides. Across Missouri volunteers help process county and court records, and special collections. More novel is the Archives innovative, "e-volunteer" program in which volunteers can provide indexing and transcription services for the Archives from their home computers. Completed transcriptions are posted online providing greater access to the collection. Access to the Archives is provided through the research room. The reference staff answers written requests. Hours are 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Friday and 8 a.m. to 9 p.m. on Thursday. Saturday hours are from 8:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m.

Missouri Historical Records Advisory Board

The Missouri Historical Records Advisory Board was created by statute in 1989 and assigned to the office of the Secretary of State. The board is the central advisory body for historical records planning within the state. In addition, the board serves as the state affiliate of the National Historical Publications and Records Commission, the grant-awarding arm of the National Archives and Records Administration, and is responsible for reviewing grant proposals to that program from Missouri applicants, as well as applications to the Local Records Preservation Grant Program.

The Missouri State Archives Local Records Preservation program is an effort to improve long-term local public record management by advising, educating and encouraging the custodians of those records in the use of sound records management and archival practices. Archivists provide their expertise to local government officials on the retention of records. A part time local records and analyst program began in 1986. In 1989 legislation converted this to a full time program. Through the local records program documents of great historical value have been identified and preserved and the State Archives reference collections have been dramatically enhanced. Because of this program, all records are more accessible to the public. They are properly organized and in many instances space in public buildings is freed up for purposes other than storage.

More than 3,500 governmental entities can receive assistance managing records. There are 10 field archivists located around Missouri. Local officials in every county of the state have been assisted.

The Local Records Grant program began in 1991 and is funded through a fee placed on documents filed with county recorders. In Fiscal Year 2006, the Secretary of State, with the advice of the Missouri Historical Records Advisory Board, awarded $373,000 in grant funds to 54 projects. For Fiscal Year 2007, $355,000 was awarded to 44 projects. Approximately 60 percent of the funds will be used for microfilming local permanent records to ensure their preservation and to position them for potential digitization. The grants require local matches.

Records conservation staff provides an advisory service to local government offices on all aspects of record care and preservation, as well as advice on disaster recovery.

A Local Records Board reviews and makes decisions on retention schedules for records of local governments.

Records Management Division

Telephone: (573) 751-3319 / FAX: (573) 526-5327

The mission of the Records Management Division is to provide state agencies with the necessary instruments to effectively and efficiently manage information and records, in order to promote the efficiency and continuity of government, document the rights of Missouri citizens, hold state officials accountable for their activities, and preserve Missouri's heritage. To achieve this mission, the division is divided into three sections: Records Management Services, the State Records Center, and Imaging Services.

Sound records management programs consist of a planned and coordinated set of policies, procedures and activities to manage recorded information in all media. Records Management Services assists state government agencies in identifying and effectively managing their official records. Records analysts are assigned to specified agencies. They consult with agency officials to develop retention schedules that list the agency's records and specify the retention period and the ultimate disposition of inactive records. Analysts advise agencies on cost and technical matters related to microfilm digital imaging, and low-cost storage of inactive and semi-active records.

The State Records Center provides state agencies with a storage solution for inactive records. Inactive records are those with a reference rate that does not warrant retention in expensive agency office or storage space. Records Center services include pick-up, delivery, reference pulls and re-filing, and destruction of agency records. All records remain in the legal custody of the transferring agency and access to stored documents is restricted to the agency's authorized personnel. The transferring of inactive files to the Records Center allows agencies to free up office space and equipment, saving Missouri taxpayers millions of dollars of costs over the life of the records. State agencies are not charged for these services. As of June 2007, 284,400 cubic feet of records were stored in the State Records Center's three facilities.

Imaging Services provides micrographics and digital imaging services to state agencies and local governments. Agencies can reduce the volume of, improve access to, and ensure archival preservation for their long-term and significant records by utilizing these services. Micro graphics services include microfilming, processing, quality control, and silver and diazo microfilm duplication. Digital imaging services include image production from microfilm or original documents. The unit provides secure protection for silver original microfilm within a climate-controlled vault.

State Records Commission

Chapter 109.250, RSMo established the State Records Commission. The Commission's task is to guide the records management program in the determination of retention periods for all records in the executive branch of state government. Currently, more than 900 state agencies, commissions, bureaus and boards operate under approved record retention schedules. Additionally, the commission reviews, approves and recommends guidelines for the management of electronic records generated by the state of Missouri.

Administrative Rules Division

Since 1976, the Administrative Rules Division has been charged by the Revised Statutes of Missouri with setting uniform standards, procedures and guidelines for the preparation and publishing of rules in the Missouri Register and the Missouri Code of State Regulations. The Administrative Rules Division initially publishes rulemakings proposed by state agencies in the Missouri Register. The rulemakings are published in the Missouri Register to provide public notice, and to allow agencies to receive comments and to revise the proposed rulemakings based on the comments. Agencies then file the final version of the rulemakings, the orders of rulemaking, with the division for final publication in the Missouri Register and subsequently in the Missouri Code of State Regulations. The division provides a user's guide for the proper preparation and filing of agency rules entitled Rulemaking 1-2-3, Drafting and Style Manual, that is available on line on the Secretary of State's website at www.sos.mo.gov/adrules or in hard copy.

The Administrative Rules Division also publishes emergency rules in the Missouri Register.

BARBARA WOOD
General Counsel

LESLEYE M. WINSLOW
Senior Counsel

WAYLENE HILES
Director of Administrative Rules

JOHN BEAKLEY
Director of Human Resources

An agency may file an emergency rule if the agency finds an immediate danger to the public health, safety or welfare requiring emergency action or if the emergency rule is necessary to preserve a compelling governmental interest that requires an early effective date, prior to that allowed by the traditional rulemaking process. An emergency rule is only in effect for a limited period of time and normally has a corresponding proposed rulemaking that allows for public notice and comment. Once an emergency rule is approved and processed, it may be viewed on the Secretary of State's website at www.sos.mo.gov/adrules under the Emergency Rules section until it is published in the Missouri Register.

The Missouri Register is published twice a month and the Missouri Code of State Regulations is published once a month. The 15-volume Missouri Code of State Regulations contains approximately 10,000 pages of final agency rules and has a subject index and a cross-index to the Missouri Revised Statutes. These publications help ensure that Missourians are aware of any changes that may affect their businesses and daily life.

Both the Missouri Register and Missouri Code of State Regulations are available on the Secretary of State's website. Additionally, Missourians who are interested in particular rules may sign up on the Secretary of State's website for email notification of rule filings by rule number or subject matter.

Susan Montee

State Auditor

Elected November 7, 2006

Term expires January 2011

SUSAN MONTEE (Democrat) is Missouri's 35th state auditor, the first in Missouri history who is both a CPA and an attorney. Susan is also the first statewide official elected from Buchanan County, in Northwest Missouri, in over 125 years.

Susan was born and raised in St. Joseph, the daughter of Arlene Humphrey of St. Joseph and U.S. Marine Galen Humphrey, Missing-in-Action in Vietnam since 1966. She is married to attorney James Montee. They have three children: Amanda, Andy and Austin. The family attends Christ Episcopal Church.

Susan graduated from Bishop LeBlond High School in St. Joseph. She received an undergraduate degree in accounting from Drury College in Springfield, with minors in economics and business administration.

After receiving her accounting degree, Susan worked as an accountant and then a CPA in both private practice and in one of the nation's largest accounting firms. In 1985, she and her husband James started a computer supply company that they ran successfully until selling it in 1990.

Over the next six years, Susan stayed at home full-time until Amanda, Andy and Austin started school.

Susan then went back to school and obtained her law degree from the University of Missouri - Kansas City. Her tenure there included serving as business editor for the Law Review; she graduated with distinction in 2000.

Susan's first elective post was to an at-large four-year term on the St. Joseph City Council in 1998.

In 2000, Susan was elected Buchanan County Auditor. She served the county for two years concurrently with her service on the City Council. In 2002, she was re-elected to a four-year term as County Auditor. During her six years as Buchanan County Auditor, Susan transformed the office, taking it from handwritten ledgers to computers and modern accounting practices.

In 2006, Susan was elected Missouri State Auditor, winning with more votes and elected by a wider margin than any previous state auditor. Her term in office started a week early when Governor Matt Blunt appointed her to the position one week before her scheduled oath of office, filling the seat vacated by newly elected U.S. Senator Claire McCaskill.

Susan is a member of both the Missouri Society of CPAs and the Missouri Association of Trial Attorneys.

The state auditor's office is Missouri's independent watchdog agency, charged with auditing all state agencies, boards and commissions; the state court system; and the 89 counties in Missouri that do not have a county auditor. The state auditor may also be called on to audit local units of government by citizen petition.

Audits are performed to determine if tax dollars are being spent efficiently, economically and legally and to determine how well governmental units and agencies protect against fraud and abuse of the public funds under their control. Approximately 200 state agencies and programs, the state's 45 judicial circuits (including approximately 400 municipal divisions) and 89 counties must be regularly audited by the state auditor. Approximately 20 audits of local government entities, petitioned by local voters, are performed each year.

In addition to fulfilling the primary auditing duties of the office, the state auditor assists local governments develop proper accounting procedures, approves depositories selected by the state treasurer and serves as a member of the Board of Fund Commissioners and the State Records Commission, and as an ex officio member of the Joint Committee on Transportation Oversight. The state auditor also examines and registers general obligation bonds issued by political subdivisions of the state to ensure that each one complies with state law and reviews all property tax rates set by local political subdivisions.

The powers of the state auditor are constitutional, derived from Article IV, Section 13 of the Missouri Constitution. Most legal duties are detailed in Chapter 29 of the Revised Statutes of Missouri.

special projects, and consulting with directors concerning the day-to-day operations of the office. The chief of staff works with areas such as human resources, budget and finance, information technology, and public affairs. Audit directors aid the state auditor and supervise the work of audit managers in charge of auditing various aspects of government operations or government agencies and units. Audit directors, the director of quality control and planning, and audit managers review audit reports before the audits are delivered to the state auditor for final review and approval.

In addition to coordinating audits, audit directors and managers also track changes in policies and laws affecting the agencies or areas of government for which they are responsible for possible revision of audit plans or priorities as needed to review compliance.

Individual audits are supervised by an auditor-in-charge, who usually is a senior auditor. Audit fieldwork is performed by senior and staff auditors.

The state auditor's office has approximately 150 employees. Over 95 percent of audit management staff are CPAs, and nearly 55 percent of all audit staff have at least one professional license or certification.

The office hires professional audit staff with undergraduate and graduate degrees, and actively recruits candidates on campuses of many Missouri universities. Audit staff are hired on the basis of professional and academic qualifications. Most audit staff obtain advanced degrees and/or professional licensing and certifications.

Employment as an auditor with the state auditor's office qualifies as mandatory experience required for licensure by the Missouri State Board of Accountancy as a certified public accountant.

records of auditees are examined to determine how the funds under the auditee's control were actually recorded and spent. The systems and controls the auditee uses to protect funds and property against fraud, waste and abuse are checked. The auditee's compliance with constitutional provisions, laws, legislative appropriation levels and administrative rules is also reviewed. Management practices are reviewed for efficiency and accountability.

Audits are conducted in accordance with government auditing standards established by the Comptroller General of the United States. Completed financial audits contain a formal opinion from the state auditor regarding the fair presentation of financial statements. A management advisory report listing any management weaknesses, disclosed during the audit is also included. Findings and recommendations in the management advisory report are reviewed with the auditee at an exit conference prior to the release of the audit so the responses from the auditee to the recommendations may be printed in the final report.

The state auditor performs special reviews and audits of selected programs or agencies when needed.

The state auditor works closely with other audit agencies and offices at the local, state and national level. This is done to avoid duplication of effort in the audits of programs that may receive funding from several sources.

Citizen Awareness

Information from citizens, legislators and government employees aid the state auditor when performing special reviews and audits.

Citizens are urged to contact the state auditor if they have information they feel would be useful to auditors performing the audits. All sources of information are kept confidential. ### THE MISSOURI STATE MUSEUM

In 1919, the Missouri General Assembly designated the first floor of the east wing of the Capitol as the Missouri Soldiers' and Sailors' Memorial Hall. Two years later, in 1921, the Missouri Resources Museum was created on the first floor of the Capitol's west wing. The two museums were combined in 1923 and designated collectively as the Missouri State Museum.

Today, the museum continues to showcase Missouri's diverse history and resources. The museum houses both temporary and long-term exhibits, such as exhibits for the 150th anniversary of the Civil War. One of the highlights is a significant and rare collection of over 125 Civil War battle flags. Many of the flags belonged to or were captured by Missouri units on both sides of the war. At least one flag is on display at all times in the museum. Missouri was one of the most divided states during the Civil War, and the Missouri State Museum tells this story.

Museum staff give guided tours of the Capitol and provide interpretive programs on a variety of subjects related to Missouri's history and natural history. The museum is managed by the Missouri Department of Natural Resources.

Sarah Steelman

State Treasurer

Elected November 2, 2004

Term expires January 2009

SARAH STEELMAN (Republican) became Missouri's 44th State Treasurer on January 10, 2005. Her father, John L. Hearne, administered the oath of office to her.

Treasurer Steelman is responsible for the management of more than $20 billion in Missouri's annual revenue. She oversees the investment of approximately $4 billion in the state's portfolio.

Sarah Steelman grew up in Jefferson City, graduating from Jefferson City High School in 1976. She continued her studies at the University of Missouri, Columbia, where she earned a bachelors degree in history, and a Masters degree in Economics. Steelman worked as a public servant in various state agencies, serving as an economist at the Department of Revenue and as deputy director of the Missouri Department of Natural Resources – Division of Geology and Land Survey. She also served as an adjunct professor in economics at Lincoln University. After leaving state government, she worked as executive director of Big Brothers Big Sisters in Rolla, and as an investment broker.

Steelman and her husband, David, make their home in Rolla with their three sons, Sam, Joe and Michael. Her stepdaughter, Amanda Moore, resides with her husband, Taylor, in Baton Rouge, Louisiana.

Since taking office, Steelman has invested the taxpayer's money wisely by investing in Missouri through the newly created BIG Missouri program (Believe Invest Grow Missouri). This is a linked deposit program that ensures Missouri farmers and businesses have access to affordable capital so they can grow their enterprises, create jobs and help keep their families and communities strong.

Steelman believes that investing in Missouri helps create jobs and a strong economy for Missouri families. Through Steelman's community investment deposits the state is now investing in Missourians through their local banks.

Steelman also believes that every child in Missouri should have an opportunity to go to college. As treasurer, she serves as chairman of the state's Higher Education Savings Board, which administers MOST – Missouri's 529 College Savings Plan. This plan helps families save for their children's college education through a tax advantaged investment program. Steelman has started many new initiatives to help parents get their kids to college. The new MOST plan allows parents to save a percentage of the amount they spend on their everyday purchases (groceries, gas, clothing) to be deposited in their MOST accounts. She also worked with every public university and college throughout the state to establish special matching scholarships for Missouri families who save for college through the MOST plan. And Steelman partnered with Parents as Teachers to make sure that young parents are educated and empowered to save through MOST for their young children.

Steelman believes we should be helping Missouri's 11,000 foster children go to college too. She started (at no cost to Missouri taxpayers) a program called BELIEVE (Bringing Educational Leadership by Investing and Expecting Victory in Every Child). This initiative recruits all kinds of organizations, including non-profits, churches, businesses, civic clubs, associations and individuals to sponsor a foster child of Missouri by setting up a MOST college savings account for that child. Steelman knows that if a child has someone who BELIEVES in their dreams, anything is possible and that foster child is more likely to graduate high school and college.

Steelman is also responsible for returning over $400 million in cash and valuables to citizens through the unclaimed property program. For the past two years, record amounts of money were returned to rightful owners, with more than $21 million returned in fiscal year 2006. This year, she started Operation Extra Mile, which is helping return money to veterans across the state.

Duties

The state treasurer is Missouri state government's chief financial officer. The treasurer's office manages Missouri's $20 billion in annual state revenues; directs the state's banking services; and manages Missouri's $3.5 billion investment portfolio. The office safeguards more than $450 million in unclaimed assets that have been turned over to the state by banks, businesses, insurance companies and government agencies, and tries to locate the rightful owners. The state treasurer also serves on the management boards of a number of public entities.

The state treasurer is one of six statewide elected officials, and serves a term of four years. A person may only serve as state treasurer for two terms.

Banking Services

The state treasurer serves as Missouri government's banking director. While not a bank itself, the treasurer's office must authorize payments and balance accounts. To protect taxpayers' money, the state treasurer maintains a separate accounting system to provide a check and balance on the state accounting system, and distributes investment earnings to the proper funds.

The office contracts with Missouri banks to process the state's receipts and disbursements, handle money and security transfers, report on the state's accounts, balances and payment activities and provide related banking services such as data processing. Bidding for state banking services contracts is open to all Missouri banks.

Investments

The state treasurer determines the amount of state funds not needed for current operating expenses and invests those funds in interest-bearing time deposits in Missouri banks, U.S. treasury and federal agency securities, repurchase agreements, banker's acceptances and top-rated commercial paper. Safety is the treasurer's number one priority in the investment of the public's funds. Staff investment specialists monitor major investment markets and work to maximize the state's return on investments without compromising safety. The office has an average of $3.1 billion invested daily, earning the state millions of dollars in interest income each year.

BIG Missouri Linked Deposit Program

A portion of the state's investable funds can be used by the treasurer to help Missouri industries create jobs, to help small businesses grow, to help farmers prosper, and to bring affordable housing within reach of more Missouri families.

Under the BIG MISSOURI program, the treasurer's office is authorized to place up to $720 million in state funds in Missouri financial institutions. The institutions pass on the savings in the form of low-interest loans for agriculture, job creation, small business, drought relief and affordable multi-family housing.

Unclaimed Property

The treasurer's office is responsible for Missouri's largest "lost and found," the state's Unclaimed Property program. State law requires financial institutions, insurance companies, public agencies and other business entities to turn over assets that belong to a customer, client, employee or other rightful owner if there have been no documented transactions or contact with the owner for five or more years. The treasurer's office operates an aggressive program to return unclaimed assets to the original owners or their legal heirs.

Most unclaimed property consists of cash from bank accounts, stocks, bonds and contents of safe deposit boxes that have been abandoned. It also can include uncollected insurance policy proceeds, government refunds, utility deposits and wages from past jobs. The Unclaimed Property section does not handle real property such as land, houses, cars and boats.

The office currently is holding more than $450 million in unclaimed property and funds in more than 2.5 million owner accounts. All unclaimed property is held in trust by the state forever and can be claimed at any time. To recover unclaimed property, claimants must be either the original owner of the property or a legal heir. All services of the Unclaimed Property program are free of charge.

People can check to see if the treasurer's office is holding unclaimed property that may belong to them using its searchable database at www.showmemoney.com.

MOST – College Savings Plan

The state treasurer chairs the Missouri Saving for Tuition, or MOST, board. Developed by the state treasurer's office in 1999, the MOST program encourages Missouri families to save for higher education while taking advantage of significant federal and state tax benefits. Accounts can be opened with as little as $25 or $15 through payroll deduction. Contributions of up to $8,000 annually can be deducted from Missouri income taxes and all earnings are free of state and federal income taxes. Funds from MOST accounts can be used to pay for all eligible educational expenses at virtually any two- or four-year college or university, vocational, technical or professional school anywhere in the country.

For more information about MOST, call toll free: 1-888-414-MOST, or visit the website at www.missourimost.org.

Boards and Commissions

The state treasurer serves on the governing boards of three large public entities: the Missouri Housing Development Commission, which assists in the creation of affordable housing for low- and moderate-income Missourians; the Missouri State Employees' Retirement System, which manages retirement funds for more than 56,000 state employees and retirees; and the Board of Fund Commissioners, which issues, redeems and cancels state general obligation bonds and other debt. The state treasurer also serves on the boards of the Missouri Investment Trust, the Missouri Cultural Trust Board, and the Missouri Historical Society.

Attorney General

Elected November 2, 2004

Term expires January 2009

JAY NIXON (Democrat) is serving his fourth term as attorney general of Missouri. Nixon was first elected attorney general on Nov. 3, 1992, on a platform of fighting crime, cleaning up government corruption, and protecting consumers and the environment. Nixon is Missouri's 40th attorney general.

As attorney general, Jay Nixon has worked to increase the effectiveness and efficiency of state government. In 2006, his office saved or generated for Missouri taxpayers $19.40 for every dollar appropriated to the attorney general's office.

Nixon's tenure as attorney general also has been marked by initiative and innovation to defend and protect Missouri consumers, taxpayers and the environment. One of the most popular and successful programs he instituted is the state's No Call program, which has been held up as a model for other states starting their own programs. More than 2.4 million residential phone numbers – representing an estimated 4 million Missourians – are a part of the Missouri No Call list. Tough enforcement of the law by Nixon's office has not only greatly reduced unwanted telemarketing calls, it has led to a significant decrease in complaints from Missourians about telemarketing fraud.

Upon taking office, he created the Agriculture and Environment Division to enforce Missouri's environmental laws and protect agricultural productivity. Successful litigation by the division has resulted in the cleanup of polluted sites and millions of dollars awarded to the state.

Nixon also formed the state's first Medicaid Fraud Control Unit, enabling Missouri to recover tens of millions of dollars that the state would not receive otherwise in Medicaid fraud cases. He also initiated the vigorous defense against inmate lawsuits, ending the practice of paying outside attorneys and saving the state millions of dollars in the process.

Nixon himself argued before the United States Supreme Court in Nixon v. Shrink, a landmark victory that reinstated Missouri's campaign contribution limits and cleared the way nationally for campaign finance reform. Nixon's work in the Blue Cross and Blue Shield and the Health Midwest cases resulted in the formation of the state's two largest health-care foundations, which are using more than $1.5 billion to help provide healthcare services to underserved populations of the state.

Litigation by Nixon against tobacco companies for illegally marketing cigarettes to young people resulted in the largest settlement in the history of the state; as of 2007, the litigation had brought in more than $1.2 billion to state coffers.

Nixon has been a national leader in fighting crime on the Internet, obtaining convictions and restitution from those who have defrauded Missourians through Internet scams. His work also established through court rulings that Missouri laws can be enforced on the Internet.

As attorney general, Nixon obtained more than $14.4 million for Missourians in 2006 from companies and individuals accused of fraudulent activities, including a record $5.4 million returned to consumers by the Consumer Protection Division through out-of-court mediation. The division receives more than 90,000 complaints annually and has handled more than one million consumer complaints since Nixon took office. Nixon's actions to protect the elderly have put telemarketers in prison and fraudulent sweepstakes companies out of business.

Prior to becoming attorney general, Nixon served as a state senator for six years where he was recognized by the Conservation Federation of Missouri for his environmental work.

Attorney General Nixon is a native of De Soto. He earned his political science and law degrees from the University of Missouri-Columbia in 1978 and 1981, respectively. He was in private practice when elected to the Senate in 1986. He is married to Georganne Wheeler Nixon; they have two children, Jeremiah and Will.

The attorney general is the attorney for the state, representing the legal interests of Missouri and its state agencies.

As the state's chief legal officer, the attorney general must prosecute or defend all appeals to which the state is a party, including every felony criminal case appealed to the Missouri Supreme Court and Courts of Appeal. The attorney general also is required to institute, in the name and on behalf of the state, all civil suits and other proceedings that are necessary to protect the state's rights, interests or claims. The attorney general may appear, interplead, answer or defend any proceedings that involve the state's interests, or appear on behalf of the state in declaratory judgment proceedings when the constitutionality of a statute is challenged.

The attorney general also renders official opinions to the executive and legislative branch and the county prosecuting attorneys on questions of law relating to their duties. The attorney general may institute quo warranto proceedings against anyone unlawfully holding office or move to oust any public official for malfeasance in office.

The attorney general's office was created in 1806 when Missouri was part of the Louisiana Territory. Missouri's first Constitution in 1820 provided for an appointed attorney general, but, since the 1865 Constitution, the attorney general has been elected.

By law, the attorney general is a member of the Board of Fund Commissioners, the Board of Public Buildings, the Governor's Committee on Interstate Cooperation, the Missouri Highway Reciprocity Commission and the Missouri Housing Development Commission.

To fulfill these and other responsibilities, the attorney general's office is organized into eight divisions.

Agriculture and Environment Division

The Agriculture and Environment Division aggressively protects Missouri's natural resources and agricultural productivity. Attorneys take legal action to stop pollution of the state's air, water and soil and penalize polluters through fines, penalties and, in the most serious cases, incarceration. The division also works to protect and enhance agriculture and the quality of life for rural Missourians by enforcing the law and advocating responsible public policy.

The attorney general has taken action in recent years to protect the state's interests in management of the Missouri River and to protect some of the state's most valuable resources, such as the waterways of the White River basin and Church Mountain.

Division attorneys represent the Department of Natural Resources and its constituent boards and commissions, as well as the Department of Agriculture. The division is responsible for hundreds of active enforcement cases and administrative appeals before various environmental commissions. Enforcement litigation is filed primarily in state courts to seek preliminary and permanent injunctions to assure compliance with Missouri's environmental laws. The division also obtains civil penalties and recovers costs and damages for the state. Division attorneys cooperate with the U.S. Attorney's office in the Environmental Crimes Task Force to enforce state and federal laws with civil and criminal penalties.

Consumer Protection Division

The attorney general has the responsibility of protecting the public's interests in an open and honest marketplace. The Consumer Protection Division enforces Missouri's Consumer Protection Act and antitrust laws, and has the responsibility of representing the commissioner of securities of the secretary of state's office.

Missouri's consumer protection statutes prohibit deception, fraud, unfair practices and misrepresentation or concealment of material facts in the sale or advertisement of goods or services. These laws authorize the attorney general to take action against such fraud and ensure that consumers' rights are protected. The division also has an active consumer education program.

Consumers who wish to file complaints or obtain information may call the attorney general's Consumer Hotline at (800) 392-8222 or go online to www.ago.mo.gov. The division receives more than 90,000 consumer complaints and inquiries each year.

Under the Missouri Antitrust Law, the attorney general has the authority to represent the state or any of its political subdivisions, public agencies, school districts or municipalities in actions to prohibit monopolies and trade restraints. The attorney general also may act under federal antitrust statutes to bring civil actions in the name of the state and on behalf of Missouri residents to recover damages for injuries caused by certain antitrust violations.

The attorney general is the state's chief prosecutor for securities fraud, and may initiate legal actions for civil injunctive relief, penalties and restitution under the Missouri Merchandising Practices Law. Attorneys in this division also protect Missourians by enforcing compliance with state laws by trusts, foundations and nonprofit corporations.

The No Call program to reduce unwanted telemarketing calls also is under the Consumer Protection Division. Missourians may register for No Call by calling 1-866 NO CALL 1 or by going online to www.ago.mo.gov.

Criminal Division

The attorney general represents the state in every felony case appealed to the Supreme Court of Missouri and Missouri Court of Appeals. Each year, attorneys in the Criminal Division brief and argue more than 700 cases in the Missouri Court of Appeals and the Supreme Court of Missouri. Division attorneys also assist with extraditions to and from Missouri of those charged in criminal cases.

Financial Services Division

The Financial Services Division protects Missourians by recouping money owed to the state or state agencies, including providing collection services to several divisions of the attorney general's office and more than 40 other state agencies. Division attorneys also take legal action to establish and maintain child support obligations, and work to recover money owed by inmates to reimburse the state for the cost of their care.

Governmental Affairs Division

The Governmental Affairs Division protects the safety and well-being of Missourians by ensuring that regulated professionals adhere to state laws and disciplinary rules, by enforcing state ethics and campaign finance laws, and by removing caregivers who abuse or neglect vulnerable citizens. They also help mentally ill and physically challenged Missourians obtain guardians to help get care. Division attorneys also help Missourians seek redress for claims of discrimination based on race, color, religion, national origin, ancestry, gender, disability, age and familial status.

The division provides legal representation to several state agencies, including the departments of Health and Senior Services, Revenue and Social Services; the Missouri Ethics Commission; and more than 30 professional licensing boards, including the Board of Registration for the Healing Arts, which regulates the practice of medicine.

Division attorneys enforce the provisions of the tobacco Master Settlement Agreement, which has brought in more than $1.2 billion to the state as of 2007. Attorneys in the division also address questions from the public, from government officials and from the media about Missouri's open meetings and records law, commonly known as the Sunshine Law.

Labor Division

The Labor Division provides general counsel and litigation services for the Missouri Department of Labor and Industrial Relations and its officers and agencies. The division also represents the state in prevailing wage disputes, crime victims' claims and workers' compensation cases of state employees, including claims involving the Second Injury Fund.

Litigation Division

Litigation Division attorneys handle major and complex litigation for Missouri, providing legal defense to state agencies and their employees. Cases in the division include damage claims, contract actions, class-action lawsuits, employment issues, constitutional challenges and other types of civil litigation. The division also defends the state in lawsuits brought by inmates of Missouri's correctional facilities. Division attorneys also defend constitutional challenges to state laws and ballot issues.

Public Safety Division

The Public Safety Division is involved in a wide range of criminal prosecutions at the trial level. The division's special prosecution unit prosecutes or assists in the prosecution of cases throughout Missouri, many of them homicide cases. In 2006, division attorneys handled 794 special prosecutions in 94 of the state's 114 counties. The meth prosecution unit specializes in handling criminal cases involving the manufacture, sale or possession of methamphetamine.

The workers' compensation fraud unit prosecutes fraud or misconduct involving workers' compensation, and the Medicaid fraud control unit prosecutes cases involving fraud of the state Medicaid program by health professionals, or abuse or neglect of Medicaid recipients by caregivers.

The division's high technology and computer crime unit assists local law enforcement with investigations and prosecutions of computer and Internet crime cases.

The sexually violent predator unit seeks the civil commitment of sexual predators who suffer from a mental abnormality making them more likely than not to commit additional predatory acts of sexual violence.

Attorneys in the division also serve as legal counsel for the Department of Public Safety, the Missouri State Highway Patrol, the Missouri State Water Patrol and other state law enforcement agencies, and represent those agencies in all civil litigation in which they are a party.

Division attorneys also defend the state in all habeas corpus actions filed by prison inmates in state and federal courts. Each year they litigate some 500 federal habeas corpus actions in the federal district courts, the Eighth Circuit Court of Appeals, and the U.S. Supreme Court.

Note: Salary information in this section is taken from "Legislative, Executive and Judicial Officials: Process for Adjusting Pay and Current Salaries," CRS Report for Congress, 07-13-2007.

The president and the vice president of the United States are elected every four years by a majority of votes cast in the electoral college. These votes are cast by delegates from each state who vote in accordance, traditionally, with the majority of the state's voters. States have as many electoral college votes as they have congressional delegates. Missouri has 11 electoral college votes—one for each of the nine U.S. Congress districts and two for the state's two seats in the U.S. Senate.

The president is the chief executive of the United States, with powers to command the armed forces, control foreign policy, grant reprieves and pardons, make certain appointments, execute all laws passed by Congress and present the administration's budget. The president earns $400,000 annually, with an allowance for expenses.

The vice president is selected by members of each national political committee and runs on the same ticket for the same term as the president. The vice president assumes the presidency if the president dies or resigns the office, is incapacitated to the extent that he or she cannot exercise presidential duties for an extended period, or is impeached. The vice president presides over the functions of the U.S. Senate and acts as emissary of the president. The vice president earns $215,700 annually, plus an allowance for expenses.

Although not mentioned in the Constitution, the president's cabinet is the advisory arm of the office. It is made up of 15 cabinet members (or secretaries) who have the responsibility to operate each department. Secretaries are appointed by the president and serve at his or her pleasure. Cabinet secretaries earn $186,600 annually.

Legislative Branch

The U.S. Constitution provides for two legislative houses, known as the Congress. The Senate is composed of 100 members; two senators are elected from each state. The House of Representatives is composed of 435 members; the number of representatives is determined based on the population of each state. Missouri is allotted nine U.S. Representative seats.

Senators must be at least 30 years of age and be residents of the United States for at least nine years. They also must reside in the state they are elected to represent. Senators serve terms of six years, with one-third of the Senate membership elected every two years. Senators earn $165,200 annually, plus expenses.

The United States Capitol, Washington, D.C.

Representatives must be at least 25 years of age and must have been residents of the United States for at least seven years. They also must reside in the state they represent. Representatives serve two-year terms and earn $165,200 annually, plus expenses.

Congress is in session for two years, beginning on January 3 of each year unless another date is specified. The presiding officer of the Senate is the vice president of the United States. The Senate also elects a president pro tem of the Senate to serve in the absence of the vice president. The president pro tem also represents the party in power and earns $183,500. The presiding officer of the House is called the speaker. The speaker traditionally represents the party in majority and earns $212,100.

Judicial Branch

The U.S. Supreme Court heads the nation's judicial branch of government. The Supreme Court is composed of nine justices, appointed for life. Supreme Court judges may only be removed by impeachment and trial by Congress. Justices receive $206,500 annually while the chief justice, who leads the court, earns $215,700.

The Supreme Court concerns itself with national issues or matters concerning the constitutionality of certain laws or findings. Decisions of the court are binding and overrule any other court decision.

George W. Bush

United States President

GEORGE W. BUSH (Republican) is the 43rd President of the United States. He was sworn into office on January 20, 2001, re-elected on November 2, 2004, and sworn in for a second term on January 20, 2005. Prior to his Presidency, President Bush served for 6 years as the 46th governor of the State of Texas, where he earned a reputation for bipartisanship and as a compassionate conservative who shaped public policy based on the principles of limited government, personal responsibility, strong families and local control.

President Bush was born on July 6, 1946, in New Haven, Connecticut, and grew up in Midland and Houston, Texas. He received a bachelor's degree in history from Yale University in 1968, and then served as an F-102 fighter pilot in the Texas Air National Guard. President Bush received a Master of Business Administration from Harvard Business School in 1975. Following graduation, he moved back to Midland and began a career in the energy business. After working on his father's successful 1988 Presidential campaign, President Bush assembled the group of partners who purchased the Texas Rangers baseball franchise in 1989. On November 8, 1994, President Bush was elected governor of Texas. He became the first governor in Texas history to be elected to consecutive four-year terms when he was re-elected on November 3, 1998.

Since becoming President of the United States in 2001, President Bush has worked with the Congress to create an ownership society and build a future of security, prosperity and opportunity for all Americans. He signed into law tax relief that helps workers keep more of their hard-earned money, as well as the most comprehensive education reforms in a generation, the No Child Left Behind Act of 2001. This legislation is ushering in a new era of accountability, flexibility, local control, and more choices for parents, affirming our nation's fundamental belief in the promise of every child. President Bush has also worked to improve healthcare and modernize Medicare, providing the first-ever prescription drug benefit for seniors; increase homeownership, especially among minorities; conserve our environment; and increase military strength, pay, and benefits. Because President Bush believes the strength of America lies in the hearts and souls of our citizens, he has supported programs that encourage individuals to help their neighbors in need.

On the morning of September 11, 2001, terrorists attacked our nation. Since then, President Bush has taken unprecedented steps to protect our homeland and create a world free from terror. He is grateful for the service and sacrifice of our brave men and women in uniform and their families. The president is confident that by helping build free and prosperous societies, our nation and our friends and allies will succeed in making America more secure and the world more peaceful.

President Bush is married to Laura Welch Bush, a former teacher and librarian, and they have twin daughters, Barbara and Jenna. The Bush family also includes two dogs, Barney and Miss Beazley, and a cat, Willie.

Richard B. Cheney

United States Vice President

RICHARD B. CHENEY (Republican) has had a distinguished career as a businessman and public servant, serving four presidents and as an elected official. Throughout his service, Mr. Cheney served with duty, honor, and unwavering leadership, gaining him the respect of the American people during trying military times.

Mr. Cheney was born in Lincoln, Nebraska, on January 30, 1941 and grew up in Casper, Wyoming. He earned his bachelor's and master's of arts degrees from the University of Wyoming. His career in public service began in 1969 when he joined the Nixon Administration, serving in a number of positions at the Cost of Living Council, at the Office of Economic Opportunity and within the White House.

When Gerald Ford assumed the presidency in August 1974, Mr. Cheney served on the transition team and later as deputy assistant to the president. In November 1975, he was named assistant to the president and White House chief of staff, a position he held throughout the remainder of the Ford Administration.

After he returned to his home state of Wyoming in 1977, Mr. Cheney was elected to serve as the state's sole congressman in the U.S. House of Representatives. He was re-elected five times and elected by his colleagues to serve as chairman of the Republican Policy Committee from 1981 to 1987. He was elected chairman of the House Republican Conference in 1987 and elected House minority whip in 1988. During his tenure in the House, Mr. Cheney earned a reputation as a man of knowledge, character and accessibility.

Mr. Cheney also served a crucial role when America needed him most. As Secretary of Defense from March 1989 to January 1993, Mr. Cheney directed two of the largest military campaigns in recent history—Operation Just Cause in Panama and Operation Desert Storm in the Middle East. He was responsible for shaping the future of the U.S. military in an age of profound and rapid change as the Cold War ended. For his leadership in the Gulf War, Secretary Cheney was awarded the Presidential Medal of Freedom by President George Bush on July 3, 1991.

Mr. Cheney married his high school sweetheart, Lynne Ann Vincent, in 1964, and they have grown daughters, Elizabeth and Mary, three granddaughters and two grandsons.

CHRISTOPHER S. (KIT) BOND (Republican) is a sixth generation Missourian, born in St. Louis in 1939. He grew up in Mexico, Mo., where he still resides and tends to several groves of trees he planted by hand.

Bond graduated from Princeton University in 1960 and received his law degree from the University of Virginia, having graduated first in his class.

After serving as a clerk to the Chief Judge of the Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals in Atlanta, Bond practiced law in Washington, D.C. before returning home to Missouri.

In 1969, Bond became an assistant attorney general under former Senator John Danforth. Before being elected state auditor in 1970, Bond was chief counsel of Missouri's Consumer Protection Division.

At age 33, Kit Bond became the 47th governor of the State of Missouri on January 8, 1973 - the youngest governor the state has ever had.

Bond was re-elected to a second term as governor in 1980. Among his greatest accomplishments as governor was to take the Parents as Teachers program statewide.

After his second successful term as governor, Bond continued his service to Missouri from his newly won seat in the United States Senate. In that 1986 election year, he was the only Republican to capture a seat previously held by a Democrat.

Based upon his solid ability to protect and advance Missouri's interests in the United States Senate, Bond was returned by Missouri voters to the U.S. Senate in 1992, 1998 and in 2004.

While serving in the U.S. Senate, he has built a reputation as a strong supporter of responsible budgeting and accountability in education and government programs.

Bond has fought for economic security by protecting jobs from being driven abroad by overreaching regulations, ensuring that the weapons systems defending our soldiers continue to be built by Missouri's fine engineering and production work force, and working to make Missouri the premier plant biotechnology and life sciences corridor in the country.

He has fought for the health and safety of his constituents by winning funds to expand Community Health Centers, protecting access to cancer care, improving nursing home care and providing Missouri sheriffs the resources they need to fight methamphetamine.

Bond has fought for Missouri's fair share of money to improve roads and highways. As the then chairman of the subcommittee responsible for writing federal highway legislation, Bond used his clout to bring $1.3 billion in new federal highway funds to Missouri in the most recent transportation bill.

A strong supporter of law enforcement and a strong U.S. military, Bond also serves as the vice chair on the Sen. Select Intelligence Committee, where he is working to reform the intelligence community and enhance their abilities to detect and disrupt planned terrorist attacks on America. Bond is also the ranking member of the Appropriations Subcommittee that funds the nation's housing and transportation needs.

Bond is married to Linda Bond. His son, Sam Bond, is a 1st Lieutenant in the U.S. Marine Corps.

CLAIRE McCASKILL (Democrat) became the first woman elected to the U.S. Senate from Missouri, November 2006, vowing to bring Harry Truman's no-nonsense style of accountability back to Washington. Her place in the Senate chamber is at a desk once used by Senator Truman himself.

She sits on five Senate Committees: Aging; Armed Services; Commerce; Homeland Security; and Government Affairs and Indian Affairs. Additionally, Claire was chosen to sit on the Permanent Subcommittee on Investigations, formerly known as the Truman Committee.

She is a fourth-generation Missourian who has spent her entire life in the Show-Me State. Born in Rolla, raised in Lebanon and Columbia, she has never forgotten her roots. Claire's first home was Houston, Mo., where her father William worked at the McCaskill feed mill after World War II. Later, the family moved to Lebanon, hometown of Claire's mother, Betty Anne, where her mother's family ran the corner drugstore in town.

After another move, she attended Hickman High School in Columbia, while her father served as a state insurance commissioner and her mother became Columbia's first woman city council member. At Hickman, Claire graduated near the top of her class and was deeply involved in student activities, while also working in a fabric store since she sewed many of her own clothes.

The day after graduation, she left town for a job bussing tables at Lodge of the Four Seasons, Lake of the Ozarks. Waitressing for six years helped Claire work her way through college and law school at the Univ. of Mo.-Columbia.

Claire clerked for the Mo. Court of Appeals in Kansas City and then got a job as an assistant prosecutor in Kansas City, where she was a felony trial prosecutor handling sex crimes, homicides and specializing in arson cases. In 1982, McCaskill won a seat in the State Legislature. She juggled the responsibilities of mother and legislator and was the first woman to ever give birth while she was an active member of the Missouri Legislature.

She broke new ground again in 1993 when she became the first female Jackson County Prosecutor. The largest prosecutor's office in the state, she began many new programs, including a domestic violence unit and one of the nation's first Drug Courts. She held this position until she was sworn in as Missouri auditor in 1999.

As state auditor, Claire was credited for revolutionizing the office and making it into a true watchdog for taxpayers and citizens. Her introduction of performance audits as well as her audits of child care programs, education funding, and nursing homes proved her commitment as an independent advocate for Missouri's taxpayers.

After a busy week in Washington, she returns home to St. Louis to a full house. After seven years as a single mom, Claire married Joseph Shepard, a St. Louis businessman, in April 2002. Together they have a blended family that includes seven children: Benjamin, Carl, Marilyn, Michael, Austin, Maddie and Lily. Claire's 78 year old mother Betty Anne lives with the family and continues to join her on trips around Missouri.

<sup>21</sup>Jo Ann Emerson was elected to two terms in the 1996 general election. She ran as a Republican in the special election to serve out the remainder of the term in the seat held by her late husband, U.S. Rep. Bill Emerson, who died in June of 1996. With not enough time for her name to be added to the ballot for the next full term in Congress, Jo Ann Emerson ran for the upcoming term as an Independent. She won both elections, and began her congressional service during the 104th Congress, representing Missouri's Eighth District starting in November of 1996.

Historical Note: The election of early Missouri delegates was by general statewide ticket. In 1847, the state was divided into five congressional districts, from which representatives were elected. In 1863, the districts were expanded to number nine and ten years later in 1873, Missouri was redistricted to allow for thirteen congressional districts. By acts approved in 1882 and 1885, Missouri was allowed one additional district and in 1893, the congressional districts numbered fifteen. Missouri was allowed sixteen districts in 1901; these were in place until 1933. In that year, the state was allotted thirteen representatives, while the legislature redistricted the state. Those thirteen representatives were elected at large (indicated by an asterisk (*) in the listing). The state has been redistricted at various times over the last forty years, moving from eleven districts in the 1950s, to ten districts in the 1960s, to the current number of nine congressional districts in the 1980s. Because of the redistricting, it may be necessary to check the Revised Statutes of Missouri to determine which Missouri counties were represented by a district during a particular year. Redistricting changes generally occur in the years following the taking of the federal census.

The Missouri General Assembly

Legislative power in Missouri is vested by Section 1, Article III of the 1945 Constitution in the General Assembly, composed of the Senate and the House of Representatives. Their website is www.moga.mo.gov.

The Senate consists of 34 members, elected for four-year terms. Senators from odd-numbered districts are elected in presidential election years. Senators from even-numbered districts are chosen in the midterm elections. Each senator must be at least 30 years of age, a qualified voter of the state for three years and of the district he or she represents for one year. The lieutenant governor is president and presiding officer of the Senate. In the absence of the lieutenant governor, the president pro tem, elected by the Senate members, presides.

The House of Representatives consists of 163 members, elected at each general election for a two-year term. A representative must be at least 24 years of age, a qualified voter of the state for two years and of the district he or she represents for one year. The House is presided over by the speaker, chosen by the members, and in the absence of the speaker by the speaker pro tem.

Reapportionment of both houses of the Missouri General Assembly following each decennial U.S. census is provided for by the Missouri Constitution.

Senators and Representatives receive a salary of $31,351 per year, a weekly allowance for miles traveled going to and returning from their place of meeting and expenses for each day the General Assembly is in session.

Time of Meeting

The General Assembly convenes annually on the first Wednesday after the first Monday of January. Adjournment is midnight on May 30, with no consideration of bills after 6 p.m. on the first Friday after the second Monday in May. If the governor returns a bill with his objections on or after the fifth day before the last day upon which a session of the General Assembly may consider bills, the General Assembly is automatically reconvened on the first Wednesday following the second Monday in September for a period not to exceed 10 calendar days to consider vetoed bills.

A special session of the General Assembly may be called by petition of the General Assembly. If three-fourths of the members of the Senate and three-fourths of the members of the House sign the petition calling for a special session, the president pro tem of the Senate and the speaker of the House shall, by joint proclamation, convene the General Assembly in special session. The petition and proclamation must specifically state the subjects to be considered during the special session, and the signed petition must be filed with the secretary of state.

The General Assembly shall automatically stand adjourned sine die at 6 p.m. on the 30th calendar day after the convening of the special session unless it has adjourned sine die before the 30th day. No appropriation bill shall be considered in the special session if the General Assembly has not passed the operating budget in compliance with Article III, Section 25 of the Missouri Constitution.

The governor may convene the General Assembly in extraordinary session for a maximum of 60 calendar days at any time. Only subjects recommended by the governor in his or her call or a special message may be considered.

Organization of the General Assembly

Following the general election in November of even-numbered years, the majority and minority members of each house caucus, separately nominate candidates for the offices to be elected by each body and organize their parties for the coming session. Nominees of the majority party are elected. Each party names its floor leader, assistant floor leader, caucus chair and secretary.

Both houses of the General Assembly convene at noon on the opening day of the session. The Senate is called to order by the lieutenant governor. Temporary officers are named and the roll of new and incumbent senators is read. Newly elected senators are then sworn in, usually by a judge of the Supreme Court. The president pro tem and other permanent officers are then elected and take an oath of office administered by the president of the Senate.

The House of Representatives is called to order by the secretary of state, and the oath is administered to all members. After the swearing-in ceremony, a roll call is taken and a temporary speaker is named. He or she presides for the nomination and election of permanent officers. Temporary rules, usually the rules in force for the preceding session, are adopted.

After each house notifies the other that it is duly organized, a House Resolution is adopted inviting the Senate to a joint meeting to receive the governor's message. Under the Constitution, the governor, at the beginning of each session, delivers a message concerning state government with any recommendations he or she wishes to make for the enactment of legislation. This message is commonly referred to as the State of the State Address.

Each house determines its own rules, and procedures and rules may not be dispensed with except by unanimous consent or concurrence by a constitutional majority. Both the Senate and House are required to keep a daily journal of their proceedings. At the end of the session, the journals are bound by the House and Senate. The secretary of state's office maintains microform copies of the journals.

Term Limits

In November 1992 the voters approved an amendment to the Missouri Constitution to limit for the first time the amount of total service in the House and Senate to eight years in each. Total legislative service was limited to sixteen years. In November of 2002 voters approved an additional amendment to allow members elected through a special election, after the effective date, to serve the partial term and two full terms for the Senate and four full terms for the House, through a general election.

How Bills Become Laws

General Provisions

Bills may originate in either house and are designated as Senate Bills or House Bills, depending on the house in which they originate. No bill (except general appropriations bills) may contain more than one subject, which is to be expressed clearly in its title. No bill can be amended in its passage through either house so as to change its original purpose. No bill can be introduced in either house after the 60th legislative day of a session unless consented to by a majority of the elected members of each house. No appropriation bill shall be taken up for consideration after 6 p.m. on the first Friday following the first Monday in May of each year.

Introduction of a Bill

Missouri law provides for preintroduction of bills beginning December 1 preceding the opening of the assembly session and continuing up to, but not including, the first day of session. Bills filed during the preintroduction period are automatically introduced and read the first time on the opening day of session.

Bills also may be introduced by any senator or representative during session. Bills may be written by the legislator or by the staff of the Committee on Legislative Research at the request of a senator or representative. When introduced, a bill is assigned a number and read for the first time by its title. It then goes on the calendar for second reading and assignment to committee by the speaker of the House or the president pro tem of the Senate.

A public hearing before the committee to which a bill is assigned is the next step in the legislative process. Except in the case of unusually controversial, complex or lengthy bills, the bill is presented by its sponsor, and both proponents and opponents are heard in a single hearing. When hearings are concluded, the committee meets to vote and makes its recommendations. The committee may (1) report the bill with the recommendation that it "do pass;" (2) recommend passage with committee amendments, which are attached to the bill; (3) return the bill without recommendation; (4) substitute in lieu of the original bill a new bill to be known as a committee substitute; (5) report the bill with a recommendation that it "do not pass;" or (6) make no report at all.

Perfection of a Bill

If a bill is reported favorably out of committee or a substitute is recommended, it is placed on the "perfection calendar." When its term comes up for consideration, it is debated on the floor of the originating house. If a substitute is recommended by the committee or if committee amendments are attached to the bill, they are first presented, debated and voted upon. Further amendments can then be proposed by other members with their changes designated as House or Senate amendments to differentiate from the committee amendments. A Senate substitute bill can also be offered at this time. When all amendments and substitutes have been considered, a motion is made to declare the bill perfected. Perfection is voted on by a voice vote or, on the request of five members, by roll call. If a majority of members vote to perfect, the bill is reprinted in its original or amended form.

Final Passage of a Bill

After perfection and reprinting, the bill goes on the calendar for third reading and final passage. When the bill is reached in the order of business, any member may speak for or against its passage but no further amendments of a substantive nature can be offered. At the conclusion of debate, a recorded vote is taken. Approval of a constitutional majority of the elected members (18 in the Senate and 82 in the House) is required for final passage.

Passage of the bill is then reported to the other house where it is read a second time, referred to committee for hearing, reported by committee, read a third time and offered for final approval. If further amendments or substitutes are approved, these are reported to the originating house with a request that the changes be approved. If the originating house does not approve, a conference may be requested and members from each house are designated as a conference committee. Upon agreement by the conference committee (usually a compromise of differences), each reports to its own house on the committee's recommendation. The originating house acts first on the conference committee version of the bill. If it is approved it goes to the other house; and upon approval there, the bill is declared "truly agreed to and finally passed." If either house rejects the conference committee report, it may be returned to the same or a newly appointed committee for further conferences.

Upon final passage, a bill is ordered enrolled, printed in its final form and the bills are closely compared and proofed for errors.

Signing of the Bill

Bills truly agreed to and finally passed in their printed form are then signed in open session by the House speaker and Senate president or president pro tem. At the time of signing, any member may file written objections which are sent with the bill to the governor.

Governor's Part in Lawmaking

The governor has 15 days to act on a bill if it is sent to him during the legislative session, and 45 days if the Legislature has adjourned or has recessed for a 30-day period.

If he or she signs a bill, it is returned to its house of origin with a message of approval, then delivered to the Office of Secretary of State. The bill is delivered directly to the Office of Secretary of State if the Legislature is not in session.

If the governor vetoes a bill, it is returned to the house of origin with his or her objections. A two-thirds vote by members of both houses is required to override a governor's veto.

If any bill shall not be returned by the governor within the time limits prescribed by Article III, Section 31 of the Missouri Constitution, it shall become law in the same manner as if the governor had signed it.

Effective Date of Laws

The 1945 Constitution provides that no law passed by the General Assembly shall take effect until 90 days after the end of the session in which it was enacted, except an appropriation act or in case of an emergency, which must be expressed in the preamble or in the body of the act. Some bills specify the exact date when they are to take effect.

Duties of the Secretary of State

The Secretary of State preserves and the State Archives binds and maintains the finally printed and signed copy of the law. The laws are published annually by the Committee on Legislative Research, in a volume titled Laws of Missouri, which is distributed to members of the General Assembly, state officials and other interested persons.

The general statute laws are revised, digested and promulgated by the revisor of statutes, in the Office of the Committee on Legislative Research. These are known as the Revised Statutes of Missouri. The Committee on Legislative Research also publishes annual supplements to the statutes to include changes in laws since the last revision.

Joint Legislative Committees

Joint Committee on Administrative Rules

Room B-8, State Capitol

Jefferson City 65101

www.senate.mo.gov/05info/comm/statutory/jcar.htm

The Joint Committee on Administrative Rules (JCAR) was created in 1975 and is a permanent joint committee of the General Assembly as provided in Chapter 536, Revised Statutes of Missouri. The Committee is comprised of five members of the Senate and five members of the House. In order to provide continuity in the operation of the committee, the statute authorizing the committee provides the appointment of each member shall continue during his or her term of office as a member of the General Assembly.

The Senate members are appointed by the president pro tem of the Senate, while the representatives are appointed by the House speaker. No more than three members from each chamber may be of the same political party.

Under state law, the Joint Committee on Administrative Rules is to continuously monitor and review both proposed and existing rules promulgated by the various executive branch departments and divisions of state government. Citizens or interested organizations who have concerns about rules issued by state agencies can contact the committee with their concerns. In its review the committee is authorized to hold public hearings and review rules in question. The procedures allowing the committee to rescind or modify a proposed or existing state agency rule were changed in 1993. This action was taken in order to resolve constitutional concerns about the separation of powers between the Legislative Branch and the Executive Branch. Actions taken by the committee on rules and regulations of state agencies must be ratified by the full General Assembly through a concurrent resolution, which then must be signed by the governor. The goal of the Committee on Administrative Rules is to ensure a state agency does not exceed its statutory authority and that the agencies effectively accomplish their missions as mandated by the statutes.

The members of the committee are: Senators Bray; Callahan; Goodman; Griesheimer and Ridgeway. Representatives Cooper (158); Page; Smith (150); Stevenson and Vogt.

Joint Committee on Capital Improvements and Leases Oversight

www.senate.mo.gov/05info/comm/statutory/jcci.htm

The Joint Committee on Capital Improvements and Leases Oversight is a statutory committee. The duties of the committee are set forth in Sections 21.530–21.537, RSMo. The committee is composed of ten members of the General Assembly; five members from the Senate Appropriations Committee and five members from the House of Representatives Budget Committee.

The committee reviews all information concerning capital improvement budgets and appropriations and monitors all leases and proposed leases to determine if the projects are in compliance with the intent of the General Assembly.

Members are: Senators Barnitz; Green; Nodler and Ridgeway. Representatives Cooper (158); Curls; Icet; Lembke and Wildberger.

Joint Committee on Corrections

www.senate.mo.gov/07info/comm/statutory/jccr.htm

The Committee on Legislative Research is a permanent joint committee as provided by Section 35 of Article III of the Missouri Constitution.

The committee is composed of 20 members of the General Assembly, with 10 members appointed by the leaders of each chamber. No major party may have more than six members appointed as members from either chamber.

The committee is directed by statute to provide a variety of services for the General Assembly and its members. The committee's offices and staff are divided into three divisions, a Research Division, an Oversight Division and the Legislative Budget Office. The committee itself is not a policy making group and formulates no legislative program. Its staff renders only such technical and professional assistance as may be requested by the General Assembly or any of its members, or as required by statute.

The Research Division provides bill drafting assistance, prepares concurrent and courtesy resolutions, operates a legislative reference library and publishes the Revised Statutes of Missouri and subsequent supplements, and Session Laws of Missouri.

Bills are drawn at the request of any member of the General Assembly but the fact that a bill has been drafted by a member of the staff does not carry with it the endorsement of the Committee on Legislative Research. All bill requests are treated confidentially by the bill drafter and without comment or criticism of the subject matter.

One need of state government is a modern legislative reference library. The library maintained by the Committee on Legislative Research continuously acquires books, pamphlets, periodicals and reports and the staff works closely with the staff of the Missouri State Library and the Supreme Court Library.

Through its acquisitions, exchanges and loans with other libraries, the legislative library provides much of the material requested by members of the General Assembly for the analysis of public questions and provides a research tool for bill drafting and research services.

Courtesy resolutions continue to be of great importance to members of the General Assembly. More than 600 per month are prepared by the resolution-writers for a variety of observances.

The Oversight Division is supervised by a subcommittee of the Committee on Legislative Research. The Oversight Division is responsible for preparing fiscal notes on all bills pending before the General Assembly with the exception of appropriation bills. Fiscal notes must state the cost of the proposed legislation to the state for the next two fiscal years; whether the proposal would establish a program or agency which would duplicate an existing program or agency; whether the provisions of the proposal were federally mandated; whether the proposal would have significant direct fiscal impact upon any political subdivision of the state; whether any new physical facilities would be required; and whether an impact to small businesses would be expected. The division prepares approximately 3,000 fiscal notes during a regular legislative session.

The Oversight Division is authorized to perform management and program evaluations of state agencies and is assigned work pursuant to a duly adopted concurrent resolution of the General Assembly or a resolution adopted by the Committee on Legislative Research. The division conducts the evaluations in accordance with government auditing standards set forth by the U.S. Government Accountability Office. The management and program evaluations of the division provide the General Assembly with important information regarding the status of programs they have created and the expenditure of funds they have authorized.

The Legislative Budget Office was established by the Joint Committee on Legislative Research in 2006. It provides an annual budget options publication to the General Assembly, performs trend analysis of revenue and expenditures, institutes performance-based reviews of state agencies, and reviews the actual fiscal impact of past significant legislative decisions. The Legislative Budget Office works under the general supervision of the chair and members of the Oversight Subcommittee.

Committee members are: Senator Nodler, vice chair. Representatives Bringer; Dempsey; Ictet; Johnson; LeVota; Muschany; Smith (150);

Walton and Yates. Senators Callahan; Gibbons; Goodman; Green; Justus; Lager; Scott and Shoemyer.

Missouri's Judicial System

From its inception in 1820, Missouri state government has been constitutionally divided into three separate branches—the legislative, executive and judicial departments. The judicial department's function is not to make the laws of the state or to administer them, but to adjudicate the controversies that arise between persons and parties, to determine fairly and justly the guilt or innocence of persons charged with criminal offenses, and to interpret the laws of the state as enacted by the legislature and carried out by the executive branch.

The roots of Missouri's judicial branch reach back to the days when Missouri was a part of the Missouri Territory controlled by the French and Spanish. When Missouri was officially organized as a territory in 1812, the judicial power was vested in a superior court, inferior courts and justices of the peace. The Constitution of 1820, the state's first constitution, placed the judicial power in a Supreme Court, chancery courts (later abolished by the General Assembly), and circuit and other courts to be established by the legislature.

Today, Missouri has a three-tier court system. Article V of the Constitution, as amended by Missouri voters in 1976, vests the judicial power in a Supreme Court, the state's highest court, with statewide jurisdiction; in a court of appeals consisting of districts established by the General Assembly; and in a system of circuit courts that have original jurisdiction over all cases and matters, civil and criminal.

Effective January 2, 1979, the circuit court system absorbed all former courts of limited jurisdiction and became the state's single trial court. Cases once heard in magistrate and probate courts, in the St. Louis Court of Criminal Corrections, in the Hannibal and Cape Girardeau Courts of Common Pleas, and in municipal and other local courts, now are heard in appropriate divisions of the circuit courts.

All the judges of these former courts have become either circuit, associate circuit or municipal judges. They may hear and determine different classes of cases within their respective circuits. A presiding judge, elected for a two-year term, has general administrative authority over all judicial personnel in the circuit. He or she may assign other judges throughout the circuit to relieve case load and administrative backlogs. The Supreme Court and court of appeals have general superintending control over all courts and tribunals within their jurisdictions. Original remedial writs may be issued and determined at each level of the court system. Decisions of the Supreme Court are controlling in all other state courts.

Selection of Judges

In the first 30 years of Missouri's statehood, the judges of the supreme, circuit and chancery courts were appointed by the governor with the advice and consent of the Senate. After much public discussion, the Constitution was amended in 1849 to provide for the popular election of judges, and this system remains in effect for most Missouri courts today. In most circuits, the judges are elected by the voters in partisan elections.

However, in 1940 Missouri voters amended the Constitution by adopting the "Nonpartisan Selection of Judges Court Plan," which was placed on the ballot by initiative petition and which provides for the nonpartisan (non-political) appointment of certain judges, rather than having them popularly elected.

The Constitution, as amended further in 1976, provides that the Nonpartisan Court Plan is to be in effect for the Supreme Court, the court of appeals, and the circuit courts within the City of St. Louis and Jackson County. In addition, voters in St. Louis, Clay and Platte counties have elected to institute the plan, and the Kansas City Charter extends a nonpartisan selection plan to Kansas City municipal court judges. While all other judges are popularly elected, other judicial circuits may adopt the plan upon approval by a majority of the voters in the circuit.

Under the Missouri Court Plan, as it is often called, a vacancy on a court to which the plan applies is filled in the following way. A nonpartisan judicial commission of lay persons, lawyers and judges selects three persons from those who apply, based on merit. The governor appoints one of the three. A judge appointed in this way must stand for retention in office at the first general election occurring after the judge has been in office for 12 months. The judge's name is placed on a separate judicial ballot, without political party designation, and the voters must vote either for or against retention in office. The judge's name is again placed on the ballot for retention vote at certain intervals. The Missouri Court Plan has served as a national model for the selection of judges and has been adopted by a number of other states.

Every supreme, appellate, circuit and associate circuit court judge must be licensed to practice law in Missouri. By constitutional amendment and statute, all judges must retire by age 70.

History and Organization

The Supreme Court has been the state's highest court since 1820, when the first Missouri Constitution was adopted. The earliest court, consisting of only three members, was required to hold sessions in four different judicial circuits in the state. At various times, the court sat in St. Louis, Jackson, Cape Girardeau, St. Charles, Boonville, Fayette, Hannibal, Lexington and other cities.

The size of the Supreme Court was increased to five judges in 1872 and to its present size—seven judges—in 1890. Because of the court's increasing caseload, commissioners were appointed for a brief period in the 1880s. In 1911, the legislature authorized the court to appoint four commissioners, and in 1927, the number was changed to six. The commissioners were required to possess the same qualifications as judges of the Supreme Court. They received the same compensation and were appointed for four-year terms. The commissioners in the past have heard cases along with the judges, and their written opinions, if approved by the court, were promulgated as opinions of the court.

Under terms of the 1970 constitutional amendment of Article V, the offices of the commissioners ceased to exist when the individuals holding the offices retired, resigned, died or were removed from office.

In 1890, the Supreme Court was divided into two divisions to permit it to handle and decide more cases in a shorter time. Under the present constitution, the court may sit en banc (all seven judges together) or in as many divisions as the court determines are needed. Today, all cases are assigned to and decided by the court en banc.

Supreme Court Jurisdiction

Originally, the Supreme Court had only the traditional powers to decide cases on appeal from the lower courts (either the circuit courts or the court of appeals) and to issue and determine original remedial writs, such as habeas corpus, mandamus and prohibition. The Constitution of 1945 also authorized the court to establish rules for practice and procedure in the courts and to make temporary transfers of judicial personnel. Maintaining and updating the rules is a continuous process requiring substantial time. Each year, the Supreme Court, through the Office of State Courts Administrator (OSCA), transfers several hundred court personnel on a temporary basis to assist other courts. This is usually done when a judge has been disqualified by the parties in a case or when a judge's docket has become overly crowded and the judge cannot handle all the cases expeditiously.

THOMAS F. SIMON
Clerk, Missouri Supreme Court

The constitutional amendments of 1976 and 1982 defined the jurisdiction of the Supreme Court more narrowly than in the past, resulting in its receiving fewer cases on appeal and directing more appeals to the Court of Appeals. Under the amendment, the Supreme Court has exclusive appellate jurisdiction in all cases involving: the validity of a treaty or statute of the United States or of a statute or provision of the Missouri Constitution; the construction of the state's revenue laws; the title to any state office; and in all cases where the punishment imposed is death.

Cases do not have to fall within this area of exclusive jurisdiction to reach the Supreme Court, however. The court may order cases transferred to it from the court of appeals if the cases involve questions of general interest or importance, if the court thinks the existing law should be reexamined, or for other reasons provided by rule of the court. The court of appeals also may order a case transferred to the Supreme Court either by order of the court of appeals itself or by the dissent of a court of appeals judge, if that judge certifies the court of appeals opinion is contrary to previous decisions of the Supreme Court or of other districts of the court of appeals.

In addition to its decision-making powers, the Supreme Court supervises all lower courts in the state. It is assisted in this task by the OSCA, established in 1970. The Supreme Court also licenses all lawyers practicing in Missouri and disciplines those found guilty of violating the legal Rules of Professional Conduct.

Qualifications and Terms

Supreme Court judges must be at least 30 years of age, U.S. citizens for 15 years and qualified Missouri voters for nine years. Supreme Court judges are retained for 12-year terms.

Chief Justice

The seven judges of the Supreme Court select one of their number to be chief justice and preside over the court. The chief justice also handles many of the administrative details for the court. The present practice of the court is to rotate the position of chief justice every two years.

The court hears oral arguments each month from September through May. Court sessions are open to the public.

Supreme Court Building

The Supreme Court Building, a three-story, red brick structure of French Renaissance architecture, was built in 1907 and stands opposite the Capitol. It houses the attorney general's offices as well as those of the Supreme Court. The building's main features are a massive marble staircase in the lobby and the two-story high library. The building has been extensively refurbished and modernized with the use of moneys appropriated by the General Assembly.

Clerk's Office

The clerk of the Supreme Court is responsible for a wide range of duties, including the supervision of the internal administrative function of the court itself as well as the planning and administrative direction of the Missouri Judicial Conference, the organization comprising all of the judges in the state.

Supreme Court Function

The day-to-day administrative duties, as they relate to the court, include handling all inquiries and procedural requests from attorneys throughout the state, arranging the docketing of cases, maintaining files in each case before the court, receiving and disposing of fees related to those cases, and printing and distributing opinions of the court. In all of these matters, the clerk reports directly to the chief justice.

Missouri Bar Responsibilities

Telephone: (573) 635-4128
www.mobar.org

The clerk of the Supreme Court has a number of additional duties relating to The Missouri Bar and the supervision of the admission of new attorneys.

Among the records required to be maintained by the clerk are the official and permanent roll of attorneys for the State of Missouri. The clerk's office also prepares, on request, certificates evidencing admission to The Missouri Bar. By Supreme Court rule, the clerk is treasurer of the state board of law examiners, which conducts bar examinations twice yearly. The clerk also supervises the semi-annual enrollment ceremonies and prepares all attorney licenses.

By Supreme Court rule, the clerk is ex officio treasurer of both The Missouri Bar and the advisory committee, and is responsible for collecting the annual attorney enrollment fee and distributing Missouri Bar membership cards to all attorneys licensed to practice in Missouri. He or she is responsible for maintaining the official records of The Missouri Bar and the bar fund and for preparing annual financial reports for publication in the Journal of The Missouri Bar. The clerk is also responsible for conducting annual elections for The Missouri Bar Board of Governors.

Security Administration

The Supreme Court's marshal is under the clerk's supervision. The marshal is responsible for building security and the transportation of prisoners. The marshal also acts as bailiff when the court is in session. In addition, the marshal is responsible for all homeland security matters as they affect the Supreme Court.

Supreme Court Library

www.courts.mo.gov

The Supreme Court Library, which is on the second floor of the Supreme Court Building, contains more than 110,000 volumes. These include the decisions of state and federal courts and federal administrative agencies, statutes of all states, 150 legal periodicals, legal textbooks, and many English decisions and statutes. In addition, the library contains computer research services for the use of court personnel.

The library's main responsibility is to meet the research needs of the Supreme Court, the attorney general's office, the General Assembly and the state's executive department agencies, but it also provides resources to members of the bench and bar and the general public. It maintains daily hours throughout the year.

Supreme Court Publications

Office of State Courts Administrator

2112 Industrial Dr.
Jefferson City 65110
Telephone: (573) 751-4377 / FAX: (573) 552-9625
www.courts.mo.gov

Acting under the direction of the Missouri Supreme Court, the Office of State Courts Administrator (OSCA) is responsible for providing administrative and technical support to the courts of Missouri as they pursue a judicial system that is accessible, equitable and swift. The duties and responsibilities assigned to the state courts administrator are broad in scope and relate to all levels of the state court system.

Since the appointment of the first state courts administrator in 1970, the office has been responsible for providing technical assistance, management services, education and training programs, data processing and systems analysis, administrative procedure evaluation, compilation of statistics, and case processing support to the courts. The office also assists courts in developing and implementing court improvement projects in such areas as child abuse and neglect, juvenile services, family preservation, criminal history reporting, debt collection and judgment enforcement, crime victims' rights, mediation services, alcohol and drug abuse treatment and prevention, and the implementation of time standards for case disposition. With the passage of SB 420 in 1994, the office has worked with the Missouri Court Automation Committee to automate all the courts in the state and, through the use of advanced technologies, provide Missouri citizens with the most timely and responsive judicial system possible. The office is organized into five divisions and one office: administration and budget, court programs and research, court services, information technology, judicial education, and the office for project management.

Administration and Budget

The Division of Administration and Budget provides essential administrative services and maintains programs developed to assist the judiciary. Budget staff compiles and organizes the Judiciary's annual state appropriation request. Fiscal notes are provided for proposed legislation that affects the judicial system and support is provided to the Supreme Court's Circuit and Appellate Court Budget committees.

Personnel staff maintain the statewide court personnel system as well as the court personnel handbook. Payroll is processed for all court employees, and the payroll handbook is maintained for the payroll designees in each county. A wide range of technical assistance is also provided for court personnel.

Fiscal staff processes and accounts for all funds appropriated to the Supreme Court for those judicial operations paid by the state. In addition, staff handles payments for reimbursement to court personnel for incurred expenses and provides fiscal training as needed. Contract staff is responsible for administering contracts for the judiciary. The section also monitors and authorizes bill payment for all Missouri drug courts.

Sponsored program staff develops internal and external partnerships with national, state and local funding sources. Grant funds are managed for areas such as improving child abuse/neglect case management in juvenile courts, statewide juvenile court automation, automation of criminal history dispositions, electronic filing of adult protection orders, and improvement of mediation and other alternative dispute resolutions programs.

Finally, administration and budget staff provides legislative support to the judiciary, performs office management functions for OSCA, and handles a wide array of requests for information from the legislature, governor's office, other public officials and the public in general.

Court Programs and Research

The Division of Court Programs and Research provides critical support in statistical analysis and program evaluation. Additionally, this division assists courts in developing and managing a wide range of innovative programs designed to improve case outcomes.

Program staff works with issues involving child abuse and neglect, foster care and adoption, divorce education programs for parents and children, alternative dispute resolution such as mediation in child custody and visitation disputes, domestic violence, juvenile victim/offender situations, adult, juvenile, and family drug courts, and other specialized courts such as mental health and unified family courts to improve court services to the public. Federally funded pilot projects to establish permanency planning for abused and neglected children placed in foster care are in progress as well.

Access to Justice staff provides technical assistance in courthouse design related to the requirements of the Americans with Disabilities Act, certify foreign language court interpreters, and identify resources for the courts to provide services for both non-English speaking parties and those persons covered by the Americans with Disabilities Act.

Security staff provides technical assistance related to security for courthouse design, perform security assessments of court facilities to ensure a safe environment for the resolution of disputes, assist in developing court security programs and policies, develop security and safety training for court employees, and provide assistance in developing emergency planning programs and procedures.

The research unit is developing new capacities to advance knowledge in the areas of juvenile and criminal justice, case processing, and other topics related to Missouri's courts. The unit has responsibility for the following ongoing tasks: compilation of statistical caseload information from circuit, appellate, and municipal courts; estimation of workload impacts of various legislative initiatives as well as workload estimates for judicial resource management; technical assistance to court personnel regarding research methods; and utilization of the judicial information system to produce annual reports, summative analyses, and supplemental reports. The unit continues efforts to ensure that the quality of data is as accurate as possible.

The Research Unit is expanding the following capacities: design, implementation, and provision of technical assistance of program evaluations; forecasting future judicial resource needs; court performance measurement; longitudinal studies of court program and population behaviors; and dissemination of analyses in multiple media outlets including self-published reports, conference presentations, and peer-reviewed journals.

Court Services

The Division of Court Services acts as a bureau for all court personnel statewide by: developing procedures related to case processing and financial management; preparing transcripts from sound recorded tapes submitted by the courts; developing and updating procedural handbooks on case processing for court clerks; providing on-site case processing reviews to make recommendations for improved efficiency; and managing statewide debt collection efforts.

Court services staff worked closely with a software provider and court staff from around the state to "customize" software and continually monitor changing practices and legal requirements over time so that the software is updated as necessary. Staff also design and test software to share automated court information electronically with other agencies. Some examples are criminal case dispositions provided to the Missouri State Highway Patrol for the criminal history repository, traffic case dispositions provided to the Department of Revenue and the Missouri State Highway Patrol, court hearings provided to the Missouri Office for Victims of Crime MOVANS program, ex parte adult abuse orders to the Missouri State Highway Patrol MULES.

Court services staff work with the courts prior to implementing automation by assisting the courts with preparation for computerized case management and financial accounting. OSCA staff provide on-site assistance several weeks after the court implements the automated system. After the court is automated, both financial specialists and court specialists provide telephone support and follow-up site visits.

In 2000, a statewide jury management automated system was purchased for implementation in the courts. Court services coordinates the court training, assists the courts with forms design and procedural changes, and provides telephone and on-site support to the courts.

Information Technology

The Division of Information Technology (OSCA-IT) provides information technology management support for all Missouri courts and OSCA. The division is responsible for technical analysis, design, development, implementation, maintenance, quality assurance, and technical support for the systems that Missouri courts require. OSCA-IT provides this support exclusively to most courts, but also works in conjunction with the few metropolitan courts that have information technology staff on-location.

Section 476.055 RSMo, passed by the legislature in 1994, established a statewide court automation program and some offset funding with a $7 per-case court fee. The program oversight was given to the Missouri Court Automation Committee, under the Supreme Court. OSCA-IT has been actively involved with the Court Automation Committee in this enormous and exciting project, which was recognized internationally in 2003 with a Gold Medal of Achievement from the Computerworld Honors Program.

The Missouri Court Automation Program is building an integrated justice system by using a family of standard automated systems that allow courts to increase their efficiency and provide increased service, fair and equitable justice and increased public access to public information. The ongoing effort will provide a modern justice system with reduced costs to the litigant and taxpayer due to the economies of scale, greater accountability, timely justice, and improved public safety through information exchange with state, federal and local authorities.

One of the most relevant examples of this electronic exchange has been the ability of courts using the statewide case management system to electronically transfer ex parte orders of protection to the law enforcement system, providing immediate information to law enforcement officers and rapid protection for victims of domestic violence.

OSCA-IT also provides additional technical support for the office in the areas of judicial transfer, fiscal notes and inventory control. The staff develops special reports to assist in workload analysis, judicial research and special legislative requests.

Judicial Education

The Division of Judicial Education is responsible for coordinating education services for almost four thousand state court employees and judges. These services are designed to ensure the courts have access to a highly skilled, professional workforce that is technologically literate, conversant with practices that aid in the internal management of the courts, oriented towards a high level of customer service, and forward thinking in improving that level of service in a rapidly changing environment.

The Coordinating Commission for Judicial Education provides strategic direction for a comprehensive statewide education program. Commission members are appointed by the Supreme Court and represent various levels of courts and regions of the state to ensure that the educational needs of all court personnel are fairly represented. The commission has built a comprehensive education program that affords opportunities to acquire and enhance technical knowledge and skills, and supervisory and leadership skills and abilities.

The division is responsible for implementing the policies and programs established by the Coordinating Commission and its committees. The Education Division consists of two service delivery areas: continuing education and education technology. The continuing education section offers a broad range of courses and certificate programs for court personnel. Education specialists, working with education committees and court personnel, design and coordinate the delivery of courses tailored to meet the unique needs of appellate, trial and municipal court personnel, including judges, clerks, juvenile officers, and court reporters. All courses are designed to provide court personnel with the knowledge and skills essential to discharging their judicial and administrative responsibilities.

The education technology section is responsible for developing and implementing alternative delivery methods of educational programming through the use of technology. Education technology also supports the continuing education section through education services including web-based learning, computer-based learning, videoconferencing and satellite broadcasts. Education technology also supports Missouri's automated court system through live and e-training support of software used in our Missouri courts.

Missouri Court of Appeals

The first general intermediate courts in Missouri were provided for in the 1865 Constitution and were known as district courts. There were district courts in Jefferson City, Springfield, Cape Girardeau, Macon, St. Joseph and St. Charles. Each district was composed of three circuits. Appeals were taken from the circuit court to the district court, and then to the Supreme Court. However, the district courts were abolished in 1870 by a constitutional amendment.

Alarmed at the congested docket of the Supreme Court, the St. Louis Bar Association urged the 1875 Constitutional Convention to provide for another appellate court. Thus was created the St. Louis Court of Appeals consisting of three judges who heard appeals from St. Louis, St. Charles, Lincoln and Warren counties. Its territorial jurisdiction was expanded to include several more counties in 1884.

Another constitutional amendment in 1884 established the Kansas City Court of Appeals and authorized creation of another appellate court, when necessary, by the General Assembly.

The Springfield Court of Appeals was organized in 1909. Missouri's current appellate structure—a single Court of Appeals consisting of three districts—was established by a 1970 constitutional amendment.

The Eastern District of the Court of Appeals sits in St. Louis and consists of 14 judges. Eleven judges preside over the Western District in Kansas City, and seven judges sit on the Southern District bench, meeting either in Springfield or Poplar Bluff. Trained law clerks, who are licensed attorneys, assist each appellate judge with legal research.

The Court of Appeals may issue and determine original remedial writs and has general appellate jurisdiction in all cases not within the exclusive jurisdiction of the Supreme Court. However, as previously mentioned, cases not within the Supreme Court's exclusive jurisdiction may be transferred from the Court of Appeals to the Supreme Court when it is determined that a case involves an important issue that should be decided by the state's highest court.

A chief judge is elected for the Eastern and Southern districts of the Court of Appeals by the judges in the districts, and serves for such time as the districts determine. In the Western District, the chief judge serves a two-year term by rotation according to seniority.

The courts are authorized to sit in divisions if they choose, which all three districts have elected to do.

Courts of Appeals judges must be at least 30 years of age, residents of their district, U.S. citizens for 15 years and qualified Missouri voters for nine years before their selection. Appeals judges serve 12-year terms.

Missouri's 45 Judicial Circuits

Missouri Circuit Courts

Missouri's first two circuit courts were established in 1815. The 1820 Constitution provided for the creation of four circuits, each containing from four to eight counties. The number of circuits has increased over the years; today 45 circuits operate in Missouri.

The first circuit judges were appointed by the governor and confirmed by the Senate. However, the life term of the judges and their method of appointment proved unpopular; in 1849, the Constitution was amended to provide for popular election. Most circuit judges are elected today, although judges in some circuits are selected under provisions of the Nonpartisan Court Plan.

Constitutional amendments approved by Missouri voters in 1976 provide that the circuit courts shall be courts of original civil and criminal jurisdiction. All trials start at this level. Former courts of limited jurisdiction became divisions of the circuit court on January 2, 1979.

Within the divisions of the Circuit Court there are three levels of jurisdiction: circuit, associate and municipal. Circuit judges may act within all circuit jurisdictions.

The number of circuit judges is determined by the General Assembly. The Constitution requires at least one circuit judge in each of Missouri's 45 judicial circuits.

Associate circuit judges may hear matters pending in the Circuit Court or assigned by the Supreme Court. Associate circuit judges hear all cases pursuant to Chapter 517, RSMo, and have concurrent jurisdiction over all cases pending in the Circuit Court.

The Constitution requires at least one resident associate circuit judge in each county. The statutes authorize additional associate circuit judges depending on county populations. Presently, 187 associate circuit judges are required by statute.

Municipalities with 400,000 or more people must establish a municipal division over which a municipal judge presides. Communities of less than 400,000 may establish municipal divisions to hear ordinance violations, or the municipality may request that these matters be heard in the associate division of the Circuit Court. Municipal judges are paid locally.

By statute each circuit judge appoints a court reporter and the court in each circuit appoints a juvenile officer. A circuit clerk in each county is selected according to law and salaries are set by statute.

Circuit court judges must be at least 30 years old, residents of their circuit, U.S. citizens for 10 years and Missouri voters for three years. Circuit judges serve six-year terms. Associate judges must be at least 25 years old, Missouri voters and residents of the counties they serve. Associate judges serve four-year terms.

Circuit court judges each earn $108,000 annually; associate circuit court judges earn $96,000. Compensation is determined by statute (RSMo 476.405).

The Fine Collection Center

The Missouri Supreme Court established the Fine Collection Center (FCC) pursuant to Section 476.385, RSMo. The FCC is a central bureau authorized by statute to process certain traffic, conservation and watercraft violations for the courts of counties that voluntarily join the center's program. The center began operation on July 1, 1999 and 90 Missouri counties were members of the program as of July 1, 2007. Offenders who receive citations in participating counties have the option of pleading guilty by paying their fine and costs directly to the FCC or pleading not guilty and having their citations sent to the county prosecutor for processing in the court system.

The Supreme Court appoints the director of the FCC. Since April of 2004, the ACS Corporation has performed most fine collection citation processing services under a contract with the state courts. The director of the center oversees the operation of the center by ACS. The Supreme Court also appoints a FCC Committee of at least seven associate circuit court judges. This committee provides oversight and policy guidance for the FCC program and establishes and maintains a uniform fine schedule to be used by the FCC. Counties that voluntarily join the program must agree to use the uniform fine schedule. This fine schedule contains all traffic, conservation and watercraft offenses that the FCC is authorized to process.

The FCC fine schedule sets uniform fines for the same offenses in all counties participating in the FCC program, resulting in a more equitable system for offenders. Benefits of participating in the FCC include better accountability, improved collection rates and a reduction in clerical workload associated with processing citations that allows court staff to redirect their efforts to other areas. The FCC also provides user friendly customer service at a toll free number (877-866-3926) that offenders can call from anywhere within the United States. The FCC accepts payment by check, money order or credit cards, making payment more convenient for offenders. The FCC also has an automated system that allows payment 24 hours a day by phone at a toll free number or over the Internet.

When an offender pays a citation to the FCC, the Center is legally authorized to issue a record of conviction. Records of conviction for traffic offenses are prepared the same business day that the FCC receives the offender's guilty plea and payment of the fine and costs. The FCC electronically transmits these records of conviction each day to the Missouri Department of Revenue for entry on the offender's driving records and to the Missouri State Highway Patrol.

The FCC sends payments of fines and court costs to member county treasurers at the first of each month. The FCC keeps no part of the fine or costs. The county where the offense occurred receives all the fine money and the entire county's share of court costs on each case. The FCC sends courts costs and fees designated for state agencies directly to those agencies.

Commission on Retirement, Removal and Discipline of Judges

2190 S. Mason Rd., Ste. 201

St. Louis 63131

Telephone: (314) 966-1007 / FAX: (314) 966-0076

The Commission on Retirement, Removal and Discipline of Judges was created by a constitutional amendment in 1970. It began operating on January 1, 1972, and is governed by Supreme Court Rule 12.

The commission is responsible for receiving and investigating all requests and suggestions for the retirement of judges because of disability and all complaints concerning the alleged misconduct of judges and members of judicial commissions. It is composed of six members who serve six-year terms. Two non-lawyers are appointed by the governor, two lawyers are appointed by the Missouri Bar's governing body, one Court of Appeals judge is selected by Court of Appeals judges and one circuit judge is selected by the state's circuit judges.

The members as of July 1, 2005, were: Gary M. Gaertner, appellate judge, Eastern District, Court of Appeals, chair; Thomas J. Plunkert, attorney, St. Louis, secretary; Barbara Bennett, St. Louis; Richard P. Bruening, attorney, Kansas City; Robert M. Clayton II, circuit judge, Hannibal; Adrienne B. Morgan, St. Louis.

Upon receiving a proper complaint against a judge or other judicial officer, the commission conducts an informal investigation. If at least four members of the commission find there is probable cause to believe the person may be guilty of misconduct, incompetency or other action constituting grounds for discipline as listed in Rule 12.08, a formal investigation is conducted. If at least four members find the person investigated should be disciplined, a report containing findings of fact and conclusions of law is made to the Supreme Court, with recommendations for discipline (removal from office, suspension or other discipline). The court then makes a final ruling based on the commission's record and transcript.

A similar procedure is followed in cases involving retirements because of disability.

In order to protect the public from persons unqualified or unauthorized to practice law, the Missouri Supreme Court has established an attorney discipline system. A chief disciplinary counsel is appointed by the Supreme Court to investigate allegations of professional misconduct, incompetence and incapacity of lawyers. Regional Disciplinary Committees throughout the state, composed of at least four lawyers and two lay persons, may investigate complaints referred to them by the Chief Disciplinary Counsel or the Advisory Committee. The Chief Disciplinary Counsel and the Regional Disciplinary Committees are empowered to institute formal proceedings against lawyers accused of misconduct. If the Chief Disciplinary Counsel or a majority of a Regional Disciplinary Committee finds that there is probable cause to believe that a lawyer is guilty of professional misconduct, they prepare information making specific allegations of violations of the Rules of Professional Conduct. The lawyer may request a hearing to be held before a Disciplinary Hearing Panel selected by the Advisory Committee from a panel of disciplinary hearing officers appointed by the Supreme Court. The panel is made up of two lawyers and one lay person. If the Disciplinary Hearing Panel finds, by a preponderance of the evidence, that the lawyer is guilty of misconduct, it makes findings of fact, conclusions of law and recommendations for discipline, which are then filed in the Supreme Court. It is the responsibility of the Supreme Court to impose any warranted discipline. The Chief Disciplinary Counsel is also charged with the duty of investigating the unauthorized practice of law and instituting suits and other actions to stop such practices. The Chief Disciplinary Counsel conducts investigations of applications made by lawyers seeking reinstatement after they have been suspended or disbarred. The Chief Disciplinary Counsel is Alan Pratzel.

The Advisory Committee may give formal opinions and the Legal Ethics Counsel may give nonbinding informal advisory opinions, interpreting Supreme Court Rules 4, 5 and 6, to members of the Bar. The Advisory Committee also oversees the hearing process and reviews complaint files that have been closed after investigation, at the request of the complainant. The Legal Ethics Counsel serves as counsel and staff for the Advisory Committee. Members of the Advisory Committee, appointed by the Supreme Court are: John C. Dods, chair, Kansas City; Jennifer Gille Bacon, Kansas City; Al Brooks, Kansas City; Doreen D. Dodson, St. Louis; Sidney Dulle, Jefferson City; Hon. John C. Holstein, Springfield; David P. Standards for admission to the bar, set out in Supreme Court Rule 8, are administered by the State Board of Law Examiners. Its six lawyer members are appointed by the Supreme Court for one six-year term. It conducts bar examinations for new lawyers each year on subject matters of the law of general application. The two-day exam is given in February and July in Jefferson City. One day of the examination consists of essay questions and the second day is devoted to the multistate bar examination, a multiple choice test that is administered in 48 other states.

Admission information and application forms are available on the web at www.mble.org.

The Missouri Bar is the official organization of all Missouri lawyers and judges. Established by rule of the Supreme Court of Missouri in 1944, it is the successor of the original Missouri Bar Association, a voluntary organization of lawyers founded in 1880.

Membership in The Missouri Bar is required of every lawyer who practices in Missouri and of every judge of a state court. To qualify for membership, a person must have completed an approved law school leading to a Juris Doctor degree. Those seeking membership in The Missouri Bar must also pass a comprehensive bar examination and character fitness investigation and make application for admission to the bar with the Supreme Court of Missouri.

Committees

There are numerous standing committees of The Missouri Bar plus a number of special project committees. Committees of The Missouri Bar meet at least twice each year to discuss particular areas of the law and, in some cases, draft potential legislation in those areas. Committee members, as well as officers and other members of The Missouri Bar, are available to testify before the General Assembly in support of those bills. In addition, the bar's board of governors often votes to support or oppose other bills pending before the legislature and the bar's legislative services are directed accordingly. Because of its status as a mandatory organization for those practicing law in Missouri, the bar's legislative efforts are confined to bills affecting the administration of justice.

Education

The Missouri Bar's Continuing Legal Education Department (MoBarCLE) has taken the lead in keeping bar members informed of the latest developments in the law. Each year, the CLE Department organizes and presents a number of programs - live, videotaped, and by telephone - to keep lawyers abreast of changes in state and federal laws. These sessions are regularly accompanied by detailed course materials designed to supplement the programs themselves. In addition, the department's renowned deskbook series (the "black books") and supplements provide attorneys with valuable reference materials they can make use of in their own law libraries.

Publications/Public Information

The Journal of The Missouri Bar, offering valuable perspectives on the law from its lawyer-authors, is published six times per year as the official publication of the legal profession in Missouri. Also available to members are the Legislative Digest, published during and after each year's session of the General Assembly; Precedent, a quarterly publication featuring practice-oriented articles and columns; and The Courts Bulletin, a monthly update on recent court decisions in pertinent areas of the law.

For more than 50 years The Missouri Bar has carried on a broad program of public information and education. Thousands of informative pamphlets and other educational materials on the law are distributed annually, including materials from an extensive law-related education audio-visual lending library. Copies of the bar's brochures are also available on the Internet at www.mobar.org. The growth of the bar's public information programs has been aided by cooperative ventures with the Extension Division of the University of Missouri, the Missouri Department and Elementary and Secondary Education, the Missouri Press Association, the Missouri Broadcasters Association, various state colleges, and other groups and associations.

Other Activities

Other prominent programs and services offered by The Missouri Bar include: a Client Security Fund that considers partial financial reimbursement to eligible clients who have been harmed by the unethical conduct of a lawyer; a Lawyer Referral Service that links attorneys with Missourians in need of legal assistance; a Lawyers Assistance Program that offers help to lawyers hindered by impairment issues; a mentoring program that matches older, more experienced attorneys with younger colleagues; a complaint resolution program that offers an alternative to the formal lawyer disciplinary system for matters considered to be less serious in nature; a fee dispute resolution that works to resolve disputes between a lawyer and a client over fees charged for services; and many more.

Through the years, The Missouri Bar has gained recognition on the national and international level. It has been cited many times by the American Bar Association as the outstanding bar organization in the nation. Its programs have won Freedom Foundation awards, the American Bar Association Award of Merit, and the American Judicature Society's Justice Award. Similarly, staff members and officers serve on many important national committees and work with various national groups on problems of national scope.

In 1943, the General Assembly established the Judicial Conference of Missouri, which is composed of all state judges. The conference is charged by statute (Section 476.350) with studying the organization and administration of the state's judicial system, compiling data on the work of various courts and making biennial reports to the General Assembly, including any recommendations the conference may have for improving the laws. Since 1974, the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court, who is the conference's presiding officer, has presented an annual State of the Judiciary address to a joint session of the General Assembly, reviewing the problems, needs and goals of the judicial department.

The statute also requires the conference to hold an annual meeting to be attended by all judges. At this meeting, the judges discuss the problems of court administration and invite experts in various fields to speak on matters of particular concern.

The clerk of the Supreme Court provides administrative and staff assistance and also serves as secretary to the executive council and the conference.

Nonpartisan Judicial Nominating Commissions

Under provisions of the Missouri Constitution, Article V, any vacancy occurring in the office of judge of the Supreme Court, the court of appeals or the circuit courts within St. Louis City or Jackson County is filled by the governor, who appoints one of three qualified persons nominated by a nonpartisan judicial commission. This method of selecting circuit judges was adopted by the voters of the 21st Judicial Circuit, St. Louis County, at the general election in 1970, and by the voters of the Sixth Judicial Circuit, Platte County and the Seventh Judicial Circuit, Clay County, in 1972. This method of selecting judges was extended to associate circuit judges in these jurisdictions in 1979.

Appellate Judicial Commission

Nominations for judges of the Supreme Court and the court of appeals are made by a seven-member Appellate Judicial Commission. It consists of a judge of the Supreme Court selected by the members of the Court and two resident citizens from each of the three court of appeals districts. One lawyer is elected from each district by members of The Missouri Bar residing in that district, and one non-lawyer is appointed from each district by the governor.

Circuit Judicial Commissions

Nominations for judges of circuit courts are made by a five-member Circuit Judicial Commission consisting of the chief judge of the district of the Court of Appeals within which the circuit or the major portion of its population lies, two lawyers elected from their number by the members of The Missouri Bar residing in the judicial circuit and two non-lawyer residents of the circuit appointed by the governor.

The Missouri Public Defender System (MSPD) is the state agency created to fulfill the state's constitutional obligation to ensure that all persons accused of crime in its courts have the assistance of counsel in their defense. MSPD's lawyers provide legal representation to persons who are charged with or challenging convictions for state criminal offenses but do not have the means available to hire defense counsel.

Missouri State Public Defender Trial Division District Map

Public Defender Commission

State law (Chapter 600, RSMo) provides for a seven-member Public Defender Commission to oversee the State Public Defender System. The members of the commission are appointed by the governor with consent of the Senate and serve without compensation for six-year terms. Four members must be lawyers, and no more than four members may be of the same political party.

MSPD is a statewide department primarily comprised of three legal service divisions: the Trial Division, the Capital Division, and the Appellate/Post-Conviction Division. Attorneys in district offices within each division provide direct representation to indigent clients.

Their practice includes: meeting with clients, investigating cases, drafting motions, briefs, and memoranda, trying cases before both judges and juries in jurisdictions throughout Missouri, litigating cases before Missouri Appellate Courts, the Missouri Supreme Court, and the United States Supreme Court.

Members, Public Defender Commission

Shurtleff, Loralme P., chair;
Barnhardt, Eric, commissioner;
Brisson, Muriel, commissioner;

Ellis, Willie J. Jr., commissioner;
Hensley, Kenneth, commissioner;
Leonard, Miller, commissioner;
Stith, Rebecca, commissioner.

Trial Division

The Trial Division employs close to 300 full-time attorneys as well as investigators paralegals, legal assistant, and sentencing specialists who evaluate client treatment needs and locate available resources to reduce client recidivism. Trial Division attorneys represent both adult and juvenile indigent clients charged with crimes at the State Trial Court level throughout Missouri.

The Commitment Defense Unit represents indigent people throughout the State of Missouri against whom the government has initiated civil commitment proceedings based on the allegation that the citizen is a "sexually violent predator" (SVP). The unit was created in 1999 in response to Missouri's sexually violent predator legislation. This legislation enables the state to incarcerate individuals after they have completed their sentences for eligible sex offenses, and allows for indefinite civil commitment upon a jury finding that an individual meets the legislative criteria of a SVP.

Capital Division

lished in 1989 to handle the complex litigation involved when the state seeks the death penalty. The purpose of this division is to provide the highest-quality representation to individuals against whom the State of Missouri is seeking the death penalty in the State Trial Court, the State Supreme Court, and the United States Supreme Court.

The division employs experienced attorneys who excel as litigators to handle the initial trial of the case. The division also employs experienced attorneys with exceptional appellate advocacy skills to handle the direct appeal of cases following a trial and sentence of death.

There are three Capital Division district offices within the state, located in St. Louis, Kansas City and Columbia. Trial attorneys in the division have the opportunity to try cases in both the urban and rural areas of Missouri.

Division of Appellate/Post-Conviction Relief

This division is to ensure that the constitutional rights of citizens are preserved and protected, and that the trial or guilty-plea process was fair and legal. In essence, the division monitors and provides quality control for the criminal judicial process.

There are six district offices in this division. The offices are located in St. Louis, Kansas City and Columbia in close proximity to most of Missouri's appellate courts.

Attorneys in this division provide representation to indigent citizens who have been convicted of felony offenses, after either a trial or a guilty plea. These attorneys handle direct appeals from non-capital felony convictions, post-conviction trial court challenges and appeals from post-conviction proceedings. The post-conviction practice includes providing aggressive representation to death-row clients at the trial-court level, and in the Supreme Courts of Missouri and the United States.

Executive Departments

Executive Departments

Government exists to serve, and a broad network of government organizations has been created to accomplish the purpose. The Missouri Constitution (Article II, Section 1) states: "The powers of government shall be divided into three distinct departments—the legislative, executive and judicial." This section also prohibits persons within each branch from exercising powers of the other branches. From these three branches spring the variety of organizations which deliver services of state government.

The many different names used by these groups—departments, divisions, agencies, boards, commissions, bureaus, units, sections, programs and others—can make it difficult to determine which area of government is responsible for certain services, and sorting out responsibilities or relationships within the governmental framework.

It is through the executive branch that the greatest proportion of state services are delivered. The Constitution (Article IV, Section 12) and the Reorganization Act of 1974 have established a number of "executive departments" to deal with specific areas of interest. A chart showing the present state departments is shown on the following page.

The Missouri Constitution provides for 16 specific departments: the Office of Administration and the departments of Agriculture, Conservation, Corrections, Economic Development, Elementary and Secondary Education, Health and Senior Services, Higher Education, Insurance, Financial Institutions and Professional Registration, Labor and Industrial Relations, Mental Health, Natural Resources, Public Safety, Revenue, Social Services and Transportation.

Within each executive department exists a variety of offices of varying size and scope which deal with specific services. Traditionally, "divisions" are the next-largest organizations within departments and function to bring together smaller-sized groups, such as "bureaus," "sections" or "units." Divisions may be governed by a "board" or "commission" composed of members who are either appointed by the governor, made members by law or appointed by a department official. State agencies may administer certain sections of state law as defined by the Revised Statutes of Missouri, may develop their own rules and regulations as promulgated in the Missouri Register and Code of State Regulations or may institute programs and policies which address the needs of their areas of service.

Generally speaking, the legislative and judicial branches rely on committees or other small, appointed groups to perform research, develop policy, provide advocacy services or handle administrative duties. In these two branches services are delivered through the offices of the elected officials themselves and not by related agencies.

The Missouri Constitution

Since achieving statehood and joining the union on August 10, 1821, Missouri has operated under four Constitutions. The first was adopted in 1820 and was presented to Congress before Missouri was allowed to enter the union of states. The state's second Constitution, born in the bitterness and strife of the Civil War, was drafted and adopted in 1865. It was replaced by a third Constitution only ten years later, in 1875. Missourians approved their current Constitution in 1945, and it has been amended a number of times in order to meet the changing needs of our state and its people.

The Constitution of the State of Missouri is published by the Office of Secretary of State pursuant to the Revised Statutes of Missouri (RSMo 2.110). Copies of the Missouri Constitution, which also includes the text of the U.S. Constitution, are available without charge by contacting:

The division's Real Estate Services unit coordinates real estate transactions on behalf of the state to include conveyance of state-owned property, purchase of property and granting easements. The unit also oversees leases within state-owned and leased space for state agencies throughout Missouri. The Real Estate Services unit oversees over 500 separate contracts, providing 3.67 million square feet of state owned workspace and 3.6 million square feet of leased space, for approximately 14,000 tenants. The mission of the Information Technology Services Division (ITSD) is to provide technology services and solutions to the state's departments and agencies so that they can efficiently and effectively serve the citizens of Missouri.

Under the leadership of the chief information officer, Missouri's information technology consolidation initiative combined the staff and resources from fourteen of the executive branch departments into the ITSD in June of 2006. The new organizational model allows for enterprise standards and guidance in the common areas of security, networking, data management, server administration, end user support, technical architecture and application management while maintaining a department focused perspective on service delivery.

Working in tandem with non-consolidated state agencies through the Information Technology Advisory Board and other committees, ITSD aims to deliver available, reliable and accessible IT systems and services in an environment striving for optimization and cost savings.

The Division of Personnel is responsible for the state's human resource management system and the Uniform Classification and Pay System, as established in the State Personnel Law (Chapter 36 RSMo).

The Missouri Merit System is based on the principles of merit and fitness as determined by competitive examinations for employment, as well as objective and consistent human resource management policies and procedures. The system also grants employees the ability to appeal disciplinary actions. Approximately 34,000 state employees in six state departments (Office of Administration, Corrections, Health and Senior Services, Mental Health, Natural Resources and Social Services) and sections of three other departments (Economic Development, Labor and Industrial Relations and Public Safety) comprise the Missouri Merit System.

The Uniform Classification and Pay (UCP) system is designed to promote equity in pay among state employees in most executive branch agencies and to provide coordinated compensation policies. The UCP system covers approximately 40,000 employees of merit system agencies and employees from the departments of Agriculture, Economic Development, Higher Education (excluding colleges and universities), Insurance, Financial Institutions and Professional Registration, Labor and Industrial Relations, Public Safety and Revenue. The Division of Personnel is also responsible for the oversight of the statewide performance appraisal system.

The Division of Personnel is comprised of two sections:

Employee Services reviews applications for employment; ensures employees are assigned to appropriate job classes; develops and administers position classifications for agencies covered by the UCP; and develops, updates and administers merit system examinations.

Pay, Leave and Reporting provides information on the UCP system pay plan; interprets policies on pay, leave and hours of work; provides workforce reports and assistance with the SAM II HR/Payroll System; maintains lists of individuals from whom agencies can select for Merit System jobs; ensures personnel transactions are in compliance with state personnel law; coordinates labor relations activities in individual state agencies including participation in negotiations with employee elected unions and approval of agreements relating to uniform wages, benefits and those aspects of employment that have a fiscal impact on the state; develops and delivers statewide supervisory training and management programs; and provides administration of statewide employee recognition programs.

The Division of Purchasing and Materials Management (PMM) is responsible for the procurement of all state-required supplies, materials, equipment and professional or general services. Certain agencies (e.g. MODOT) are considered exempt in some areas. The division executes procurement functions in accordance with applicable statutes by maximizing competition in the procurement process, conducting evaluations and negotiations as appropriate, and awarding contracts to the "lowest and best" bidders.

The materials management section, the State Agency for Surplus Property (SASP), is responsible for transfers and disposal of state surplus property to obtain the maximum return on investment. SASP acquires property declared excess by federal government agencies to distribute to eligible Missouri entities. SASP is also responsible for the statewide in-house recycling program.

son or corporation. The AHC typically decides the cases after a trial-type hearing. It hears evidence and arguments from the state agency and from the other party. Any party, including the state agency, may seek review of the AHC decision from the judicial branch.

The statutes authorize jurisdiction for the AHC to resolve disputes over decisions of more than 100 state agencies. Chief among them are the director of the Department of Revenue's tax decisions, professional licensing decisions of many boards of the Department of Insurance, Financial Institutions and Professional Registration and other departments, the Department of Social Services' decisions on payments to Medicaid service providers and the Missouri Health Facilities Committee's decisions on certificates of need. The statutes commit other specific matters to AHC also. AHC resolves about 2,000 cases per year.

AHC consists of not more than three members, appointed by the governor and confirmed by the Senate, who serve six-year terms.

Board of Fund Commissioners

The Board of Fund Commissioners issues, redeems and cancels state general obligation bonds and performs other administrative activities related to state general obligation debt as assigned by law.

The board is composed of the governor, lieutenant governor, attorney general, state auditor, state treasurer and commissioner of administration. The governor is president of the board, and the state treasurer is secretary. An executive secretary performs staff functions for the board.

Board of Public Buildings

The Board of Public Buildings (BPB) is composed of the governor, lieutenant governor and attorney general. The governor serves as the chair, and the lieutenant governor is the secretary. The speaker of the house of representatives and the president pro tempore of the Senate serve as ex officio members of the BPB but do not have the power to vote.

Missouri law provides that the BPB has general supervision and charge of state facilities at the seat of government. The BPB also has the authority to issue revenue bonds for the construction of state office buildings and certain other facilities.

The board works with the Division of Facilities Management, Design and Construction and the Division of Accounting in carrying out its responsibilities.

Staff support is provided by the commissioner of administration.

The board is authorized to issue debt or credit instruments to provide funds for the payment of unemployment benefits or maintaining an adequate fund balance in the unemployment fund, and as an alternative to borrowing or obtaining advances from the federal unemployment trust fund or for refinancing these loans or advances.

In 1994, Missouri voters approved the creation of the "Missouri Citizens' Commission on Compensation for Elected Officials." This commission was established to ensure that the power to control the rate of compensation of elected officials of this state is retained and exercised by tax-paying citizens of the state.

Beginning in 1996 and every two years thereafter, the commission will review the relationship of compensation to the duties of all elected state officials. The commission's recommendation of a salary schedule shall become effective unless disapproved by the General Assembly. The 22-member commission serves four-year terms.

The Governor's Council on Disability (GCD) serves as the voice and advocate in state policy making for 949,000 Missourians with disabilities. GCD works to make persons with disabilities aware of their rights and opportunities; increase employment opportunities for job seekers with disabilities; expand access to equal and full participation for all individuals with disabilities in their communities at the local, state and federal levels; and change the delivery system for assistive technology devices and services. GCD provides youth leadership programming for young people with disabilities.

In 1947, President Harry S. Truman issued an executive order establishing the President's Committee on Employment of the Handicapped. This federal agency was created to assist disabled World War II veterans with re-entry into the civilian workforce. Following President Truman's lead, Missouri established the Governor's Committee in 1949 after it became obvious that a local network was needed to disseminate information about work-related problems facing people with disabilities.

In 1988, the names of both the President's Committee and the Governor's Committee were changed to Committees on Employment of People with Disabilities, placing the appropriate emphasis on the individual workers and not their impairments.

The mission of GCD has naturally evolved from strictly promoting employment to addressing all of the barriers to employment and full participation in community life. To more accurately reflect the mission, the 1994 General Assembly renamed this agency the Governor's Council on Disability. GCD was transferred by executive order in 2004 from the Department of Labor and Industrial Relations (DOLIR) to the Office of Administration (OA) to better meet its mission.

The GCD consists of 21 council members, including the chair and one member from each state congressional district, as well as the executive director. The majority of GCD is comprised of people with disabilities representing various disability groups. Family members of people with disabilities, persons who represent other disability-related groups and other advocates fill the remaining positions.

The governor appoints the chair with the advice and consent of the Senate. The governor also appoints the 21 members-at-large. GCD meets at least quarterly to act as an advisory body to its staff and to discuss and suggest ways to address current issues affecting persons with disabilities in Missouri.

In the administration of its duties, GCD also offers assistance to help the various departments, divisions and branches of government to comply with all laws regarding persons with disabilities. To further that goal, the director of each state department designates at least one employee to act as a liaison with the council. The assistance offered includes educational programming and consultation on the rights of persons with disabilities.

MBAC also initiates and encourages minority business education programs, analyzes current legislation and regulations as they affect minority businesses; and receives complaints and recommendations concerning policies and activities of federal, state and local governmental agencies which affect minority small businesses. The Missouri Ethics Commission (MEC) was created by the Missouri Ethics Law of 1991 (Section 105.955, RSMo). The commission is charged with enforcement of conflicts of interest and lobbying laws (Section 105.450-498, RSMo) and campaign finance disclosure laws (Chapter 130, RSMo).

The MEC is composed of six members, not more than three of whom may be from the same political party. These members must be from different congressional districts, and no more than three can be from an odd- or even-numbered congressional district. The governor appoints the members of the commission with the advice and consent of the Senate. The commission elects a biennial chair and is assigned to the office of administration for budgeting purposes only.

The MEC receives and reviews complaints alleging violations of the conflict of interest and lobbying statutes and the campaign finance disclosure statute. After investigation of these complaints, the commission refers the complaints to the appropriate prosecuting authority or disciplinary authority along with recommendations for sanctions. The commission may also initiate judicial proceedings on its own.

The MEC reviews and audits reports required by the campaign finance disclosure law, the financial interest disclosure laws and the lobbying registration and reporting laws. The MEC acts as the public repository for such reports. The MEC provides information and assistance to lobbyists, elected and appointed officials, employees of the state and political subdivisions and the general public.

The department's divisions include Agriculture Business Development, Animal Health, Grain Inspection and Warehousing, Plant Industries and Weights and Measures. The department also consists of the Missouri Agricultural and Small Business Development Authority, the Missouri State Fair, the State Milk Board and the Missouri Wine and Grape Board.

Mission Statement: To serve, promote and protect the agricultural producers, processors and consumers of Missouri's food, fuel and fiber products.

Office of Director

The Missouri Department of Agriculture is managed by a director who is appointed by the governor and confirmed by the Senate. The director determines department policy, oversees the department's divisions and serves as a liaison to the governor, state legislators, the agriculture community and the public.

The director's office serves a variety of constituencies and provides a representative voice on a broad range of public issues affecting Missouri farmers, ranchers, agribusinesses and agriculture policy makers. The Missouri State Fair is one of the state's largest agricultural events, with exhibits showcasing livestock, row crops, horticulture and floriculture. It also features agribusiness exhibits and displays of Missouri-produced commodities.

Established in 1899, the Missouri State Fair is one of the oldest in the nation. The fairgrounds, which cover 396 acres in Sedalia (Pettis County), are open year round, providing facilities for horse and livestock shows, art and craft festivals, camping, rallies and other events.

During the annual August fair, visitors enjoy educational and recreational activities, a carnival midway and musical entertainment.

The Missouri State Fair plays an important role in shaping Missouri agriculture, contributing to the state's economy and educating the public about the importance and necessity of agriculture.

The State Fair Commission, whose members are appointed by the governor, oversees the fair's operations.

The State Milk Board consists of 12 members, 10 of whom are nominated by the director of agriculture, appointed by the governor and confirmed by the Senate. The two remaining members of the board are from the state Departments of Health and Senior Services and Agriculture.

Four of the appointed members of the board must be Grade A dairy farmers representing recognized producer organizations. Four appointees are active members of local health departments in the state. The two remaining appointees represent processor and consumer interests. No more than six of the 12 board members can be from the same political party.

The board administers milk inspection in relation to Grade A milk and milk supplies to assure uniformity of procedures and interpretation of milk inspection regulations. The Grade A or fluid milk activities of the state are supported by revenue from inspection fees.

The manufacturing grade dairy program enforces sanitation and quality standards for manufactured dairy products and provides market testing of all milk at the first point of sale. Milk procurers, manufacturing plants, field

Agriculture Business Development Division

The Agriculture Business Development Division helps create opportunities for success for Missouri's farmers and agribusinesses. Division staff help facilitate growth in Missouri's agriculture-based businesses by providing business counseling, information and training on a sector-by-sector basis.

Areas of specialization include capitalization, business planning, marketing, industry development, product and brand development and organizational structures. Staff also helps facilitate growth in Missouri's agriculture-based industries by working with key players such as universities, associations, private sector partners and federal and state agencies to aid in the growth of each sector.

The division plays a key role in growing the demand for products raised and processed in Missouri by increasing consumer awareness and sales. The AgriMissouri marketing program serves as the overall brand for promotions, including retail, restaurant, foodservice, farmers' markets and agritourism promotions.

The division's International Marketing Program works worldwide to sell Missouri agricultural products. The program has an international office in Taiwan and works with the Department of Economic Development's offices across the world.

The Market Information and Outreach Program, another entity of the Agriculture Business Development Division, works to position the department as a state and national leader in providing information and outreach to both agriculture and non-agriculture audiences. The program also provides resources and market information needed to improve the economic environment for Missouri producers and increase public knowledge and appreciation of agriculture in Missouri.

The division is also home to the Missouri Agricultural and Small Business Development Authority (MASBDA).

AgriMissouri

AgriMissouri is a branded program designed to grow the demand for agricultural products raised and processed in Missouri. The program represents farmers, agribusinesses and farmers' markets statewide and plays a key role in increasing consumer recognition of Missouri's agricultural products through retail, restaurant and foodservice channels.

Domestic Marketing Program

The Domestic Marketing Program is comprised of specialists working with livestock, grain, forage, horticulture, agritourism, farmers' markets, specialty crops, aquaculture, dairy and natural and organic producers. Each specialist works with specific industry representatives or groups to establish marketing opportunities and promote commodities.

The primary objective is to enhance farm profitability in Missouri through innovations in technology, marketing and economic organizations. In addition to providing one-on-one assistance to producers interested in production, marketing or processing their commodities in new ways, the domestic marketing personnel work with a wide variety of professionals involved in value-added agriculture.

International Marketing Program

The International Marketing Program is a valuable link between Missouri producers, agribusinesses, forest products industry and foreign agricultural buyers. Specialists work to facilitate contacts between buyers and sellers and assist Missouri suppliers in responding to international marketing opportunities.

The program provides potential exporters with services to:

- analyze specific market opportunities.
- establish contacts with foreign buyers.
- provide data on tariffs, health regulations, labeling requirements, export documentation, transportation, international financing and payment terms, insurance, etc.
- plan, arrange and participate in outgoing sales and incoming buying missions.
- assist and participate in domestic and international trade shows and other exhibitions.

The International Marketing Program works with USDA's Foreign Agricultural Service to provide export sales leads, international advertising and export assistance from agricultural attachés.

The program manages an agricultural trade office in Taipei, Taiwan. The program is also supported by state offices and representatives in Korea, China and Japan.

Market News

Producers need an unbiased, reliable, accurate and timely source for livestock and grain market news to remain competitive and assist them in making wise and profitable marketing decisions. Market News guides producers in production planning and provides a more even playing field in the marketplace.

Market News staff report prices from 23 livestock auctions and 30 grain markets in Missouri. Timber prices are reported monthly. Reports are also generated from direct sales and voluntary producer participation. To reach more customers with up-to-date market information, daily market figures are published on the Internet and through the Weekly Market Summary.

Outreach

Outreach provides targeted information about agriculture and departmental programs and services to educate, inform and engage the public. The program works to increase Missourians' knowledge of the economic, historical and social value of agriculture.

Outreach staff work with Missouri youth, encouraging them to pursue agricultural degrees and careers through the Missouri Agribusiness Academy, the Missouri Livestock Grading and Judging Contest, Building Our American Communities grants and educational scholarships. The program also helps youth build marketing and communications skills.

Serving as a liaison with Missouri agricultural commodity associations, the program publishes current contact information for agriculture commodity groups, coordinates commodity merchandising council elections and prepares official proclamations.

The program also works to help producers identify ways to improve overall quality and market value of livestock in Missouri. Producers have the opportunity to participate in the Show-Me Select Heifer program and value-added calf programs.

Missouri Agricultural and Small Business Development Authority

Through its Beginning Farmer Loan Program, the Missouri Agricultural and Small Business Development Authority (MASBDA) issues tax-free bonds to lenders who make low-interest loans to farmers and small businesses. Up to $250,000 may be loaned to first-time farmers to purchase land or make improvements.

Through the Animal Waste Treatment System Loan program, the authority makes loans for animal waste treatment systems for up to 10 years at terms below conventional interest rates. Loans can be used to buy land for lagoons, build animal waste facilities or purchase waste-handling equipment—all of which work to prevent potential surface and ground water contamination.

The authority also administers the Single-Purpose Animal Facilities Loan Guarantee program, which provides banks with a 50 percent first-loss guarantee on loans up to $250,000 for as long as 10 years. Independent livestock producers may use the loans to finance breeding or feeder livestock, land, buildings, facilities, equipment, machinery and animal waste systems for producing poultry, swine, beef or dairy cattle.

The Missouri Value-Added Grant program provides grants of up to $200,000 to projects that add value to agricultural products and aid the economy of a rural community. Grants are for activities prior to start-up or expansion, such as feasibility studies, marketing studies or business plans.

The Missouri Value-Added Loan Guarantee program provides lenders with a 50 percent first loss guarantee on loans up to $250,000 for projects that add value to agricultural products.

Loans that finance land, improvements and equipment associated with a value-added enterprise may be guaranteed, as well as loans for the purchase of stock in a start-up cooperative that processes an agricultural product. Loans for plant stock for grapes that will be processed into wine are also eligible for loan guarantee.

The New Generation Cooperative Incentive

TONY STAFFORD
Executive Director
Missouri Agricultural and Small Business Development Authority

Tax Credit program provides tax credits to induce farmer-investment in new generation cooperatives that process Missouri agricultural products into value-added goods, provides substantial benefits to Missouri's agricultural producers and creates jobs for Missourians.

The Agricultural Products Utilization Contributor Tax Credit program allows the authority to grant tax credits in an amount of up to 100 percent of a contribution made by an individual, partnership, corporation, trust, Limited Liability Company or other donor. The contribution must be made to the authority to be used for financial or technical assistance for rural agricultural business concepts.

The Family Farm Breeding Livestock Program provides Missouri tax credits to lenders in lieu of the first year interest paid on breeding livestock loans made to small farmers.

The authority is administered by a seven member commission, which is appointed by the governor and confirmed by the Senate. The director of agriculture serves as an ex officio member.

- Crop and Livestock Loan Guarantee Program—The guarantee program provides financial benefits to Missouri youth who undertake crop or livestock production projects.

- Building Our American Communities (BOAC) Grant Program—The BOAC Grant Program gives $18,000 annually to Missouri 4-H clubs and FFA chapters for aid in developing and advancing Missouri's rural communities.

- Missouri Agribusiness Academy—Thirty selected high school sophomores are given an opportunity to explore the state's vast agribusiness resources by viewing the various facets of agriculture, visiting agribusinesses and meeting leaders in agriculture, government and education. Academy students are selected through a competitive written application and oral interview process.

- Missouri Alternative Loan Program—This loan program is available for use by Missouri farmers and youth to finance the production, processing and marketing needs of an alternative enterprise.

Missouri Wine and Grape Board

The Wine and Grape Board is responsible for researching, developing and promoting Missouri grapes, juices and wine. The Board is funded by a tax on all wine sold in Missouri. These funds support the program's three sections: enology and viticulture advisory services, research and promotion and marketing. Board expenditures provide:

- professional advice to Missouri grape growers and wine makers.
- applied research for developing grape varieties and cold hardiness studies.
- consumer education to increase awareness of Missouri grapes and wine industry.

The Board also administers the Missouri wine and juice competition and awards ceremony and co-sponsors the Midwest Grape and Wine Conference.

The Missouri Wine and Grape Board works closely with and supports the Institute for Continental Climate Viticulture and Enology (ICCVE) at the University of Missouri—Columbia.

Animal Health Division

The Division of Animal Health, under the direction of the state veterinarian, promotes and protects Missouri's diverse and dynamic livestock industry. The assistance and oversight provided by the division's programs ensure greater market access for Missouri's livestock and companion animal industries.

Animal agriculture accounts for about half of Missouri's annual agriculture cash receipts. The division administers laws and programs designed to control and eradicate livestock disease and to maintain and enhance the integrity of the state's animal industries. This includes both mandatory and voluntary regulatory programs for beef and dairy cattle, horses, swine, poultry, sheep, goats, exotic and companion animals.

The state's progress in national disease control and eradication is due to the cooperative efforts of livestock producers, markets, practicing veterinarians, other agencies and animal health staff. Through these cooperative efforts, Missouri has achieved bovine Tuberculosis and Brucellosis

Free status, swine Pseudorabies stage V status and avian Pullorum-Typhoid Clean status.

The division also offers informative programs and publications on livestock quality assurance, food safety, environmental issues and disease control programs. In addition, the division operates two state-of-the-art diagnostic laboratories in Jefferson City and Springfield.

The Animal Health Division works to:

- safeguard the livestock industry against the threat of bioterrorist attacks.
- identify and add value to Missouri livestock through an electronic animal identification system.
- inform cattle producers about quality assurance, targeted breeding and cow herd management.
- increase awareness and understanding of environmental issues that affect production agriculture.
- present informative programs on marketing and food safety to small poultry producers.
- inspect Missouri meat processors to supplement existing USDA inspections.
- develop and implement disease control as the expanding frontier of animal trade requires continual surveillance.

Grain Inspection and Warehousing Division

The Grain Inspection and Warehousing Division is comprised of two programs that administer the Missouri Grain Warehouse Law, the Missouri Grain Dealer Law and the United States Grain Standards Act. These laws promote and protect commerce in the interest of grain producers, merchandisers, warehousemen, processors and consumers. They also promote a uniform official inspection system for the orderly marketing of grain. This division collects and disburses funds for nine commodity merchandising programs.

Grain Inspection Services Program

The Grain Inspection Services Program is designated to officially inspect, grade and weigh all grains that have standards established under the United States Grain Standards. The program provides four primary services:

- (1) official sampling is used to take a representative sample of grain from a particular lot;
- (2) official inspection is used to determine and certify the type, class, quality or condition of grain;

RICH KAISER
Director, Grain Inspection
Weights and Measures

JUDY GRUNDLER
Director
Plant Industries

- (3) weighing certification is used to supervise the loading, unloading and weighing of containers of grain; and
- (4) chemical analysis is used to determine the protein or oil content of grain and to determine the existence of mycotoxins in grain.

Services are provided at inspection offices in Kansas City, Laddonia, Marshall, New Madrid and St. Joseph. The program is self-supporting and operates entirely on fees charged for inspection services performed.

Grain Regulatory Services Program

The Grain Regulatory Services Program protects public interest by auditing grain warehouses and grain dealers to determine grain obligations and financial solvency.

The program enforces Missouri's Grain Warehouse and Grain Dealer laws so producers are assured of storing or merchandising their grain with licensed, bonded, reputable and financially stable grain businesses. The program annually licenses approximately 200 warehouses and 400 grain dealers and conducts more than 900 audits and investigations.

Plant Industries Division

The Plant Industries Division is comprised of four bureaus and two programs, which together administer 14 separate state laws and cooperate in the administration of four federal laws. These laws facilitate agricultural production and marketing and provide consumer and environmental protection for Missouri citizens by regulating animal feeds and seeds, providing necessary certifications for interstate and international shipment of agricultural and forest products, ensuring plant pest protection for crops and forests, establishing grades and standards for fresh fruits and vegetables and regulating the use of pesticides.

Bureau of Feed and Seed

The bureau administers the Missouri Commercial Feed Law and the Missouri Seed Law. The Feed Law regulates the manufacture, distribution and labeling of commercial feed products in the state. Random inspections, sample analysis and label review of feed products and feed ingredients ensure that livestock producers and pet owners receive the feed product guaranteed on the label.

The bureau, in partnership with the U.S. Food and Drug Administration, provides the inspection reports and regulation involved with preventing Bovine Spongiform Encephalopathy (BSE), commonly called mad cow disease, in Missouri. The bureau also provides labeling assistance and investigates complaints related to animal feed.

The bureau regulates seed products offered for sale in the state. Seed is inspected, sampled, and tested and labels are reviewed to ensure the product meets the labeled guarantees as to test date, origin, purity, germination and other claims that are made. The bureau cooperates with the United States Department of Agriculture's (USDA) seed regulatory and testing branch in regulating the interstate movement of seed.

Bureau of Pesticide Control

The bureau administers laws for registration, distribution and use of pesticides. All pesticides sold and used in Missouri are regulated by the Missouri Pesticide Registration Act. Bureau personnel inspect pesticides for proper labeling and registration and investigate misuse. The Missouri Pesticide Use Act allows the bureau to certify commercial, noncommercial and private applicators and public operators. The act also provides for licensing pesticide dealers and pesticide technicians.

Bureau of Plant Pest Control

The bureau administers laws to control insects, plant pests and plant diseases and administers the Missouri Plant Law, which mandates controlling harmful insects, plant pests and plant diseases through surveys, quarantines, nursery and greenhouse inspections and certification. The law also enables interstate and international shipments of Missouri plants and plant products.

As a service to Missouri beekeepers, the bureau works under the Missouri Apiculture Law to inspect and certify honey-bee colonies. These procedures are required for interstate shipment of honey-bees.

Bureau of Integrated Pest Management

The Integrated Pest Management Bureau administers the Boll Weevil Eradication Program and other federal grants.

In 2000, Missouri cotton growers voted to join the national effort to eradicate the boll weevil, a damaging cotton pest. The Missouri Cotton Growers Organization is working with the Southwest Boll Weevil Eradication Foundation to implement eradication efforts in Missouri with oversight from the Missouri Department of Agriculture. This is a grower-funded program paid through assessments on cotton production. The Integrated Pest Management (IPM) program is designed to help farmers in an integrated approach to pest control. IPM encompasses all techniques available to reduce reliance on non-renewable resources, including pesticides.

Fresh Fruit and Vegetable Inspection Service

The inspection service consists of two programs:

- (1) Shipping-point inspections assure fruit and vegetable producers that their products meet quality grades.
- (2) Terminal market inspections assist wholesalers in gaining restitution for products that fail to meet purchase agreement quality standards.

Forest Resources Program

This program administers the Missouri Treated Timber Law to help ensure that consumers are purchasing quality treated wood products. Companies that produce or sell treated wood products are required to be licensed. Routine inspections and sampling are conducted at these facilities to verify state requirements are met.

The program also helps conduct the annual gypsy moth survey, a cooperative program between state and federal agencies to monitor for this exotic forest pest. The Missouri Department of Agriculture is the lead agency in this effort and annually places about 6,000 traps throughout the state to monitor for the gypsy moth's presence.

The forest resources program also administers laws associated with noxious weed control and eradication. The Missouri Weed Statutes identify the responsibilities for preventing the spread of 11 noxious weeds species and provide for counties to work cooperatively with the director of agriculture to help control noxious weeds.

Laboratory Support

Laboratories are maintained for analytical support to the seed, treated timber and commercial feed programs and other programs.

Weights and Measures Division

The Weights and Measures Division maintains surveillance of commercial weighing and measuring devices. The division promotes uniformity in weights and measures laws, regulations, and standards to achieve equity between buyers and sellers in the marketplace and thereby enhance consumer confidence, enable Missouri businesses to compete fairly at home and abroad, and strengthen the state and U.S. economies.

The division's programs are operated in accordance with national and international standards. The division works in conjunction with the National Institute of Standards and Technology and is a member of the National Conference on Weights and Measures, ASTM International, and the National Fire Protection Association.

Device and Commodity Inspection Program

As required by Missouri statutes, device and commodity inspection personnel inspect large and small scales, grain hopper scales, taxicab meters, milk for quantity determination, prepackaged merchandise and method of sale of commodities. The program enforces the Missouri Egg Law and the Missouri Unfair Milk Sales Practices Act.

Petroleum/Propane/Anhydrous Ammonia Program

The program combines a variety of services. Petroleum dispensers, petroleum terminal meters and fuel delivery truck meters are tested for accuracy; premises where petroleum products are stored and/or sold are inspected for safety; metered LPG delivery vehicles and dispensers are checked for accuracy; LPG installations at public institutions and bulk and manufacturing plants are inspected for safety as funding permits; and storage and handling of anhydrous ammonia are monitored.

Metrology/Moisture Meter Program

The Metrology Program tests, calibrates, and certifies standards for state agencies and private institutions. It is also the official keeper of Missouri's primary standards of mass, volume and length.

The Moisture Meter Program ensures the accuracy of all commercial grain moisture-measuring devices used in Missouri.

Fuel Quality Program

This program administers the fuel quality law through inspection, analysis and enforcement to help ensure consumers are purchasing quality motor fuels. Fuel samples are collected by field personnel and submitted for testing. The petroleum laboratory analyzes gasoline, kerosene, heating fuels, diesel fuels and alternative fuels including biodiesel and E85 fuel ethanol to make certain they meet state quality and safety standards. Field personnel also inspect filling stations and fuel terminals to ensure proper labeling and blending, and ensure fuels are not exposed to conditions that would compromise their quality.

The fuel quality program is also responsible for administering and enforcing the Missouri Renewable Fuel Standard Act. With several exceptions, the Act provides that effective January 1, 2008 all gasoline sold or offered for sale in Missouri at retail shall be fuel ethanol-blended gasoline (90% gasoline and 10% fuel ethanol). Stakeholder input was instrumental in developing rules and regulations for the Act.

Brought into being by public demand for better management of the state's fish, wildlife and forest resources, the Department of Conservation was created in 1937 by an initiative process and statewide vote to amend the Missouri Constitution. It is headed by the Conservation Commission, whose four members, no more than two of whom may belong to the same political party, are appointed by the governor with the advice and consent of the Senate. They serve without compensation for staggered six-year terms. The commission appoints the department director, who in turn appoints the staff. The staff is selected on the basis of training, experience, ability and character. The General Counsel and Internal Auditor report to the commission and are supervised by the director. The Human Resources Division is supervised by the director and supports divisions in personnel management.

Three assistant directors assist, supervise and coordinate programs and activities carried out by divisions of fisheries, wildlife, forestry, protection, private land services, outreach and education, resource science, administrative services, design and development. The three also provide leadership for projects and initiatives assigned by the director, legislative liaison, federal aid coordination, partnerships and a policy coordination unit, which provides intra- and inter-agency coordination in the areas of resource management policy, river basin coordination, public involvement, planning, and environmental and cultural resource compliance.

The department's principal sources of revenue are receipts from the sale of hunting and fishing permits and the one-eighth of one percent conservation sales tax. Funds are also received from contracts and grants, primarily on a matching basis, from federal aid provisions of the Wildlife Restoration, Sport Fish Restoration and Cooperative Forestry Assistance Acts.

Department funding was increased in 1976 when voters, by initiative process, proposed and approved a constitutional amendment for an addition to the state sales tax, earmarked for conservation use. Since then, the department has acquired public land and expanded many programs—notably conservation education, law enforcement, forestry, fisheries, wildlife and assistance to private land owners, and activities dealing with endangered species, non-game wildlife and natural areas.

The department's goals are communicated to the public and staff in this mission statement: The mission of the Department of Conservation is to protect and manage the fish, forest and wildlife resources of the state; to serve the public and facilitate participation in resource management activities; and to provide opportunity for all citizens to use, enjoy and learn about fish, forest and wildlife resources.

Administrative Services Division

The administrative services division is made up of two sections responsible for information technology and financial services and four units

Director

JOHN W. SMITH
Assistant Director

DENISE BROWN
Assistant Director

responsible for fleet services, flight services, general services and permit services.

The information technology section provides strategic direction for the department's information technology assets. It is responsible for managing those assets; defining technology solutions to meet business needs; and supporting use of those assets, which include all computer hardware and software systems, telephone systems, two-way radio and other telecommunications systems, and the coordination of those systems with other state agencies.

The financial services section administers all financial activities of the department. It maintains liaison with the State Treasurer, State Auditor, Office of Administration and Department of Revenue in the performance of these activities. It is responsible for revenue collection, accounts payable, accounting, purchasing, budget, and payroll. Revenue from the conservation sales tax, hunting and fishing permits, federal reimbursement, public use areas, sale of timber, publications and surplus property is received and deposited in the state treasury for department programs.

The other units are responsible for inventory control; purchasing, management and operations of the department's fleet; management of aircraft operations; repair and disposition of vehicles, marine and other mechanical equipment; operation of a distribution center and warehouse for publications, products and media loan services; operation of offset printing, mailing and sign production services; and the distribution of hunting and fishing permits statewide to retail businesses for sale to the public.

Design and Development Division

The Design and Development Division is responsible for providing engineering, architectural, surveying, and construction/maintenance services for the department. The division administers the department's construction and development program and is responsible for development and maintenance of areas and facilities managed by the department.

The staff consists of professional engineering, architecture, land surveying, construction and support staff in the areas of construction quality control, computer aided design and drafting (CADD), and cartography.

The division's engineering and architectural design and development program includes design and construction of engineering and architectural projects. Projects include boat accesses, docks, roads, parking areas, office and storage buildings, fish hatcheries, fishing lakes and ponds, nature centers, shooting ranges, trails, wetlands, and other miscellaneous projects.

Design and Development Division staff take pride in the practice of conservation engineering: the application of sound engineering principles in development of conservation projects and public use facilities that are in harmony with the environment and that enhance our natural resources.

The division's maintenance of department facilities program includes the renovation and repair of department infrastructure and maintenance of department areas and facilities.

The division also provides engineering surveying for construction development projects and land surveying for property boundary delineation.

Design and Development Division administers the department's County Aid Road Trust (CART) Program which involves cost sharing of roadway maintenance with counties and other governmental subdivisions to help assure that roads accessing department areas are properly maintained and that the public has adequate access to department lands.

Fisheries Division

Missouri has about 1,163,000 surface acres of water comprised of nearly 900 public lakes (24% of surface acres), 486 miles of Mississippi River and 553 miles of Missouri River (22% combined), almost 16,000 miles of other permanent streams (8%), over 39,000 miles of intermittent streams (3%) and about 500,000 private lakes (43%). These waters support rich and diverse aquatic communities that are used, enjoyed and appreciated by millions of people each year. Fishing is one of the most popular and economically important uses of these waters. Each year, Missouri's 1.2 million sport anglers (16 years of age and older) make about 11.8 million fishing trips and generate more than 1.6 billion dollars in economic activity.

The Fisheries Division's mission is "to professionally manage the fish and associated aquatic plants and animals of Missouri for the use and enjoyment of the people." The division accomplishes this mission through fisheries management staff in the department's eight regions. Management efforts are supported by five coldwater fish hatcheries, five warmwater fish hatcheries, a Stream Unit and central office staff. The division has 185 permanent and term employees and varying numbers of temporary employees.

Regional fisheries management staff (with headquarters in Cape Girardeau, Columbia, Kansas City, Kirksville, St. Joseph, St. Louis, Springfield and West Plains, and other staff in the California, Camdenton, Chillicothe, Clinton, El Dorado Springs, Hannibal, Hartell Conservation Area, Lebanon, Lees Summit, Liberty, Neosho, Rolla, Sedalia and Sullivan offices) are responsible for monitoring and maintaining the quality of the aquatic resources, managing the public fisheries resources for quality fishing, providing technical stream and lake management advice to private landowners and other public agencies, providing and assisting with public information and education programs, assisting with other department programs and representing the division and department on matters pertaining to the aquatic resources in their region.

The five warmwater hatcheries (Blind Pony, Chesapeake, Hunnewell, Indian Trail and Lost Valley) rear and coordinate the stocking of about 8 million fish in public waters, suitable private lakes, waters used for special fishing events and aquatic resources education. Their staff also develop methods of rearing endangered species. The five coldwater hatcheries (Bennett Spring, Maramec Spring, Montauk, Roaring River and Shepherd of the Hills) rear and coordinate the stocking of about two million trout in public waters. Their staff is also responsible for stocking and managing the popular trout parks at Bennett Spring, Montauk and Roaring River State Parks and at Maramec Spring Park.

The Stream Unit is responsible for working cooperatively with the Missouri Department of Natural Resources on administering the work of 3,223 Stream Teams, producing and distributing Stash Your Trash litter bags to canoe liveries, and providing stream training and technical services to regional division and department staff and other agencies.

The division's central office staff direct and administer division programs, develop and refine regulation, work on the acquisition and development of public fishing and boat access areas, administer the Community Assistance Program and Corporate and Agency Partnership Program, administer Federal Aid grants, coordinate angler recognition programs, develop and revise technical and popular written materials, distribute a weekly fishing report during the fishing season, and provide administrative support for division and department staff.

Forestry Division

The Forestry Division is responsible for management and protection of the state's forest resources. Major program objectives are to educate and assist forest landowners and forest industries to adopt practices designed to ensure healthy and sustainable forests; ensure the proper management and sustainability of public forest lands; cooperate with public and private agencies in the control and abatement of major attacks of forest insects and diseases; work with communities to develop sustainable urban forestry programs; and to improve rural fire protection throughout the state.

Some forestry facts: About 14.6 million acres, or 33 percent of the land area of Missouri, are covered by forest land. Eighty-four percent of the commercial land is owned by about 200,000 owners. Approximately three-fourths of this forest land is oak-hickory type, five percent is short-leaf pine and oak-pine types and the remainder is in cedar and bottomland hardwoods. Missouri's forests support a large forest products industry with about 1,000 manufacturing plants producing lumber, railroad ties, cooperage, cedar and walnut items (including gunstocks and veneer), charcoal and other products. Over four billion dollars per year is generated from processing forest products. Missouri leads the nation in the production of charcoal, cedar novelties, gunstocks, walnut bowls and walnut nutmeats.

Division personnel and volunteer rural fire departments annually suppress approximately 3,000 wildfires, which burn 60,000 acres of forest and grassland. Although fire control efforts are concentrated in the more heavily forested counties in southern Missouri, protection is provided statewide.

Technical assistance, training and federal excess equipment are available at no cost to cooperating rural fire organizations. Federal legislation provides some funding to qualifying fire organizations on a matching basis. A rural forest fire equipment center is located in Lebanon. The center acquires and distributes federal excess property to rural fire departments for use in fire suppression activities.

"Operation Forest Arson" is a program to combat the high number of arson-caused wildfires. This program is combined with the Smokey Bear fire prevention campaign to educate school children.

Through a cooperative program with the U.S. Forest Service, technical and cost share assistance is provided to private woodland owners. This service is available statewide and includes tree selection and planting advice, forest management plans and recommendations, forest products utilization and marketing assistance and wildlife management recommendations. In excess of 1,500 Missouri landowners are assisted each year by division foresters.

The forest health protection program ensures the continuing health of the forest resources through survey and detection, pest and control evaluations and public information. Pests are monitored and infestations reported through a network of trained citizen "forest keepers." Impact and control evaluations are accomplished through formal damage surveys using both ground and aerial mapping techniques. Public information includes diagnostic clinics, pest workshops, monthly status reports and handouts on common pests.

Tree Resource Improvement and Management (T.R.I.M.) is a cost share program that provides seed money for establishment or extension of community forestry programs, including tree establishment and tree maintenance and care. The department provides 60 percent of total costs of projects, up to a maximum of $10,000 for activities such as tree inventory, pruning, hazard tree removal, tree research care and tree planting.

Assistance is provided to forest landowners on resource availability, market information, new technology and training. Individual businesses are encouraged to improve utilization of forest resources and reduce output of residues through efficient environmentally acceptable manufacturing methods.

Since the department was established, over 500,000 acres of forest land have been acquired and are managed as sustainable forest ecosystems. Forest management results include biodiversity, watershed protection, wildlife habitat, forest products and recreational opportunities.

To encourage forest and wildlife plantings, five to seven million seedlings of 70 different tree and shrub species are produced at the George O. White State Forest Nursery to fill over 13,000 orders from Missourians. Every fourth grade student in the state receives an Arbor Day seedling produced at the nursery. Residents can order planting stock after November 15, for delivery the following spring at planting time.

The State Forestry Law was passed by the General Assembly in 1946 to encourage stable and permanent management of privately-owned forest lands. It strengthened department efforts to protect woodlands from fire and timber theft and to assist in forest management, as well as providing partial tax deferment on lands classified as forest crop land.

To be eligible for classification, forest land must conform to the following: market value of the land must not exceed $400 per acre; tract size must be 20 acres or larger; and the owner must agree to follow basic forest management requirements designed to keep the land in permanent forest production.

Land classified as forest crop land is assessed on a valuation at $3 per acre. Classification continues for a period of 25 years. To offset the loss of county taxes, the law provides for the department to reimburse counties based on a payment of 75 cents per acre per year on state-owned classified lands and 50 cents per acre per year on privately-owned classified lands. When timber products are cut for sale from classified forest crop land a yield tax on the amount sold is paid by the owner to the department.

Human Resources Division

The Human Resources Division provides a full range of services that help the department attract and retain a diversified, dynamic workforce. Staff assist with recruitment and selection activities; administer salary and fringe benefits programs; oversee a comprehensive group life, medical, accidental death and dismemberment and dependent life insurance program; maintain official employee documents and records; and manage a safety program (including workers' compensation).

Equally important to the department are other Human Resources Division activities, which include monitoring the department's compliance with employment practices relating to Affirmative Action, ADA and drug testing; providing employee training and development programs; administering employee assistance and wellness activities; and facilitating the disciplinary and grievance processes.

Outreach and Education Division

The Outreach and Education Division is dedicated to helping Missourians connect with nature in our state in a variety of ways. The goal is to educate Missourians, young and old, about how to sustain a healthy environment, make good use of fish, forest and wildlife resources and also enjoy nature-based outdoor recreation.

One of the division's most popular works is the Missouri Conservationist magazine, a source of conservation ideas that has been free to adult Missourians since 1938. More than 500,000 people now receive the magazine directly each month.

The website at www.missouriconservation.org has grown tremendously in the past several years as a handy source of conservation information. Highlights include maps and tips for visiting conservation areas, the Missouri Conservationist online, a calendar of events for each region of the state, seasonal hunting and fishing reports, and links to special programs such as Grow Native! and No MOre Trash! A weekly news release, All Outdoors, provides outdoor information on a statewide basis, while a more local perspective is provided through media specialists working directly with news media in each region.

Stories from the Missouri Outdoors TV show, along with many other conservation videos, are available free to schools and public libraries. Missourians can also learn about subjects as diverse as how to fish, create excellent wildlife habitat, follow hunting regulations and identify snakes through the division's many free brochures and booklets. In addition, the popular Natural Events Calendar, conservation books and videos are also available at low cost at our nature centers and regional conservation offices, nature shop catalog or online website.

As more Missourians grow up in urban landscapes, they have less contact with the natural world. An outstanding network of conservation learning centers helps bring people and nature together across the state. Nature centers in Blue Springs, Jefferson City, Kirkwood, Springfield and Cape Girardeau, and visitor centers in Andrew, Taney, St. Charles and St. Louis counties offer unique nature exploration programs. The Discovery Center, located in the heart of Kansas City, features six workshops that offer hands-on instruction to school groups and individuals in a building that highlights energy-efficient design. A new education center in Shannon County at Winona will open in autumn 2007. It will serve school groups and other visitors through self-guided trails, education programs and forest demonstration areas.

A new school program, Learning Outdoors, helps students get outside to experience hands-on learning in nature close to home. Free instructional units that meet today's testing needs combined with grants for field trips and instructional materials form the basis of this new program. The first unit, available in September 2007, will be aimed at 6-8th graders and focus on aquatic education. It includes fishing and stream exploration as potential hands-on activities. Units for fourth grade (focusing on wildlife and habitat) and high school biology and agriculture classes (focusing on ecology and resource management) will follow in 2008 and 2009. Conservation education staff work with teachers and administrators at public, private and parochial schools, colleges and universities, as well as youth leaders and community leaders to ensure that Missouri's natural resources can be sustained for generations to come.

Missouri Master Naturalists is a fairly new community-based, adult natural resource education and volunteer program sponsored by the Department of Conservation, the University of Missouri Extension and the MU School of Natural Resources. The mission is to engage Missourians in the stewardship of our state's natural resources. People become Master Naturalists by taking the courses sponsored by local chapters. Staff from a variety of divisions support the Master Naturalist program.

Another important part of the outreach and education effort focuses on teaching people the skills to enjoy Missouri's outdoors safely and responsibly. The division's outdoor skills specialists work to give Missourians of all ages direct experience in nature-based activities such as fishing, hunting, archery, orienteering and camping. In 2007, MDC joined with the Missouri Conservation Federation to bring the Missouri Archery in the Schools program to teachers and youth leaders statewide. By working with other conservation education staff in the Learning Outdoors program, the outdoor skills specialists help to teach not only the hands-on skills, but also an understanding of what it takes to create the healthy habitat on which that skill depends. To help pass on our tradition of outdoor recreation, a new program called Missouri's Outdoor Families will provide adults an opportunity to share what they know, as well as learn together, with youngsters.

The outdoor skills staff also work with conservation agents to coordinate the many volunteers who provide hunter education training. In 1988, that training became mandatory for all persons born on or after January 1, 1967, as a prerequisite to purchasing any firearms hunting permit. Now more than 500,000 people (about 28,000 per year) have been certified to hunt in a safe and ethical way.

Learning to safely handle firearms is part of the training, but hunters also need places to practice. In response to demand, the department in 1972 began to develop shooting ranges throughout the state. Five staffed shooting range and outdoor education centers, almost 60 unstaffed firearm ranges and 30 archery-only ranges have been created to provide Missourians with opportunities to practice their skills using firearms and archery equipment. Given the rising costs of range development, newer ranges typically depend on funding partnerships with local communities and groups.

Private Land Services Division

The mission of the Private Land Services Division is to "help landowners meet their land management objectives in ways that enhance fish, forest, and wildlife conservation." The health of much of our state's natural resources is dependent on the land stewardship of private landowners, as approximately 93 percent of Missouri's landscape is in private ownership. Providing sound natural resource information and technical assistance to these private landowners is critical to long-term sustainability of our forest, fish and wildlife resources. The Private Land Services Division includes a staff of resource professionals dedicated to working with private landowners to improve forest, fish, and wildlife conditions on their property.

We promote the wise use of fish, forest, wildlife and natural communities through voluntary participation, information, education and financial assistance. Private Land Service's personnel strive to provide prompt, professional assistance to landowners in the evaluation of natural resource conditions and recommend appropriate management and improvement techniques. Private land conservationists provide one-on-one assistance, tailoring management recommendations to the land use goals of the landowner and site-specific natural resource needs. Resource professionals from all department divisions work collectively and independently with landowners and other resource partners to address important resource issues. Community conservationists provide assistance to urban developers, homeowners, city and county planners, and others to address natural resource protection and management during and after development. Wildlife Damage Control Biologists provide assistance to landowners experiencing damage to their property caused by wildlife, including beaver, coyote, otter, Canada geese, deer and others. Wetland Services Biologists provide specialized technical assistance to landowners to restore and manage wetland habitats. Area biologists work closely with the USDA Natural Resources Conservation Service to interpret and apply the forest, fish and wildlife conservation programs available to landowners through the USDA Farm Bill.

Establishment of partnerships with state and federal agencies, commodity groups, agribusinesses and conservation organizations help achieve shared natural resource goals. The department has established effective working partnerships with the Natural Resources Conservation Service and Farm Service Agency to integrate fish, forest, and wildlife considerations into implementation of Farm Bill programs that include the Conservation Reserve Program (CRP), Wetlands Reserve Program (WRP), Environmental Quality Incentive Program (EQIP), and Wildlife Habitat Improvement Program (WHIP). To complement funding available through Farm Bill programs, the department offers a multi-faceted cost share program which provides cost-share payments to landowners for implementation of selected natural resources management practices. In addition, liaison efforts with agriculture agencies and groups have fostered communication and understanding of fish, forest and wildlife issues within the agriculture and conservation communities. These efforts are enhanced through serving on Farm Bill committees, task force groups and agricultural advisory councils.

The Private Land Services Division promotes the development of alternative economic opportunities that benefit Missouri landowners and our natural resources. For example, native warm season grass planting and management assistance is provided through the Prairie Wildlife Biologist on thousands of acres each year. We encourage a land stewardship ethic among landowners, strive to increase community involvement, build trust, and heighten understanding of the department's overall mission. Our staff of Private Land Conservationists, Wetland Services Biologists, Area Biologists, Community Conservationists, and Wildlife Damage Biologists are strategically located throughout the state to provide routine contact with landowners, communities, civic clubs, churches, schools and others. This interaction with Missouri's citizens provides the foundation for building understanding between different interest groups and ensures a well-informed approach to conservation of our natural resources.

Protection Division

The Protection Division is composed of uniformed conservation agents and support staff.

Conservation agents, by official designation,

BILL MCGUIRE
Private Land Services Division
Chief

DENNIS STEWARD

serve as department representatives in their assigned areas and must be well versed on all department programs. They have responsibility for enforcing all statutory enactments related to fish, wildlife and forestry, and rules and regulations promulgated by the Conservation Commission. Conservation agents are certified as peace officers to enforce all state laws on lands owned, managed or leased by the department. Many agents are also commissioned by the U.S. Department of the Interior to enforce federal conservation laws.

Resource law enforcement is very important in managing Missouri's fish, forestry and wildlife resources. Conservation agents are assigned to each county in the state and are responsible for carrying out a wide range of wildlife-related law enforcement duties. Patrols by vehicle, boat and foot are routine. Agents depend heavily on help from local citizens to report violations.

Although law enforcement is the division's primary function, only about half of an agent's time is devoted to that activity. Other duties include hunter education, resource management assistance to landowners, media contacts, and educational and informational programs to youth and adult groups. Numerous surveys, censuses and special field studies are conducted for state and federal fish and wildlife research personnel.

Many special programs require personal contact with individual landowners. Preparation of land-use plans, delivery of seed and wildlife plantings, inspection of developments and periodic progress reports are involved in wildlife habitat improvement and fish stocking programs. Preliminary contacts with landowners and arrangements for wildlife management projects, lake development and other large-scale department projects are delegated to agents. Frequently, community interest and participation in department projects designed to provide or increase local recreational opportunities result from encouragement or initiation by agents.

In addition to fish, wildlife and forestry program duties, many agents present regularly scheduled informational or educational programs on radio and television. A number of newspapers in the state carry weekly outdoor columns prepared by conservation agents.

Although hunter education and shooting ranges are administered by the Outreach and Education Division, conservation agents work closely with outdoor skills supervisors to ensure that these important programs reach as many citizens as possible in an efficient manner. Agents help to recruit, train and supervise hunter education volunteers. They also personally instruct many of the hunter education courses held in their assigned districts.

Two important programs administered by the division in cooperation with the Conservation Federation of Missouri are Share the Harvest and Operation Game Thief.

Share the Harvest provides Missouri deer hunters opportunities to donate all or part of their harvest to needy Missourians. Meat processors, charitable agencies and sponsors work with hunters, the Conservation Federation, Missouri Department of Conservation and corporate sponsors including Shield of Shelter Insurance, Bass Pro Shops and others to distribute much needed meat to hungry families. Over 322,469 pounds of venison were donated by 6,584 deer hunters during the 2006 firearms deer season.

Operation Game Thief provides an avenue for concerned citizens to report poaching through a centralized toll-free hotline. Rewards for information leading to the arrest of violators are available. Since the inception of this program in 1982, over 5,094 arrests have been made with information supplied by concerned citizens. Although rewards are offered for information leading to arrests, less than two thirds of citizens supplying information resulting in arrests actually request rewards. This program has been shown to be an effective means of public awareness and involvement in protecting the natural resources of Missouri.

Resource Science Division

The mission of the Resource Science Division is to provide the science-based information needed to conserve, appreciate and effectively manage the living resources of Missouri. Natural resource management is based on sound biological, geographical and sociological information. An objective to establish a nationally recognized, science-based model for conservation will be accomplished by: 1) ensuring ongoing development of a comprehensive and integrated understanding of Missouri's living resources and their values to society, 2) using accumulated knowledge to inform and recommend conservation actions, 3) evaluating the biological and social impacts of conservation actions and 4) reporting emerging knowledge of Missouri's living resources.

An integrated focus in the Resource Science Division is organized around six systems and functions rather than traditional disciplines, and is dedicated to delivery of management assistance through five field stations.

Functions and services centralized at the Resource Science Center in Columbia and the Central Office in Jefferson City include Terrestrial Systems, Aquatic and Wetland Systems, Science and Policy Support, Geographic Information Systems, Environmental Health and Management Evaluation and Support.

Terrestrial Systems staff strive to understand plant and animal habitat relationships, monitor population status and develop harvest and species management recommendations. Staff is regularly involved with specialized projects to monitor wildlife and plant diversity and population changes and forest silviculture.

Aquatic and Wetland Systems scientists conduct research and surveys that center on issues involving fisheries management, wetland and waterfowl management, fish communities, watersheds, stream-riparian-floodplain systems, in-stream flow, stream bank stabilization and interactions among predators and prey and species of concern. Harvest management recommendations for statewide fish populations, waterfowl and other migratory birds are developed by this unit staff.

Science and Policy Support staff work to link and improve access to databases documenting Missouri's rich biodiversity through a web-based archival and retrieval system. Post-season harvest hunter and angler surveys, attitude surveys and public-use surveys are conducted to better understand the opinions and attitudes of Missourians and to ensure that human dimensions information is integrated with biological information to inform management decisions. Natural resource economics data is collected in conjunction with the public use and attitude information. Biometricians ensure statistically sound study designs and the use of appropriate statistical techniques to analyze and interpret complex natural resources questions.

Geographic Information Systems (GIS) will continue to play an ever-increasing role in the natural resources management, planning and evaluation. The goal of the GIS program is to fully use geospatial technology and products to support natural resource decisions, archive the processes and evaluate the results. The GIS program supports more than 300 ArcGIS users. Training courses are conducted to help train new ArcGIS users and improve the skills of existing users.

The Environmental Health unit primarily provides the services that ensure monitoring and protection of Missouri's forest, fish and wildlife resources. Primary functions include protecting aquatic biodiversity, such as mussel conservation and genetics research, water quality, forest health, and providing responsive service to agency staff, the public and other agencies and entities. Staff coordinate pollution and fish kill investigations with the Department of Natural Resources, and monitor contaminants in fish with the Department of Health and Senior Services.

The Management Evaluation and Support group provides the specific focus on research and monitoring to support field staff. This involves coordinating, designing and conducting surveys, monitoring efforts and applied research aimed at understanding the impacts of management actions on Missouri's resources. Scientists who work on crayfish, quail, karst and botanical surveys provide liaison support to local managers and facilitate the transfer of information within and across regions. Our division manages Missouri's Natural Heritage program, which tracks the status and occurrence of 1,116 species of conservation concern and natural communities, and ensures that they are carefully documented, mapped and updated. In addition, our division supports the Missouri Fish and Wildlife Information System (MoFWIS), a searchable database of habitat, management and distribution data on more than 700 species.

The Field Unit of Resource Science Division is leading regional management evaluations by developing protocols and study designs with the goal of "learning by doing." Field stations, actively integrated with the division's centralized functions, focus on improving understanding of ecological systems, functions and processes by working with regional staff throughout the state.

The Grasslands Systems Field Station in Clinton focuses on ecological processes and management implications for cool and warm season grass pastures and hay lands, native prairie, savannas and glades and grassland-associated fish, invertebrate, wildlife species of conservation concern and all streams and impoundments fed by grassland watersheds.

The Forest Systems Field Station in West Plains focuses on ecological processes and management implications for upland forests, glades, savannas, springs, karst, fens and cold and warm water streams and impoundments drained by forested watersheds and management of forest-associated fish, invertebrate and wildlife species of conservation concern.

The Big Rivers and Wetlands Systems Field Station in Jackson and Puxico focuses on Missouri's large rivers and associated floodplains to understand landscape level ecological processes, and develop tools and strategies to improve channel and floodplain habitats, bottomland forests and wetlands, for fish, invertebrate and wildlife communities, including species of concern and invasive species.

The Agricultural Systems Field Station in Kirksville emphasizes annually cropped lands that produce cereal grains, oil crops, crops for human consumption and annually planted livestock forages. Also included in the field station's focus are retired crop lands, including CRP plantings, cool season grass pastures and old fields, concentrated livestock operations and streams and impoundments drained by agricultural watersheds and management for agricultural-associated fish, invertebrate and wildlife species of conservation concern.

The Missouri River Field Station in Chillicothe focuses on issues directly related to management of the Missouri River. Many aspects of large river ecology will be addressed by the Big Rivers and Wetlands Field Station, including some important to the Missouri River. However, several active restoration and recovery programs are being conducted along the Missouri River, and this field station will bring a focused and coordinated monitoring approach among agencies to help clarify the success of these activities.

The activities of the Resource Science Division are concentrated in six major areas or programs:

Population management—manage for, and when feasible, restore viable populations of plants, fish and wildlife compatible with the ecological capability of the land and balanced with the desires of resource users and the public. The Resource Science Division identifies priority population management challenges and develops recommendations, in collaboration with resource divisions, to manage harvested species, species of concern and invasive species.

DAVID W. ERICKSON

Ecological processes—increase our understanding of the processes that determine habitat conditions for native and introduced animals and plants. Erosion and deposition through water, wind and fire are the natural disturbance and renewal processes that are essential to maintaining healthy systems and functions. The division focuses investigations on how to effectively re-establish or mimic these processes in Missouri's contemporary landscape to ensure restoration and management of plant and animal communities.

Management evaluation—ensure that results of management and policy actions are measured and appropriately linked to resource-related outcomes, budgets and staff time. Ongoing evaluation of resource responses and resource uses are essential to determine whether goals are met and to understand when change is needed. The Resource Science Division promotes “learning by doing” to improve resource management programs and to ensure accountability of staff and budget resources.

Human dimensions—provide and promote the use of human dimensions information in the management decision process. The Resource Science Division collaborates with other divisions to ensure that human dimensions information is acquired and used in policy and management decisions. This information is used to track changing public expectations, anticipate demographic trends, and ultimately to provide the information needed to make resource policy and management judgments.

Large-scale planning—ensure that all planning and program efforts are well coordinated within and beyond the agency, and are based on sound science and include evaluative measures.

Advances in GIS and associated ecological and geospatial applications (e.g., Ecological Classification Systems) are used to inventory, assess and monitor resource condition and management results at national, state, regional and area scales. Using these tools, services and information are developed and supported that facilitate natural resources planning.

Information transfer—manage, share and transfer data collected in a useful, archived and easily obtainable format. The division ensures that information about population status, harvest and public use—as well as the results of investigations—are timely, current, accurate and available in a form that is useful.

Wildlife Division

The Wildlife Division's mission is to conserve for long term public benefit Missouri's wildlife resources and the landscapes on which wildlife depend, and to manage public lands to conserve and enhance their natural resources, provide vital ecosystem services, and invite public use and enjoyment. The Wildlife Division uses the best possible information, expertise, and judgment to manage game and furbearer species and to conserve all native plants, animals and natural communities. While this commitment is statewide, there is a special responsibility for exemplary management on public conservation lands. The division manages nearly 500,000 acres of land on roughly 400 conservation areas, considering both the needs of wildlife and the needs of citizens to use and enjoy public lands. Hiking, hunting, birding, fishing, mushroom gathering, camping, wildflower viewing and canoeing are examples of activities on conservation lands. In recent years, the Wildlife Division has made a special effort to increase hunting opportunities and to introduce youth and other new hunters to dove, deer, turkey and other types of hunting. Another initiative has been to acquaint more people with the opportunities for nature viewing, especially birding, on conservation areas.

Good conservation management of public lands provides general environmental benefits to all citizens by maintaining the ecological health of our forests, prairies, glades, wetlands and streams. Healthy ecosystems produce fish, forest and wildlife resources. They also contribute to high water quality, groundwater recharge, air quality, soil erosion control and watershed protection. The division also provides technical advice on resource management to other agencies, organizations, industry, private landowners and other citizens.

In addition to wildlife and biodiversity conservation planning and implementation, the division administers the Department's Natural Areas, Endangered Species and Landowner Incentive Programs. It provides department-wide coordination of hiking, biking and equestrian trails, invasive species control, the national Northern Bobwhite Quail Initiative, wetland conservation, biodiversity conservation and the Missouri Comprehensive Wildlife Conservation Strategy. The Conservation Strategy enlists partner agencies, organizations and individuals to create shared visions for partner-driven implementation. Another example of conservation partnerships is the Missouri Bird Conservation Initiative, a consortium of over 30 organizations working together for all bird species.

The Wildlife Division helps develop regulations for the management of wildlife, and assists with research and monitoring to adjust regulations and to improve conservation practices and public outdoor recreation opportunities. It works to restore healthy populations of wildlife and plant species, and diverse natural communities that have declined or disappeared from the Missouri landscape. Past successes include wild turkey, white-tailed deer, bald eagle, peregrine falcon, osprey and river otter. Wetlands, glades, woodlands, prairies and savannas are natural communities that will continue to receive special restoration emphasis.

The Department of Corrections is an agency dedicated to public safety through the successful management and supervision of offenders on probation, in prison and on parole. The department's responsibility is to administer the sentence set by the court in ways that promote public safety at the lowest cost to taxpayers. Offenders assigned to the department are successfully managed by ensuring they are supervised at the correct custody or supervision level. A cadre of over 11,000 well-trained correctional professionals committed to the vision, mission, values and professional principles of the department, assess each offender's criminal history, evaluates community and institutional conduct and enforces court orders and department rules. This mixture of on-going assessment, classification, referral to supervision strategies and assignment to basic habilitation interventions are several of the key methods used to promote sober, responsible, productive and law-abiding behavior. When offenders are held accountable for their behavior and responsible for their actions, the public's safety is enhanced.

In all, the department is responsible for the care, custody and supervision of approximately 103,729 adult offenders in Missouri. There are currently more than 30,659 adult felons confined in Missouri's 20 correctional facilities and two community release centers. The department also supervises 16,871 parolees and 50,880 probationers across the state.

There are four divisions within the department. The management of felons and selected misdemeanants committed by the court are divided between the Division of Probation and Parole and the Division of Adult Institutions. The Division of Offender Rehabilitative Services provides program services to felons assigned to probation, parole or prison. All staff related activities and special program services are provided through the Division of Human Services.

The department utilizes strategic planning to promote continuous improvement and excellent customer service at all levels of the organization.

LARRY CRAWFORD
Director

DAVID ROST
Deputy Director

This commitment to continuous improvement ensures that offenders under the supervision of the Department of Corrections are assigned to the correct custody classification and receive those services that reduce criminal behavior and promote the longest lasting public safety through a measurable reduction in recidivism and revocation.

The strength of the Department of Corrections is found in the women and men who serve around the clock to ensure that offenders are supervised at the most appropriate level with the greatest care for public safety. To assist our staff in their challenging work, the department has developed policies and procedures based on statutes, case law and the best practices in the field.

To ensure that policy and procedure are representative of the needs of staff and adhere to legal obligations, the department assigns task forces and work teams to research different operations to review and rewrite policy. This practice allows the department to not only examine its operations, but receive input from those who are required to implement the policies and procedures prior to approval by administrators and the executive staff.

Training is essential to building and maintaining a professional staff. The department has established a Training Academy with its headquarters in Jefferson City and Regional Training Centers in Farmington, Jefferson City and St. Joseph. A full-time professional training staff work at each center to ensure that training is delivered consistently, accurately and completely across the state. Staff outside the training centers is also enlisted to assist and conduct training in specialized topics. This brings the professional expertise of our working staff to newly hired employees.

Sometimes overlooked are the line staff and supervisors dedicated to providing quality correctional supervision to offenders. Working together, these units of probation and parole officers, correctional officers, clerical staff, cooks, substance abuse counselors, caseworkers, maintenance workers, teachers, treatment staff and others blend into a team that holds offenders accountable for their behavior and responsible for their actions. Through a combination of supervision strategies and classification criteria, offenders are supervised in ways that address public safety concerns while meeting the needs of the offender.

Supervision levels in the community range from intensive to minimum supervision of offenders, to community corrections programs such as electronic monitoring and residential facilities. Community supervision centers provide additional supervision and treatment for at-risk offenders. In the prisons there are five custody levels that range from minimum (C-1) to maximum (C-5). Using objective criteria to establish supervision and custody levels ensures offenders with corresponding need and disposition are supervised and confined safely and securely with appropriate programming.

The employees of the Missouri Department of Corrections are among the finest in the field of corrections. They are active in their local communities both in developing professional relationships with citizen groups and maintaining their role as citizens building strong communities. The department takes its responsibilities seriously and is committed to making Missouri a safe and secure place for its citizens and visitors.

Offender Management

Risk management is the process of classifying offenders according to the risk they currently present to the public so as to assign them to the institutional custody or community supervision level that best monitors their conduct. Department staff assess, evaluate and intervene as necessary to ensure offenders are managed in ways that best promote public safety in accordance with the sentence of the court.

Risk management is accomplished in a variety of ways. Pre-sentence investigations assist the court in determining sentencing options. Individualized institutional treatment programs for substance abusers, sex offenders and others who experience mental health or other special problems provide offenders with the necessary skills for successful reintegration into society. Supervision strategies such as intensive supervision, electronic monitoring, community supervision centers, day reporting centers and residential facilities provide offenders with a structured environment for increased supervision. Restorative Justice programming in institutions and field offices allow offenders an opportunity to repair the harm their crimes have caused individual victims and their communities. The institutional classification system ensures felons in prison are confined at custody levels that maintain facility security and public safety.

Office of the Director

The director of the Missouri Department of Corrections is charged with shaping legislation, formulating policies and procedures, and keeping the public informed in order to effectively and efficiently guide and implement objectives and goals that increase the public's safety. Included in the Office of the Director are units that participate in these endeavors, notably Victim Services, Inspector General, Legal Services, Restorative Justice, Constituent Service and Public Information.

Restorative Justice

In Missouri, offenders perform restorative justice initiatives that assist victims and victimized communities as part of their sentence to prison. Restorative Justice holds the offender accountable and provides a means for them to repay their debt to the victim and the community. Restorative Justice also provides the offender the opportunity to leave the system with an improved attitude and sense of belonging as well as strengthening the social bonds that serve as the foundation of our communities. For example, over 76,000 pounds of produce were grown and harvested in Missouri correctional facilities during calendar year 2006 and were delivered to organizations such as shelters, food banks and senior citizen homes around the state. In addition, approximately 11,000 offenders volunteered over 196,000 hours of reparative activities. Not-for-profit agencies and victims statewide receive reparative products and services. Examples of those agencies include the Salvation Army, children's hospitals, senior citizen homes, foster care programs, schools, KidSmart, Head Start, VA Hospitals, homeless shelters and many more. Examples of reparative activities include quilts, afghans, birdhouses, refurbished bikes, teaching aids for schools and many more.

Probation and parole offices sponsor a variety of Restorative Justice programs for offenders under their supervision living in the community. Reparative boards are comprised of citizens from the community specially trained by department staff to meet with offenders concerning their behavior while under supervision. All crime victims have an opportunity to provide information and/or a statement outlining what impact the crime has had on their lives through the court reports prepared by probation and parole staff and how the offender may best repair the harm they have caused their victim or the community, which may include physical and/or psychological harm and financial loss.

Offenders volunteer, or in some cases, are mandated to attend Impact of Crime on Victims Class (ICVC) in correctional facilities and probation and parole offices. In these classes, offenders come face to face with victims of all types of crime who share their stories and explain to offenders how crime has affected their lives and how the pain never goes away. These classes help offenders develop a sensitivity toward victims and help prevent further victimization. Offenders are expected to develop respect for the rights of others and to be held accountable for their behavior. In 2006, over 7,700 offenders participated in ICVC classes in correctional facilities with over 131,800 recorded hours.

Information Systems

The Office of Information Systems has the responsibility of managing and operating all data processing activity in the department. Several mid-range computers, in conjunction with a statewide telecommunications network, service more than 11,500 employees at 109 locations containing approximately 6,000 workstations, while also providing online access to approximately another 1,500 users throughout several additional criminal justice agencies. The department's offender databases are integrated with other state agency information to comprise a criminal justice support capability throughout the state. Additional responsibilities include coordination of all telecommunications and radio resources in the department.

Inspector General

The Office of the Inspector General is charged with objectively examining department operations to ensure they are in compliance with established policy and procedure. This is accomplished through the Criminal Investigation Unit and the Compliance and Accreditation Unit. The Criminal Investigation Unit is the investigative arm of the department and conducts investigations in response to reports of suspected violations of statute, and events which may endanger the safety and security of offenders, staff, facilities, employees or the public. The Compliance and Accreditation Unit in the Office of the Inspector General develops and reviews current department practices to ensure department policy and procedure are being followed. This unit also recommends and coordinates department policy and procedure revision.

specific audiences concerning the department and its divisions.

Legislative and Constituent Services is comprised of the Legislative Liaison and the Constituent Services Unit. The Legislative Liaison is responsible for planning, organizing, tracking and coordinating state and federal legislative matters relating to the department's programs. The liaison works closely with the department director and other involved administrative staff to establish legislative priorities. The liaison specifically coordinates activities relating to legislative affairs. The liaison also responds to inquiries from legislators and other interested parties about the department's operations and the potential impact new legislation may have on departmental operations. The Constituent Services Office, which falls under the purview of the Legislative Liaison, processes offender-related inquiries from legislative offices, offender families and the public. Through a customer-focused approach, the office provides information about specific offenders and education about the department's policies, procedures and practices. Both offices provide regular feedback to department administrators and others so they may remain informed about issues that generate contact from constituents.

The Department's Public Information Office responds to inquiries from the news media and the general public. The office responds to dozens of media calls and inquiries each week. The office also produces department publications and videos. It also promotes activities and handles updates to the department website. The unit also develops organizational plans to improve internal communication and has implemented a media outreach plan for interviews designed to promote department programs and activities.

The department's Office of Victim Services (OVS) was established to ensure core services and accurate, timely information are provided to Missouri's crime victims. The OVS ensures victims are notified of changes in an offender's status in accordance with RSMo. 595.209. The OVS enhances accessibility to department operations including parole hearings, victim impact statements for the Parole Board's consideration, and reasonable protection from offenders or others acting on behalf of the offender. The OVS provides services including notification, crisis intervention, support and referrals to approximately 15,000 victims of crime. During fiscal year 2006, the office sent 12,912 notification letters, 344 notification emails, and assisted approximately 5,000 victims by telephone. Upon the request of the victim, OVS staff will provide accompaniment to parole hearings and provide support to the families of homicide victims during an execution.

Division of Human Services

The Division of Human Services consists of Human Resource Management, Training and Employee Development, Employee Health/Wellness/Safety, Religious/Spiritual Services, Volunteer/Intern Programs, Budget/Planning, Research and Evaluation, Planning, Fiscal Management, and General Services. This division provides support to the other divisions of the department. A professionally trained workforce, where safety and wellness is practiced as a part of the job, is essential to carrying out the vision, mission, values and professional principles of the department. The Division of Human Services is tasked with recruiting a diverse professional workforce, maintaining that qualified workforce, improving the work environment of employees and communication between management and staff. Oversight of the budget process, strategic planning and fiscal management is essential to support the operation of the department. Additionally, the division has oversight of the institutional food operations, major new construction and maintenance projects, the management of the vehicle fleet, and central office business office and warehouse functions.

Fiscal Management Unit

The Fiscal Management Unit is responsible for all financial activities of the department and coordinates these activities with other state agencies. The unit is responsible for management of the department's fiscal resources through the activities of procurement and contracting, property control, accounts payable, internal auditing and revenue accounting. The unit also assists the offender population through the management of the offender canteens and offender banking system. The unit serves as the department liaison with the Office of Administration, the State Auditor's Office, the State Treasurer's Office, and the Department of Revenue. This unit oversees implementation and maintenance of a variety of complex accounting systems while providing fiscal oversight, support and assistance to correctional institutions, field Probation and Parole districts, Missouri Vocational Enterprises and other regional business offices throughout the state.

Budget, Research and Evaluation

The Budget Unit is responsible for developing, preparing and presenting the department's annual budget request. Budget staff coordinate with the department's operating divisions to determine the resources required to implement agency programs and strategies. The unit then develops funding requests that accurately reflect the department's strategic planning goals and objectives. Through analysis of research data on program outcomes and population trends, the unit provides guidance on ways to use department resources more effectively and efficiently. The Budget Unit presents the budget request to the Governor's Office and then works closely with the General Assembly to provide information during the appropriations process. This unit also coordinates fiscal note responses for the department.

The Federal Grants Unit is responsible for obtaining, monitoring, managing and disbursing all federal funds obtained through grants to the department. This section pays all bills and salaries for federal programs in which the department participates. The Federal Grants section prepares financial and progress reports for all department grants.

The Research and Evaluation Unit is responsible for providing research data and analysis to support the entire Department of Corrections. The unit tracks population growth of all offenders and maintains statistical data required for the evaluation of department programs and trends. The unit provides research information required to support the strategic planning process and all departmental decision-making. They analyze data and develop scenarios to respond to requests for fiscal note information. The unit also provides research and survey data to agencies within and outside state government and reviews outside research requests.

Planning Section

The Planning Section provides organizational development assistance in the preparation of the department's strategic plan. The Planning Section oversees the monitoring of implementation plans and performance measures associated with the strategic plan to ensure success. The Planning Section also facilitates departmental teams that work on process improvement, problem solving and customer satisfaction projects. The Planning Section provides support to the Corrections Officer Certification Commission.

Training Academy

The Training Academy develops, coordinates and delivers pre-service, in-service and management/supervisory training to staff in each of the department's divisions. The academy consists of 53 full-time staff and a cadre of part-time volunteer trainers who perform their duties in one of the department's three regions: Central, Eastern and Western. The academy promotes the personal growth, professional development and imparts the departmental vision to all staff members to help them achieve the short and long term goals of the agency. To this end, the regions conduct pre-service basic training courses for all new corrections officers, non-custody staff, and probation and parole officers. In addition, more than 1000 in-service and management courses are presented annually. The academy is also responsible for probation and parole safety training and a variety of other certification programs. The academy designs and develops all departmental curricula.

Employee Health/Wellness/Safety

This section addresses job-related health and safety concerns with focus on control of infectious diseases. It also oversees and implements occupational safety concerns, coordinates the department's Early Return to Work Program and coordinates and promotes employee wellness activities. The Workforce Violence Coordinator is also part of this unit and provides staff with assistance following a traumatic workplace incident.

A 1997 study by the U.S. Department of Justice found that correctional officers had the fourth highest incidence of violent incidents per 1,000 workers during a recent five-year period. Correctional personnel also have higher levels of work-related stress than other occupations. The department established a Workplace Violence Prevention Unit as part of the Employee Health/Well-ness/Safety Section to develop and implement department-wide programs to respond to staff's needs as they relate to violence in the workplace.

Human Resource Management

The Human Resource Management Section provides technical assistance on all human relations functions. This section is responsible for the timely and accurate processing of payroll, maintenance and updating of personnel records, reviewing and coordinating classification actions, ensuring the department recruits a qualified and diverse workforce and ensuring that all merit guidelines are followed. The Human Resource Management Section also assists employees in their career development as well as manages employee-related disputes. The Human Resource Management Section also engages in labor relations discussions to ensure that the department is in compliance with union agreements.

Religious and Spiritual Services

Religious programming opportunities and pastoral care services are provided for inmates in correctional centers. Department chaplains assigned to every institution work with volunteers from various denominations to ensure that constitutional rights of inmates to practice the religion of their choice is facilitated within the limitations of a secured setting. Religious and spiritual services are used as a restorative and transforming tool for inmate change, growth and social reintegration.

The impact of religious and spiritual services for inmates has been shown to decrease conduct violations and promote inmate institutional adjustment. Inmates attending religious and spiritual programming are more likely to engage in activities that promote positive attitudes and behaviors needed to take advantage of other inmate programs.

Volunteers/Interns - Special Events

Volunteers serve throughout the department and are recognized as non-salaried employees. They receive an orientation to the department and supervision by department staff. Volunteers provide a variety of services and programs in areas such as substance abuse, twelve step programs, literacy, tutoring, parenting skills, anger management and religion. Volunteers provide access to community programs including NAACP, Vietnam Veterans, Kiwanis, Toastmasters, American Legion and other such organizations. Volunteer members of these organizations bring the programs to the institutions.

This section also coordinates student internships from a variety of educational institutions and colleges around the state. The Volunteer Unit also coordinates, implements and monitors special events and programs involving the department, other state agencies and community partners.

statewide from two regional warehouses. This section also oversees the operations of institutional food service including regional cook-chill facilities, major new construction and maintenance projects within the department, and management of the statewide departmental vehicle fleet. The General Services Unit also oversees the central business office and warehouse functions.

Division of Offender Rehabilitative Services

The Division of Offender Rehabilitative Services is responsible for developing and delivering interventions and services necessary for offenders to correct their criminal behavior at each point in the department's supervision continuum and prepare for successful reintegration into the community upon release. These services and interventions include: academic and vocational education, medical services, mental health, Missouri Sexual Offender Program, Missouri Vocational Enterprises and Substance Abuse Services. These program services allow corrections professionals throughout the department to fully utilize the supervision continuum to better resolve offender issues such as literacy, sobriety and employability. Without remediation these factors would impede their return to the community as law abiding and productive citizens. The public's safety is best served by creating increased offender accountability.

Adult Basic Education

A basic education is an integral part of the rehabilitative process. In order to prepare inmates for successful reintegration to society and to reduce recidivism, offenders without a high school diploma or equivalent (General Educational Development [GED]) are required by statute to participate in Adult Basic Education classes. The mandatory academic educational program provides offenders an opportunity to obtain the GED certificate and make positive and measurable progress in academic education. It also provides a correctional environment in which inmates are constructive while confined and productive when released. The individually prescribed curriculum utilizes both computer programs and text based materials. Classes range from basic literacy and English as a second language through post-secondary education. The academic education section offers the following programs for the offenders to prepare themselves for release:

Assessment: Staff at intake centers screen and properly diagnose all offenders prior to school assignments.

Adult Education: Classes that assist the offender in working toward the GED certificate.

Literacy: Classes providing specific materials and instruction for those with limited English proficiency and reading skills.

Title I: Provides supplemental instructional services for educationally disadvantaged students under age 21.

Special Education: Provides appropriate education for offenders with disabilities through the age of 21.

Youthful Offender Program: Eligible offenders receive life and job skills through the pursuit of post-secondary education while incarcerated and continue through pre-release and parole.

Library: Provides offenders with library services focusing on their educational, legal and informational needs. Each correctional library is comprised of a general collection—modeled on public libraries. Each library also maintains a collection of legal resources to provide offender "access to courts," per the U.S. Supreme Court's Bounds v Smith decision. Legal reference is free to offenders. The primary funding for offender libraries is derived from Canteen funds.

The Missouri Department of Elementary and Secondary Education certifies all department teachers and administrators.

The Mandatory Academic Education Statute, Section 207.690.10, RSMo establishes that offenders must earn their GED certificate or exhibit a continuous honest, good faith effort toward academic success to be eligible for parole. With this added emphasis on education and academic progress, the goal is that 80 percent of students served will show success in one or more areas of reading, math or language during a three-month period.

Currently, academic education can serve over 8,200 eligible offenders daily and during the past two fiscal years just under 2,900 inmates have earned their GED certificates. Eighty percent of the inmates who take the GED test pass. This rate exceeds both the state and national average.

School based programs include a number of career and technical training programs throughout the prison system. These programs include computer repair, automotive repair, business technology, electrical wiring, residential carpentry and plumbing, diesel mechanics and industrial technology, culinary arts and cosmetology, horticulture and certified nurse assistant among others. Additionally, school based programs include training for offenders in computer refurbishing and repair and technical literacy. This specialized program is delivered in partnership with local community colleges. To help ensure that offenders are prepared to work, employability skills/life skills (ES/LS) classes are available. This program is designed to provide skills vital to success in the work world such as communication, cultural diversity, conflict resolution, personal finance management and knowing how to find and keep a job.

Work based programs are delivered via apprenticeships and on-the-job training delivered by the Missouri Vocational Enterprises (MVE) and through institutional jobs. MVE also provides skilled training programs such as computer-aided drafting and similar software to assist the offender to secure and retain meaningful employment upon release.

Community based connecting activities are designed to establish partnerships with state and community agencies. These activities provide access to services available that may help offenders and their families in the process of social reintegration in a free society. Additionally, these initiatives bring the department in contact with individuals from within the community to discuss offender reintegration strategies.

Missouri Vocational Enterprises

Missouri Vocational Enterprises (MVE) is responsible for 26 different industries in 15 correctional institutions throughout the state. At any one time MVE employs approximately 1,500 inmates who provide a variety of products and services for sale to state agencies, city and county governments, political subdivisions, state employees and not-for-profit organizations. MVE's goal is to increase work and training opportunities for inmates. Profits generated by MVE sales are used to develop new products and create expanded vocational training opportunities. More than 50 MVE jobs now qualify as federally certified apprenticeships by the U.S. Department of Labor.

One of MVE's most unique industries is the award winning Waste Tire to Energy program. Waste Tire to Energy involves Department of Corrections inmates cleaning up illegal tire dumps around the state as identified by the Department of Natural Resources. The tires are then shredded by inmates into rubber tire chips, which are then mixed with coal to power the University of Missouri-Columbia's power plant. The clearing of the dumps reduces health hazards and prevents fires associated with illegal dumps. The mixture of chips and coal recycles waste and burns hotter and cleaner than coal alone, thus reducing air pollution and saving the state fuel costs.

Medical Services

By law the department is responsible for the health care of offenders in its custody. The Health Services Unit oversees medical care, which has been provided on a contractual basis since December 1, 1992. This managed-care system stresses health care education, primary prevention, immediate identification of health problems and early intervention to prevent more debilitating chronic health problems. Medical units are located in every correctional center. Depending upon institutional size, the level of care ranges from daily, routine medical and dental sick call services to 24-hour care infirmaries. Chronic care clinics ensure those with chronic conditions are regularly assessed and provided continuous medical care by licensed nurses and physicians.

Mental Health

When inmates are sentenced to prison, mental health needs are accessed during the intake process at the reception and diagnostic centers. This consists of a mental health screening and psychological testing to determine if intervention is needed and, if so, what measures should be taken to stabilize the offender's mental illness and assist with institutional adjustment.

The department works closely with the Department of Mental Health in three key programs designed for treating individuals with severe and persistent mental illness. There are 42 psychiatric hospital beds available at the Biggs Forensic Center at the Fulton State Hospital. This unit is occupied by individuals who are experiencing acute exacerbation of their mental illness. Two specialized programs are available at the Farmington Correctional Center. The Social Rehabilitative Unit is comprised of 200 beds and is designed to provide a long-term structured environment. The Correctional Treatment Center provides intermediate to long-term psychiatric treatment to chronic mentally ill offenders within a secure setting.

The Social Rehabilitative Unit for females is housed at the Women's Eastern Reception, Diagnostic and Correctional Center.

An additional mental health program is available at the Special Needs Unit located within the Potosi Correctional Center. This program is designed to serve offenders with developmental disabilities and prepare them for return to the general prison population.

Psychological services are available in all institutions, ranging from individual and group therapy services to special programs for the chronically mentally ill.

Missouri Sexual Offender Program (MOSOP)

The director of the Department of Corrections is mandated by statute (RSMo 589.040) to develop a program of treatment, education and rehabilitation for sexual assault offenders. By department policy, the successful completion of MOSOP is mandatory for a release prior to an inmate's sentence completion date. The MOSOP program, consisting of approximately 9-12 months of therapy, is provided at the Farmington Correctional Center for men and the Women's Eastern Reception, Diagnostic and Correctional Center in Vandalia for females. The group for handicapped offenders and protective custody offenders is housed at ERDCC in Bonne Terre.

During the calendar year of 2006, MOSOP graduated 242 offenders from the program. Those who failed to successfully complete were required to complete their entire sentence and were not released prior to that date.

The Sex Offenders Assessment Unit (SOAU), a 120-day pre-sentencing residential program, was established in Fiscal Year 1994. It is designed to assess community risks and sex offender treatment needs. Information is then shared with the court for sentencing considerations. During calendar years 2005 and 2006, 151 offenders were assessed for the courts at the SOAU.

Regional Sex Offender Specialists, employed by the department, monitor a panel of private practitioners that provide treatment to offenders while on probation or parole. The courts or the parole board mandate outpatient treatment for these offenders.

Since the inception of the sexual predator statute, the Department of Corrections has been responsible for assessing sex offenders, prior to release from the department, who might potentially qualify for civil commitment as sexually violent predators (RSMo 632.480). After careful examination by highly specialized staff, 26 (40%) were referred on for the next level of scrutiny, the "Probable Cause" hearing. If probable cause for commitment was obtained, the offenders were transferred to the Missouri Department of Mental Health for a complete forensic evaluation, and ultimately, a full trial for full commitment to the Department of Mental Health.

Substance Abuse Services

Substance abuse is a well-documented criminogenic factor with direct impact on offender recidivism. Substance abuse disorders are progressive and the need for treatment and recovery management usually recurs throughout an offender's life span. Substance abuse screening and assessments conducted on offenders indicate that at least 82 percent of the offender population has a significant difficulty with substance abuse within the twelve months before their incarceration. In fiscal year 2006, approximately 40 percent of new admissions to prison were those whose most serious offense was alcohol or drug related. Therefore, the Department of Corrections addresses substance abuse services of offenders both within correctional institutions and Missouri communities. Services are provided, according to available state and federal resource allocations, through Department of Corrections provided programs, contracts and partnerships with service providers and partnerships with other state and community agencies, such as the Department of Mental Health.

An array of substance abuse services is provided to offenders incarcerated in Missouri's prisons who have been sentenced by the courts or stipulated by the Board of Probation and Parole for substance abuse treatment. The U.S. Department of Justice has established a target completion rate of 75 percent for correctional substance abuse treatment programs. In fiscal year 2007, the Department of Corrections designated approximately 2,400 beds for institutional treatment. In the same year, approximately 81 percent of offenders who were discharged from institutional treatment successfully completed their programs, thereby meeting and exceeding national requirements.

Several statutes direct the provision of substance abuse services for incarcerated offenders. RSMo 559.115 enables the sentencing of offenders to 120 days of substance abuse treatment. RSMo 217.362 includes the provision of long-term institutional treatment for offenders with severe chronic substance abuse problems. RSMo 217.364 establishes an Offenders Under Treatment (OUT) Program for first-time offenders. Missouri Post-Conviction Treatment Program is designed for probationers who have failed to complete treatment within the community.

The Department of Corrections anticipates availability of the following services in correctional institutions in fiscal year 2008:

- Fulton Reception and Diagnostic Center in Fulton, Eastern Reception Diagnostic and Correctional Center in Bonne Terre, Women's Eastern Reception Diagnostic and Correctional Center in Vandalia and the Western Reception Diagnostic and Correctional Center in St. Joseph offer substance abuse assessment services.
- Ozark Correctional Center in Fordland, Farmington Treatment Center in Farmington and Women's Eastern Treatment Center in Vandalia offer long-term substance abuse treatment of one year or more.

Toxicology services are a critical aspect of the drug interdiction approach of the Department of Corrections. On a monthly basis, the department conducts both random and targeted urinalysis at every correctional institution. In fiscal year 2007, an estimated 36,705 tests were given through random testing in institutions and 32,310 target tests were conducted for offenders in institutions. In the same year, 60,000 test samples were screened for probation and parole field offices. Additionally, approximately 12,000 tests were administered to employees. In fiscal year 2007, 99.8 percent of all targeted and ran-

Reentry and Women's Programs

The Reentry and Women's Program Unit is responsible for all reentry activities and women's issues within the Department of Corrections. Missouri is one of two states chosen to adopt the National Institute of Corrections' model-the Transition from Prison to Community Initiative (TPCI). The department also received a grant from the Office of Justice Programs to create a reentry program-the Serious and Violent Offender Reentry Initiative (SVORI) and the Prisoner Reentry Initiative. Due to several reentry programs taking place, all were combined in the Missouri Reentry Process (MRP). This unit focuses on effective and efficient ways to transition offenders from prison to communities with goals such as increased percentages of offenders with high school diplomas or GEDs; decreased rates of unemployment; reduced victimization; treatment for substance abuse and mental health; stable family relationships; and also to encourage pro-social relationships and ties within the community. The Missouri Reentry Process is a collaborative initiative involving other state agencies and community organizations. With these goals, this unit is tasked with ensuring that offenders leave the criminal justice system with the tools to become successful, tax paying, productive citizens of Missouri.

The Department of Corrections is committed to providing gender responsive environments to women in the Division of Adult Institutions and under supervision of the Board of Probation and Parole. The Women's Program section of this unit was established to ensure accountability, reliability and continuous improvement in meeting this commitment. Our goal is to ensure that gender responsive programs are available to women offenders that provide health, mental health, self-esteem, parenting, education, substance abuse and life skills to enhance their opportunities for a successful transition back to their community.

Division of Adult Institutions

The Division of Adult Institutions is responsible for supervision and management of the state's 20 adult correctional institutions. The division operates safe, secure and humane institutions for the confinement of individuals committed by the courts to serve a prison sentence. By Missouri law, a felon must be 17 years of age or older or certified as an adult by the Circuit Court and have a sentence of not less than one year to be committed to the division.

Incarcerated inmates are accountable for civil conduct and compliance with institutional rules. Inmates are also required to make payments from their individual inmate accounts for court ordered fines or judgments to the Crime Victims Compensation Fund. In addition, each inmate is required to engage in work, school or treatment on a full-time basis throughout their period of confinement in order to prepare them to be productive, law-abiding citizens upon their release. Inmates are encouraged to make positive contributions to society and to take responsibility for repairing the harm caused by their past criminal actions by participating in community service, restorative justice activities and impact of crime on victims programs. Over 97 percent of all offenders committed to the division to serve a sentence are released at some point. Preparing inmates to transition successfully from prison to the community is an investment in public safety and reduces future victimization.

Citizens Advisory Committee

The department utilizes a Citizens Advisory Committee (CAC) comprised of 12 private citizens appointed by the governor to evaluate grievances filed by inmates and referred to the director of the department. The CAC makes recommendations to the director for the resolution of those grievances as specified in the department Inmate Grievance Procedure. The CAC meets on a monthly basis at different correctional institutions and also makes on-site inspections.

Board of Probation and Parole

The Missouri Board of Probation and Parole is comprised of seven full-time members appointed by the governor, subject to the advice and consent of the Senate. During their six-year terms, members determine the release of individuals from confinement in the Division of Adult Institutions through parole or conditional release. Parole hearings are held at each correctional center monthly. If a release date is set, the board determines whether placement in release strategies, such as electronic monitoring, residential facilities and community release centers is appropriate. The board stipulates special conditions in order to address specific offender needs and improve the opportunity for success under supervision. They also monitor the supervision of offenders in the community and return those offenders to prison that are a risk to the community. The board also investigates and reports to the governor on all applications for pardons, commutations of sentence, reprieves or restorations of citizenship. The board may include information relating to the applicant along with appropriate recommendations.

The chair of the Board of Probation and Parole is designated by the governor and is the chief administrative officer in charge of operations, expenditures, Interstate Compact Services for supervision of parolees and probationers and chief spokesperson for the board. The members of the board are:

Division of Probation and Parole

The Division of Probation and Parole supports the operations of the Board of Probation and Parole and is responsible for field and institutional services for probationers, parolees and conditional releases, as well as community corrections programming, two community release centers and seven community supervision centers currently being developed. The Division of Probation and Parole assesses and supervises criminal offenders assigned to the division by the Circuit Courts of Missouri, the Parole Board or under the terms of the Interstate Compact.

The division is divided statewide into six regions for the effective management of the offenders assigned to it. Regions are made up of a network of local district offices, institutional parole offices and residential facilities, and in some instances are supported by satellite offices. The Chief State Supervisor reports directly to the chair of the Parole Board and oversees the daily operations of the division. An assistant division director is responsible for managing the division's support staff, including the Community Corrections Unit and the Command Center. The assistant division director reports directly to the chief state supervisor.

Region I consists of ten district field offices in St. Louis City, St. Louis County, and the St. Louis Community Release Center.

Region II encompasses eight district field offices in Kansas City, Independence, Belton and the Kansas City Community Release Center.

Region III consists of two field District offices in Springfield (satellite in Aurora) and other district offices in Joplin, Neosho, Nevada, Branson (satellite in Nixa), West Plains and Lebanon. Additionally, the institutional parole offices in Jefferson City (2), Fordland and Licking are in Region III.

Region IV has district offices in Columbia, Jefferson City, Moberly (satellites in Macon and Kirksville), St. Charles, Troy (satellite in Warren-ton), Hannibal, Union and Fulton. Region IV also oversees the institutional parole operations in Fulton, Vandalia, Tipton and Bowling Green.

Region V consists of district field offices in Rolla (satellite in Steelville), Hillsboro, Cape Girardeau (satellite in Perryville), Farmington, Sikeston, Kennett (satellite in New Madrid), Caruthersville, Potosi, Dexter, Poplar Bluff and Charleston. Additionally, the institutional parole offices in Bonne Terre, Farmington, Charleston and Pacific are in Region V.

Region VI has district field offices in St. Joseph, Maryville, Cameron, Trenton (satellite in Brook-field), Liberty, Warrensburg (satellite in Clinton), Camdenton, Eldon, Sedalia, and Lexington (satellite in Marshall). Additionally, the institutional parole offices in Chillicothe, Maryville, Cameron (2), Boonville, Moberly and St. Joseph are in Region VI.

Institutional Services

The institutional probation and parole officers are responsible for the assessment of incarcerated offenders and the tracking of their progress for the Parole Board or the court. The institutional parole officers report their findings to the Parole Board, prior to an offender's parole hearing and to the court, when the offender is being considered for release to probation supervision. The institutional parole staff and parole analyst assist the Parole Board as they conduct hearings. The officers work with the offenders to develop supervision plans as they prepare for their release from confinement.

Institutional parole offices are located at the following correctional centers: Algoa, Boonville, Chillicothe, Crossroads, Farmington (satellite at Potosi), Jefferson City, Maryville, Missouri Eastern, Moberly, Northeast, Western, Ozark, South Central, Southeast, Tipton and at Diagnostic and Reception Centers in Bonne Terre, St. Joseph, Vandalia and Fulton (satellite at Cremer Therapeutic Community Center).

Field Services

Field services encompass the supervision of probationers in the community assigned to the division by the courts, offenders released under supervision by the Parole Board and offenders from other states through the Interstate Compact. There were over 68,000 offenders under the supervision of the division in the community at the end of fiscal year 2006 including more than 16,200 parole cases and 49,360 probationers assigned by Missouri judges.

In order to reduce recidivism, field probation and parole officers continuously assess and evaluate offenders assigned to them, and supervise the offenders at a level consistent with their risk to reoffend. The probation and parole officer effectively balances treatment and supervision strategies necessary to manage offender risk with the needs and interests of victims and communities. This supervision process consists of a number of critical activities including:

- Accurate and ongoing assessment of offender risk and need;
- Development of effective supervision and treatment plans;
- Restorative justice practices;
- Use of appropriate sanctions and strategies to minimize risk and maximize the potential for successful outcomes.

Reparation Boards have been developed in partnership with the courts to help offenders gain insight into the impact of crime on the community. They recommend specific reparative activities to be completed by offenders to restore or repair the community.

Offenders are ordered to perform community service hours by the court as part of their reparation to the community. Other offenders are required to compensate victims of crime, pay court costs and make restitution to individual victims.

Across the state, Citizen Advisory Boards (CABs) provide valuable assistance to their communities. CABs, comprised of citizens who live and work in their communities, promote an environment for offenders to gain the skills they need to be productive and law-abiding citizens. CABs fund special programs, such as financial management courses, alcohol awareness programs, prison tours, Adopt-A-Highway clean-up projects, Alcohol Related Traffic Offender Programs and community service projects. Some CABs sponsor scholarships to high school and college students or have established endowments at local universities and colleges. Still other CABs provide transportation and interest-free loans to offenders for treatment, education and employment needs.

Missouri Reentry Process

The Division of Probation and Parole has been engaged in the Missouri Reentry Process (MRP), along with the other divisions of the department, other state, federal and local agencies, as well as numerous community partners, including faith based groups. The mission of the reentry process is to integrate successful offender reentry principles and practices in state agencies and communities resulting in partnerships that enhance offender self-sufficiency, reduce re-incarceration, and improve public safety. Probation and parole staff have lead the way for the development of regional and local MRP steering teams across the state. There are currently 30 MRP steering teams covering 86 of Missouri's 114 counties.

Community Supervision Strategies

Probation and parole staff coordinate and manage a continuum of community based programs and employ a variety of supervision services to improve public safety and offender success. These facilities, programs and services assist with the supervision of probationers assigned by the courts and with the reintegration of parolees upon release from prison. The following programs are designed to provide additional treatment, intervention, sanctions and structure for offenders:

- Electronic monitoring;
- Intensive supervision;
- Contract residential facilities;
- Targeted outpatient substance abuse treatment;

- Targeted employment services;
- Cognitive skills development classes;
- Community sex offender treatment and registration;
- Day report centers;
- Community supervision centers;
- Community release centers.

The combination of local assessment, treatment, supervision and short-term confinement enhances the department's ability to improve the success of supervision while involving the local community to a much greater degree.

Community Release and Supervision Centers

Community Release Centers in Kansas City and St. Louis are department facilities under the auspices of the Board of Probation and Parole. These facilities offer community-based programs and provide the department with transitional centers to manage and assist offenders requiring a supervised transition from confinement to community supervision. The Parole Board stipulates parolees for assignment to the centers based on their need for a structured residential setting in which to develop work release programming as part of the release process.

Kansas City Community Release Center

The Kansas City Community Release Center (KCCRC) opened in May 1978 and is a minimum security facility located in the downtown area of Kansas City. It has a capacity to house 350 offenders.

St. Louis Community Release Center

The St. Louis Community Release Center (SLCRC) is located just north of downtown St. Louis and has been in operation since April 1978. SLCRC has a capacity for 550 offenders.

Offenders assigned to the Community Release Centers are required to accept increased personal responsibility in finding and maintaining employment, obtaining medical care and obtaining educational or vocational opportunities. The programs are structured to parallel the offenders' responsibilities after release to supervision in their local communities. Assessment and treatment sessions are scheduled to coincide with the offenders' off-hours from work.

The centers also serve as a secure location to assess offenders in St. Louis City and Jackson County who are at risk for revocation, especially those avoiding supervision. Temporary placement at the centers allows the Board to consider other supervision strategies with a reduced risk to the community.

Community Supervision Centers

In addition to the existing Community Release Centers in St. Louis and Kansas City, the division has opened two community supervision centers and is constructing five others to serve the other areas of the state that contribute significant numbers of annual prison admissions and probation and parole revocations. Each center will include an administrative area to accommodate the existing probation and parole district office located in that area, as well as sufficient program/classroom areas and dormitory housing space for 30 offenders in need of structured residential supervision. Each center will provide short-term residential services for offenders, who otherwise would have to be housed within the department's correctional centers or local jails. To demonstrate the effectiveness of this local alternative to incarceration, the department is using available federal funds to offset 90 percent of the construction costs. Centers in St. Joseph and Farmington opened in 2006. Additional centers are expected to open in 2007 in Hannibal, Kennett, and Poplar Bluff and, in 2008, in Fulton and Kansas City.

Command Center

The department's Command Center is a 24-hour a day, seven days a week communication center whose staff tracks offenders in the community on electronic monitoring, and in community release centers and residential centers. This unit was established to ensure that offenders assigned to community corrections programs maintain their curfews and adhere to other restrictions as required around the clock. Command Center staff conduct investigations for every serious rule violation. They issue arrest warrants should offenders fail to return to their assigned residence at the appointed time. Command Center staff also maintain regular contact with state and local law enforcement to develop leads and to ensure absconders are apprehended and returned to department custody without delay.

The Missouri Department of Economic Development administers a wide array of services and programs designed to attract and retain good, family-supporting jobs and to help local communities fulfill their dreams.

Under the leadership of Governor Matt Blunt, the department underwent a significant reorganization beginning in 2005 under the direction of Department Director Greg Steinhoff. Steinhoff has sharpened the department's focus to one centered on progress, not process.

To achieve this goal, the old divisions of Business Development and Trade and Community Development were merged into the new Business and Community Services Division. The Business and Community Services division houses the sales, marketing, finance and community development teams.

The Sales team now includes Industry Specialists who are tasked with reaching out to businesses identified as having tremendous growth potential. These experts are able to communicate with leaders in their respective industries to highlight the benefits and advantages of relocating or expanding in the Show-Me State. The International Trade and Investment staff seeks to expand Missouri's presence in the global marketplace. In 2006, Missouri businesses set a new export record with $12.8 billion in sales to 191 different countries around the world.

The Marketing Team helps promote Missouri in a variety of ways, including providing research assistance, purchasing advertising, and working various trade shows promoting Missouri industries.

The Finance Team administers financial assistance programs to help facilitate business and community development. The Compliance Team works to ensure that these state resources are being spent properly and that recipients of financial assistance are using them as agreed to with the department.

The Community Development Team works directly with Missouri communities and oversees a variety of programs to assist with infrastructure improvements and to help transform blighted and economically challenged areas into centers of job growth.

In 2006, Governor Blunt unveiled his Downtown Revitalization and Economic Assistance for Missouri (DREAM) initiative. This was created to help small and mid-size Missouri towns access state resources to help transform their downtown areas into thriving centers of commerce and job creation.

The Division of Workforce Development remains an important part of the department, helping Missourians access gainful employment during a time in which tens of thousands of new jobs have been created across the state.

The Division of Tourism, Missouri Development Finance Board, Missouri Housing Development Commission, Missouri Arts Council, and the Missouri Community Service Commission are part of the department, as are the Missouri Public Service Commission and the Office of the Public Counsel.

Several support sections assist in department administration. Communications promotes the department's programs and activities throughout the state and nation by means of news releases and other public relations tools.

Financial Systems analyzes monthly financial statements and works with the state treasurer, state auditor, and the Office of Administration to perform cash management activities.

Budget and Planning develops and monitors the budget, reviews expenditures, provides strategic planning assistance and researches grants.

Human resources assists the divisions by advertising for and recruiting new employees, administering the wage and salary program, preparing payrolls and maintaining personnel policies and procedures.

The Missouri Economic Research and Information Center (MERIC) provides comprehensive analysis of Missouri's socioeconomic environment at the local, regional and state levels. To achieve this, MERIC employs a wide array of tools, which include econometric models, geographic information systems and advanced statistical methods. Ongoing projects at MERIC include targeted development, economic and social impact assessments, industry and occupational analyses, career seeker products and information on Missouri's demographic and economic trends.

Coupled with its analysis capability, MERIC maintains a comprehensive labor market database produced in cooperation with the U.S. Department of Labor. Data on employment/unemployment, wages, layoffs, labor availability and a variety of other information designed to help understand the state's labor market conditions are regularly reported.

Ultimately, MERIC's mission is to provide accurate, relevant and timely information to decision makers and the public in order to facilitate a better understanding of Missouri's socioeconomic environment.

Economic Development Groups

The economic development agencies—Business and Community Services Division, Workforce Development and Tourism—work with local communities to help businesses create jobs, increase sales, find and retain qualified workers, identify sites and obtain financial support to locate or expand in Missouri. The agencies also work with local and regional partners to stimulate greater economic growth by increasing capital investment, promoting tourism and the arts, creating greater access to affordable housing and enhancing self-sufficiency within the state's diverse communities.

The Division of Business and Community Services was created as part of a major department reorganization in 2005. This division is comprised of professionals who work directly with businesses seeking to relocate or expand their presence in Missouri. Several programs are used to facilitate these efforts with great success.

Housed within this division are members of the International Trade and Investment team, who work to expand Missouri's presence around the world. A major focus is to aid in the development of international sales contracts through the assistance of Missouri's foreign contract offices and partner networks. Missouri contract agents are currently located in Mexico, Japan and China. The office also concentrates efforts towards increasing foreign investment in Missouri by monitoring international companies of interest and their investment trends. The professional staff can also assist with trade finance issues including Export-Import Bank loans, guarantees and insurance.

The Marketing Team blends marketing, creative design and research skills with information technology to construct customized communications and marketing tools that add value to Missouri's business and attraction and expansion efforts.

The professional staff is responsible for providing direct support as required to business expansion and site selection projects by delivering social, economic and demographic information on the state and the project's location. The team provides a variety of analytical reports on prospects to enhance decision-making and customer service.

The team is also responsible for development of a variety of customized marketing materials to support the business attraction process.

The Finance Team provides financing and tax credit incentives to businesses that locate or expand in Missouri. These incentives, which include the governor's Missouri Quality Jobs Program, enable Missouri to compete effectively with other states for new jobs and investment.

The Compliance Team monitors incentive programs administered by the department to ensure efficiency and compliance. The professional staff also strives to ensure that the stated purpose of each program is being achieved.

The mission of the Community Development team is to increase the economic self-sufficiency and prosperity of Missouri communities and neighborhoods. Members of the team achieve this result by offering programs to promote community investment, redevelopment, infrastructure development and support to local governments and not-for-profit organizations.

The Research Alliance of Missouri, or "RAM," was founded on January 15, 2003, as a "new alliance between business and universities...to coordinate research and provide more access to technology for Missouri businesses." The Missouri Technology Corporation, whose charter calls for the establishment of a research alliance, and the Missouri Department of Economic Development convened the senior research officers in Missouri's universities that sponsor active research and development programs. Since that time, the members of RAM have adopted a strategic plan and have built new collaborative research initiatives among the institutions; initiated a process to streamline technology transfer from inventions in member university laboratories to commercial products; and assisted Missouri businesses in addressing technological problems through collaborative research projects.

The Research Alliance provides expertise and guidance in linking education and business, working together to coordinate research, pool resources, boost commercialization opportunities and provide Missouri businesses with greater access to technology.

The Research Alliance of Missouri is comprised of chief research officers from universities and research institutions throughout the state, as well as leaders from organizations such as the Missouri Technology Corporation, Department of Economic Development and the Department of Higher Education.

Seed Capital Investment Board

The Missouri Seed Capital Investment Board was established by Section 620.641, RSMo, also referred to as the New Enterprise Creation Act. The board is composed of thirteen members, eight of whom are appointed by the governor with the advice and consent of the Senate, including one representing a major private research university, one representing a major public research university, and six members with backgrounds in technology, banking, labor or small business development. The remaining five members include the director or director's designee of the Department of Economic Development and a member from each of the four innovation centers.

The New Enterprise Creation Act authorized the issuance of $20 million in state tax credits to attract funding for early-stage, technology-based enterprises in Missouri. It is the board's responsibility to approve the professional fund manager, monitor the seed capital program's activities and verify compliance with the New Enterprise Creation Act.

The mission of the Community Development Division is to increase the economic self-sufficiency and prosperity of Missouri communities and neighborhoods. Members of the group achieve this result by offering programs to promote community investment, redevelopment activities, planning and leadership development, infrastructure development and support to local governments and not-for-profit organizations.

Community Development Programs

The Community Development Block Grant (CDBG) Program administers grants to cities with populations of less than 50,000 and counties with populations of less than 200,000. The program is designed to improve local communities by providing funds to develop suitable living environments and expand economic opportunities, principally for low and moderate income persons. The grant process is open to all non-entitlement local governments and provides assistance in areas such as public facilities, housing, economic development and downtown revitalization. Funds are provided through the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development.

The Neighborhood Assistance Tax Credit Program (NAP) administers a tax credit program designated for the betterment of communities and neighborhoods. The Neighborhood Assistance Act provides a tax credit incentive to encourage business participation in community development projects operated by not-for-profit organizations in areas such as crime prevention, community services, physical revitalization, job training, economic development, new generation cooperatives and education.

The Youth Opportunities and Violence Prevention Program (YOP) administers a tax credit program specifically directed toward programs which are designed to prevent youth from engaging in violent behavior and enable youth to improve themselves through education, job training and apprenticeship activities. The tax credits are given to businesses and individuals contributing to an approved project undertaken by either a public or private organization.

The Family Development Account Program (FDA) administers a state tax credit program that enables contributors to make donations to organizations that establish and run a Family Development or Individual Development Account project. The funds contributed are used to match low-income participants' savings accounts, enabling them to save funds to further their education, purchase or renovate a home or start a new business.

The Historic Preservation Tax Credit Program aids in the redevelopment of Missouri's commercial and residential historic structures. The tax credit is equal to 25 percent of the total costs and expenses incurred during the rehabilitation of a nationally designated historic property or a property located in a historic district.

The Community Development Corporation Program assists in the development of CDCs — nonprofit organizations that promote the industrial, economic, entrepreneurial, commercial and civic development of a community. The CDC program also offers a tax credit and grant program to encourage workforce development, housing development and many other CDC services.

The Neighborhood Preservation Program assists homeowners and developers that wish to renovate or construct residences for homeownership by providing state tax credits for housing renovation and or new construction. State statutes require that the program operate in certain qualifying and eligible areas of the state.

The Brownfield Redevelopment Program provides tax credits and grants for remediation of contaminated sites throughout Missouri. The program provides opportunities to redevelop once vibrant business and community sites that are currently underutilized or are vacant, thus bringing jobs and investment back into the area.

The Enhanced Enterprise Zone Program provides tax credits to new or expanding businesses in a Missouri Enhanced Enterprise Zone. The zones are specific geographic areas designated by local governments and certified by the Department of Economic Development. Zone designation is based on certain demographic criteria, the potential to create sustainable jobs in a targeted industry and a demonstrated impact on local industry cluster development.

The Missouri Downtown Economic Stimulus Act (MODESA) helps facilitate redevelopment of downtown areas and the creation of jobs by providing essential public infrastructure. A portion of the new state and local taxes created by the redevelopment can be diverted to fund eligible public infrastructure and related costs for a period of up to 25 years.

The Missouri Rural Economic Stimulus Act (MORESA) provides financial incentives for public infrastructure for the development of renewable fuel production facilities or eligible new generation processing entities creating new jobs and agricultural markets in rural Missouri. A portion of the new state and local taxes created by the production facility or processing entity can be diverted to fund eligible public infrastructure and related costs for a period of up to 25 years.

The State Supplemental Tax Increment Financing Program facilitates the redevelopment of blighted areas by providing essential public infrastructure. Municipalities may apply for a portion of the new state tax revenues created by the project to be disbursed to cover a financing gap for eligible redevelopment costs on eligible projects.

The Delta Regional Authority (DRA) is a federal-state partnership serving a 240-county/parish area in an eight-state region. Led by a Federal Co-Chairman and the governors of each participating state, the DRA is designed to remedy severe and chronic economic distress by stimulating economic development and fostering partnerships that will have a positive impact on the region's economy. The DRA focuses on basic infrastructure development and transportation improvements, business development and job training services. It serves the southeast portion of Missouri.

The Missouri Community Assessment and Planning Process (MOCAPP) is a comprehensive local planning tool designed to be self-driven. The tool assesses 37 subcategories of development and incorporates local participation in the process. Communities successfully completing phases of MOCAPP may gain recognition as a Missouri Star City, 5-Star City, or All Missouri Certified City.

The Downtown Revitalization and Economic Assistance for Missouri (DREAM) initiative was created by Governor Matt Blunt in 2006 to help small and mid-size Missouri communities navigate through the various forms of assistance available through the Missouri Department of Economic Development, the Missouri Finance Board and the Missouri Housing Development Commission. All cities chosen to take part receive thorough assistance and guidance to help implement their downtown revitalization goals. This initiative was implemented to help Missouri communities create jobs and enhance economic opportunities in addition to providing infrastructure assistance.

Quality Jobs

Created by Governor Matt Blunt in 2005, this initiative provides tax credits to qualifying businesses that create jobs that provide health care benefits for their employees and pay above the average county wage in the area they are seeking to expand or relocate.

The Missouri Community Service Commission (MCSC) is dedicated to creating opportunities to enable all citizens to serve their communities. The Missouri Community Service Commission connects Missourians of all ages and backgrounds in an effort to improve unmet community needs through direct and tangible service. The MCSC serves as the administrator for AmeriCorps State funding in Missouri by awarding monetary grants and providing technical assistance and support to its grantees. By collaborating with volunteer organizations and state agencies, and by continuing to effectively administer National Service initiatives, the MCSC makes it possible for Missourians to serve their communities.

The MCSC was established by an act of the Missouri Legislature in 1994 as a direct response to the National and Community Service Trust Act of 1993. Its fifteen to twenty-five members are appointed by the governor and meet quarterly. The Missouri Legislature passed a measure in 1998 allowing the commission to raise private contributions to assist in its work, thus enabling the commission to broaden its impact on the service and volunteer communities. The MCSC receives federal funding from the Corporation for National and Community Service (CNCS) to administer the AmeriCorps State and Education Awards programs in Missouri, making federal funds more responsive to state and local needs and providing greater assistance to educational, non-profit, secular and faith-based community organizations.

Overseeing the AmeriCorps program is the MCSC's primary responsibility. AmeriCorps is a national service network supported by the Corporation for National and Community Service (CNCS) of Washington, D.C. AmeriCorps members may serve full-time or less than full-time. The participants are often referred to as "Members." These members, through the MCSC and CNCS, are provided opportunities to serve their communities and build capacity to meet local needs.

AmeriCorps, the domestic Peace Corps, engages citizens of all ages in projects ranging from tutoring, youth mentoring, public safety, housing rehabilitation, health care, environmental issues and disaster relief. It gives communities and neighborhoods valuable human resources for addressing their most pressing civic issues, and gives the individual a way to serve their country by reaching out to others. Through AmeriCorps, over 100,000 Americans have been given the opportunity to increase their skills and earn money for college. In many cases, AmeriCorps has provided educational resources to individuals who would not have otherwise been able to obtain them. More than 3,500 Missourians have served their communities through AmeriCorps since the program's inception in 1994. Among their accomplishments, Missouri Members have tutored nearly 25,000 elementary and secondary students, with 80 percent improving at least one grade level, and contributed to significant reductions in urban crime rates through conflict resolution and other public safety programs. In 2005-2006, 245 AmeriCorps Members served 346,393 hours. They recruited 5,921 non-AmeriCorps volunteers who served a total of 140,237 hours.

Most not-for-profit organizations, local or state governments, school districts, or institutions of higher education may sponsor an AmeriCorps program. An AmeriCorps Member's term of service for one year on a full-time basis is 1,700 hours. Part-time can be 900, 675, 450, or 300 hours. Members may serve a maximum of two terms of service in AmeriCorps. At the completion of their service commitment, they receive a $4,725 education award (less for part-time service) that may be redeemed at a Title IV university, college, or trade school. Most AmeriCorps Members receive a living allowance while serving, although it varies with the type of program. In 2005-2006, a full-time living allowance will equal $11,100. The living allowance is optional for part-time Members.

invested almost $4 billion for rental housing developments, preservation of affordable rental housing, home mortgages, home improvement loans, grants to neighborhood housing groups, and other housing programs. MHDC functions as a bank, providing financing directly to borrowers or through a network of private lending institutions.

The commission makes loans to non-profit and limited-dividend sponsors of residential housing to provide affordable housing for underserved Missourians. The commission also makes funds available for the purchase of homes for first-time buyers at below-market interest rates. The funds for mortgage financing are provided through the sale of tax-exempt notes and bonds that the commission is authorized to issue.

Additionally, the commission is authorized to establish a revolving fund to make non-interest bearing loans to non-profit organizations to defray development costs of housing for low- and moderate-income persons. The commission provides advisory, consultative, training and educational services to non-profit housing organizations.

The commission also administers the federal Low Income Housing Tax Credit, Missouri Low Income Housing Tax Credit and the Affordable Housing Assistance Tax Credit; and operates a housing trust fund for very low-income Missourians to help prevent homelessness and provide emergency housing assistance.

The commission participates with the Department of Economic Development in preparing the state's Consolidated Plan for the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development.

The commission includes the governor, lieutenant governor, attorney general, treasurer and six persons appointed by the governor with the advice and consent of the Senate.

The Missouri Arts Council (MAC) – as public leader, partner and catalyst – is dedicated to broadening the appreciation and availability of the arts in the state and fostering the diversity, vitality and excellence of Missouri's communities, economy and cultural heritage.

Created by an act of the 73rd General Assembly, the Missouri Arts Council acts as the state's arts grant-making division, providing financial assistance to nonprofit organizations across the state to encourage and stimulate economic and community growth and development through the arts. A division of the Missouri Department of Economic Development, MAC is the second oldest state-funded arts agency in the country, providing vital support and leadership to bring the arts to all the people of Missouri. The Missouri Arts Council board consists of 15 volunteer citizens from across the state who are appointed by the Department of Economic Development. The governor designates a chair and vice chair. The board meets regularly to provide direction in policy making and programmatic oversight.

Through funds from the Missouri General Assembly and the National Endowment for the Arts, MAC provides funding for quality arts programming in both large and small communities. Funding areas include: discipline program assistance (music, dance, theater, literature, electronic media, visual arts, multidiscipline, festivals), community arts, folk arts, arts education, minority arts, touring, mini grants, technical assistance, endowment building and renovation/construction.

Applicants must demonstrate that they have sound administration and financial management skills and are capable of promoting the state-local partnership in arts activities to assure broad participation by both the applicant and the audience. Applicants include but are not limited to: community arts agencies, performing organizations, elementary and high schools, colleges, universities, museums, libraries, chambers of commerce, Community Betterment and Main Street Program organizations, and other civic and tourism organizations that present art to their communities.

MAC allocates every program dollar based on the recommendations of Missouri citizens who serve on advisory panels that meet annually to review applications from organizations seeking grants. The panel's recommendations are based on established criteria, including artistic excellence, education and outreach, community support, administrative ability and diversity of audience served.

The Missouri Cultural Trust Fund is an investment endowment fund created by the state legislature in 1993. Income from the trust is dedicated to supporting the arts in Missouri. A portion of the revenue generated by Missouri's nonresident professional athletes is the funding source for the Cultural Trust Fund.

The trust is administered by a board of trustees, consisting of the state treasurer, two members of the Senate appointed by the President Pro Tem of the Senate, two members of the House of Representatives appointed by the Speaker of the House, and the members of the Missouri Arts Council.

adapted to today's business and industry standards. The division is a national leader at pioneering workforce strategies in the new economy. This has involved reengineering services based on an adherence to eight values: customer focus, competitiveness, innovation, accountability, strategic alliances, forward thinking, excellence and adaptability. DWD's vision is to prepare a skilled workforce for quality, family-supporting jobs which will continue to contribute to a more competitive Missouri and ensure that Missouri continues to have the "greatest workforce in the world."

To businesses in the state, the Division of Workforce Development provides human resource assistance through Business Representatives, local Business Service Teams and an online employee search tool, GreatHires.org. In addition, the division administers federal tax credit programs offering businesses tax credits for hiring targeted individuals. The division also administers three state funded industry-training programs, which provide funding to help eligible companies train their workers for the purpose of creating or retaining jobs in Missouri.

For Missourians seeking career entry or advancement, the division administers several federal programs designed to provide skill building services, such as core services available to everyone, plus intensive and training services, which are available to those who meet eligibility criteria. In addition, any individual searching for employment can use the job search features in GreatHires.org.

Business and job-seeker services are delivered through 40+ Missouri One-Stop Career Centers located around the state. Businesses may use the career centers to seek or interview potential employees, test applicants' occupational skills or gain access to labor market information. Job seekers can use the career centers to learn about job openings, create a resume, conduct a job search, sign up for training or education or register for unemployment compensation.

Career Centers are governed by a flexible but coordinated system of oversight and support. Local Workforce Investment Boards and chief local elected officials in each of Missouri's 14 regions are responsible for the development of workforce policy and oversight of delivery of services, based on local economic factors. At the state level, the division monitors, evaluates and provides technical assistance to the regions. Each Career Center is managed by a Functional Manager, who oversees daily operations and coordination of customer services across all state and local programs.

For more innovative and efficient delivery of services, MissouriCareerSource.com was developed as a 'virtual' Career Center. The site con-

The division provides staff to the governor-appointed Missouri Training and Employment Council. The council develops policy and guidance for the workforce system of Missouri and makes recommendations to the governor as to the effectiveness of the system. It serves as the State Workforce Investment Board.

For over two decades, the Missouri Development Finance Board has provided development financing to assist infrastructure and economic development projects throughout Missouri. These projects have a high probability of success, but would not be feasible without the board's assistance.

Originally created by state statute in 1982, the board previously operated as the Missouri Industrial Development Board and the Missouri Economic Development Commission. In 1985, legislation was enacted which merged the commission into the board. In 1989, the board's name was changed to the Missouri Economic Development, Export and Infrastructure Board. Four years later, the legislature authorized the board's third and current name change.

The legislature, however, was not just making changes to the board's name, it also was progressively expanding the board's authority. These changes increased the board's ability to not only finance small businesses, but also to help fund public infrastructure improvements, cultural facilities and larger-scale business locations and expansions.

The board has welcomed these additional responsibilities and now administers several programs to facilitate economic development and to assist in business expansion and attraction in Missouri.

Bond Financing

The Missouri Development Finance Board is authorized to issue taxable or tax-exempt private activity industrial revenue bonds for the acquisition or renovation of fixed assets owned by businesses involved in manufacturing or the production of tangible products. Currently, the board is focusing primarily on redevelopment projects, particularly those that eliminate blight.

The board can issue tax-exempt cultural facility bonds to qualified charitable organizations for acquisition, construction, renovation and equipping cultural projects, such as museums or recreational facilities.

The board can issue tax-exempt public purpose infrastructure bonds to local governments that have projects that serve a public purpose, such as public buildings, jails, police and fire stations, and public infrastructure.

Missouri Tax Credit for Contributions

The Tax Credit for Contributions Program is a significant fundraising tool that uses private contributions to fund public purpose projects. The board is authorized to grant state tax credits equal to 50 percent of any monies contributed to the board by a taxpayer, in which the proceeds assist in offsetting the costs of qualified projects that benefit the general public.

Downtown Revitalization Program

Through the Downtown Revitalization Program, the board is authorized to grant state tax credits equal to 50 percent of any monies contributed to the board by a taxpayer. These funds are then used for public-purpose infrastructure improvements necessary to redevelop downtown areas in communities with populations under 50,000 individuals.

Missouri Infrastructure Loan Program

Through the Missouri Infrastructure Loan Program, the board can offer long-term, low-interest loans to local political subdivisions or

Business Use Incentives for Large-Scale Development (BUILD)

The board is authorized to issue and monitor BUILD Missouri Revenue Bonds, which provide a tool for the Department of Economic Development and MDFB to finance a portion of the eligible costs for businesses that seek to locate or expand in Missouri. Eligible projects must meet substantial new job, capital investment and general company eligibility requirements.

City/State Partners Program

The City/State Partners Program is a joint effort between the Export Import (Ex-Im) Bank of the United States and state and local entities around the country. The program aims to provide financing services to small- and medium-sized U.S. companies that are in need of financing to start exporting their products and services.

Borrowers participating in the board's programs are responsible for debt repayment. The state of Missouri does not incur any costs, nor does it bear any obligation for retiring loans, bonds or notes.

Membership on the board is composed of eight private Missouri residents who are appointed by the governor with the advice and consent of the Senate to four-year terms, the lieutenant governor and directors of the departments of Economic Development, Agriculture and Natural Resources. Seven members constitute a quorum. Not more than five appointed members may be of the same political party. Appointed members serve staggered terms to provide continuity and enhance program development.

Tourism continues to rank as one of the most important revenue and job producing industries in Missouri, creating more than 245,000 jobs in fiscal year 2004. With an economic impact of approximately $13.4 billion and $627 million in state tax revenue, tourism is a dynamic component of economic development, providing one of every 14 Missouri jobs. There were 37.7 million visitors to the Show-Me State in the last fiscal year—an all-time record!

The 74th General Assembly recognized the importance of tourism 38 years ago with the creation of the Missouri Tourism Commission in 1967. In 1997, the Division of Tourism unveiled a new direction for tourism by creating a new state logo and slogan promoting Missouri's river heritage. Now in its ninth year, the division of tourism's advertising slogan, "Where the rivers run," continues as a theme in Missouri's marketing efforts. Print and broadcast advertising focus on the experiences that Missouri offers and tourists' perceptions of Missouri as a scenic destination with cultural, historical and family activities.

In 1993, HB 188 was signed into law as Section 620.467, RSMo. This legislation included a performance-based funding formula for the Missouri Division of Tourism.

Tourism Commission

The commission consists of ten members: the lieutenant governor; two members of the Senate of different political parties appointed by the president pro tem of the Senate; two members of the House of Representatives of different political parties appointed by the speaker of the House; and five other persons appointed by the governor, which may include, but are not limited to, persons engaged in tourist-oriented operations. No more than three of the governor's appointees shall be of the same political party.

Commission members appointed by the governor serve staggered four-year terms and may be reappointed at the end of their terms. All serve without compensation, but are reimbursed for necessary expenses incurred in the performance of their duties.

The commission elects a chairman and meets at least four times in a calendar year at the call of the chairman to determine all matters relating to the tourism policies of the state of Missouri and the administration of the Division of Tourism.

The commission reports to each regular session of the General Assembly the results of its marketing program and any recommendations for legislation in the field of tourism promotion.

The budget of the Division of Tourism is contained within the annual submittal of the Department of Economic Development to the Missouri General Assembly for approval.

The Tourism Commission employs a director of the Division of Tourism, qualified by education and experience in public administration with a background in the use of the various news media. The director employs a staff of professional, technical and clerical personnel.

Activities and Plans

Division activities focus on five research-based, strategically planned areas:

- Communications efforts include public and media relations, www.VisitMO.com, photographic services and publications;
- Cooperative marketing matches state funds with private-sector tourism dollars for destination promotion;
- Domestic marketing includes advertising, trade shows, meetings/convention marketing and sports marketing, special promotions and events;

- International efforts are targeted in Canada and the United Kingdom in the areas of trade relations, public relations, product development and advertising; and
- Special markets efforts focus on reaching niche audiences, such as African-American tourists; agritourism, cultural tourists; and tour and travel, which includes group tour and group leader familiarization tours, advertising and marketplaces.

Research plays a vital role in the effectiveness of the division's efforts to increase tourism spending and stimulate economic and market-share growth at the state and local level. It not only measures past efforts, but also can give important insight to how and where, when and to whom the state should direct promotional efforts to increase its market share of visitors and expenditures. Research projects are conducted on a continual basis to determine the size, growth and impact of these marketing efforts.

Annually, the division works with research firms to assess subjects, including the effect of travel spending on the state's economy, tax revenue derived from travel spending and employment generated through tourism.

Most activities are in the area of advertising and promotion. Among the promotional tools are brochures, highlighted by the annual Missouri Vacation Planner. This publication is distributed free to the public. News releases and a monthly newsletter, The Tourism Monitor, also are prepared for the news media and others interested in Missouri tourism. The division has an Internet presence through its web site, which includes destination and attraction information, as well as news and other promotional programs.

Through a paid advertising program, the division promotes Missouri's vacation opportunities. The advertising has the goal of creating a positive image of Missouri and generating travel to the state. Mailing of state information in response to requests is another major part of the division's responsibilities.

In 1993, the Missouri Division of Tourism initiated the Cooperative Marketing Program, a 50/50 matching funds reimbursement program, designed to extend the division's marketing resources through participation in strategic marketing partnerships, support local performance-driven projects designed to increase tourism, and to provide incentive and opportunity for marketing growth and improvement at the destination level. Qualified professional, nonprofit, destination-marketing organizations throughout Missouri participate regularly in this program. The first year, fiscal year 1995, the program received a budget of $1 million and funded more than 50 marketing organizations. Each year, the division consistently dedicates a significant portion of its marketing budget to the Cooperative Marketing Program. The fiscal year 2004 program awarded just over $3 million in matching funds for 64 projects resulting in total project expenditures of more than $6.6 million, and gross impressions of $1.1 billion.

Much of the division's work is designed to meet the changing trends in the travel/tourism industry. For the seventh fiscal year, the Division of Tourism will have specifically targeted Missouri's tourism message to audiences in the African-American market. The division, through its marketing partners, has expanded its marketing campaign to help our tourism industry grow in new areas. This initiative also includes encouraging close-to-home travel for the estimated 80 million Americans who live within a day's drive of Missouri. The division cooperates with tour packagers and group travel promoters to develop efficient, cost-saving travel opportunities for those who prefer pre-planned vacations.

For travelers entering Missouri, the division operates six Official State Welcome Centers. The six welcome centers are located at key entry points to the state at the following locations:

- Joplin Welcome Center—Interstate 44 west of Joplin
- St. Louis Welcome Center—Interstate 270 and Riverview Drive in St. Louis
- New Madrid Welcome Center—Interstate 55 south of New Madrid
- The Hardin C. Cox Welcome Center at Rock Port—Interstate 29 near Rock Port
- Hannibal Welcome Center—Highway 61 at Hannibal
- Kansas City Welcome Center—Interstate 70 entering Kansas City

Close relationships with others in the travel-promotion field are vital. The division maintains these relationships through memberships, including the Travel Industry Association of America, International Visit USA Committees, National Tour Association, American Bus Association and other travel associations.

The division has won awards in its campaigns to reach international markets, including Canada and the United Kingdom. Much of this effort is through regional marketing organizations, such as Mississippi River Country USA. The division has a market representative in the United Kingdom to oversee the growth of this important market. Further promotional efforts are coordinated with the Department of Economic Development's international offices.

The division works closely with Missouri communities, area promotion groups and federal agencies, including the Missouri Travel Council, Missouri Association of Convention and Visitors Bureaus, Missouri Arts Council, state and national parks, the Missouri Department of Conservation, U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, National Forest Service and U.S. Department of Commerce.

Regulatory Groups

Through its regulatory agencies, the Department of Economic Development works to safeguard the public interest by ensuring safe and sound financial institutions, just and reasonable utility rates and ethical services by licensed professionals. These agencies include the Office of the Public Counsel and the Missouri Public Service Commission.

Office of the Public Counsel

*Governor Office Bldg.

www.mo-opc.org / E-mail: mopco@ded.mo.gov*

The Office of the Public Counsel is Missouri's consumer advocate in the area of utility regulation. The Public Counsel must be an attorney licensed to practice in Missouri and is appointed by the director of the Department of Economic Development.

The Office of the Public Counsel was established in 1974 as an independent agency to represent the interests of utility customers in proceedings before and appeals from the Missouri Public Service Commission (PSC) and the courts. The PSC regulates the rates and services of investor-owned electric, natural gas, telephone, water, sewer and steam heat utilities, and also regulates manufactured housing. The Public Counsel's participation in PSC cases and its power to appeal PSC decisions has resulted in important victories for utility consumers.

While keeping abreast of the rapid changes that are currently occurring in the utility sector, the Office of the Public Counsel advocates for high quality utility services at affordable rates. When large industrial and commercial utility customers retain counsel to represent their particular interests before the PSC, the Office of the Public Counsel focuses its representation on residential and small business customers who otherwise would not have their point of view presented or their interests protected. The Public Counsel's representation gives these consumers an essential voice in the regulation of life sustaining public utility services.

Dramatic changes in federal and state policy have introduced some competition into the local telephone market, and may significantly impact Missouri's electric industry. The Office of the Public Counsel advocates for such changes only when it appears that consumers would benefit. If such changes occur, the Office of the Public Counsel will continue its traditional role in the remaining monopoly utility markets, but will also focus its efforts on the emerging competitive areas to advocate regulatory structures that would facilitate a transition to truly effective competition. The Public Counsel educates and communicates with consumers about their rights and responsibilities. These efforts are especially important to guard against consumer fraud.

LEWIS R. MILLS JR.
Public Counsel, Office of the Public Counsel

The office consists of attorneys, technical experts and an administrative staff. The attorneys represent the public interest in proceedings before the PSC, the state and federal courts, as well as before the Federal Communications Commission and Federal Energy Regulatory Commission. Accountants, economists, financial analysts and engineers are the backbone of the technical staff. These experts offer the Public Counsel's testimony on the reasonableness, feasibility and affordability of utility proposals and practices.

The Public Counsel attempts to focus on the most significant cases for utility consumers and cases, which have broad public policy effects. The office also consults and works with other public utility consumer advocates in the other states to keep current on issues vital to the consumer and to address national and regional issues of interest to Missouri consumers.

Missouri Public Service Commission

The Missouri Public Service Commission is charged with the statutory responsibility of ensuring that public utility consumers receive safe and adequate services at just and reasonable rates that will provide the utility companies' shareholders the opportunity to earn a reasonable return on their investment.

The commission consists of five commissioners who are appointed by the governor to six-year terms with the advice and consent of the Missouri Senate. The terms are staggered so that no more than two terms expire in any one year. The governor designates one member as chair, who serves in that capacity at the pleasure of the governor.

The commission regulates utility rates, service and safety for investor-owned electric, gas, telecommunications, sewer and water companies. The commission also monitors the construction of manufactured homes to ensure compliance with state and federal law. While the rates charged by rural electric cooperatives and municipally-owned utilities are determined by their respective governing bodies, the commission has jurisdiction regarding matters of safety over rural electric cooperatives and municipally-operated electric and natural gas systems. Similarly, the commission does not have jurisdiction over the basic service rates for telephone cooperatives, but regulates other aspects of their operations. The commission also oversees service territory issues involving investor-owned electric utilities, rural electric cooperatives and municipally-owned electric utilities, as well as those involving privately-owned water and sewer utilities and public water supply districts.

The commission has a staff of professional accountants, engineers, economists, attorneys, financial analysts and management specialists that evaluate utility requests for commission approval. These requests deal with matters such as tariff changes regarding rates and business operations, financing proposals, business reorganizations, asset transfers and mergers. The staff will provide the results of its evaluation and recommend actions that satisfy the agency's statutory requirements.

The staff conduct routine and special investigations to ensure compliance with commission statutes, rules and orders, including standards for safety and quality of service. Staff will initiate or implement actions to enforce these laws when necessary. Enforcement actions for injunctive relief or monetary penalties are prosecuted in state court by the commission's general counsel.

The traditional rate case is the process through which the commission ultimately determines what customers will pay for their utility services. The process is commenced in one of two ways: a utility company files a tariff for authority to change its rates, or a complaint is filed by the commission, the PSC staff, the Office of Public Counsel or others challenging the reasonableness of the utility's rates. Generally, a tariff filing seeks a rate increase while a complaint filing seeks a rate reduction.

The general public is formally represented before the commission by the Office of the Public Counsel, which is a separate state agency under the Department of Economic Development.

Under both the tariff method and the complaint case method, the commission normally will conduct hearings for the purpose of addressing the reasonableness of the proposed tariff or the reasonableness of the rates being challenged. In most tariff filing cases, by law, the commission has up to 11 months from the time a tariff is filed to reach its decision, or the rates will go into effect as filed. Many of these cases are resolved in accord with a settlement between the parties and processed in a shorter timeframe.

The commission staff conduct an independent, on-site investigation of the company's books and records to provide the commission with a recommendation as to what increase or decrease, if any, should be ordered. This investigation can take from two weeks to several months and results in the pre-filing of written testimony. Other parties, such as the Office of the Public Counsel, consumer groups, commercial and industrial interests and municipalities are given an opportunity to provide written testimony.

In addition to holding formal evidentiary hearings, the commission may hold local public hearings, which allow customers to express their views on the proposed increase or the utility's service.

Once the formal hearing is completed, the commission reviews the evidence submitted, deliberates and then issues a decision. That decision is subject to appeal to the courts.

The commission is also engaged in a variety of activities reflecting changes in state and federal law regarding the telecommunications and energy sectors of the utility industry. As federal regulators make decisions which directly affect Missouri utility consumers, the commission participates in proceedings before the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission (FERC) and the Federal Communications Commission (FCC). Commissioners and staff members have testified on numerous occasions before these agencies and the commission has taken appeals from decisions adverse to Missouri ratepayers to the federal courts.

Regular meetings of the commission are held on Tuesdays and Thursdays. As with other state agencies, commission meetings are subject to the state's open meetings law.

The Data Center keeps a record of all filings and proceedings of the commission. These records are available for public inspection from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m., Monday through Friday, except legal holidays. Many of these records are also available electronically at www.psc.mo.gov.

A consumer who has questions about specific matters relating to utility service should first call the utility company. If the consumer is not satisfied with the company response, he or she may call the commission's consumer services department. Consumers may also file formal written complaints. The commission's main consumer services office is located in Jefferson City, and there is also a branch office located in the St. Louis area. The commission's toll-free hotline number for complaints is 1-800-392-4211.

Under the commission's procedure, each informal complaint is assigned a specialist who acts as an intermediary between the consumer and the utility in an attempt to resolve the complaint. Through investigations of consumer com-

State Board of Education

Under the Missouri Constitution (Article IX), the State Board of Education has general authority for "supervision of instruction in the public schools." Today, this responsibility includes the oversight of educational programs and services that serve Missourians from preschool through the adult levels.

The State Board of Education is composed of eight lay citizens, appointed by the governor and confirmed by the Senate to serve eight-year terms. The terms are staggered so that one term expires each year. No more than four members may belong to the same political party. No more than one member of the board may live in the same county or congressional district.

The board appoints the commissioner of education to serve as its chief executive officer and as director of the Department of Elementary and Secondary Education. The board is required by law to meet at least twice a year in Jefferson City. Generally, though, the board meets for two days each month.

The primary role of the board is to provide leadership and advocacy for the improvement of Missouri's public education system. The board also establishes policies and regulations needed to carry out state and federal laws related to public education. The board's major duties include:

- Setting accreditation standards for local school districts through the Missouri School Improvement Program (MSIP). The accreditation standards define basic requirements for curriculum, student performance, staffing, high school graduation and other areas of school operations.

- Establishing "academic performance standards" for the public schools and designing an assessment system to measure students' learning, as required by state law.
- Setting education and certification requirements for all professional personnel (teachers, administrators, librarians, counselors, etc.) in public schools.
- Approving educator-preparation programs in the state's community colleges and four-year institutions, both public and private.
- Establishing regulations and administrative requirements for the distribution of state and federal funds to school districts and other agencies.
- Monitoring school districts' compliance with state and federal laws and regulations. This includes the administration of federally supported programs in the areas of special education, career-technical education and child nutrition (the school lunch and breakfast programs).
- Administering the Missouri School for the Blind (St. Louis), the Missouri School for the Deaf (Fulton) and the system of State Schools for Severely Handicapped.
- Administering vocational rehabilitation services for adult citizens with disabilities. (See Division of Vocational Rehabilitation.)

Department of Elementary and Secondary Education

Article IX of the Missouri Constitution reads, in part: "A general diffusion of knowledge and intelligence being essential to the preservation of the rights and liberties of the people, the General Assembly shall establish and maintain free public schools for the gratuitous instruction of all persons in this state within ages not in excess of twenty-one years as prescribed by law."

To help carry out this mandate the legislature first established a state office of education, with an elected state superintendent, in 1839. The office went through several transformations until the current constitution, adopted in 1945, established the State Board of Education in its present form and created a Department of Education, headed by an appointed commissioner of education.

The Department of Elementary and Secondary Education (DESE) was reorganized and established in its present form by the Omnibus State Reorganization Act of 1974.

The department is primarily a service agency that works with educators, legislators, government agencies, community leaders and citizens to maintain a strong public education system. Through its statewide school-improvement initiatives and its regulatory functions, the department strives to assure that all citizens have access to high-quality public education.

The Department of Elementary and Secondary Education is the administrative arm of the State Board of Education. In addition to the commissioner of education, the senior staff of the department consists of one deputy commissioner, one associate commissioner and five assistant commissioners. The associate and assistant commissioners each head one of the department's six main divisions.

Office of the Director

The governor, with the advice and consent of the Senate, appoints the director of the Department of Health and Senior Services. Under the director of health and senior services, the department is functionally organized into four divisions: Administration; Community and Public Health; Senior and Disability Services; and Regulation and Licensure.

The director is the chief liaison with other governmental agencies and private organizations that conduct or sponsor programs that relate to health and senior services in Missouri. A deputy director assists the director and is responsible for management of the department and administration of its programs and services.

The director's office also oversees the offices of public information, human resources, general counsel, and governmental policy and legislation.

The Division of Administration provides a wide array of critical support services that assist the programmatic divisions in achieving their goals. In addition to the division director's office, the division is composed of three bureaus—budget services and analysis, financial services and general services. These units carry out the following responsibilities.

The Division of Community and Public Health coordinates public health resources to protect and promote the public's health and to prevent diseases in Missouri. The programs in this division provide services to all of the state's population, including all income levels and across the life span, from infants to the elderly. In addition, the division provides support to the programs through centers and offices that focus on specific issues and populations, including women's health, minority health, epidemiology, local public health systems, access to care and public health emergency response.

The State Public Health Laboratory (SPHL) each year receives approximately a half million samples through the central laboratory, its branch laboratory in Poplar Bluff, and the State Tuberculosis Laboratory in Mt. Vernon and provides over three million analyses in those three facilities. The laboratory provides testing services in the fields of chemistry, environmental bacteriology, microbiology, immunology, newborn screening, tuberculosis and virology.

In addition to the programs of the department, the laboratory performs tests in support of activities of the state departments of Corrections, Mental Health, Natural Resources, Agriculture and local, state and federal law enforcement agencies.

The chemistry unit conducts chemical analyses of water and other environmental samples to determine the presence of toxic chemicals or substances. It also performs blood lead testing and provides analyses to support investigations of suspected acts of terrorism where poisons or other toxic substances may have been used.

The environmental bacteriology unit tests public and private water supplies for the presence of E. coli and coliform bacteria, and food suspected of causing disease outbreaks (food poisoning) that are accidental or intentional in nature.

The newborn screening unit examines blood samples from newborn babies to find those who need treatment for metabolic diseases such as phenylketonuria (PKU), hypothyroidism, galactosemia, sickle cell disease and an expanded panel of conditions.

The microbiology unit provides reference services for the identification of bacteria and parasitic organisms, especially those which pose a threat to public health, i.e., toxigenic E. coli, salmonella and shigella, the causative agents of whooping cough, tularemia, plague, anthrax, and dysentery. This unit provides laboratory support to law enforcement and public health in the investigation of suspected acts of bioterrorism.

The immunology unit performs tests to help diagnose syphilis and HIV, and conducts testing for gonorrhea and chlamydia.

The virology unit examines clinical specimens to detect influenza, West Nile virus and SARS, and performs blood tests for measles, rubella, hepatitis and other viral diseases that threaten public health, and examines animals for rabies. This unit, along with the microbiology and environmental bacteriology units, also provides the laboratory support for the investigation of suspected acts of bioterrorism.

The State Tuberculosis Laboratory conducts diagnostic tests on clinical specimens for the presence of the causative agent of tuberculosis in support of the state's TB prevention program.

It also serves as a reference center for the state and region for identifying other mycobacterial infections.

Working in conjunction with the scientific units of the laboratory are two support units – administrative services and central services. The administrative services unit supports the fiscal management and budget preparation for the SPHL, collects fees paid for laboratory services, completes the administrative part of the procurement process and performs the administrative activities related to personnel management. The central services unit prepares glassware, culture media and reagents for use in the various scientific units, oversees the statewide courier contracts, and performs all shipping and receiving functions for the laboratory including the mailing of reports.

The SPHL also has an office for Emergency Response, Outreach and Training that is responsible for coordinating a statewide laboratory response to emergencies, including acts of bioterrorism, and assuring that the SPHL's response is coordinated with the state and national response to those acts. This office also provides valuable training for hospital and private laboratories to ensure that infectious and other hazardous material is transported according to federal guidelines, as well as courses in laboratory safety and bacterial identification.

The Center for Emergency Response and Terrorism is responsible for coordinating regional and state planning for public health emergencies and disasters, including biological, chemical and nuclear terrorism. Through partnerships with hospitals and other health care organizations, local entities including government, law enforcement agencies and other partners, the center works to assure systems are in place to protect the health of Missourians during a public health emergency. The Department Situation Room (DSR) serves as the coordination point for all Department of Health and Senior Services' responses to emergencies, both natural and deliberate. It operates at a non-threat level 24 hours a day, seven days a week, and can be staffed and function as a command and control center in the event of an emergency. The DSR monitors the day-to-day emergency preparedness of the public health system and allied systems. The DSR also serves as part of the Health Alert Network to rapidly receive and disperse communications among public health and healthcare partners at the local, regional, state and federal levels, and assign and track follow-up activities. The DSR hotline, 1-800-392-0272, is the contact point for the general public and public health partners. Missouri is taking steps at the state and local level to increase preparedness for and respond to bioterrorism, outbreaks of infectious disease, and public health threats and emergencies. These efforts focus on: assessment and planning, education and training, disease reporting, hospital and laboratory surveillance, laboratory capacity, communications technology, public information and media relations, and geographic information systems or GIS. Local public health agencies and regional response planners are working to develop integrated emergency regional response and terrorism plans that will coordinate with the state's emergency response plan. The center is working closely with hospitals to assess their needs and complete preparedness planning on the regional level.

The Center for Local Public Health Services supports efforts that protect and improve the health of Missouri citizens and communities by promoting population-based state policies, developing resources and programs, seeking health equity and supporting effective local public health practice and systems. The center promotes a strong local public health system by defining and supporting the implementation of core public health functions throughout the state. The center facilitates development of professional standards and continuous learning opportunities for the local public health workforce. It provides leadership and technical assistance to local public health agencies and their community partners to improve their services through strategic planning, continuous quality improvement and other initiatives. The center works closely with multiple partners and stakeholders to develop and communicate a common vision and direction for public health in Missouri. The center works with policymakers and the public to improve understanding of the importance of public health and the responsibility of government to assure that a strong public health system is in place.

Additionally, the center coordinates the Maternal and Child Health Coordinated Systems that distribute federal block grant funds to local public health agencies to maintain and improve the health status of maternal and child populations in Missouri. This is done by establishing and maintaining an integrated service coordination system capable of addressing targeted maternal and child health issues. Each contractor has a contractual obligation to utilize evidence-based interventions to address identified maternal and child health priority indicators within its jurisdiction.

The Office of Community and Public Health Emergency Coordination assures a prompt, efficient and health-protective response to disasters and emergencies impacting the citizens of the state. The office demonstrates direction and control pertaining to policy development, planning, response and program implementation. The office coordinates emergency and disaster pre-

Section for Healthy Families and Youth

The Section for Healthy Families and Youth promotes optimal health by providing leadership to both the public and private sectors in assessing health care needs of families and communities and assuring that the health system responds appropriately. This section is also responsible for developing policy, planning systems of care and designing, implementing and evaluating programs to meet the health care needs of families in the state. The primary units are the Bureau of Genetics and Healthy Childhood and the Bureau of Special Health Care Needs.

The Bureau of Genetics and Healthy Childhood promotes and protects the health and safety of individuals and families based on their unique conditions, needs and situations, utilizing multiple programs within the bureau. The bureau achieves this by implementing prevention and intervention strategies to optimize an individual's health and environment from pre-pregnancy through adulthood. Related activities of the bureau encompass public and professional education, screening and follow-up services, surveillance, needs assessment and resource identification and/or development. The bureau accomplishes its mission in collaboration with families, health care providers and other community, state and national partners.

The Genetics Services Program expands existing programs and develops new ones, where needed, to reduce the morbidity and mortality associated with genetic disorders. Information is provided to the public and medical professionals regarding genetic disorders and the availability of genetic services in Missouri. A referral network is maintained for individuals in need of diagnostic services, treatment, counseling and other genetic-related services.

The Adult Genetics Program provides limited assistance with health care costs for Missouri adults (21 years of age and older) with cystic fibrosis, hemophilia and sickle cell disease. The program provides applicants meeting financial and medical guidelines with limited financial assistance for inpatient and outpatient services, medication and blood factor products, emergency care and home equipment. Service coordination is provided for those meeting the medical eligibility.

The Metabolic Formula Distribution Program provides prescribed dietary formula to individuals with covered metabolic disorders such as phenylketonuria (PKU) or maple syrup urine disease. Use of the dietary formula combined with a medically supervised diet eliminates or reduces the adverse consequences of the disorders.

The Sickle Cell Anemia Program provides information to the public and health professionals about sickle cell disease and sickle cell trait, and promotes and provides screening, testing, referral, education, counseling and follow-up services for Missouri citizens at risk for sickle cell disease.

The Newborn Health Program promotes healthy birth outcomes and healthy infants by increasing awareness of recommended "best" practices through educational activities and materials. Messages and activities promote the importance of preconception care; early entry into prenatal care; use of folic acid to prevent birth defects; avoidance of smoking, alcohol and other drugs; breastfeeding; placing babies on their backs to sleep; and other healthy behaviors. The program targets all women of childbearing age, infants and children.

The Newborn Blood Spot Screening Program provides early identification and follow-up of phenylketonuria (PKU), galactosemia, congenital hypothyroidism, congenital adrenal hyperplasia, hemoglobinopathies, organic acid disorders, fatty acid oxidation disorders, amino acid disorders and cystic fibrosis that suggest the presence of disease in affected but asymptomatic infants. In addition, infants found to be positive are referred to a system of health care.

The Newborn Hearing Screening Program seeks to screen all babies before three months of age, and, for those with hearing loss, refer them to the First Steps Program for appropriate services by six months of age. Since 2002, Missouri state law requires all babies born in Missouri to have their hearing tested before discharge from the hospital.

The Folic Acid Program endeavors to increase the number of Missourians who are aware of the importance of folic acid intake in helping to prevent certain birth defects, diseases and health conditions.

The Injury Prevention Program collaborates with other agencies addressing injury causes, and supports the collection and analysis of injury data. It also contracts with each of the local Safe Kids Coalitions located throughout the state to conduct primary injury prevention interventions in communities. The injury prevention program also contracts to conduct the Think First Missouri Educational Program that provides primary prevention activities addressing the prevention of head and spinal cord injury.

The SAFE-CARE Network is composed of physicians and nurse practitioners who are trained to provide comprehensive, state-of-the-art medical evaluations to alleged victims of child sexual assault. The program responds to the need for a coordinated, effective response to child sexual assault and utilizes electronic linkages between SAFE-CARE Network providers to improve medical consultation in rural and underserved areas.

Sexual Assault Victim Services (SAV) assists victims of sexual assault and sexual abuse in recovering from the trauma of sexual assault. SAV also seeks to prevent secondary victimization by providing direct services to victims of sexual assault and sexual abuse. Specific services provided are individual counseling, support groups, face-to-face interaction and advocacy.

The Rape Prevention and Services to Victims Program contracts with local agencies to provide services for preventing sexual assault and sexual abuse. Specialized programs provide sexual assault prevention education for children and adults, and professional training for those working in the field.

The Medical Examination for Victims of Rape Program provides reimbursement for medical examinations for victims of rape when performed for the purpose of gathering evidence for prosecution and when the cost is not covered by other sources (insurance, Medicaid or Medicare) with the following conditions:

- Victim consents in writing to the examination.
- Report is made on a form approved by the attorney general.
- Report is filed with the prosecuting attorney in the county where the rape occurred.

The Fetal and Infant Mortality Review analyzes infant and fetal death records to develop recommendations for community change, if appropriate, to reduce fetal and infant mortality. The communities then determine and implement interventions based upon recommendations received that may improve outcomes for future families.

The Pregnancy Associated Mortality Review monitors death certificates, relevant birth or fetal death certifications and medical records for data abstraction to determine if the deaths were preventable. Data is analyzed for association of variables and trends.

The Alcohol, Tobacco, and Other Drug Prevention and Awareness (ATOD P&A) Program targets the prevention and/or reduction of the incidence of alcohol, tobacco and other drugs in the preconceptional and prenatal periods. To assure clinician implementation of a comprehensive tobacco cessation program with women of reproductive age, particularly pregnant women, the Missouri Model for Brief Smoking Cessation training for health care providers is being offered at various statewide locations.

The Missouri Fetal Alcohol Syndrome Rural Awareness and Prevention Project is a collaborative effort between state government, academic researchers, service providers and medical professionals that are working together to reduce the number of pregnancies exposed to alcohol and ultimately reduce the number of children diagnosed with Fetal Alcohol Syndrome.

The Adolescent Health Program addresses various adolescent, teen and young adult issues of Missourians age 10 to 24 years old. The program provides consultation, education, technical assistance and resources for health professionals, school personnel, parents, adolescents, state and community organizations to improve the health of adolescents. The Council for Adolescent and School Health (CASH) assists the department in facilitation collaboration to promote a coordinated family, community and school approach to achieve healthy adolescent development. In addition, federal abstinence grant funding supports contracts with local school, community and faith-based organizations to implement abstinence education and youth development programs for adolescents and educational programs for parents and family members.

The Building Blocks Program is an evidence-based prenatal and early childhood nurse home visiting program based on the David Olds' Model (Nurse Family Partnership). Participants in the program are low income, first-time mothers who enter the program prior to the 28th week of pregnancy. Nurse home visitors work with the women and their families in their homes during pregnancy and the first two years of the child's life to improve pregnancy outcomes, child health and development, and family economic self-sufficiency.

The Missouri Community-Based Home Visiting Program utilizes the Families at Risk model developed by the University of Missouri's Sinclair School of Nursing in collaboration with the Department of Health and Senior Services. The model utilizes nurses and paraprofessionals and provides intensive sustained visits and community services over a long period (two to three years), with a small number of families. The goals of this program are to increase healthy pregnancies and positive birth outcomes and decrease child abuse and neglect through home-based services.

The School Health Program provides contracts to public school districts and local public health agencies to establish or expand population-based health services for school-age children in defined geographic areas. The program focus is on increasing access to primary and preventive health care. An effort is made to assure an adequate nurse to student ratio. Technical assistance and consultation are available. The program is a collaborative effort of Missouri's Departments of Health and Senior Services, Elementary and Secondary Education and Social Services.

The Bureau of Special Health Care Needs utilizes a combination of state and federal funds to provide services for children and adults with disabilities, chronic illnesses and birth defects. Services include assessment, treatment and service coordination.

The activities of the bureau are focused around national performance measures and the six key systems outcomes of the Division of Services for Children with Special Health Needs (DSCSHN), Maternal and Child Health Bureau (MCHB), Health Resources and Services Administration (HRSA), and the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services (DHHS). Focus areas include:

- families of individuals with special health care needs will partner in decision making at all levels and will be satisfied with the services they receive.
- individuals with special health care needs will receive coordinated, ongoing, comprehensive care within a medical home.
- families of individuals with special health care needs will have adequate private and/or public insurance to pay for the services they need.
- individuals will be screened early and continuously for special health care needs.
- community-based systems will be organized so families can use them easily.
- youth with special health care needs will receive the services necessary to make transitions to all aspects of adult life, including health care, education and independence.

The Children with Special Health Care Needs/Hope Program, referred in Missouri State Statute as "Crippled Children's Service (CCS)," focuses on early identification of children with special needs, funding for preventive, diagnostic and treatment services, and provision of service coordination activities for families. The program provides assistance for children under the age of 21 and has two components: service coordination and paid medical services. Service coordination is provided statewide, through regional contracts, and is available free of charge regardless of financial status. Service coordination is a collaborative process that assists an individual to assess their needs and resources, and develop a plan to address those needs. Paid medical services are available to those who meet medical guidelines, whose income is 185 percent of Federal Poverty Guidelines or lower, and when there are no other payers for these services.

Healthy Children and Youth-Administrative Case Management provides preventive health services to children under the age of 21 who are enrolled in Medicaid. The objectives of this program are improved access to health services, increased frequency of health screenings, improved provider participation in Medicaid and expansion of diagnostic and treatment services. Public health nurses, located throughout the state, provide service coordination and authorization for medically necessary services. Service coordination includes assessment through home visits and links to services and resources that enable participants to remain safely in their homes with their families. Approved services may include in-home personal care, in-home nursing care, case management and skilled nursing visits.

The Physical Disabilities Waiver Program provides home and community-based services to individuals with serious and complex medical needs who have reached the age of 21 and are no longer eligible for home care services available through the Healthy Children and Youth Program in Missouri. This waiver is designed to provide a cost-effective alternative to placement in an intermediate care facility for the mentally handicapped/developmentally delayed. Public health nurses, located throughout the state, provide service coordination and authorization for medically necessary services. Service coordination includes assessment through home visits, and links to services and resources that enable participants to remain safely in their homes with their families. Approved services may include in-home personal care, in-home nursing care and medical supplies.

The Adult Head Injury Program provides assistance in locating, coordinating and purchasing rehabilitation and psychological services for individuals 21 years of age and older who have survived a traumatic brain injury, which is defined as "a sudden insult or damage to the brain or its coverings, not of a degenerative nature." Service coordination is available free of charge, regardless of financial status of the individual. Service coordination is a collaborative process that assists an individual to assess their needs and resources, and develop a plan to address those needs. Rehabilitation services are available statewide to survivors whose income is 185 percent of poverty or lower, and when there are no other payers for these services. The Head Injury Advisory Council provides information, advice and expertise to the department on head injuries and rehabilitation of people affected by traumatic head injuries. The council also studies current prevention, treatment and rehabilitation technologies; advises the department on appropriate distribution of resources to provide specialized services to people with traumatic head injuries; and recommends methods to improve the state's delivery of service.

Section for Chronic Disease Prevention and Nutrition Services

The Section for Chronic Disease Prevention and Nutrition Services provides leadership to both the public and private sectors in assessing the health care needs of families and communities and in assuring that the health system responds appropriately. The section also develops policy, plans systems of care and designs, implements and evaluates programs to meet the health care needs of families in Missouri.

The section focuses on primary prevention strategies to address optimum health across the lifespan. Paralleling these primary prevention strategies are services and programs to assist individuals who have already developed a disease or disability, as well as promotion of screenings and early intervention strategies to lessen the impact of disease and disability. The section provides leadership and coordination for efforts to combat the major causes of illness, disability and premature death in Missouri.

The Chronic Disease Primary Prevention Program (CDPP) supports local public health agencies to implement evidence-based approaches and best practices to reduce the primary risk factors that cause chronic diseases – tobacco use and exposure to secondhand smoke, inactivity and unhealthy eating. Emphasis is placed on making environmental, policy and system changes to support healthy behaviors at schools, worksites and communities by collaborating with key partners. The Organ Donor Program maintains a statewide confidential registry of potential donors and collaborates with partners to provide education. The program is funded by donations of one dollar received by the driver's license offices throughout the state at the time an individual makes application for a driver's license or identification card or when they apply for a motorized vehicle plate. In addition, funds from special license plate contributions help support the program and registry. An advisory committee assists with educational efforts, recommends priorities, and reports annually to the governor and General Assembly. Visit www.dhss.mo.gov/organdonor and register at www.organdonor.com.

The Section for Chronic Disease Prevention and Nutrition Services administers several programs that provide supplemental nutrition assistance to vulnerable populations to improve health status and contribute to optimum growth and development. The assistance includes meal subsidies to eligible organizations that feed infants, children and youth and food packages for low-income elderly persons, women, infants and children.

The Special Supplemental Nutrition Program for Women, Infants and Children (WIC) prescribes and pays for nutritious foods to supplement the diets of pregnant women, new mothers, infants and children up to their fifth birthday, who qualify as "nutritionally at-risk," based on a medical and nutrition assessment, and who meet state income guidelines (185 percent of federal poverty guidelines or eligible for Medicaid, TANF or Food Stamps in Missouri). Program participants are reassessed periodically to determine eligibility status. The WIC program provides nutrition education to program participants to change eating patterns in a positive way to improve their health status; breastfeeding counseling and support to pregnant women and new mothers; conducts immunization screenings and referrals to assure children are age-appropriately immunized; and provides appropriate referrals to address the WIC participant's need. These services are provided at the local level through contracts with county and city health departments, community health centers, community action agencies and hospitals. WIC contracts with retail grocers and pharmacies where participants redeem WIC checks for the prescribed supplemental foods.

The WIC Farmers' Market Nutrition Program (FMNP) provides WIC participants with six $3 WIC checks to purchase fresh, unprepared, locally grown fruits and vegetables. The program operates from May 1 through October 31 in three counties in Missouri (Oregon, Washington and Jackson) with farmers authorized to accept WIC checks. The Child and Adult Care Food Program is an entitlement program with the goal to improve the nutrient intake of participants in licensed childcare centers, licensed family child care homes, licensed adult day care centers, emergency homeless shelters, and after-school programs in order to improve health.

The Summer Food Service Program exists to improve the nutrient intakes of low-income children when school is not in session, thereby reducing their risk for health problems so that they may enjoy a long, healthy life. The program also enhances children's learning capabilities to help them succeed in school. The SFSP improves the quality of the summer programs offered in low-income areas and provides summer employment opportunities in local communities.

The Commodity Supplemental Food Program works to improve the nutrient intake of low-income pregnant and postpartum women, breastfeeding women, infants, children and elderly adults by providing commodity food packages specially formulated to provide additional sources of iron, calcium, protein and vitamins A and C.

Public Health Practice and Administrative Support Section

The staff serves as an integral part of preventive health care programs, such as the smoking cessation campaign, cancer detection programs, treatment and management of obesity programs, genetics and healthy childhood, and child nutrition assistance and education services. Avenues of health communication include news releases, website development, marketing campaigns, brochures/publications, conference exhibits and broadcast programs. In addition, CHI staff provides public information support for emergency response and terrorism.

TEL-LINK, the Department of Health and Senior Services' toll-free telephone line for maternal and child health services (800-835-5465), provides information and referrals to Missouri residents about a wide range of health services. All callers are given referral telephone numbers and then are transferred immediately to the appropriate agency or treatment center. TEL-LINK can connect callers to agencies and centers such as: local public health agencies, social service agencies, child support enforcement agencies, child care resource and referral agencies, WIC agencies, prenatal clinics, area offices for children with special health care needs, hospitals, non-emergency medical transportation services (Medicaid-eligible only), community health centers, mental health centers, sexual assault centers, domestic violence shelters and alcohol and drug abuse treatment centers. Calls are confidential and are answered 8 a.m. to 5 p.m., Monday through Friday. Recorded messages are taken after 5 p.m. on weekdays and throughout the day and night on weekends and holidays.

The section also works to improve health outcomes in Missouri through statistical and information systems activities and surveillance and epidemiology research related to maternal, infant, child and general adult health status; chronic disease risk factors and behaviors; environmental influences; and access and utilization of public health and health services. Surveillance activities include tracking selected indicators, disseminating data reports, and analyzing and interpreting the health data to develop interventions to improve the health of all Missourians.

The Bureau of Vital Records serves as the state archives for vital records. All births and deaths in Missouri are registered with the bureau, which issues copies of birth and death certificates to eligible persons. Missouri's files for resident births and deaths date from 1910. Other records on file include marriages and dissolutions of marriage dating back to 1948. In 2006, the bureau issued nearly 87,000 copies of vital records. Approximately 224,000 records of births, deaths, fetal deaths, marriages, divorces and abortions were filed with the Bureau of Vital Records in 2006.

The Bureau of Health Informatics collects, analyzes and distributes health-related information that promotes the better understanding of health problems and needs in Missouri, as well as spotlighting improvements and progress achieved in the general health status of Missourians. Data generated by the bureau aid and guide the planning, development and evaluation of programs and services of the department as well as the health-related activities of other agencies, institutions and organizations. General services of the bureau include: maintaining the needed vital statistics infrastructure and data to analyze and disseminate the health status of Missourians, providing specific statistical publications and preparing, editing and publishing other data reports for the department and disseminating health data via the web and other media. Surveillance activities conducted by the bureau include tracking selected indicators, disseminating data reports, analyzing and interpreting the health data, and providing guidance as to how the data products are intended to be used. Sub-units within the Bureau of Health Informatics include the following:

- The Vital Statistics Analysis Team conducts quality control of the statistical information on vital events (i.e., births, deaths, fetal deaths, marriages, dissolution of marriages, and induced abortions) and ensures compliance with the National Center for Health Statistics, Vital Statistics Cooperative Agreement (NCHS). The team also analyzes and reports data related to vital events and other health statistics. These vital statistics are published in monthly and annual reports as well as periodic special reports on the department web site. The team is responsible for the development of annual population estimates and the development and updating of various linked data systems. Vital events data, surveys and special data linkages are used to evaluate the effectiveness of various public health programs in Missouri.
- The Healthcare Data Analysis Team collects and analyzes Patient Abstract System (PAS) data from hospitals, emergency rooms and ambulatory surgical centers. It also collects and reports on nosocomial infection data submitted by hospitals and ambulatory surgical centers. The team publishes consumer guides on managed care which contain information obtained from commercial, Medicare and MC+ managed care plans on access to care, quality of care, and member satisfaction reports. This team has responsibility for analyzing data related to injuries in Missouri. Data sets that provide injury information include the PAS data, death certificate data and motor vehicle crash records that are linked to the PAS data.
- The Surveillance and Research Team manages nutritional surveillance systems for maternal and child populations in Missouri to analyze indicators that affect children's health and infant mortality and morbidity. The team also provides various types of statistical, epidemiological, analytic and reporting expertise relating to chronic diseases, obesity interventions, youth and adult tobacco use, and the number of uninsured. Additional responsibilities include economic forecasting to evaluate the health care costs of target populations served, relative to tobacco use, traumatic brain injury and other health conditions and diseases in Missouri.

- The Health Informatics Resources Team coordinates the preparation and publication of health data and statistics on the department's website. This includes the web-based data and statistical resources found in the Community Data Profiles and the data query application, Missouri Information for Community Assessment (MICA). These data tools are used by local public health agencies, health programs and other health-related organizations to assess health needs, monitor the health status of Missouri residents and guide decisions on health improvement strategies. The team also has responsibility for publishing statistics on hospital revenues, compiled from the information collected in annual surveys submitted by Missouri hospitals.

Section for Disease Control and Environmental Epidemiology

The Section for Disease Control and Environmental Epidemiology is the principal unit involved in the investigation of the cause, origin and method of transmission of communicable diseases and diseases caused by environmental hazards. The Bureau of Immunization Assessment and Assurance ensures that Missouri children are appropriately immunized against vaccine-preventable diseases according to the recommendations of the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) Advisory Committee on Immunization Practices (ACIP). The bureau provides free vaccines to uninsured, Medicaid and underinsured children through the federal entitlement Vaccines for Children (VFC) Program; provides education and immunization record assessments for health care providers to increase coverage rates; develops and maintains a central immunization registry; tracks immunizations mandatory for school and day care; forecasts need and manages centralized vaccine inventory, purchasing, and shipping; and gives technical assistance to providers and the general public regarding recommendations, vaccine safety, schedules, and other general vaccine information.

HIV Counseling, Testing and Referral Program

This program focuses on increasing the early detection of HIV infection by providing an opportunity for free testing in every county in Missouri. Health care settings with a higher prevalence of HIV not only offer the traditional blood test, but may also have available oral testing, rapid testing and anonymous testing. The department contracts with local public health agencies and community based organizations to provide testing within their clinics and perform outreach activities. Client centered prevention counseling is provided to identify and reduce the risk of acquiring HIV infection.

HIV/STD Community Planning

The Community Planning program focuses on prevention of HIV and other sexually transmitted diseases (STDs) at the state and local level through a shared planning process between the health department administering HIV/STD prevention funds and representatives of the communities for whom the services are intended. This includes one central HIV/STD prevention community planning body and six regional planning advisory groups (RPAGs). These groups work closely with the department, local public health agencies, and community based organizations to develop and implement culturally competent and scientifically based regional prevention plans. Regional funds for prevention programming are allocated based on the priority populations and priority needs identified in the regional plans.

Health Education/Risk Reduction (HE/RR)

The focus of the HE/RR program is to reduce the spread of STDs, especially HIV, by providing health education services which are client centered, skill based and focused on modification of high risk behavior. Funds are contracted to local health departments with HE/RR services provided through local staff or subcontracted with community-based organizations.

STD/HIV Partner Counseling and Referral Services

Disease Intervention Specialists (DIS) are responsible for assuring appropriate reporting and treatment for individuals diagnosed with HIV, syphilis, gonorrhea and chlamydia. Individuals diagnosed with syphilis and HIV are contacted and counseled, which includes education, follow-up testing, referral to medical care/case management (when appropriate), and partner services. Included in partner services is partner elicitation and notification, where DIS elicit the names and locating information for the infected person's sex partners (and needle-sharing partners for HIV) and confidentially notify the exposed individuals of the exposure. DIS are equipped to collect specimens for testing or to refer individuals to area clinics for free and confidential testing and treatment. Additionally, DIS serve as a resource for health care providers and the general public in the assigned jurisdiction. These responsibilities are varied and include testing/treatment consultation, disease education, educational presentations and outreach screening activities.

Syphilis Elimination Program

With expanded surveillance and outbreak response plan activities, rapid screening and treatment efforts in cooperation with community and agency partnerships, the program's goal is to enhance health promotion about syphilis throughout the state. The program works very closely with local community-based organizations, local public health agencies and disease intervention specialists throughout the state to perform screening and various outreach activities to increase knowledge of the disease within high-risk communities.

Missouri Infertility Prevention Program

The Missouri Infertility Prevention Program is a project utilizing CDC recommendations to screen at-risk women for chlamydia. Many women are asymptomatic; if left untreated, chlamydia can cause infertility. The program works closely with high prevalence health care settings to conduct screening, treatment and partner management.

Disease Surveillance

The HIV, STD and Hepatitis Surveillance Unit tracks and documents occurrence and distribution of syphilis, gonorrhea, chlamydia, HIV/AIDS, hepatitis B, and hepatitis C in Missouri. Services include working with hospitals, physicians, laboratories and other providers to report diseases, maintaining data systems to capture the information obtained from these sources, analyzing and interpreting data to track trends and producing reports from this analysis.

National HIV Behavioral Surveillance

The National HIV Behavioral Surveillance (NHBS) project focuses on the collection of data related to behaviors that place people at risk for HIV infection. NHBS activities are being implemented in multiple cycles. Each cycle is referred to by the group of interest: men who have sex with men (MSM), injecting drug users (IDU), and heterosexuals at risk for HIV infection (HET). Findings from NHBS will be used to enhance understanding of risk and testing behaviors, and to develop and evaluate HIV prevention programs that provide services to groups at highest risk for HIV infection.

HIV Case Management

The Ryan White HIV case management program assists HIV+ Missourians with gaining and maintaining access to medical care, including primary care, mental health care, substance abuse treatment, dental and vision care, along with providing assistance in the development of self-management skills in order to live fuller lives with this chronic disease. Referrals are also made for additional supportive services including:

- AIDS Drugs Assistance Program (ADAP): allows uninsured and underinsured HIV+ clients to gain access to treatment and life-saving medications.
- Housing Opportunities for Persons With AIDS (HOPWA): provides supportive housing services to HIV+ clients under 100% of the federal poverty income level in order to prevent homelessness in coordination with improved access to medical care.
- Medicaid Waiver: provides home health services to Medicaid eligible HIV+ clients to allow them to avoid nursing home placement and remain in their homes.

Perinatal Disease Prevention Program

The Perinatal Disease Prevention Program works to reduce mother-to-child transmission of HIV, Hepatitis B and syphilis infection in Missouri infants. This is done through technical assistance, training and education to health care providers, birthing hospitals and local public health agencies, keeping them apprised of standards of care related to maternal prenatal screening (testing) and preventative interventions for infants born at risk of HIV, hepatitis B and congenital syphilis. Birthing hospital record and policy reviews are conducted to determine current prenatal testing and treatment practices in order to provide targeted prevention education to help eliminate mother-to-child transmission of these diseases. The program follows infants born to Hepatitis B infected women in case management to help ensure completion of the Hepatitis B vaccination series and post-vaccination anti-HBs testing to determine immunity.

The Bureau of Environmental Epidemiology is involved in the investigation and prevention of diseases related to the environment. The bureau's efforts focus on diseases associated with exposure to chemical and physical agents in our environment. Services include:

- conducting epidemiological studies of environmentally-related outbreaks of disease.
- performing health assessments and quantitative risk assessments of hazardous waste sites.
- providing public health consultation and toxicological consultation for emergencies involving chemicals.
- providing technical advice related to pesticides and other hazardous substances.
- implementing the state Childhood Lead Poisoning Prevention Program and administering lead grants from the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention and the Environmental Protection Agency.
- responding to emergencies affecting private water supplies.
- providing professional and public information on radon.
- providing technical advice related to indoor air quality issues.
- providing technical assistance to local public health agencies on environmental public health issues.
- providing consultation, technical assistance and inspection services related to hazardous substances affecting private water supplies.

The Division of Regulation and Licensure oversees the health care regulatory programs of the department and assures the safety, health, welfare and rights of persons residing in long term care facilities.

The Family Care Safety Registry serves as a resource for background screening information maintained by various state agencies. Those wishing to hire a child-care, elder-care or personal-care worker may contact the registry using a toll-free access line and obtain background information about a caregiver. The registry became operational January 1, 2001, and utilizes a computer interface to streamline the process to obtain background information from various state agencies.

Information accessed by the registry includes: criminal history, sex offender registry, substantiated claims of child abuse/neglect, the DHSS employee disqualification list, the Department of Mental Health employee disqualification registry, child care license revocations and foster parent license denials, revocations and suspensions. In addition to the needs of families selecting an individual for a private employment arrangement, many employers of child-care, elder-care and personal-care workers are required to obtain background screening information for staff in order to obtain or maintain licensure or to be in compliance with state regulations. Employers, such as child-care centers and nursing homes, often have difficulty in recruiting and maintaining skilled staff. The delays they currently experience in obtaining background screening results can impact their ability to hire and retain staff. These employers are required to contact several state agencies in order to comply with statutes or regulations for background screening. The registry offers these employers an alternative to their current method of obtaining background screening information.

The registry maintains a toll-free access line (866-422-6872) to respond to requested information and allows the requestor to receive an immediate response as often as they like at no cost. The access line is staffed from 7:00 a.m. to 6:00 p.m., Monday through Friday, and a website (www.dhss.mo.gov/FCSRA) is also maintained for easy access.

The Missouri Board of Nursing Home Administrators was established in 1970. The board is responsible for adopting, amending and repealing rules necessary to carry out the provisions of Chapter 344, RSMo; establishing minimum standards for licensing nursing home administrators; providing testing opportunities for qualified applicants; approving and monitoring continuing education programs designed for nursing home administrators; auditing license renewal applications and renewing the licenses of qualified licensees; and conducting hearings affording due process of law, upon charges calling for discipline of a licensee.

The board, appointed by the director of the department, consists of ten members who serve three-year staggered terms. Membership of the board consists of one licensed physician, two licensed health professionals, one person from the field of health care education, four people who have been in general administrative charge of a licensed nursing home for at least five years immediately preceding their appointment and two public members.

The Section for Health Standards and Licensure oversees the health care and child care regulatory programs of the department. Supervision is provided for hospital licensure and certification activities, hospice and home health licensure and certification activities, emergency medical services, registration of handlers of controlled substances, child care provider licensure activities, and inspection of license-exempt child care providers.

The Bureau of Healthcare Oversight is responsible for health facility licensing and certification services, home health agencies, hospices, outpatient physical therapy/speech rehabilitation agencies and comprehensive outpatient rehabilitation facilities licensing and certification services, emergency medical services and trauma services and related programs administered by the Department of Health and Senior Services. The bureau consists of three units: Health Facility Regulation, Home Care and Rehabilitative Standards, and Emergency Medical Services.

The Unit of Health Facility Regulation is responsible for the regulation and licensing of Missouri's hospitals, ambulatory surgical centers and abortion facilities that are required to renew their licenses annually in accordance with current statutes. License renewals are based upon compliance with state regulations in the areas of fire safety, environment, organization and administration, and all aspects of patient care. The unit also contracts with the Center for Medicare/Medicaid Services to survey and recommend certification of providers and suppliers of services as participants under Title XVIII (Medicare) of the Social Security Act. Providers include hospitals, independent laboratories, end-stage renal disease facilities, portable x-ray providers, ambulatory surgical centers, rural health clinics and long-term care units in hospitals.

The unit also registers medical sources of ionizing radiation throughout the state, including x-ray machines. The unit contracts with the Federal Drug Administration to perform surveys of mammography screening providers.

The Bureau of Home Care and Rehabilitative Standards is responsible for regulating and licensing Missouri's home health agencies and hospices. Home health agencies and hospices are required to renew their state licenses annually, in accordance with current statutes.

Additionally, through contracts with the Centers for Medicare/Medicaid Services, surveys are conducted for certifying home health agencies, hospice organizations, outpatient rehabilitation facilities, and comprehensive outpatient rehabilitation facilities as providers under Title XVIII (Medicare) of the Social Security Act. Consultation is provided regarding licensing requirements and compliance with Medicare Conditions and Participation.

The Unit of Emergency Medical Services administers the laws relating to emergency medical technicians-basic, emergency medical technicians-paramedic, air ambulance services, ground ambulance services, emergency medical response agencies, emergency medical service training entities and trauma centers.

Currently, Missouri's ground ambulance services, air ambulance services and fixed-wing air ambulance services make approximately 700,000 runs per year. These ambulance services are inspected for licensure every five years. At least one paramedic, nurse or physician with the capability of providing an advanced level of care to the patient staffs ninety percent of the emergency ambulance transports of a patient to a hospital. This is one of the highest rates in the nation.

The trauma program was formally established by state law in 1987 and revised in 1998. Regulations that specify the criteria for trauma center designation went into effect in January 1990 and September 1998. A network of trauma centers designated according to capability serves Missouri. Missouri's trauma center hospitals see over 12,000 severely injured patients per year.

This unit administers the ambulance reporting system, head and spinal cord injury registry and trauma registry. These are among the most comprehensive reporting systems of their type in the United States.

The governor-appointed State Advisory Council on EMS provides advice to the department on EMS regulatory issues.

The Bureau of Narcotics and Dangerous Drugs (BNDD) is responsible for ensuring the proper management and distribution of controlled substances for legitimate medical and manufacturing purposes. Controlled substances include medications and chemicals used in the manufacture of these medications that have been determined to be abusable or addictive.

All individuals and firms who manufacture, distribute, prescribe, dispense or handle controlled substances in the state of Missouri must register with the BNDD every two years. Those required to register with the BNDD include physi-clians, hospitals, pharmacies, dentists, ambulance services, veterinarians, optometrists, podiatrists, manufacturers, distributors, labs and importers and exporters who desire authority to possess or perform functions with controlled substances.

The BNDD is active in the education of health professionals who handle controlled substances. The records of all registrants are subject to inspections, audits or investigations (if needed). Violations of controlled substance laws can lead to administrative sanctions. Criminal violations are referred to appropriate law enforcement agencies.

The bureau's surveillance helps prevent the diversion of drugs or chemicals from their proper channels of distribution. This helps protect against the misuse or abuse of these substances.

The Bureau of Child Care is responsible for the regulation and licensing of child care facilities. The bureau is also responsible for the annual safety, health and sanitation inspections of child care facilities operated by religious organizations.

Child care staff conduct on-site inspections of child care facilities as well as provide technical and consultative assistance. The bureau's mission is to ensure that all facilities provide a healthy, safe and developmentally-appropriate environment for Missouri's children.

The goal for the bureau is to have a positive impact on the overall health, safety and well-being of children in child care programs. The bureau works to meet this goal through health promotion and education, facilitating immunizations, improved meals and nutrition education, communicable disease prevention, improved cleanliness and sanitation, injury reduction, prevention of child abuse and neglect, and serving children with special needs. Training for child care providers is partially provided through contracts with training organizations. Consultation and technical assistance for child care providers is provided by local community health nurses through a contracted program. In addition, referral services, consultation and technical services are provided to families of special needs children and the providers who serve those families.

The Section for Long Term Care Regulation, in accordance with the Omnibus Nursing Home Act, is responsible for assuring the safety, health, welfare and rights of persons residing in nursing homes (long term care facilities). The section has the legal authority to intervene in cases of abuse, neglect or exploitation among elderly or disabled persons who reside in nursing homes. The section:

- inspects and licenses adult day care centers, adult residential care, intermediate care and skilled nursing facilities.

- investigates complaints of abuse or neglect at long-term care facilities.
- reviews and approves plans for proposed long-term care facilities.
- investigates complaints for any allegation of failure to comply with all rules and regulations.
- investigates complaints of misuse of resident funds in long-term care facilities.
- reviews applications for licenses to operate a long-term care facility.
- inspects, conducts utilization reviews, and determines client eligibility for intermediate care facilities for persons with mental retardation (ICF/MR).
- implements appropriate rules and regulations in accordance with the Omnibus Nursing Home Act; and with the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services, determines Medicaid/Medicare certification of intermediate care and skilled facilities.

The Division of Senior and Disability Services serves as the state agency charged with protecting seniors and adults with disabilities from abuse, neglect and financial exploitation. Additionally, the division serves as the State Unit on Aging carrying out the mandates for the state of Missouri regarding programs and services for seniors. The division is responsible for oversight and implementation of programs designed to maximize independence and safety for adults who choose to remain independent in the community by administering state and federally-funded home and community-based programs.

The Office of the State Long-Term Care Ombudsman for Facility Residents is authorized under the federal Older Americans Act and Chapter 660.600 RSMo, to advocate on behalf of the residents of long-term care facilities. The ten Missouri Area Agencies on Aging either run their local programs directly or contract them out to a local not-for-profit organization. The Long-Term Care Ombudsman Program advocates for the rights of residents by investigating complaints/concerns, and providing information to residents/family members and the community on such topics as choosing a facility, loss and theft and best practices for care. The program recruits, trains and supervises volunteers who visit facility residents on a weekly basis.

The Elder Abuse and Neglect Hotline, or Central Registry Unit (CRU), was established in 1980 and responds to reports of alleged abuse, neglect or financial exploitation of persons 60 years of age or older and other eligible adults between 18 and 59. Calls are received at the centralized registry, registered into the system, and a report is sent to the appropriate investigative authority.

Trained staff respond based on the severity of the circumstances and the degree of risk to the eligible adult. All information obtained during investigations is confidential and protected under state law.

The hotline (1-800-392-0210) operates 24 hours per day, 365 days per year.

The Bureau of Program Integrity is responsible for the interpretation, development, implementation and maintenance of Missouri adult protective services and case management policies. Staff interpret and promulgate state regulations, coordinate and develop protocols through standard operating procedures intended to maximize efficiency and effectiveness in the provision of adult protective and home and community based services.

The bureau provides oversight, support and program evaluation in the administration of State Plan Personal Care and Adult Day Health Care Services, administers the Aged and Disabled Medicaid Waiver, and the Independent Living Waiver, in coordination with the Department of Social Services/Division of Medical Services. The bureau also oversees training for field staff, development and improvement of the information systems used for tracking statistical information, and authorization and reimbursement for care as prior-authorized by staff. Policies are developed in compliance with applicable Code of State Regulations, state and federal statutes, guidelines and rules.

The Bureau of Quality Assurance (BQA) is charged with the contract oversight and program compliance of in-home service providers, consumer directed vendors and counseling providers that deliver prior-authorized services to clients/consumers of the Division of Senior and Disability Services. Monitoring activities include on-site surveys, complaint investigations, technical assistance, pre-contract site visits, annual review of contract requirements, and on-site surveys and revisits to ensure providers/vendors are operating in compliance with the contract and applicable state and federal laws.

The Bureau of Home and Community Services is responsible for services and programs directly administered by the division for eligible persons 60 years of age or older and adults with disabilities between the ages of 18 and 59. Generally, to be eligible for services, adults must meet specific guidelines pertaining to protective, economic, social and care needs. Through a comprehensive investigation or assessment process, the bureau determines the intervention and/or services necessary to meet the needs of each eligible adult. Professionally trained staff carry out state mandates for direct services to adults in Missouri. Field staff are responsible for:

- investigating reports of elder abuse, neglect and exploitation of adults living in the community.
- intervening on behalf of eligible adults believed to be at risk of injury or harm, which includes preparing cases for litigation based on investigative findings.
- screening individuals considering long term care to ensure they have the ability to make an informed decision about care and care settings.
- providing case management services to individuals requiring assistance to remain in their homes, including intake and screening, assessment, service planning and authorization, care monitoring, eligibility reassessment, adjustments to care plans and discharge.
- authorizing in-home services in the home or community under the Missouri Care Options (MCO) program through state and federal funding to include basic and advanced personal care, homemaker, chore, nursing services, counseling, basic and advanced respite, and adult day health care.
- overseeing care plans developed in conjunction with seniors and persons with disabilities in community based settings who are screened and determined to be medically eligible for nursing facility care and Medicaid eligible (or potentially Medicaid eligible).
- coordinating with other organizations involved in care planning to include state and Medicaid funded in-home and consumer-directed services, home health, and local community resource providers on behalf of clients to strengthen the support system necessary to maintain independence and ensure the highest quality of service delivery available.

The Bureau of Senior Programs is responsible for activities on behalf of the division and ensures the effective and efficient management of state and local activities associated with the Older Americans Act. As a result of the 1973 amendments to the Older Americans Act, states must designate planning and service areas to develop and implement programs and services for older persons at the local level. Missouri has ten Area Agencies on Aging (AAAs), each responsible for providing services and overseeing programs within specifically defined geographic boundaries. Within the mandates of the Act, priority is given to serving older adults in the greatest social and economic need with a focus on serving low-income and minority elderly. Staff primarily:

- conducts periodic monitoring reviews of the local programs to verify compliance with state and federal guidelines and to validate program and service effectiveness.

- develops and implements programs related to legal issues for seniors.
- provides training and technical assistance to AAA staff members and their boards as requested, keeping them apprised of new developments in the aging field, and federal and state policies and procedures.

Each AAA is allowed flexibility in providing the services most needed within its planning and service area. Each AAA:

- is required to submit an area plan for review and approval in order to receive funding to carry out various provisions of the Older Americans Act at the local level.
- administers the nutrition program – both congregate and home-delivered meals, including nutrition education activities.
- provides funding for access services, legal services and in-home services. Access services include transportation and information and assistance, and general outreach and advocacy activities. (In-home services include homemaker chore, personal care and respite.)
- provides disease prevention and health promotion activities or services to encourage the employment of older workers, services to support family caregivers, ombudsman services, and information about the prevention of abuse, neglect and exploitation of seniors.
- AAAs may also provide one or more of the following services: minor home modification, counseling, adult day care, telephone reassurance, friendly visiting, case management and volunteer recruitment.

The primary cost containment agency for Missouri is the Certificate of Need Program (CONP). CONP, designated in 1976 as a statewide health planning agency, has been an administrative unit of the department since 1981.

CONP has three categories: planning, review and support activities. The agency conducts some of the health planning activities of the state and determines the needs of Missouri for substantial health capital expenditures and major medical equipment. It prepares, reviews and revises health models for Missouri for use in the CONP.

The Missouri Health Facilities Review Committee carries out its function as the administrator of the Missouri CON law with the support of CONP staff.

The agency assists with program planning, development and analysis of health data, policy planning, identification of program needs, graphics development, strategic assessments and other special projects in cooperation with the director of the department and other state departments.

The Coordinating Board for Higher Education (CBHE) was authorized by an amendment to the Missouri Constitution in 1972, and established by statute in the Omnibus State Reorganization Act of 1974. The nine board members, one from each congressional district, are appointed by the governor and confirmed by the Senate. The term of appointment is six years. No more than five of the nine members may be affiliated with the same political party, and all members serve without compensation. The CBHE has statutory responsibilities relating to higher education programs and policies and oversees the activities of the Missouri Department of Higher Education (MDHE), which serves as the administrative arm of the CBHE.

The CBHE appoints the commissioner of higher education to head the MDHE and carry out administrative responsibilities to achieve the CBHE's desired goals for the state system of higher education, which serves more than 408,000 students through 13 public four-year universities, 19 public two-year colleges, one public two-year technical college, 25 independent colleges and universities and 150 proprietary and private career schools.

The MDHE's primary responsibilities include identification of statewide planning for higher education (including independent institutions), evaluation of student and institutional performance, review of institutional missions, development of specialization among institutions, submission of a unified budget request for public higher education to the governor and the General Assembly, administration of a statewide postsecondary technical education program, establishment of guidelines to promote student transfer among institutions, approval of new degree programs offered by public colleges and universities, administration of the Proprietary School Certification Program, and policy setting for and administration of student financial assistance programs.

The MDHE administers the following state student financial assistance programs: Access Missouri Financial Assistance Program; Missouri Higher Education Academic "Bright Flight" Scholarship Program; Advantage Missouri Program; Marguerite Ross Barnett Memorial Scholarship Program; Vietnam Veteran's Survivor Grant Program; and Public Service Officer or Employee's Child Survivor Grant Program.

As the state's designated student loan guaranty agency, the MDHE also administers the Missouri DHE Student Loan Program, which is part of the Federal Family Education Loan (FFEL) Program. Through this program, the MDHE guarantees low-interest loans that are provided by eligible lending institutions to students attending approved postsecondary institutions.

During state fiscal year 2006, the MDHE administered approximately $42 million in state-based student financial assistance to more than 25,500 students, and guaranteed approximately $1.1 billion in student loans for more than 193,500 students to help them achieve their educational goals.

In addition, the MDHE conducts outreach activities to increase awareness among Missourians regarding opportunities for postsecondary education and student financial assistance in the state. The MDHE administers the Federal GEAR UP (Gaining Early Awareness and Readiness for Undergraduate Program). GEAR UP enables low-income students to succeed in middle and secondary school and be prepared for admission to college. Through its student loan default prevention initiatives, MDHE strives to help students avoid defaulting on their educational loans and accumulating credit card debt.

The MDHE also has administrative responsibility for several grants as well as organizational responsibility for the Missouri State Anatomical Board and the Missouri State Historical Society.

Established in 1887, the Missouri State Anatomical Board functions to receive “unclaimed” human bodies requiring burial at public expense and to distribute them for scientific study to certain qualified schools. The board, which operates under state law (Section 194.120–180 RSMo), was transferred to the Department of Higher Education by the State Omnibus Reorganization Act in 1974.

In 1955, the anatomical board also was authorized to receive bodies by will and codicil (Section 474.310 RSMo). In 1969, the board was designated a recipient for bodies donated under the Uniform Anatomical Gift Act (Section 194.230 RSMo).

The day-to-day business of the anatomical board is handled through local anatomical boards or secretaries in Columbia, Kansas City, Kirksville and St. Louis. The annual meeting of the entire board is in May in Columbia. Officers are elected for two-year terms.

Each qualified school that is a member of the board pays an assessment in proportion to the number of students in attendance. The state board secretary/treasurer receives 16 cents per student enrolled in the state, and each local board secretary receives 24 cents per registered student in the local anatomical district. The secretary to the state secretary/treasurer receives eight cents per registered student. The president and vice president serve without pay. Management of the board rests on its secretary/treasurer, whose office is located at the University of Missouri–Columbia School of Medicine.

The University of Missouri has provided teaching, research and service to Missouri since 1839. With campuses in Columbia, Kansas City, St. Louis and Rolla, plus a statewide Extension program and a comprehensive health care system, the University serves nearly 64,000 students.

The mission of the University of Missouri, as a land-grant university and Missouri's only public research and doctoral-level institution, is to discover, disseminate, preserve and apply knowledge. The university promotes learning by its students and lifelong learning by Missouri's citizens, fosters innovation to support economic development, and advances the health, cultural, and social interests of the people of Missouri, the nation, and the world.

The University of Missouri awards more than 12,000 degrees annually. The university offers 127 doctoral degree programs as well as professional degrees in law, medicine, optometry, pharmacy, dentistry and veterinary medicine.

The university receives approximately $287 million annually in grants and contracts for research in areas ranging from agriculture to the life sciences. The university's network of research parks and incubators across the state also encourages economic growth.

The University of Missouri is governed by a nine-member Board of Curators appointed by the governor and confirmed by the Senate. The board also has a non-voting position for a student representative.

The university's chief administrative officer is the president. Each campus is directed by a chancellor.

Authorized only 18 years after the Missouri Territory became a state, the University of Missouri–Columbia is the oldest state university West of the Mississippi River and the oldest in the Louisiana Purchase Territory. The university, created by the Geyer Act of the 10th General Assembly of 1839, was designed according to Thomas Jefferson's pattern for the University of Virginia.

The signing into law of the land-grant college act, commonly known as the Morrill Act, gave the university 330,000 acres of land with proceeds used for the development of instruction and instructional facilities in agriculture and the mechanic arts. Through this assistance, both the College of Agriculture in Columbia and the School of Mines and Metallurgy in Rolla were established. The Morrill Act brought great encouragement to the university because until 1867, no state funds had been appropriated for its operation.

In 1892, fire destroyed Academic Hall, leaving only its six stately columns, the best-known symbol of the university today. The present administration building, Jesse Hall, was completed in 1895.

Today, with over 28,000 students, MU is the state's largest public research university and Missouri's only public member of the Association of American Universities (AAU), which includes the nation's most prestigious public and private research institutions. A total of $220 million in research spending in Fiscal Year 2005 had an estimated $440 million economic impact on the state, plus the ability to significantly improve the quality of life for all Missourians.

College of Agriculture, Food and Natural Resources

Established as a division of the University of Missouri in 1870 under provisions of the first Morrill Act of 1862, the College of Agriculture, Food and Natural Resources offers the degree of bachelor of science. Specializations are offered in agribusiness management, agricultural economics, agricultural journalism, agricultural systems management, animal sciences, biochemistry, fisheries and wildlife sciences, food science and nutrition, forestry, general agriculture, hotel and restaurant management, parks, recreation and tourism, plant sciences and soil, and environmental and atmospheric sciences. Advanced degrees are offered through the Graduate School.

The college's research is conducted in Columbia through the agricultural experiment station authorized in 1887 by the Hatch Act, and at 20 farms, centers and forests throughout the state that fit unique localized situations. Research strengths include life sciences, agricultural biotechnology, genomics and bioinformatics, phytonutrients, mineral nutrition, animal reproductive biology, animal nutrition, agroforestry and environmental sciences.

Through University of Missouri Extension, the College of Agriculture, Food and Natural Resources conducts educational and outreach activities related to agriculture and natural resources throughout Missouri. Focused interdisciplinary programs are organized around the themes of agribusiness management, integrated crop management, livestock production systems, horticulture, and forestry and environmental quality.

College of Arts and Science

The College of Arts and Science, the oldest and largest division of the university, provides liberal education programs in the fine and performing arts, humanities, social sciences and natural sciences.

The college offers the following baccalaureate degrees: bachelor of arts, bachelor of science, bachelor of music and bachelor of general studies. Students pursuing advanced degrees of master of arts, master of fine arts, master of science and doctor of philosophy enroll in the graduate school.

MU's General Education Program is recognized as a model for undergraduate education at major public research universities—Mizzou is one of only eight universities, and the only one in the Big 12, to be honored with the Hesburgh Award. Faculty across campus are deeply involved in enterprise and working across academic disciplines to deliver a unique educational experience to MU students. One aspect of the program that has drawn national attention is the incorporation of writing across the undergraduate curriculum. Nearly 120 sections of writing intensive courses are offered each semester at MU, representing every department in every undergraduate division at the institution.

Among the many special programs that enhance the curriculum are the Undergraduate Research Mentorship, which encourages undergraduate students to collaborate on research with respected faculty members; the Summer Repertory Program in theatre; a summer field camp in Wyoming for students of geology; and the Center for the Literary Arts, uniting creative writing in the English department, literary writing in journalism and writing for the stage and screen in theatre. Two showcase programs in the performing arts position students on national stages: Mizzou on Tour rewards outstanding music students with performances at such prestigious venues as Carnegie Hall, and Mizzou on Broadway offers theatre students a chance to perform original plays and serve internships at the York Theatre in New York.

College of Business

The College of Business at the University of Missouri–Columbia was founded in 1914, starting out with 15 students and nine professors. Today, the college enrolls more than 4,000 undergraduate students and over 300 graduate students. The college has 63 full-time faculty and four academic units—Accountancy, Finance, Management and Marketing.

The college offers an undergraduate degree in business administration, a MBA degree, a 150-hour program that confers both undergraduate and master's degrees in accountancy upon completion of the entire curriculum, and doctoral degrees in both accountancy and business administration. These programs are fully accredited by the International Association for Management Education.

For 93 years, the College of Business has maintained a proud tradition of outstanding instruction and meaningful research. Over the past seven years, the college's faculty has earned nearly 30 university wide teaching and advising awards. The college has nationally and internationally known scholars in every academic unit. In addition, several faculty hold editorial positions with academic journals, and others serve as officers of professional associations.

Six outreach programs affiliated with the College of Business—the Financial Research Institute; Center for the Digital Globe; Center for Religion, the Professions, and the Public; Contracting and Organizations Research Institute; Missouri Innovation Center; Missouri Training Institute—serve companies, government agencies and other organizations as well as faculty, staff and students. The college's Business Career Services Office provides placement assistance to graduating students and prospective employers.

College of Education

The College of Education's programs and its School of Information Science and Learning Technologies provide pre-service preparation and advanced specialization in teaching, administration and special service personnel. Advanced study at the graduate level is also available in the fields of educational leadership, educational, school and counseling psychology, educational technology, higher education, library science, policy studies, special education, and teaching and curriculum.

Two baccalaureate degrees are offered: the bachelor of science in education, which prepares students to be recommended for Missouri teacher certification, and the bachelor of educational studies, which provides an opportunity for those interested in a career in an education-related field. Graduate programs lead to master of arts, master of education, educational specialist, doctor of education and doctor of philosophy degrees.

Among its special facilities contributing to service and research are: Center for Technology Innovations in Education; National Center for Middle Level Mathematics; Middle Leadership Center; Assessment and Consultation Clinic; Assessment Resource Center; Center for Innovations in Education; Instructional Materials Laboratory; and Reflector and Career Services.

College of Engineering

The College of Engineering, one of the oldest engineering schools in the nation, offers bachelor of science, master of science and Ph.D. degrees. Its departments and programs include: Biological Engineering, Chemical Engineering, Civil and Environmental Engineering, Computer Science, Electrical and Computer Engineering, Industrial and Manufacturing Systems Engineering, Mechanical and Aerospace Engineering and an Information Technology Program.

Engineering supports its educational programs with extracurricular and research opportunities. Faculty is encouraged to be entrepreneurial and interdisciplinary. The innovative, original research conducted under the umbrella of Mizzou Engineering both adds to this planet's body of scientific knowledge, and also creates new researchers for the future.

The college has approximately 1,800 undergraduates with the average freshman ranked at the 93rd percentile. There are 30 engineering student organizations that encourage the development of leadership, business and social skills. Also, an undergraduate honors research program was recently added to enhance their educational experience.

Mizzou Engineering currently boasts ten National Science Foundation CAREER Grant recipients among its faculty members. They established seven College Centers of expertise and success and nine signature programs.

Research at the centers is focused on helping reduce American dependence on imported fuels, technology that will help the elderly, processing images vital to national security and more. Signature programs include environmental engineering, supply chain management, production and manufacturing and engineering design, among others.

Graduate School

MU is one of the most comprehensive and diverse universities in the United States and a member of the Association of American Universities, the National Association of State Universities and Land-Grant Colleges, the Association of Graduate Schools and the Council of Graduate Schools, among other affiliations.

MU is classified as a doctoral/research extensive institution by the Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching, the designation for the nation's top research institutions. Various schools, colleges and departments also are accredited by their own professional associations and accrediting agencies.

The scope and quality of MU's graduate programs distinguish it from other public institutions in Missouri and across the country. MU's Graduate School enrolls more than 5,000 graduate students in more than 90 graduate degree programs. In its history, the school has awarded more than 55,000 master's degrees; 1,100 educational specialist degrees; and 10,500 doctoral degrees.

Graduate programs are designed by MU's graduate faculty to meet both societal needs and the career and intellectual objectives of the individual graduate student. MU's federal funding for research projects has increased 66 percent since 1997, and the knowledge and skills gained from this student and faculty research contribute significantly to today's knowledge-based economy.

Harry S Truman School of Public Affairs

Established by the Board of Curators in May 2001, the mission of the Harry S Truman School of Public Affairs is to advance the knowledge and practice of governance in Missouri, the nation and beyond by informing public policy, educating for ethical leadership in public service and fostering democratic discourse among citizens, policymakers and scholars. The Truman School grew out of MU's well-regarded Department of Public Administration and builds on its 40-year history of professional education for public service careers.

The Truman School offers the Ph.D. and M.P.A. degrees as well as a joint M.P.A./J.D. with the MU Law School. Through affiliated centers and institutes, faculty conduct cutting-edge research, provide consulting services to public and nonprofit organizations, deliver leadership training to public officials and bring academic expertise directly to policy makers. Policy forums, roundtables with policy makers, lectures by distinguished visiting scholars and research symposia make for an exciting and highly relevant learning environment.

College of Human and Environmental Sciences

The college's mission touches the heart of humanity: to improve the quality of life for individuals and families where they live and work. Beginning with the basics—food, clothing, shelter, finances, family and community—HES concentrates on providing scientific solutions for contemporary challenges in human lives. Rooted in the university since 1900 and established as a separate division in 1973, the college offers bachelor's and master's degrees in five departments: Human Development and Family Studies, focusing on child development and education, family studies, child life and human development; Textile and Apparel Management, focusing on apparel marketing and merchandising, international studies, product development and management; Personal Financial Planning, with options in personal financial management services and personal financial planning; Architectural Studies, including interior design and architectural studies; and Nutritional Sciences, with emphases in dietetics, nutrition and fitness and nutritional sciences. A doctor of philosophy degree in human environmental sciences is offered with specialization in the five departments.

The MU School of Social Work educates leaders who meet challenges facing individuals and society in the areas of child welfare, community organization, criminal justice, domestic violence, employee assistance, family and children services, gerontology, homeless, hospice, juvenile justice, mental health, physical health, public welfare, schools, substance abuse and victim assistance. Social workers are also responsible for administration, analysis, budgeting, funding, management, policy planning, program development, research and advocating for social justice. The School of Social Work joined the College of Human Environmental Sciences in 1988. Bachelor of social work, master of social work and a doctorate of philosophy in social work are offered in the School of Social Work. The doctoral program focuses on public policy for services administered and/or funded by state government; rigorous research training; and interdisciplinary orientation. MU's School of Social Work provides the only doctoral program at a public institution in Missouri. Through University of Missouri Extension, educational activities are transmitted to citizens of the state. Research is conducted throughout the departments and at the Agricultural Experiment Station, with state and federal support from agencies and the private sector.

Human Environmental Sciences programs prepare students for professional positions in business, industry, government, education, human services and research. Accreditation has been earned within specializations. Recognized as a leading human sciences program in the United States, Human Environmental Sciences is unique among professional peers in its comprehensive use of advisory boards for each department and the School of Social Work. Experts in the employment community provide guidance and support fields to students and faculty as well as perspectives from their specialized fields to enrich curriculum development.

Missouri School of Journalism

The first school of its type in the world, the Missouri School of Journalism educates students for careers in journalism, advertising, public relations and other media fields by combining a strong liberal arts education with unique hands-on training in professional media. The school offers the Bachelor of Journalism degree in six areas of emphasis. Advanced graduate studies lead to the Master of Arts degree and the Doctor of Philosophy degree in journalism.

Real-world media experience is offered at the Columbia Missourian, a daily community newspaper; KOMU-TV8, the only university-owned commercial television station in the United States that uses its newsroom as a working lab for students; KBIA, one of the most-listened-to public radio stations in the nation; Vox, a weekly city magazine; Global Journalist, the magazine of the International Press Institute in Vienna; Adelante!, a monthly bilingual publication for Spanish-speaking people of mid-Missouri; and Missouri Digital News, a compilation of news produced by students working in the State Government Reporting program in Jefferson City.

School of Law

The School of Law, established in 1872, has a distinguished and diverse faculty, all of whom are experienced in the practice of law. The juris doctor degree is conferred upon students who complete three years of study. All graduates are prepared for licensing exams as attorneys in all of the United States. In 1999, the school started its LL.M. in Dispute Resolution degree program.

The school provides both a traditional legal curriculum and practical education in such areas as trial practice and advocacy, clinical education involving representation of clients in a variety of settings, negotiation, client interviewing, counseling and computerized legal research. The school is also a national leader in alternative dispute resolution practice. MU law students publish the highly regarded Missouri Law Review, the Journal of Dispute Resolution, and the Missouri Environmental Law and Policy Review. They also operate the Board of Advocates, which conducts a wide variety of advocacy competitions.

School of Medicine

The origin of health-care education at MU can be traced to 1841 when the university affiliated with Kemper College in St. Louis. After offering a two-year preclinical sciences degree for many years, the School of Medicine expanded to a comprehensive four-year medical program in 1955. Today, the School of Medicine and its Department of Family and Community Medicine consistently are ranked highly by U.S. News and World Report for their leadership in primary-care education.

Through the Rural Scholars Program and other admission initiatives, more than half of new medical students come from rural Missouri communities. The medical school's problem-based curriculum offers case-based learning in small-group settings and provides a number of opportunities for students to gain practical experience at rural clinics and hospitals.

MU biomedical scientists have gained national attention for their research in arthritis rehabilitation, cardiovascular medicine, kidney dialysis, diabetes, cystic fibrosis, nuclear medicine, cancer and children's psychiatric disorders.

The School of Medicine, in conjunction with the hospitals, offers 35 fully accredited residency training programs and advanced degrees in the basic medical sciences. As part of the School of Medicine, a program in Health Management and Informatics is offered to educate both traditional students and experienced health-care administrators through its master's degree programs.

Sinclair School of Nursing

The MU Sinclair School of Nursing offers educational programs at the baccalaureate, master's and doctoral levels. It is committed to promoting, maintaining and improving health and health care delivery in Missouri and worldwide through nursing education, research, practice and service. The school is nationally accredited by the Commission of Collegiate Nursing Education and approved by the Missouri State Board of Nursing.

The undergraduate program, offering preparation for professional nursing, leads to the degree of bachelor of science in nursing and prepares our graduates to practice as generalists in a variety of health-care settings. For the BSN program, students apply to the clinical nursing major during their sophomore year. MU also offers a web-based RN-BSN degree option and an accelerated option for individuals with a baccalaureate degree in another area.

At the master's level, advanced practice nurses are prepared as nurse practitioners and clinical nurse specialists in mental health, public health, pediatric, family, gerontological and maternal-child nursing. Nursing education, nursing leadership and school-health nursing may also be studied.

The doctoral program in nursing prepares nurse scholars to assume leadership positions in service and educational settings. The Ph.D. prepared nurse advances the discipline, conducting research and contributing to the development of social and health policy. The Ph.D. program activities are purposefully designed to prepare graduates for a variety of leadership and scientific roles in order to meet the knowledge and technology requirements of the present and the future.

Gerontology, women's health, health behavior change and oncology comprise the school's major research interest areas. The School of Nursing is deeply committed to the principle of multi-disciplinary and inter-disciplinary collaboration as a means of solving some of our most important health-care dilemmas.

By focusing a major research effort on Missouri's elderly, the School of Nursing is working to improve the quality of their lives and is helping them live independently and with dignity in their own homes. MU's nursing researchers are exploring new and innovative ways to help nursing homes everywhere improve the quality of care they offer. For fiscal year 2006, the school's grant expenditures were $3.6 million, the fifth continuous year of grant expenditures over the $3.5 million mark. This continued strength in sponsored research has earned the school a ranking of 18th in National Institutes of Health funding out of 102 schools of nursing nationwide.

School of Health Professions

The School of Health Professions educates highly qualified health care professionals committed to fulfilling our mission of improving society through education, service and discovery in health and rehabilitation sciences. The school is credited with establishing the nation's first baccalaureate degree program in respiratory therapy and currently has the nation's only master's-level program in diagnostic medical ultrasound. In addition, it is the nation's only school of health professions to sponsor an adult day-healthcare facility. The School of Health Professions offers Missouri's only doctoral program in speech-language pathology and is the sole provider of publicly supported programs in occupational therapy, radiography and baccalaureate-level respiratory therapy. The school's five departments and nine accredited academic programs have a long and distinguished history and continue to produce many well-respected internationally and nationally recognized professionals.

The departments of Cardiopulmonary and Diagnostic Sciences, Communication Science and Disorders, Health Psychology, Occupational Therapy and Physical Therapy fulfill critical roles in health care. The school offers undergraduate degrees in communication science and disorders, diagnostic medical ultrasound, occupational therapy, nuclear medicine, radiography and respiratory therapy. In addition, the school offers graduate degrees in communication science and disorders, diagnostic medical ultrasound, and physical therapy and post-doctoral training in health psychology.

Students gain valuable experience in the school's service and outreach centers, including Adult Care Connections (the Eldercare centers), The Health Connection, Speech and Hearing Clinic, Robert G. Combs Language Preschool, and more than 800 fieldwork sites.

College of Veterinary Medicine

The MU College of Veterinary Medicine has graduated almost 3,000 DVMs in its 55+ year history. Alumni live and work all over the world in a variety of areas.

The MU College of Veterinary Medicine has a three-fold mission in teaching, service and research. It is the only Missouri institution that awards the Doctor of Veterinary Medicine degree, graduating about 72 new veterinarians each year.

MU graduates are qualified to pursue a host of career options. Most enter private clinical practice, but others choose careers in government, industry and academia. The college also offers post-graduate training to interns, residents in various specialties and graduate students.

The college's Veterinary Medical Teaching Hospital, Clydesdale Hall, is a state-of-the-art facility with 140,000 square feet of floor space spread over three hospitals for small companion animals, horses and farm animals.

Clinical faculty provide both primary care and a host of sophisticated diagnostic procedures and treatment options not available in most private practices. Examples include a magnetic resonance imaging (MRI) unit, hip replacement surgery, a treadmill for evaluation of lameness in horses, and herd-health consultation for farmers.

Overall, each year, the hospital cares for approximately 17,000 hospitalized animals and thousands more on farms.

Through its research mission, the college fulfills a solemn obligation to advance our understanding of diseases affecting not just animals but also people. After all, people and animals share the same environment and are exposed to the same infectious organisms and environmental pollutants. It should come as no surprise, therefore, that animals and their owners develop many of the same diseases. To pursue the causes of these conditions, faculty of the College of Veterinary Medicine now collaborate extensively with our colleagues in human medicine, agriculture and other scientific disciplines.

Libraries

The MU Libraries include the Elmer Ellis Library, the main library on campus and specialized branch libraries for engineering, geological sciences, health sciences, journalism, mathematics and veterinary medicine. The University Archives and the Columbia Missourian Newspaper Library also are part of the library system. The MU Libraries have a collection of 3.2 million print volumes, 35,000 journal titles (in print or online) and 7.4 million microforms. By acquiring scholarly resources, developing innovative services, and applying new information technologies, the MU Libraries fulfill their primary purpose: to serve users.

Many volumes of important older research materials are housed in two off-campus storage facilities that contain more than one million volumes from all of the University of Missouri campus libraries.

Ellis Library includes principle resources for research in the social sciences, humanities, agriculture and the basic sciences. Ellis Library also has a department of special collections (rare books and microforms) and a current periodicals reading room. The libraries have many automated research tools. The libraries' main web page, <http://mulibraries.missouri.edu>, provides a gateway to the MERLIN Online Catalog. In addition, over 195 electronic databases in all academic disciplines are accessible at the webpage for current students, staff and faculty. The libraries also provide access to over 17,049 electronic journals.

The university collections are frequently reinforced by gifts of friends and alumni. Outstanding gifts include an unpublished manuscript of Charlotte Bronte; the library and manuscripts of John G. Neihardt; the library and manuscripts of Mary Lago; the V.T. Hamlin "Alley Oop" collection; and the libraries of the late Dr. Frank Luther Mott (dean and professor of journalism), Judge Laurance M. Hyde of the Missouri Supreme Court, Methodist Bishop Ivan Lee Holt, and former Governor Henry S. Caulfield.

Two other libraries, the Western Historical Manuscripts Collection and the library of the State Historical Society of Missouri, are open to faculty, students and the public for study and research. Most of the papers in the Western Historical Manuscripts Collection relate to the area of the Missouri River and Great Plains and include interesting correspondence, account books and diaries representing early and recent business, professional, political and social life. The library of the State Historical Society of Missouri has an extensive collection of Missouriana and the early West and a painting collection including the works of George Caleb Bingham.

The law library, housed in Hulston Hall, the School of Law, holds over 330,000 volumes, including a small collection of law-related government documents. The law library is open to members of the public who need to do legal research.

University of Missouri Extension

University of Missouri Extension has its roots in federal acts – including the Morrill Land Grant Act of 1862 and the Smith-Lever Act of 1914 – that enabled the university to deliver the practical benefits of education and scientific research to the people to improve their economic prospects and quality of life. As early as 1911, MU was reaching out to farmers and families and providing distance education courses for teachers across the state. In 1955, state legislation established county extension councils to advise the university on educational programs. Each year, some 2,000 citizens volunteer their time and effort on these councils to assess local educational needs and to work with extension faculty in delivering and evaluating programs. A partnership of local, state and federal government forms the basis for supporting these efforts.

Today, University of Missouri Extension continues to translate research and knowledge generated by the university's faculty in ways that meet the practical needs of Missourians. Working with faculty members on the four UM System campuses and jointly with Lincoln University Cooperative Extension, specialists serve every county and the city of St. Louis. They reach audiences that are diverse in age, race, income and education levels with educational programs, publications, informative websites and individual consultations. Programs in community development, agriculture and natural resources, 4-H youth development, human environmental sciences, business development and continuing education build the capacity for success in individuals and communities, and create a foundation for locally and regionally based economic development. Every year, more than one million Missourians participate in MU Extension programs and take online and continuing education courses.

MU Research Reactor

The University of Missouri Research Reactor Center (MURR) is a unique national resource that brings together the most powerful (10 megawatt) and productive university research reactor in the world and the resources of a major teaching hospital, a respected cancer center, a leading college of veterinary medicine, and distinguished university programs in the biosciences, chemistry and engineering. Since 1966, MURR has served as a unique resource for researchers, faculty and students from universities, government agencies and private companies.

MURR research programs encompass three major areas: biomedical sciences, materials sciences and trace element analysis. All of the programs emphasize collaborative efforts. The biomedical science program focuses on the development of radiopharmaceuticals for use in cancer research and therapeutic applications. The trace element analysis program uses neutron activation analysis and other sophisticated techniques to determine the composition of biological, archaeological and geological samples. The materials sciences program focuses on the use of neutron scattering instruments and techniques to define and characterize materials at the molecular or atomic level.

Educational opportunities abound at MURR. As an international educational resource for multidisciplinary research, the center draws students from every continent except Antarctica. Undergraduate and graduate students participate in MURR research projects in diverse disciplines such as anthropology and archaeology, chemistry, engineering (chemical, electrical, mechanical and nuclear), geology, materials science, medical and life sciences (including cancer diagnostics, treatment and prevention), nutrition, physics and veterinary medicine. MURR also participates in the Research Experiences for Undergraduates program, a summer research program sponsored by the National Science Foundation.

University of Missouri Health Care

University of Missouri–Kansas City

Telephone: (816) 235-1000
www.umkc.edu / E-mail: admit@umkc.edu

The history of the University of Missouri–Kansas City (UMKC) goes back to the 1880s. Three of the professional schools now a part of the university were founded in the 19th century: the School of Dentistry, 1881; the School of Pharmacy, 1895; and the School of Law, 1895. The Conservatory of Music was founded a few years later in 1906. Around that time, community leaders were discussing the need for a university in Kansas City.

By the 1920s, two groups were planning for such a university. One group wanted to establish a Methodist-affiliated Lincoln and Lee University. The other group wanted a private University of Kansas City. Eventually, the two groups united and, in 1929, the University of Kansas City was chartered.

The next year, William Volker, Kansas City manufacturer and philanthropist, gave the newly chartered institution 40 acres purchased from the William Rockhill Nelson estate. In 1931, Volker donated the funds to buy the eight-acre site of the Walter S. Dickey mansion. It was in this remodeled building that the University of Kansas City began its first academic year on October 2, 1933, with 264 students and 17 faculty members.

The first commencement at the University of Kansas City was June 9, 1936, with 80 graduates.

In 1963, the University of Kansas City merged into the University of Missouri System, giving birth to the University of Missouri–Kansas City. In 1963, the enrollment was 4,394; more than 14,000 now enroll at UMKC.

College of Arts and Sciences

The College of Arts and Sciences is the largest division of UMKC. It provides a broad liberal arts education as well as graduate and doctoral preparation, enabling students to take their places as specialists in a number of chosen fields.

The major areas of study are architecture, urban planning and design, art and art history, chemistry, communication studies, economics, English language and literature, foreign language and literature, geosciences, history, mathematics and statistics, philosophy, physics, political science, psychology, sociology, criminal justice and criminology, and theatre. Several interdisciplinary majors also are offered in such areas as Judaic studies and urban affairs. Graduate work at the master's level is offered in nearly all of the college's departments. Doctoral studies are available in psychology. A number of departments also participate in the Interdisciplinary Ph.D. Program offered through the School of Graduate Studies. Within Arts and Sciences, the Department of Theatre, the Mock Trial teams, creative writing and the UMKC Debate Squad consistently receive national attention.

School of Biological Sciences

The School of Biological Sciences seeks to provide quality education, to expand knowledge through scientific research and to apply the latest scientific information for the advancement of human welfare.

Created in 1985, the school serves to advance the missions of the campus and those programs that have a foundation in the life sciences. It is closely tied to and supports academic programs in the schools of dentistry, nursing, pharmacy and the College of Arts and Sciences.

It also offers bachelor's, master's and interdisciplinary Ph.D. degrees.

In 1999, the School of Biological Sciences announced its membership in an exclusive national consortium to conduct research at the prestigious Argonne National Laboratory in Chicago.

Henry W. Bloch School of Business and Public Administration

Programs at the Henry W. Bloch School of Business and Public Administration provide present and future administrators of business, government and non-profit organizations opportunities to gain or enhance their knowledge and skills for effective leadership. These degree programs lead to the bachelor of business administration, bachelor of science in accounting, master of business administration and master of public administration. The Bloch School also offers interdisciplinary Ph.D. degrees.

The school actively engages in research of interest to the business community, Kansas City's urban core and government agencies. The school added an accelerated Executive M.B.A. program in 1995.

The Bloch School offers entrepreneurship as a component of study for students in different degree programs, including M.B.A. and Executive M.B.A. programs.

In 2005, the school was named one of the top 10 schools in the nation for entrepreneurship emphasis in the April 2005 issue of Entrepreneur Magazine. Previously, the Bloch School was in Entrepreneur Magazine's top 25.

School of Computing and Engineering

The mission of the School of Computing and Engineering is to provide competitive educational opportunities and focused research in computing and engineering, generating the technical workforce and research needed for economic development. Undergraduate degree offerings include programs in computer science and information technology and ABET accredited programs in civil engineering, electrical and computer engineering and mechanical engineering. Master of Science degree programs are offered in civil engineering, computer science, electrical engineering and mechanical engineering. Thesis and non-thesis options are available. The school also participates in UMKC's Interdisciplinary Ph.D. program through four disciplines: computer science, electrical and computer engineering, engineering, and telecommunications and computer networking. Computer science and electrical engineering research strengths cover a wide range of specialties, including networking and telecommunications, software engineering and systems, bio-informatics, communications, computer engineering and algorithms. Civil and mechanical engineering research strengths include transportation, bioengineering, engineering education, materials, structures, refrigeration and river engineering. All programs are designed to prepare graduates for successful careers in computer science and engineering.

School of Dentistry

What began in 1881 as the Kansas City Dental College is today the UMKC School of Dentistry, which annually admits approximately 100 students into its four-year Doctor of Dental Surgery (DDS) degree program, 30 dental graduates into specialty programs, and 30 dental hygiene students. The school serves 33,000 patients of record who provide undergraduate and graduate students with more than 110,000 patient visits annually.

UMKC was the first U.S. dental school to develop and implement a fully electronic patient record-keeping system with digital radiography in its patient-care clinics. Funded by a one-time appropriation from the state of Missouri, in 1998–2001, the school embarked on an $18.2 million renovation project to modernize the school's 30-year-old building. The philanthropic support of the school's more than 7,500 living alumni has created more than 60 endowed scholarships that provide financial assistance to a third of the school's 500 dental, dental hygiene and graduate students.

The school serves the broader dental community by offering continuing education programs for dental practitioners. The school also supports or participates in at least three dozen outreach programs that range from providing oral health screenings to disadvantaged children to delivering care to persons in underserved, rural areas in Missouri as well as in Latin America.

The Department of Oral Biology has been named an area of eminence by the University of Missouri System in recognition of its interdisciplinary research programs in the areas of biomaterials engineering, mineralized tissue biology, and translational and clinical research. Private business and industry contract with the Clinical Research Center to perform clinical trials and efficacy testing on dental products or procedures. In 2003, the school completed a $5.6 million expansion project, jointly funded by UMKC and the National Institutes of Health that added 18,000 square feet of laboratory and office space for the Department of Oral Biology. Total annual research funding for the school averages over $5 million.

School of Education

The goal of the School of Education is preparation of teachers, counselors, and administrators for elementary and secondary schools. In this role, the school is focused on becoming a national leader in preparing exemplary education professionals for an urban school setting, and will continue to be a primary resource to Kansas City's metropolitan school districts. Other responsibilities include the preparation of counseling psychologists and professionals for higher education institutions, as well as reading, technology and TESOL specialists. The School of Education is fully accredited from the National Council for Accreditation of Teacher Education and the American Psychology Association.

Graduate degree programs include the master of arts, educational specialist and doctoral degrees. Graduate degree programs leading to the master of arts degree in education are offered in counseling and guidance, curriculum and instruction, reading education, special education and educational administration. Educational specialist degrees are available in educational administration, reading education, curriculum and instruction, and counseling and guidance.

In addition to the wide range of graduate degrees intended for practicing professionals and career changers, the School of Education offers a diverse array of continuing education to the Kansas City metropolitan area. Offerings include stand-alone programs and offerings delivered in conjunction with partner school districts.

Doctoral degrees are available in counseling psychology from the division of Counseling and Educational Psychology and K-12 administration from the division of Urban Leadership and Policy Studies in Education. The School of Education also participates in the interdisciplinary Ph.D. program, which offers numerous discipline areas from which to choose.

With the goal of addressing the unique needs of students in the urban school environment, UMKC's Institute for Urban Education was launched in fall 2005 in collaboration with the College of Arts and Sciences and the School of Education. The IUE serves as the school's flagship undergraduate program in meeting the needs of urban school districts. Through innovative and rigorous preparation programs, the IUE assists in providing highly qualified teachers that meet the needs of the Kansas City community today and in the future.

In addition to the IUE, the School of Education offers undergraduate programs leading to the bachelor of arts in early childhood, elementary, middle school, and secondary education and recommends students for certification at both initial and advanced levels in a variety of content areas. Initial certification is available in 18 program areas, and advanced certification or add-on endorsements are available in nine program areas. The school's program faculty work in close cooperation with professional practitioners in partner school districts to deliver programs grounded in theory and emphasize practice through extensive field work, practica and culminating internships. Additional program information is available on the school's Web site at www.umkc.edu/education/.

School of Graduate Studies

Programs for advanced degrees in the liberal arts were introduced by the University of Kansas City in 1939. Graduate degree programs are offered in a variety of fields in the humanities, social sciences and natural sciences. Several are of special interest to students preparing for careers in the health sciences, performing arts and urban affairs.

Master's degree programs are offered in accounting, anesthesia, criminal justice and criminology, art history, bioinformatics, biology, business administration, cellular and molecular biology, chemistry, civil engineering, computer science, counseling and guidance, dental hygiene, economics, education, English, engineering, history, law, mathematics, music, oral biology, nursing, pharmaceutical sciences, physics, political science, psychology, public administration, romance languages, psychology, social work, sociology, studio art, theatre and urban environmental geology.

The education specialist degrees, master of fine arts, master of laws and doctor of musical arts are also available. The Interdisciplinary Ph.D. Program offers students a range of doctoral options. Support is available to qualified graduate students through scholarships, assistantships and fellowships.

School of Law

The Kansas City School of Law, founded in 1895, merged with the University of Kansas City in 1938. When UMKC joined the UM system in 1963, the school became known as the UMKC School of Law.

The law school is housed in a modern facility, equipped with the latest audiovisual aids, ample seminar rooms, a large student lounge and individual offices for student organizations. The library is designed to accommodate 215,000 volumes. A unique feature of the building is the placement of student study stations in office suites shared by faculty.

The location of the School of Law on an urban university campus provides abundant opportunities for student participation in special clinical programs. Missouri and Kansas Supreme Court rules permit senior law students to appear in court and before administrative tribunals on behalf of indigent people. Students also serve as editors and write a substantial portion of the UMKC Law Review, a scholarly legal journal.

School of Medicine

In 1971, the UMKC School of Medicine accepted its first class in the six-year medical program. The year-round program, involving 48 weeks of study each year, offers students the opportunity to earn both their M.D. degree and a bachelor's degree from either the College of Arts and Sciences or the School of Biological Sciences. It is designed primarily for highly qualified high school seniors.

The curriculum of the School of Medicine provides early exposure to clinical medicine and basic science education, as well as a liberal arts education that is fully integrated into the six-year program. Admission to this program as a freshman gives the student the opportunity to complete requirements for the doctor of medicine degree without a second admission process.

A unique feature of the school is the docent system, which provides a full-time faculty member assigned to 12 students for a four-year period, creating an opportunity for the student to have close interaction with a faculty member who serves as a teacher, role model, counselor and mentor.

Nearby are the Medical School's major affiliate hospitals: Truman Medical Center, Children's Mercy Hospital, St. Luke's Hospital, Western Missouri Mental Health Center and the Kansas City Veterans Affairs Medical Center. In addition, the School of Medicine utilizes a number of outstanding private community hospitals in the Kansas City area for education in clinical medicine.

Conservatory of Music

The Conservatory of Music and Dance has earned national and international recognition through its music and dance performance, composition, teaching and scholarship. One of the most comprehensive music and dance educational centers in the Midwest since 1906, the conservatory has more than 80 faculty who are highly regarded as scholars, artists, teachers and leaders in their fields. The conservatory offers the degrees of bachelor of music, bachelor of arts, bachelor of fine arts, Master of music education and doctor of musical arts. It offers the community hundreds of music and dance programs annually by visiting artists, including those in its acclaimed Signature Series – faculty and students. The conservatory also offers students the opportunity to participate in a variety of ensembles that perform throughout the year. More than 20 ensembles are open by audition to all UMKC students who qualify. Ensembles include the Conservatory Orchestra, Chamber Orchestra, Percussion Ensemble, Wind Symphony, Wind Ensemble, Musica Nova (a contemporary music ensemble), 11 O'Clock Jazz Band and numerous vocal and jazz groups.

School of Pharmacy

The origin of pharmacy education in Kansas City began in 1885 when a small group of medical professionals created a private school that had the Department of Pharmacy as one of its academic divisions. Although this initial effort failed a few years after it began, in 1889, another group of local pharmacists created the "Kansas City College of Pharmacy and Natural Science" and this operated successfully until 1943, when it merged with the University of Kansas City and became simply known as the "School of Pharmacy."

When UKC merged into the University of Missouri system in 1963 and became the University of Missouri-Kansas City, the School of Pharmacy became the only public pharmacy school in the state of Missouri.

The UMKC School of Pharmacy offers both professional and graduate programs in the pharmaceutical sciences, including pharmacaceutics, pharmacology, biopharmaceutics, pharmacokinetics and toxicology; pharmacy administration; and pharmacy practice. The primary professional degree offered is the doctor of pharmacy (Pharm. D.). Pharmacy faculty conduct interdisciplinary research and engage in community service. Students are active in various outreach projects, including a program to educate school children about the dangers of inappropriate medication use. The pharmacy program includes significant patient contact and provides training in the interdisciplinary approach to patient care.

The clinical components of the curriculum are conducted at several area health facilities including the Kansas City Veterans Administration Medical Center and Truman Medical Centers. A senior externship is available at sites throughout Missouri.

In 2005, the School of Pharmacy launched a satellite Pharm.D. program at the University of Missouri-Columbia campus. Courses are taught either by using 21st century distance education technology between the two campuses or by UMKC pharmacy faculty located on each campus. This successful program was created in part to help meet the increasing need for pharmacists in Missouri's rural communities and to help with the shortage of pharmacists statewide.

Libraries

Located at four sites on the UMKC campus, library collections contain nearly 1.6 million volumes, some 7,027 current serial subscriptions, 1.9 million microforms and more than 450,000 government documents supporting the programs of the university. Resources are complemented by agreements that provide access to information held in other libraries and repositories worldwide.

The libraries employ advanced technologies to locate and deliver information to faculty, students and others. Up-to-date laser, computer and telecommunications and other advanced systems provide timely delivery of needed information. Internal operations also rely on advanced systems to acquire, process, catalog and circulate materials owned by the libraries.

The libraries lend materials to any citizen of Missouri through a number of resource-sharing arrangements. These arrangements are designed to assist patrons, businesses and government agencies at all levels and foster the economic development of the state and region.

Especially prominent is the commitment to enhance the development of the Kansas City metropolitan area through active cooperative programs with local libraries. The UMKC libraries are committed to such innovative programs as the Community Information Program and membership in the Kansas City Metropolitan Library Network.

In addition to the general holdings, the libraries have many special collections. These include the papers and manuscripts of Paul Creston, prominent 20th century American composer; the Midwest Center for American Music collections, including those of renowned Kansas City composer Virgil Thompson; the Gaylord Marr Sound Archives; the Snyder American collection and the Baker collection of 20th century British and American literature.

Working closely with the libraries, the University of Missouri Western Historical Manuscripts Collection has the papers of such well-known Kansas Citizens as Charles N. Kimball, Arthur Mag, J.C. Nichols, Oscar D. Nelson, Elmer F. Pierson, L. Perry Cookingham, Charles B. Wheeler and Lou E. Holland as well as extensive architectural records of Kansas City buildings augmented by the Holt, Price, Barnes and Asa B. Cross papers.

School of Nursing

Approval for establishment of a School of Nursing was granted by the UM Board of Curators in 1979. The school accepted its first class of registered nurse undergraduates into its baccalaureate program in fall 1981. A four-year B.S.N. program began in fall 2001. Fully accredited by the National League for Nursing, the school also offers a bachelor of science in nursing focusing on adults', women's and children's health; and the inter-campus Ph.D., in cooperation with the University of Missouri–St. Louis and University of Missouri–Columbia campuses.

Continuing Education

The university's schools and colleges, with responsibility for their respective continuing education programs, extend the university's knowledge resources beyond the traditional on-campus degree programs. Through credit courses, non-credit courses, conferences and institutes, residents of the state and the community are provided the opportunity to continue their education in a manner suited to the adult mind.

Non-credit continuing education activities are carefully planned undertakings involving an academic department and usually an organized group from business, industry, government or the general public. Citizens throughout the state are served by UMKC through its relationship with statewide University Extension.

Offerings include liberal arts lectures and seminars; professional, refresher, remedial and post-graduate courses; and problem-oriented educational programs designed for the analysis and study of major social and urban problems. Formal education also may be continued through credit courses offered off the campus or by enrollment in correspondence courses for academic credit. Frequently, public forums concerned with vital issues of the day are organized and offered in order to increase both the number and effectiveness of people who work toward solutions of community problems.

While responding to the broad and varied needs of the community and state, the university is at the same time placing increased emphasis on the development of specific program areas identified as important to large professional, economic and other special-interest audiences within the community.

Admission

The Office of Admissions serves as the initial contact between the student and UMKC. This office conducts the registration of students in cooperation with the various schools and colleges within UMKC and maintains student academic records.

University of Missouri–Rolla

Telephone: (573) 341-4111

www.umr.edu / E-mail: umrolla@umr.edu

The University of Missouri–Rolla (UMR) was founded in 1870 as the University of Missouri School of Mines and Metallurgy (MSM). MSM was the first technological institution west of the Mississippi and one of the first in the nation. The campus was renamed the University of Missouri–Rolla in 1964. On January 1, 2008, UMR will become Missouri University of Science and Technology, or Missouri S&T.

A product of the land-grant movement of the late nineteenth century, the campus was Missouri's response to the acute need for scientific and practical education in the developing nation. The early academic programs focused on the mining and metallurgical industries, but the campus broadened its engineering mission over time as the need for engineering and scientific education grew.

Graduate education and research began to assume a greater emphasis on the campus in the 1950s, and the school of Mines and Metallurgy became a comprehensive technological university.

In 1964, UMR became one of the four campuses of the reorganized University of Missouri. Today, UMR continues its focus on educating leaders in engineering and science and ranks among the top 25 in the nation in the number of bachelor's degrees awarded in engineering.

The change from "school" to "university" involved three major shifts in emphasis:

- Expanded curricula designed to encompass the full range of engineering and scientific subjects, including nuclear engineering, biological sciences and computer science.
- New degree programs in the liberal arts, humanities and social sciences, with an appropriate growth in the number and quality of faculty and courses.
- New graduate programs to strengthen the science and engineering disciplines, and a strong commitment to research in all areas. These changes better enabled the campus to respond to Missouri's needs.

Originally a mining school and later an engineering school, the University of Missouri–Rolla has become a technological research university of national distinction. The University of Missouri–Rolla offers bachelor of arts and bachelor of science degrees in 30 fields of engineering, science, humanities, business and social sciences. Master of science degrees are offered in 27 disciplines, the doctor of philosophy in 20 and the doctor of engineering in nine.

Academic Programs

Engineering programs comprise the largest on campus, with about 63 percent of the student body enrolled in one of UMR's eight engineering departments. These include chemical and biological engineering; civil, architectural and environmental engineering; electrical and computer engineering; engineering management; geological sciences and engineering; material science and engineering; mechanical and aerospace engineering; and mining and nuclear engineering.

Areas covered by these departments are widely diversified and include the major branches of engineering vital to the industrial progress of the state and nation. An education in one of these fields of engineering prepares a student professionally for positions, both technical and managerial, in a variety of industries and governmental organizations.

B.S., M.S. and Ph.D. programs are offered in all engineering disciplines. The doctor of engineering is offered in civil, chemical, electrical, geological, mechanical, mining, nuclear and petroleum engineering. In addition, UMR offers a statewide video-based M.S. degree in engineering management and manufacturing engineering, and an online M.S. degree in systems engineering.

The quality of its graduates and contributions made through engineering research have made the university internationally known. Departments within the school are among the largest and most outstanding in the country.

UMR offers undergraduate and graduate programs in seven disciplines related to energy, earth resources and materials fields: ceramic, geological, metallurgical, mining, nuclear and petroleum engineering, and geology and geophysics. All offer bachelor's, master's and Ph.D. degree programs. A doctor of engineering is offered in ceramic, geological, mining, nuclear and petroleum engineering.

The university is one of only two institutions of higher education in the country offering professional training in all of the energy and minerals engineering disciplines.

UMR has long enjoyed national and international recognition for the quality of its educational and research programs. Through these, it has made significant contributions to both the metallic and non-metallic mineral industries of the state and nation. Close liaison is maintained with state and federal agencies concerned with mineral resources technology and management, as well as with industry and professional organizations.

Arts and Sciences

UMR also has departments of biological sciences, chemistry, computer science, mathematics and statistics, physics, English, history and political science, philosophy, liberal arts and psychology. B.S., M.S. and Ph.D. degrees are offered by all science departments except biological sciences, which offers an M.S. only. The B.A. degree, which has been granted on the UMR campus since 1967, may be earned in English, history, philosophy, psychology, biological sciences and chemistry. The B.S. may be earned in psychology, biological sciences and physics.

These departments not only provide course work for students majoring in those fields (about 21 percent of the student body) but are also responsible for teaching science, mathematics and liberal arts courses to students majoring in engineering. The computer science department is the state's largest. In addition to educating UMR students, UMR serves the people and industries of the state through research and science activities.

Business and information systems

UMR also works to meet the growing demand in industry for people with training in both management and information technology. The university offers undergraduate and graduate programs in business administration, economics and finance, information science and technology and management information systems.

These departments offer B.S. degrees. A B.A. degree is also offered in economics and finance, and an M.S. degree is offered in information science and technology.

Students begin with a broad range of foundational courses in humanities, social sciences, science and mathematics. Interspersed with these general education requirements, they will take classes that reflect the theme of integration of business and technology, and represent information technology, management, quantitative and communication skills. As students complete these foundational requirements, they begin to specialize in the differing degree programs.

Graduate Study

Graduate study has been offered at the University of Missouri–Rolla since about 1900, when the first master of science degree programs were established. The first doctor of philosophy degree for work done on the Rolla campus was granted in 1926. M.S. and Ph.D. degrees are now granted by all engineering and science departments except biological sciences, which offers an M.S.

The M.S. degree is also granted in manufacturing engineering and in systems engineering. Nine departments offer the doctor of engineering degree.

UMR Engineering Education Center

The UMR Engineering Education Center on the University of Missouri–St. Louis campus was established in 1964 as part of the continuing education program of the UMR Extension Division.

It offers evening courses leading to M.S. degrees in aerospace, chemical, civil, electrical, mechanical, metallurgical, environmental and planning engineering; engineering management; engineering mechanics; and computer science. Course instruction is by UMR faculty and selected engineers and scientists from industry. More than 2,000 degrees have been granted for work completed at the center.

UMR School of Extended Learning

In response to growing national trends, the UMR School of Extended Learning has expanded its distance and continuing education course offerings to better meet the needs of many of today's students, as well as professionals who want to continue their education, but aren't able to attend on-campus classes.

Students enrolled in distance courses at UMR may attend class online from their office or home or while away on business. Courses are broadcast live on the Internet and archived for students unavailable at the scheduled class time.

The distance courses are identical to the on-campus version. In fact, most classes consist of both on- and off-campus students. Students can also learn through mailed CD ROMs and DVDs and face-to-face communication.

UMR's distance education offerings have expanded from a few courses at Fort Leonard Wood and the Engineering Education Center in St. Louis to offering online graduate degree programs in civil engineering, computer science, engineering management, information science and technology, manufacturing engineering, mining engineering, systems engineering, engineering management and geotechnics, as well as 36 certificate programs.

In 2001, UMR partnered with Boeing to offer its employees a degree in systems engineering. The program began with 30 students in its first year and has grown to a current enrollment of more than 263 students.

Research

As one of a select national group of state technological universities, UMR has directed its research chiefly toward supporting education and service in engineering and science. Research is important on the Rolla campus not only because of its results, but as an educational tool for both faculty and students.

Research projects are conducted in every academic department in nearly every phase of engineering and science and in some areas of liberal arts. Much of it is directly related to the needs of the people and industries of Missouri and to national problems such as energy, mineral resources and the environment.

UMR's research is focused on five areas: environmental engineering and science; infrastructure engineering; manufacturing engineering; materials engineering and science; and information science and technology. Among the notable research occurring at UMR is a multidisciplinary effort to develop technology for the removal of land mines; testing and development of new lightweight composite materials for use in bridges, buildings and other infrastructure; investigations into the effects of aircraft, space shuttle and rocket exhaust on the ozone layer; and the development of more environmentally friendly methods for removing paint from aircraft. Other projects are as diverse as basic investigations in cloud physics, the study of the gases in meteorites and moon rocks, research on lightweight structural steel and earthquake structures, plus robotics, flexible manufacturing, smart materials and glass beads used in the treatment of cancer and arthritis.

UMR's research centers carry out interdisciplinary investigations that involve different fields of engineering and science. UMR's research centers include the Biochemical Processing Institute, Center for Cold-Formed Steel Structures, Center for Environmental Science and Technology, Center for Infrastructure Engineering Studies, Cloud and Aerosol Sciences Laboratory, Design Engineering Center, Electronics Materials Processing and Characterization Institute, Engineering Research Laboratory, Experimental Combustion Laboratory, Experimental Mine, Center for Pyrometallurgy, Graduate Center for Materials Research, High Pressure Waterjet Laboratory, Institute for Applied Mathematics, Institute of Applied Chemistry, Institute for Artificial Intelligence, Institute for Chemical and Extractive Metallurgy, Institute of River Studies, Institute of Thin Film Processing, Intelligent Systems Center, International Institute of River and Lake Systems, Laboratory for Atomic and Molecular Research, Missouri Mining and Mineral Resources Research Institute, Nuclear Reactor, Rock Mechanics and Explosives Research Center, Transportation Institute, Center for Entrepreneurship and Outreach, Electromagnetic Compatibility Laboratory, and Applied Microwave Nondestructive Testing Laboratory.

The University of Missouri–St. Louis is a public metropolitan research university located in Missouri's most populous and economically diverse region. The university strives to strengthen educational programs at all levels, enhance the research and creative capacities of faculty and students and serve the region's needs through research and technology transfer, innovative educational outreach programs and work force development.

Founded in 1963 on the grounds of a former country club, the University of Missouri–St. Louis today is spread across 350 acres of rolling hills in suburban St. Louis County adjacent to two interstate highways and five minutes from Lambert-St. Louis International Airport. The campus has 44 academic and general-purpose buildings as well as student residence halls, condominiums and apartments. The newest of these facilities are the $11 million Center for Molecular Electronics, $32 million Millennium Student Center and $52 million Blanche M. Touhill Performing Arts Center. The campus also is developing a 100-acre business, research and technology park and planning new facilities for its colleges of Business Administration and Education.

The largest university in the region, the University of Missouri–St. Louis enrolls nearly 16,000 students and employs more than 1,000 full-time and part-time teaching and research faculty members. More than 95 percent of tenure and tenure-track faculty hold doctoral or terminal degrees in their respective fields and edit or have articles routinely published in a variety of nationally renowned academic journals. Numerous academic programs have attained national recognition for their quality, including criminology and criminal justice, education, tropical ecology, nursing and optometry. U.S. News & World Report ranks the Department of Criminology and Criminal Justice's doctoral degree program as the fourth best in the country and the International Business Program as eighth in the country.

While graduates of the University of Missouri–St. Louis have taken leadership roles nationally and internationally, their influence remains centered in the St. Louis region. More than 75 percent of University of Missouri–St. Louis graduates still live and work in the region — supporting the unofficial campus tagline “We Educate St. Louis.”

The Pierre Laclede Honors College was established in 1989 and has grown to include its own campus, complete with instructional, residential and recreational facilities.

Students may pursue degrees in any undergraduate division of UM–St. Louis. In addition, students must undertake a personal writing program and pursue independent study through research, internships, public service projects and guided reading.

The college features a student-faculty ratio of 14:1, a scholar development program, a writing program and 11 honors classes. It offers academic excellence comparable to expensive private colleges, but at public institution rates.

The four-year program has a highly selective student body of about 450. The college's teachers are among the university's leading research and teaching faculty.

College of Business Administration

At the undergraduate level, the College of Business Administration offers the bachelor of science in business administration degree with emphases in finance, international business, logistics and operations management, management and organizational behavior and marketing.

Bachelor of science in accounting and bachelor of science in management information systems degrees also are offered to undergraduate students. These programs provide students with a high quality business education that prepares them to become productive contributors in both private and public sector organizations.

The college offers three master's degree programs. The Master of Business Administration program is designed to fully prepare students for administrative positions. The Master of Science in Management Information Systems program includes a specialized program in computer-based management information systems. The college also offers a doctoral degree in business administration with a focus on information systems. All of the college's programs are accredited by the International Association for Management Education, the authorized professional accrediting body in collegiate business education.

The Center for Business and Industrial Studies was established in 1982 to meet the research needs of the St. Louis business community. The center analyzes managerial programs and conducts applied research. Through the center, clients have access to a distinguished faculty with specialized knowledge and analytical tools, statistical databases and computer software adaptable to a wide variety of business applications.

College of Education

grams to prepare and sustain educational leaders for a variety of school and non-school settings.

The college is consistently one of the top three institutions in the state in the production of educators. Consistent with the college's theme of "Creating the 21st Century School of Education," programs emphasize state-of-the-art technological applications to enhance teaching and learning as well as collaboration among university, school, agency and corporate partners to prepare and revitalize educators.

The faculty, including a number of nationally recognized endowed professors, are committed to a continuous exchange between research and practice that improves the learning environment of diverse learners.

The college is divided into five divisions: teaching and learning; educational psychology; research and evaluation; educational leadership and policy studies; and counseling and family therapy.

In addition to numerous undergraduate degree programs, the college offers master's degrees in counseling, educational administration, elementary education, secondary education and special education. Within these programs, a number of emphasis areas are available, including community education, elementary and secondary school administration, elementary and secondary reading, general and school counseling and secondary curriculum and instruction. The college also offers both doctor of education and doctor of philosophy in education degree programs.

College of Optometry

After more than ten years of study and planning, the College of Optometry came into existence on June 1, 1980. The first class of 36 students graduated in May 1984. This college offers the only opportunity to study optometry in Missouri.

Doctors of optometry are primary health care professionals who examine, diagnose, treat and manage diseases and disorders of the visual system, the eye and associated structures as well as diagnose related systemic conditions. They prescribe glasses, contact lenses, low vision rehabilitation and medications as well as perform certain surgical procedures as regulated by state law.

Optometric education is a four-year professional degree program accredited by the Accreditation Council on Optometric Education through the authority granted by the U.S. Department of Education. Upon graduation and following successful completion of the three-part examination given by the National Board of Examiners in Optometry, graduates are eligible for licensure in all 50 states plus the District of Columbia.

Entering students must have completed at least 90 credit hours of undergraduate work including core courses in the sciences (biology, chemistry and physics), mathematics (including calculus), English and the liberal arts. Applicants also must complete the Optometry Admission Test, which is designed to measure general academic ability and comprehension of scientific information. Ninety-eight percent of those admitted hold a bachelor's degree, most from a scientific discipline.

The curriculum leading to the doctor of optometry degree is a four-year, year-round program. The program prepares graduates to deliver compassionate patient care while instilling a sound background in the biomedical, optical, behavioral and clinical sciences including an understanding of the health care delivery system.

College of Nursing

The College of Nursing offers nursing studies at the undergraduate and graduate levels. Knowledge and skills needed to complete the professional licensure examination to become a professional registered nurse are available through a baccalaureate option. Nurses who have obtained their basic nursing education through associate degree or diploma nursing programs may complete their bachelor's degree at UM–St. Louis.

The college also offers a master's degree in nursing in cooperation with the School of Nursing at UM–Kansas City and the doctoral degree in nursing in cooperation with the UM–Columbia and UM–Kansas City nursing schools.

The college was established as a School of Nursing in 1980 and graduated its first class in May 1983. College status was achieved in 1994 with the acquisition of the basic baccalaureate program through the merger with the Barnes College of Nursing.

Graduate School

The graduate school has responsibility for all graduate degree programs in the various schools and colleges of the university.

Graduate programs have been designed to serve students with either of two career goals—to obtain an advanced degree or to obtain advanced training for personal or professional growth.

Academic programs include 27 offering master's degrees and 11 offering doctoral degrees. Two interdisciplinary graduate programs, in gerontology and public policy administration, report directly to the graduate school.

UM–St. Louis/Washington University Joint Undergraduate Engineering Program

The UM–St. Louis/Washington University Joint Undergraduate Engineering Program was established in 1992 and offers bachelor's degrees in civil, mechanical and electrical engineering as well as a minor in environmental engineering science. The three bachelor's degrees are accredited by the Engineering Accreditation Commission of the Accreditation Board for Engineering and Technology.

Students who enter the program take half of their course work on the UM–St. Louis campus. The remaining half of the program, consisting of upper-level engineering courses and laboratories, is completed on the campus of Washington University in St. Louis.

Students register for all their courses at UM–St. Louis, pay UM–St. Louis tuition rates and receive their degrees from UM–St. Louis. The joint program allows Missouri to make the most efficient use of public funds while meeting the needs of both traditional and non-traditional students. There are more than 200 graduates of the joint program, including about 14 percent African-Americans and about 18 percent women.

Continuing Education and Outreach

Continuing Education and Outreach, charged with extending the resources of UM–St. Louis to the public, uses the facilities of government agencies, hospitals, schools and businesses to make college credit and non-credit courses conveniently available to the public. The J.C. Penney Conference Center provides a modern adult education setting on campus for short courses, conferences, institutes, workshops and seminars.

Continuing Education and Outreach and the College of Arts and Sciences offer through the Nonprofit Management and Leadership Program courses and seminars for professional staff, board members and other leaders of nonprofit and voluntary organizations as well as for students and others wishing to explore the field.

A graduate concentration program and undergraduate certificate also are offered. Custom designed programs for specific nonprofit association and organizations are available, and the program also provides consulting services to nonprofit or voluntary organizations.

Through the Video Instructional Program, UM–St. Louis offers courses on all local cable television stations on the Higher Education Channel. Graduate and undergraduate credit courses are offered with UM–St. Louis faculty available to answer questions and discuss exams.

UM–St. Louis also operates a two-way video system with other university campuses. This system is used for both credit and non-credit instruction.

The Center for Entrepreneurship and Economic Education provides courses, workshops, conferences and consultations on economic concerns for teachers and administrators. Curriculum materials also are developed and distributed. The center is affiliated with the Missouri Council on Economic Education and the joint Council on Economic Education, a national network of economic educators.

The university also maintains the West County Computer Center, located near the intersection of Interstate 270 and Manchester Road at 1715 Deer Tracks Trail in Town and Country. Computer classes also are taught on the UM–St. Louis campus.

Libraries

UM–St. Louis libraries support the educational objectives of the university and meet the informational needs of the campus community. The UM–St. Louis library system includes the St. Louis Mercantile Library, Thomas Jefferson Library and Ward E. Barnes Library.

Founded in 1846, the St. Louis Mercantile Library is the oldest cultural institution west of the Mississippi River. The library moved to the UM–St. Louis campus in 1998. It includes two widely renowned specialized transportation collections: the John W. Barriger III National Railroad Library and Herman T. Pott National Inland Waterways Library. The Barriger library focuses on American railroad history and is one of the largest of its kind in the United States. Its holdings include 40,000 books plus primary manuscript documents and photographs. The Pott library focuses on U.S. river and inland waterways history and contains 2,500 books and a large pictorial/photographic collection.

The UM–St. Louis libraries house one million volumes, 300,000 photographs, one million government documents and more than one million microforms. They provide access to more than 15,000 full-text online periodicals. The libraries are open more than 80 hours per week during regular academic sessions.

Organized in 1898 by the Missouri Press Association, the State Historical Society is directed by statute to collect, preserve, make available and publish the history of Missouri and the Middle West.

For over one hundred years, the State Historical Society has been the center for serious research into every aspect of the society and government of Missouri and the lives of its residents. It is a heavily utilized service institution for the citizens and students of Missouri, supplying research facilities and information for every department of the state, its schools and colleges, and thousands of personal requests.

Society Headquarters

The society is located on the ground floor of the University of Missouri–Columbia Ellis Library, where the reference reading room; newspaper reading room; microfilm reading room; rare book collection; art gallery; manuscript reading room; oral history program; photograph and map collections; and various administrative, research and editorial offices are located. The society is open to the public Monday, Wednesday and Friday, 8 a.m.–4:30 p.m., Tuesday, 8 a.m.–9 p.m., and Saturday, 9 a.m.–4:30 p.m., except on legal holidays. The hours for the art gallery, which permanently exhibits works by George Caleb Bingham and Thomas Hart Benton and changing exhibits of works by other Missouri and Missouri-related artists, are 8:30 a.m.–4 p.m., Monday–Friday and 9:30 a.m.–4 p.m., Saturday.

The Library and Its Use

Citizens, officials and students interested in Missouri history, biography and genealogy find in the society library unsurpassed reference collections. The library of books, pamphlets and official state publication total more than 460,000 items. For genealogical research, the society's microfilm file of United States census reports is one of the largest in the Midwest, with a total of 6,051 reels covering 48 states and the District of Columbia, with 1,595 reels of Missouri census from 1830–1880 and 1900–1930. A pictorial collection contains more than 100,000 photographs and sketches of historical subjects.

The society's Missouri newspaper collection is the most complete in existence. Extending from 1808 to the present, and containing more than 1,275 bound volumes and more than 42 million pages on 52,390 rolls of microfilm, it is one of the largest state newspaper collections in the nation. In addition, 297 current newspapers from every Missouri county arrive weekly. The history of any famous Missourian, Missouri community, or noted Missouri event can be traced and documented in the collection.

Specialized Book Collections

Over the years, the society has acquired a number of rare or specialized book collections that have given it added recognition as a research center. These collections include the Mahan Memorial Mark Twain Collection, the Eugene Field Collection, the J. Christian Bay Collection of Middle Western Americana, the Francis A. Sampson Collection, the Paul D. Higday Civil War Collection, and the Alice Irene Fitzgerald Collection of Missouri's Literary Heritage for Children. Collections of this type, beyond mere prestige, attract scholars and researchers and form the basis of any historical library.

Manuscript and Map Collections

The society has always placed emphasis on the acquisition of contemporary research materials. Its over 2,400 linear feet of original manuscript collections contain diaries, journals, ledgers, minute books, census records, letters and official state papers. Where original documents of this nature have not been available to the library, microfilm copies have been obtained and total over 600 rolls. Research materials of this type furnish most of the intimate day-to-day accounts of Missouri history and lend vitality to historical writing.

The map collection consists of over 4,300 rare and old maps of the state as well as modern ones. In the collection are maps relating to the growth and development of Missouri and its roads, railroads, rivers, counties and cities. In addition, the collection contains county atlases, general business gazetteers, statistical maps, official topographical maps and early state guidebooks.

Publications

The Missouri Historical Review, an award-winning quarterly, has served as the cornerstone of the society's publication program since 1906.

A benefit of membership, the journal features scholarly articles on diverse topics in Missouri history, and book reviews and notes. An annual Missouri Historical Review article award recognizes outstanding scholarship published in the journal. In addition to the journal, the society has published over 50 volumes of edited documents, narrative and pictorial history, catalogs, directories and indexes.

Missouri Times, a quarterly newsletter, informs members about society and Western Historical Manuscript Collection activities.

History Day in Missouri and Richard S. Brownlee Fund Grants

In conjunction with the Western Historical Manuscript Collection—Columbia, the society sponsors History Day in Missouri, the statewide component of National History Day, a competition for middle school and junior and senior high school students. More than 2,200 students participate annually in regional contests held throughout the state.

Through its annual Richard S. Brownlee Fund grants, the society provides individuals and organizations with monies to assist with publications or other projects furthering knowledge of Missouri history and its citizens.

Lincoln University was founded in 1866 through the cooperative efforts of the enlisted men and officers of the 62nd and 65th U.S. Colored infantries. Lincoln University was designed to meet the educational and social needs of freed African-Americans. In 1890, Lincoln became a land-grant college which brought industrial and agricultural courses to the curriculum.

While remaining committed to its original purpose, the university, in September 1954, expanded its historical mission to embrace the needs of a significantly broader population reflecting varied social, economic, educational and cultural backgrounds. This is the unique purpose that Lincoln University fulfills in higher education.

The core mission of Lincoln University is to provide excellent educational opportunities for a diverse student population in the context of an open enrollment institution. The university provides student-centered learning in a nurturing environment, integrating teaching, research and service.

The campus is comprised of nearly 158 acres, not including Busby Research Farm and Carver Research Farm, the university's two agricultural research facilities.

Located prominently in the heart of campus is Inman E. Page Library, which opened in January 1997. The 80,000 square foot, state-of-the-art facility features the latest in computer technology, distance learning and world-wide informational networking. This facility is four times larger than the library it replaced and is often referred to as the "information mall."

Lincoln University offers relevant, high-quality undergraduate degrees in more than 50 majors, and select graduate programs to include the Specialist Degree in Educational Leadership. In addition, there are divisions of Continuing Education and Adult Evening and Weekend Instruction. All of these programs are grounded in the liberal arts and sciences and are well-designed to meet the academic and professional needs of its student clientele.

cation as a normal school for the preparation of white elementary school teachers. It thus became the first public teacher education institution west of the Mississippi River and the 12th such institution in the United States. Its second predecessor institution—Stowe Teachers College—was also a normal school founded by the same public schools in 1890 to prepare African-American elementary school teachers. Both normal schools later became four-year teachers colleges—Harris Teachers College and Stowe Teachers College. The former was named after William Torrey Harris, U.S. Commissioner of Education and former Superintendent of the St. Louis Public Schools. The latter was named after Harriet Beecher Stowe, the famed slavery abolitionist and author of Uncle Tom's Cabin. These two colleges merged in 1954, forming Harris-Stowe College. Later, in 1979, the College became a State of Missouri public college, with the name, Harris-Stowe State College.

In the early 1990s, the university elected to become a “moderately selective” institution in its admission requirements and soon afterward won state approval to expand its institutional mission. Later, in 2004, the college returned to its earlier open-enrollment admissions. Current-

Through a generous land grant from the City of St. Louis, the university's campus has tripled in size, and through many major contributions from the state of Missouri, the corporate community, university alumni, and many friends of the institution, Harris-Stowe is currently adding six new buildings to its expanded campus and making other major capital improvements—thereby establishing, for the first time in its long history of nearly a century and a half, a full campus including a student residence and student center, a quadrangle, a pedestrian mall, athletic fields and an imposing campus entryway arch. In addition, the university has acquired a small campus in south St. Louis. The state of Missouri, through recent legislation, made the college a university. The watchword of this growing university is "Excellence In All Endeavors, Through Teamwork!"

Linn State Technical College, founded in 1961, is Missouri's only two-year public technical college with a statewide mission. Originating as Linn Technical Junior College, the college became a part of the public higher education system in Missouri with the passing of legislation by the 88th General Assembly.

The original educational institution was established with funding from the National Defense Education Act as a public postsecondary residential technical institution. The philosophy of the original institution was "to provide two-year vocational/technical programs to all students who wish to prepare themselves for employment."

From the very first class of students in 1961, the reputation of the college has continued to grow and become synonymous with quality technical education because it has been responsive to workplace needs. The college has a long-standing reputation for producing graduates with the valued technical and interpersonal skills needed for advancement in the workplace. learning.” Linn State Technical College offers more than 25 technical programs as well as customized and contract training for Missouri business and industry.

Linn State Technical College offers two-year associate of applied science degrees as well as certificates. In each program, the curriculum includes an integration of theory with hands-on application and experience. Such integration ensures the development of functional troubleshooting skills with traditional and innovative techniques, approaches and equipment. Also emphasized are teamwork, interpersonal skills and work ethic. In addition, the general education core contributes to the high level of critical thinking and problem solving ability of graduates. As part of their education, many students participate in on-the-job experience through internships.

Linn State Technical College monitors the economic, industrial and technological needs of the state as new programs are proposed for development. Programs recently developed include Powersports Technology, Biomedical Engineering Technology option in the Electronics Engineering Technology program, Nuclear Technology, Laser/Photonics option in the Automation and Robotics Technology program and the Light-Duty Diesel option in the Automotive Technology program.

The college is dedicated to the development of the potential of each student. Class size is purposely kept small to encourage adequate individual attention and faculty-student interaction. The student body consists of traditional students who recently graduated from high school, as well as working adults making a career shift or enhancing technical skills.

The faculty have a combination of higher education credentials and real world experiences in their professional areas of expertise. In addition, they are continually updating their skills through college courses, industrial training and workshops.

Linn State Technical College is accredited by The Higher Learning Commission and is a member of the North Central Association. Other professional accreditations, certifications or affiliations at the program level include: Commission on Accreditation in Physical Therapy Education (CAPTE); National Automotive Technicians Education Foundation (NATEF)/National Institute for Automotive Service Excellence (ASE); Federal Aviation Administration (FAA); American Design Drafting Association (ADDA); Heating, Ventilation, and Air Conditioning Excellence (HVAC Excellence); Partnership for Air Conditioning, Heating, Refrigeration Accreditation (PAHRA); National Institute for Metalworking Skills (NIMS); National Association of Industrial Technology (NAIT); Associated Equipment Distributors (AED) Foundation; Cisco Education Ecosystem; National Center for Construction Education and Research (NCCER); and the FAA Air Traffic Organization (ATO), Technical Operations, Collegiate Training Initiative. Many instructors hold individual certifications related to their respective teaching fields.

The primary campus is located along Highway 50 on 249 acres one mile east of Linn and includes a public airport. The Physical Therapist Assistant program is offered from a hospital setting in Jefferson City. The Nuclear Technology program, and Automation and Robotics Technology program along with its Laser/Photonics option are offered in Mexico, Missouri, at the Advanced Technology Center, a cooperative higher education technology center. In addition, customized and contract training is offered to Missouri business and industry.

Truman State University, founded in 1867, is a vibrant community of teacher and student scholars with the distinction of being Missouri's only statewide public liberal arts and sciences university and the only public university in the state with highly selective admission standards as defined by the Coordinating Board for Higher Education (CBHE). Truman is a residential university focused on providing its 5,800 students with broad liberal arts experiences and depth of study in 47 undergraduate majors and five graduate programs.

For the tenth year in a row, U.S. News and World Report has recognized Truman as the number one public university in the Midwest Region—Master's category. Truman also was ranked eighth overall in the Midwest region among both private and public institutions. Truman is the only university in Missouri to be included in either top ten category. Kiplinger's Personal Finance magazine's February 2007 issue listed Truman State University as 27th on its exclusive survey list of 100 public colleges and universities that combine "outstanding value with a first-class education." The magazine also ranked Truman as the seventh best educational value in the nation for out-of-state students.

In addition to being highlighted by several news magazines, Truman has been featured in The Washington Post, The New York Times, USA Today, The Dallas Morning News, The Kansas City Star and The St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

Truman State University has a long history of being recognized nationally by higher education experts for its assessment program and its commitment to providing a high-quality liberal arts and sciences education at an affordable price. Truman's program of assessment allows the university to measure the results of the teaching-learning process and to gather critical information on student growth and development to ensure that graduates are prepared for future success.

Truman's curriculum provides each student, regardless of intended specialization, with a foundation of knowledge appropriate to a traditional liberal arts and sciences education. It also requires specialization in a major, providing each student with in-depth knowledge and mastery of a discipline. This exemplary undergraduate education provides graduates with the knowledge and skills necessary to be successful on graduation. Truman has the highest public college graduation rate in Missouri as calculated by the CBHE. More than 50 percent of Truman's graduates enter graduate and professional schools within six months of their graduation, while the remainder directly enter the workforce or engage in full-time service, such as the Peace Corps.

Truman's students are among the brightest and the best in their high school graduating classes. For example, 77 percent of Truman's 2006 entering freshman class scored 25 or higher on the ACT examination with 41 percent scoring above the 95th percentile. In addition, 76 percent ranked in the top 20 percent of their high school graduating class. In addition to their academic abilities, more than 99 percent of the class had leadership roles while in high school.

Truman emphasizes high-quality teaching as its top priority. Truman students benefit from a low student/faculty ratio, which allows for greater student-teacher interaction. Truman strongly supports undergraduate research with approximately 1,200 students annually doing structured research with faculty both in and outside the classroom. A university-wide Student Research Conference is held each spring for students to showcase their research to the Truman community. Truman also has one of the largest numbers of students participating at the annual National Conference on Undergraduate Research.

The Higher Learning Commission of the North Central Association has accredited Truman since 1914. Truman is also accredited by AACSB International-The Association to Advance Collegiate Schools of Business, American Chemical Society, American Speech-Language-Hearing Association, Commission on Accreditation of Allied Health Education Programs, National Association of Schools of Music, National Council for Accreditation of Teacher Education, Commission on Collegiate Nursing Education, and the Department of Elementary and Secondary Education.

Although known for its academic excellence, Truman also has one of the top National Collegiate Athletic Association (NCAA) Division II athletic programs in the country. Truman fields 21 varsity sports, which is the largest number in the state. The 2006 NCAA graduation rate report showed 100% of Truman athletes (including transfers) graduated compared to the Division II average of 69%.

Truman State University is committed to the advancement of knowledge; freedom of thought and inquiry; and the personal, social, and intellectual growth of each of its students. Truman strives to maintain a recognized standard of excellence in all of its educational endeavors and to be a responsible steward of the resources provided by the people of Missouri. All decision-making at the university is guided by its four core supporting values:

- A strong focus on students and student learning;
- Intellectual challenge in a nurturing and diverse environment;
- Affordability which promotes financial access to educational excellence; and
- A commitment to assessment for continuous improvement and accountability.

Northwest Missouri State University is a coeducational, primarily residential, regional university offering a broad range of undergraduate and selected graduate programs. Since its founding in 1905 as a normal school, the university has shared educational responsibility for 19 counties in northwest Missouri. The university's programs place special emphasis on agriculture, business and teacher education, particularly as these professions contribute to the primary service region. All of the university's programs build upon comprehensive general education requirements.

The university places importance on developing each student's self-understanding, encouraging creative self-expression and stimulating continuing intellectual curiosity. Opportunities are provided for students to develop an appreciation for the creative accomplishments of humankind as reflected in the arts, humanities and sciences. Throughout the university, students are taught to gather, organize, analyze and synthesize information; think coherently; use computers and current technology; and speak and write clearly. Integration of the above attitudes, experience and skills into all aspects of the vocational, technological, pre-professional, professional and graduate curricula is considered essential for developing a flexible, self-renewing learner who will function effectively in a global society.

Accepting the responsibility to be a creator as well as a curator and communicator of ideas, the university promotes applied research that relates directly to the needs of its region, improves the teaching and learning process and advances understanding in the subject matter areas of the institution. The university encourages the continuous professional development of its faculty and staff and ensures freedom to examine ideas and express conclusions without interference. Academic freedom is limited only by the equally important obligations of academic responsibility.

Recognizing the obligation to enhance the quality of life for its citizens of Missouri, the university is a center for regional development, lifelong learning, research, the arts and recreation. Northwest is also a center for improving and expanding opportunities for access to learning through cooperative efforts with other agencies and institutions.

Northwest's student-centered Culture of Quality continually develops all individuals in the university community by accommodating and celebrating diverse learners and ways of learning and by practicing quality in all activities. In recognition of that, Northwest received the Missouri Quality Award in 1997, 2001 and 2005, the first institution of higher education in the state to win the award three times. The university has a deep sense of commitment to students and stakeholders, which provides the foundation by which the university operates.

In 2006, Northwest was named the first university in Missouri to receive the prestigious Christa McAuliffe Award for Excellence in Teacher Education by the American Association of State Colleges and Universities. This national award recognizes outstanding education programs that prepare classroom teachers and school administrators.

The first public university in the nation to implement an electronic campus, in 1984, Northwest provides notebook computers for students who live on campus.

Recognizing the importance of needs-based financial support for students, Northwest created the American Dream Grant in 2005. It is the only such program in the nation that provides not only tuition, but room, board, computer and primary textbooks for qualifying new freshmen. Students accepted in the grant program must meet the university's entrance requirements. The grant is renewable for one year.

Northwest is also a leader in the development of the Northwest Missouri Educational Consortium, which promotes cooperation and links resources among educational institutions that serve the citizens of northwest Missouri. It is Northwest's goal to meet the educational needs of all the citizens and organizations of the region. Joining Northwest to form the consortium are the University of Missouri (including Extension), Missouri Western State University, North Central Missouri College, Grand River Technical School, North Central Area Vocational Technical School, Northwest Technical School and the Brookfield Area Career Center. The three Small Business Development centers in the region (Maryville, St. Joseph and Chillicothe) also participate.

The consortium serves 22 counties in the northwest quadrant of the state. These counties include the 19 counties constituting Northwest's historic service region plus three counties served by North Central Missouri College that do not overlap with Northwest's region.

The Missouri Academy of Science, Mathematics and Computing was founded at Northwest in 2000. The rigorous program is an accelerated, two-year residential program for high school students academically talented in science, mathematics or technology. Students are challenged by college coursework tailored to individual abilities and taught by Northwest faculty. Students who complete the program earn an associate of science degree.

Southeast Missouri State University

Cape Girardeau 63701

Southeast Missouri State University, serving more than 10,500 students each year, is located in Cape Girardeau, a community of more than 40,000 residents on the west bank of the Mississippi River.

The university benefits from a rich exchange of community, regional and university ideas. Because experiential learning—internships, student teaching, discipline-specific practice and research—is the hallmark of the institution, the community and the region offer extensive partnerships to create opportunities for students to combine classroom theory with practical experience in the “real world.” Nearly 100 percent of the academic programs at Southeast offer an opportunity for experiential or “real world” learning.

For example, education majors test their abilities in area schools; communication majors work in the industries of radio, television, newspapers, advertising or public relations; biology students intern with cutting-edge life science laboratories in St. Louis; and criminal justice students learn alongside local and regional law enforcement professionals. In fact, at Southeast, the region is viewed as a laboratory no university alone could afford to build.

The career advantage given to Southeast graduates by this effective combination of traditional classroom theory and practical experience gives rise to the university's slogan, “Experience Southeast ... Experience Success.”

Recently, Southeast was named among a select few institutions nationwide listed as a “hidden treasure” by the Kaplan National Guidance Counselor Survey; and for the past three years its Donald L. Harrison College of Business was listed in an annual guide published by Princeton Review as one of the nation's best business schools.

Founded in 1873, Southeast serves the residents of a 25-county area from St. Louis to the Arkansas state line—a territory that is larger than the areas of nine states and contains more people than 17 of the states. The university has awarded degrees to more than 60,000 graduates and has enhanced the lives of thousands more former students.

The current enrollment includes some 9,000 undergraduates and 1,500 graduate students. Enrollment at Southeast has been on the rise over the past ten years, making Southeast one of the fastest growing universities in Missouri. A new residence hall was opened recently, housing 300 students and featuring suite-style living.

Southeast is an ideal size for students seeking a mid-sized, friendly place to learn, experience and succeed at both academic pursuits and extracurricular opportunities. With 400 full-time faculty, almost 80 percent holding doctoral or terminal degrees in their disciplines, the university is large enough to provide more than 150 academic areas of study. And with a student to faculty ratio of 18:1, the university is small enough for students to get to know each other and for students and faculty to interact on a personal basis. It is in this environment that the university believes the best learning takes place.

Southeast also has a diverse student population. Students attend Southeast from throughout southeast Missouri, southern and western Illinois and the St. Louis metropolitan area. Minorities account for more than ten percent of the student population. In addition, students from 33 countries and most of the 50 states add to the unique Southeast experience.

Five colleges and four schools: As a comprehensive university—one which offers a variety of professional and educational programs—Southeast gives students a wide array of career choices.

These academic programs have been organized within the structure of five colleges and four schools. These include the Donald L. Harrison College of Business; the Colleges of Education, Health and Human Services, Liberal Arts, and Science and Mathematics; the School of Polytechnic Studies; the School of University Studies, which governs the general education courses required of all students; the School of Graduate Studies and Research, which oversees postgraduate degree programs at the master, specialist and doctoral levels; and the new School of Visual and Performing Arts.

Six campuses. Southeast offers academic programs on six campuses, as well as at other locations and online. Two of the campuses are in Cape Girardeau—the original site and a new “River Campus” which opened in 2007 to house the University’s new School of Visual and Performing Arts. Four regional campuses are located in Malden, Sikeston, Kennett, and Perryville—bringing higher education opportunities to place-bound residents along a 120-mile-long corridor in eastern Missouri. The university has received the Regional Innovator Award from the Southern Growth Policies Board for its work in making higher education access available in the rural parts of its service area. Courses in these centers are taught by faculty from the university and a cooperating community college, both on site and via instructional television and the internet. A Bachelor of General Studies degree is available to students without ever setting foot on the Southeast campus in Cape Girardeau, and other bachelor’s degree completion opportunities in selected fields are available at Poplar Bluff, in St. Louis and other locations throughout the region, in cooperation with community colleges and the University of Missouri.

The River Campus. The School of Visual and Performing Arts—an academic unit incorporating the faculties of Art, Music, and Theatre and Dance—is one-of-a-kind in Missouri higher education. Its new $50 million home called “The River Campus” is made up of the beautifully restored 19th century St. Vincent’s Seminary buildings and newly constructed facilities including a 950-seat performance hall, black box theatre, dance studio, regional museum and convocation center. The restored seminary buildings are on the National Register of Historic Places. An intimate recital hall seating 200 has been created in the seminary chapel, and the historic buildings also house classrooms, faculty offices, rehearsal rooms, art studios, computer laboratories and other academic and student service rooms.

Programs in demand: Southeast’s program in teacher education is nationally recognized and accredited. The innovative teacher training begins during a student’s first year at the university, with field opportunities that require students to experience a variety of teaching settings. The senior year culminates with a full semester of student teaching.

Southeast’s leadership in its education program has resulted in its acceptance into the prestigious Renaissance Group of institutions with exemplary programs in education. Southeast also is a two-time winner of the Christa McAuliffe Showcase for Excellence Award in teacher education, which is presented by the American Association of State Colleges and Universities.

Some of the other popular academic areas at Southeast are pre-med, business, science (biological, physical and environmental), criminal justice, computer science, music, art, theatre and dance, social work and pre-engineering. The university’s large Department of Communication has five programs accredited by the Accrediting Council on Education in Journalism and Mass Communications—journalism, advertising, public relations, radio, and video production. Southeast is one of only 19 institutions in the country with certification by the Public Relations Society of America, making the university one of only eight institutions in the United States with recognition of academic quality by both PRSA and ACEJMC.

Unique programs such as historic preservation, sports management, athletic training, and corporate video round out an array of choices that bring students from around the country to study and live on the Southeast campus.

Kent Library: To support student research and learning, Kent Library implemented MOBIUS, the shared, statewide computerized library system, expanding access to over 14 million titles. In addition, the library gives students online access to over 20,000 unique journals, magazines and newspapers. Kent Library’s Rare Book Room is home to the Louis Daniel Brodsky Faulkner Collection, one of the world’s four most significant collections of William Faulkner literary materials.

Accreditation and affiliations: The university is fully accredited by the North Central Association of Colleges and Schools and the National Council for the Accreditation of Teacher Education.

In addition, the university holds specific accreditations and/or approvals from: AACSB – The International Association for Management Education, American Chemical Society, American Park and Recreation Society, American Speech-Language-Hearing Association, Commission on Accreditation for Dietetics Education, Commission on Accreditation of Allied Health Education Programs (Athletic Training), Commission on Collegiate Nursing Education, Council for Accreditation of Counseling and Related Education Programs, Council on Social Work Education, Engineering Accreditation Commission of the Accreditation Board for Engineering and Technology, National Association for the Education of Young Children, National Association of Industrial Technology, National Association of Schools and Colleges of Music, National League for Nursing and the National Recreation and Park Association/American Association for Leisure and Recreation.

Athletics: Southeast participates in NCAA Division I athletics as a member of the Ohio Valley Conference. Men’s sports include baseball, basketball, cross country, football and indoor and outdoor track. Women's sports include basketball, cross country, gymnastics, soccer, softball, tennis, indoor and outdoor track and volleyball.

University Foundation: Gifts from friends of the university and alumni enable the institution to supplement taxpayers' dollars for the benefit of students. Funds raised by the Southeast Missouri University Foundation since its creation in 1983 have been used strategically to provide a margin of excellence, for scholarships and to bring national attention to Southeast. For instance, the new Otto and Della Seabaugh Building which houses the School of Polytechnic Studies was made possible by the gifts of the Seabaughs and assisted the School of Polytechnic Studies in being recognized as a Missouri Center for Excellence in Advanced Manufacturing Technology. Numerous donors contributed a total of more than $13 million to make the River Campus a reality.

Admission: Southeast Missouri State University is a moderately selective university. As defined by the Missouri Coordinating Board for Higher Education, this means that students who have taken the required college preparatory curriculum in high school and who have met certain testing guidelines are eligible for admission to the university. Call the Admissions Office at (573) 651-2590; e-mail to admissions@semo.edu or visit the university's website at www.semo.edu.

Missouri State University is a public, comprehensive university system with a mission in public affairs, whose purpose is to develop educated persons while achieving five goals:

democratizing society, incubating new ideas, imagining Missouri's future, making Missouri's future and modeling ethical and effective behavior. The university's identity is distinguished by its statewide mission in public affairs, requiring a campus-wide commitment to foster competence and responsibility in the common vocation of citizenship. The academic experience is grounded in a general education curriculum which draws heavily from the liberal arts and sciences. This foundation provides the basis for mastery of disciplinary and professional studies. It also provides essential forums in which students develop the capacity to make well-informed, independent critical judgments about the cultures, values and institutions in society.

The task of developing educated persons obligates the university to expand the store of human understanding through research, scholarship and creative endeavor, and drawing from that store of understanding, to provide service to the communities that support it. In all of its programs, the university uses the most effective methods of discovering and imparting knowledge and the appropriate use of technology in support of these activities.

The Missouri State University campuses are structured to address the special needs of the urban and rural populations they serve. Missouri State University-Springfield is a selective admissions, graduate level teaching and research institution. Missouri State University-West Plains is an open admissions campus serving seven counties in south central Missouri. Missouri State University-Mountain Grove serves Missouri's fruit industry through operation of the State Fruit Experiment Station. The Extended Campus provides anytime, anyplace learning opportunities through telecourses, Internet-based instruction and through its interactive video network (Bear-Net). The university also operates various other special facilities, such as the Darr Agricultural Center in southwest Springfield, the Roy Blunt Jordan Valley Innovation Center in downtown Springfield, the Bull Shoals Field Station near Forsyth, Baker's Acres and Observatory near Marshfield, the Missouri State University Graduate Center in Joplin, and a branch campus at Liaoning Normal University (LNU) in Dalian, China. In addition, Missouri State has the operations and program offerings of one entire academic department, its Department of Defense and Strategic Studies, located near Washington, D.C., in Fairfax, Virginia.

Public Affairs: The goal of the university's public affairs mission is to develop citizens of enhanced character, more sensitive to the needs of the community, more competent and committed in their ability to contribute to society, and more civil in their habits of thought, speech and action. Through its public affairs mission, Missouri State will develop an increasing awareness of the public dimension of life, produce a broad literacy in the primary public issues, establish a campus environment where the awareness of public questions is nurtured and their discussion is encouraged, create the capacity for and the interest in doing voluntary public work and provide community-service learning opportunities as a significant component of disciplinary instruction.

Missouri State is the host campus for the Missouri Campus Compact, a statewide coalition of university and college presidents dedicated "to helping students develop the values and skills of civic participation through involvement in public service." Missouri Campus Compact currently has 30 members, with representatives from each of the categories of four-year public, four-year private, and two-year colleges and universities.

A series of speakers have come to campus to address citizenship and other public affairs issues. The speakers have included three Nobel Peace Prize winners, F.W. de Klerk, Elie Wiesel and Jody Williams. Other recent speakers have included former U.S. Senator and presidential candidate John Edwards, U.S. Senator Sam Brownback, Ambassador George E. Moose, Frances Hesselbein, chairman of the Board of Governors of the Leader to Leader Institute, and Joseph N. Boyce, retired senior editor of the Wall Street Journal.

In addition, Missouri State hosts a Public Affairs Conference, which brings a variety of noteworthy speakers from around the country to the Springfield campus. During the conference, panels and keynote speakers present discussions that offer perspectives from business, entertainment, education, politics, religion, health and other subject areas.

These and other efforts paved the way for the university to be chosen as one of the nation's best colleges fostering social responsibility and public service, according to The Princeton Review and Campus Compact. Missouri State is one of only 81 institutions in 33 states that The Princeton Review commended and featured in its book, Colleges with a Conscience: 81 Great Schools with Outstanding Community Involvement. Missouri State is the only Missouri university to earn a profile in the book.

History: Missouri State University was founded as the Missouri State Normal School, Fourth District, by legislative action on March 17, 1905. Missouri State first opened its doors in June 1906. After 102 years and four name changes, Missouri State is a comprehensive state university system offering a wide variety of programs and services to its students and the citizens of the state.

During the 1995 session of the General Assembly, Missouri State received a statewide mission in public affairs, making it the only Missouri university emphasizing the development of aware, committed and active participants in tomorrow's society.

In a campus ceremony on March 17, 2005, the 100th anniversary of Founders' Day, Governor Matt Blunt signed Senate Bill 98, which included changing Southwest Missouri State University's name to Missouri State University. This is the fifth and final name for the university. The institution was founded as the Normal School in 1905, then changed to Southwest Missouri State Teachers College in 1919, Southwest Missouri State College in 1946 and Southwest Missouri State University in 1972. Each new name has reflected the changed nature of the institution.

Facilities: Missouri State University's main campus is located on 225 acres in the heart of Springfield. The 90-acre William H. Darr Agricultural Center exists in the southwest area of the city. Missouri State's main campus has 18 classroom buildings, an administrative building, a library, 11 residence halls, a multipurpose recreational facility, a sports complex, a health center and a campus-wide transit facility. The Juanita K. Hammons Hall for the Performing Arts hosts a variety of musical, dance and theatrical presentations.

Springfield-based hotelier and philanthropist John Q. Hammons recently gifted $30 million to Missouri State toward the construction of the JQH Arena—a world-class sports facility that will feature more than 11,000 seats, a grand entrance, 22 private suites, more than 100 lodge seats, 55 "Jack Nicholson courtside seats," a Hall of Fame, team souvenir store, ticket office and a 4,500-square-foot club. The new arena will be the home to the Bears and Lady Bears basketball teams.

Enrollment: In the fall of 2006, Missouri State University's fall official head count enrollment total was 20,962, with 19,464 on the Springfield campus and 1,596 on the West Plains campus. Students enrolled on both campuses are only counted once in the total; the 484 students on the China Campus also are not included in the system total.

Academic programs: Missouri State offers more than 150 undergraduate majors and 47 graduate degree programs, including a doctorate in audiology and a cooperative doctorate (Ed.D.) through the University of Missouri at Columbia, as well as a cooperative agreement with the University of Missouri–Rolla which will allow UMR to offer bachelors degrees in civil and electrical engineering at Missouri State. Many of these programs are the state's strongest and largest of their kind. The university is accredited by the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools as well as by 23 professional associations, including the National Council for Accreditation of Teacher Education (NCATE), National Association of Schools of Music, National Association of Schools for Public Affairs and Administration, the National Collegiate Athletic Association, the American Chemical Society, the Council on Social Work Education and the American Assembly of Collegiate Schools of Business. The university's academic programs are organized within seven colleges: Arts and Letters, Business Administration, Education, Health and Human Services, Humanities and Public Affairs, Natural and Applied Sciences, and the Graduate College.

The university has a wide variety of international education programs available to students including programs in London, Costa Rica, Chile, Brazil, India and China; and has established a branch campus at Liaoning Normal University in Dalian, China. Missouri State also is a member of the International Student Exchange Consortium, which provides for reciprocal exchanges to programs in more than 30 countries. In addition, Missouri State's Continuing Education and the Extended Campus offers a wide variety of programs, both credit and non-credit, for adult students who are returning to college. Numerous courses tailored to meet the needs of area employers are offered, as well. Missouri State has the largest cooperative program in the state, with more than 1,200 students participating in internships in the public and private sectors.

Academic excellence: The average ACT score for Missouri State's incoming freshmen in the fall of 2006 was 23.8, significantly higher than the 21.6 average for Missouri high school graduates in 2005.

Further evidence of academic excellence at Missouri State has been the recognition that student teams have received in regional and national student competitions in a number of areas, including debate, advertising, construction, industrial management, and media, journalism and film. The Honors College at Missouri State offers extraordinary opportunities for outstanding students.

Faculty and staff: On the Springfield Campus, Missouri State has a total of 808 full-time instructional faculty and 356 part-time faculty. The student to faculty ratio is approximately 18:1.

Research: Missouri State University accounts for millions of dollars of grant funded research each year. Faculty and student research conducted throughout the University System ranges in scope from the studies of grape genomics and meteor impacts to early childhood development and juvenile crime, and has the potential to positively affect local communities, Missouri, the nation, and, ultimately, the globe. In all, Missouri State University received $18,133,909 from a total of 151 grants and contracts awarded to faculty and staff during 2005–2006. The principal focus of the university is applied research geared to serving the needs of diverse constituencies in the public and private sectors. Faculty members are encouraged to pursue their individual and scholarly activities.

The Roy Blunt Jordan Valley Innovation Center focuses on applied research in biomaterials, nano-technologies, advanced technologies, advanced manufacturing, genomics/proteomics, bio-systems software engineering and bio-medical instrument development. To date, southwest Missouri Congressman Roy Blunt has secured $12 million in defense funding for the renovation of downtown Springfield's MFA Mill for Phase I development of JVIC, with another $2.6 million has been approved for Phase II construction. ences is designed to support Missouri-based life sciences and biomedical industries while enhancing educational opportunities through participation in business-oriented projects and services. The center will provide engineering and technical support and conduct cutting-edge research and development to advance the competitiveness of Missouri-based industries, as well as work closely with government and industrial partners to develop technologies and processes that can impact personal and public safety.

Libraries: The Missouri State University library system is comprised of the Duane G.

Meyer Library, the Music Library, the Horace and "Pete" Haseltine Library in the Greenwood Laboratory School, and the Paul G. Evans Library of Fruit Science on the Mountain Grove Campus. These four libraries have collections of more than three million items including more than 866,000 accessioned volumes; current subscriptions to over 3,300 periodicals, newspapers and other serials; and extensive back files of journals and newspapers, many on microfilm, microcard and microfiche. More than 20,000 journals are available on-line with full-text. Total microform holdings amount to more than one million items. More than 930,000 state, federal and United Nations documents are held as a result of Meyer Library being a designated depository library for each of those areas. Meyer Library is the only UN depository library in the state of Missouri. A large collection of audio CDs is fully cataloged and available in the Music Library. Special Collections and Archives house a number of special groups of materials: the William J. Jones collections of Rimbaud and Butor French Literature are internationally recognized and the Rimbaud portion comprises the largest collection of this type in the United States; the Ozarks Labor Union Archives document regional labor history; and the University Archives is a growing collection and will be further developed as a $130,000 grant for organizing and processing these materials is utilized. Another department in Meyer Library, the Curriculum Resource Center, features a children's literature collection, a textbook collection, curriculum guides and special learning materials.

Innovation and the use of new technologies are evident in the Missouri State Universities Libraries. Most of the bibliographic data for SWAN, the Libraries' online catalog, is created as materials are cataloged using the Online Computer Library Center, Inc. (OCLC), a database with more than 73 million bibliographic records. OCLC is also utilized for interlibrary loan and reference, with links to over 41,555 libraries in 112 countries. Electronic document delivery is commonly used to acquire interlibrary loan materials in a timely fashion. The statewide MOBIUS consortium, with a membership of 60 academic libraries, is simplifying access to regional holdings. The MOBIUS database of over 19 million items utilizing the same interface can be used by faculty, students and staff to borrow items with a two-day delivery time from anywhere in the state.

Electronic access is provided to reference resources, course reserve materials and licensed commercial citation and full-text databases through the library homepage (<http://library.missouristate.edu>). Currently, 110 electronic databases are available to the Missouri State University community through the library homepage. In addition to citations from thousands of journals, newspapers and books, these databases contain articles from over 20,000 journals and newspapers in full-text. Access is available off-campus for current students, faculty and staff of Missouri State University. The libraries also maintain an extensive index of authoritative web-based reference resources, organized by broad subject categories which include full-text, analytical, indexing and other resources.

During the fall and spring semester, Meyer Library is open 100 hours a week. Librarians and/or support staff are available all hours of operation to assist patrons. In 2005–2006, over 671,000 entries to the libraries were recorded.

In the fall of 2002, the addition to, and renovation of the Duane G. Meyer Library was completed. Space for the library was doubled and included 12 Group Study Rooms, 19 Research Carrels which are assigned to graduate students and faculty on a semester basis, three classrooms, a coffee shop and lounge, computer lab, media production facilities and a wide variety of study spaces. There is wireless access throughout the Meyer Library. A central feature of the library and of the campus is the Jane A. Meyer Carillon with its complement of 48 bronze bells.

Campus Technology: Missouri State University offers faculty, staff and students free use of its computing services and facilities for class assignments and research. The computing environment includes two IBM iSeries mid-range servers for administrative functions, a wide variety of file servers running the most current versions of Microsoft Windows® and a multitude of networked client computers. The campus networks provide high-speed, reliable services to client computers and file server systems in academic, administrative and housing facilities at all Missouri State locations including Springfield, West Plains, Mountain Grove, Lebanon and Branson. Network access in the residence halls allows students to utilize the online resources of Meyer Library, various campus computing services and the Internet from their rooms. High-speed Internet, wireless, and virtual private network services are all supported, while dial-up access to campus computing resources is provided for those needing free local access. Three centrally managed computer labs located in Glass Hall, Cheek Hall and Strong Hall, plus dozens of discipline-specific computer classrooms and labs, offer substantial access and support for campus computing resources.

Missouri State University—Mountain Grove Campus

mtngrrv.missouristate.edu

E-mail: fruitscience@missouristate.edu

Missouri State University—Mountain Grove has a legislative mandate to generate knowledge through research and to disseminate this knowledge for the economic development of the Missouri fruit industry.

History: The Mountain Grove Campus is home to the State Fruit Experiment Station which was established by a legislative act in 1899 and is the oldest identifiable segment of Missouri State. Until 1974, the station was operated as a state agency under a board of trustees appointed by the governor. As a result of the Omnibus State Reorganization Act of 1974, administrative responsibility for the State Fruit Experiment Station was given to the Board of Governors of Missouri State. Following university reorganization in 1994, the station was assigned to the Department of Fruit Science in the College of Natural and Applied Sciences.

Staff: The staff includes the director and five research faculty trained at the doctoral level and three professional staff trained at the master's level. In addition to carrying out research and advisory programs, the faculty teach and guide graduate students in their thesis research for the Master of Science degree and provide courses for undergraduate students interested in fruit science.

Facilities: The State Fruit Experiment Station is located on the 190-acre Research Campus on the outskirts of Mountain Grove, 65 miles east of Springfield. Constructed on the campus are the following buildings: Shepard Hall, which houses laboratory facilities and offices and the Paul Evans Library of Fruit Science; Faurot Hall, which underwent a $1.1 million renovation in 1998 and now houses the Evans Library, classrooms, a plant science laboratory and offices; a fruit processing laboratory; a classroom building; two greenhouses; a United States Weather Bureau substation; equipment storage buildings; a shop; and several miscellaneous buildings. About 180 acres are designated for fruit research plantings.

Research: Research is conducted in pomology, enology, viticulture, plant pathology, entomology, molecular genetics and plant physiology. The fruit crops under investigation include apples, grapes, blueberries, peaches, strawberries, blackberries and raspberries, as well as species of lesser economic importance. Information derived from the station's research is disseminated through advisory programs to fruit growers and processors throughout Missouri through bulletins, newsletters, a newspaper column, conferences, workshops and personal consultation.

The station is the site of extensive testing of new fruit varieties and selections from throughout the world for their adaptability to Missouri soil and climate and their resistance to diseases. Research on the culture of fruit crops is conducted on nutrient and water requirements, pruning and training systems, growth regulators and rootstocks. Plant pathogens and insect pests are studied for clues which may help in reducing their damage to fruit crops. Research on the reduction of pesticides used for control of diseases, insects and weeds is a major effort.

Located in a natural grape environment, the station has been the site of extensive grape experimentation since 1900, including some of the first experiments in the United States on grafting rootstocks on American grapes. Today, special emphasis is given to research on the hybrid grape varieties and their wines. One of only three USDA quarantine facilities for the introduction and virus testing of grapes from outside the United States is located at the station. The station's research and advisory programs have been instrumental in the revival of the state's grape and wine industry.

The Center for Grapevine Biotechnology: The Center for Grapevine Biotechnology is the new home of the Vitis Gene Discovery Program—a multi-institutional collaborative effort among Missouri State, The Danforth Plant Science Center and the University of Missouri—Columbia—to explore the genetic make up of wild grapevines. The goal of the Vitis Gene Discovery Program is to produce a disease-resistant, hardy fruit, which requires minimal chemical input and rivals the renowned grapes of Europe in fruit and wine quality.

The Viticulture Enology Science and Technology Alliance (VESTA) is a National Science Foundation-funded partnership between the Missouri State University System, Northeast Iowa Community College, Shawnee Community College in Illinois, state agriculture agencies, vineyards and wineries with a 21st century vision for education in grape growing and wine-making. The goal of VESTA is to establish programs of study in viticulture and enology through collaborations with educational institutions, government and industry tailored specifically for the Mid-America region. A unique partnership of universities and community colleges in Missouri and neighboring states provides students access to coursework that is delivered online, thereby enabling learning to occur anytime, anywhere.

Missouri State University–West Plains

www.wp.missouristate.edu

E-mail: wpadmissions@missouristate.edu

Missouri State University–West Plains is one of three campuses within the Missouri State University System. The West Plains Campus is a teaching and learning institution of higher education offering two-year associate of arts, associate of science and associate of applied science degrees, certificates and other courses as needed by employers and citizens of the area served. The college provides a liberal arts transfer curriculum at the freshman and sophomore levels, selected occupational programs and a variety of continuing education courses.

A small campus environment with quality instruction in a relaxed, personal atmosphere is the hallmark of Missouri State–West Plains. The campus promotes academic and personal success for students through small classes, personalized classroom attention, educational support services and numerous opportunities to participate in extra-curricular activities.

History and setting: Missouri State–West Plains was founded in 1963 as the West Plains Residence Center. In 1977, the Southwest Missouri State University Board of Regents and, subsequently, the General Assembly, designated the name West Plains Campus of Southwest Missouri State University to replace Residence Center. In 1981, the legislature enacted a permanent status bill for the campus. In 1991, the legislature passed House Bill 51 which gave the West Plains Campus the authority to offer “one-year certificates, two-year associate degrees and credit and non-credit courses.” In 2005, the legislature passed Senate Bill 98 which included changing Southwest Missouri State University’s name to Missouri State University.

Facilities: The campus consists of four classroom and administrative buildings—Kellett Hall, Looney Hall, Melton Hall and the Lybyer Technology Center. In addition, the campus includes the Garnett Library, a 60-person residence hall called the Grizzly House, the Putnam Student Center, the V.H. Drago College Store and the Smith-London Centennial Bell Tower. Maintenance and custodial operations are located in the Broadway Building, and the Richards House serves as the residence for the Missouri State–West Plains Chancellor.

Enrollment: The fall 2006 enrollment was 1,596 students. The majority of students come from a seven-county area of the south-central Missouri Ozarks region and from adjacent areas in north Arkansas.

Academic Programs: Degree offerings include the associate of arts degree for students who want to transfer into bachelor’s degree programs, and several associate degrees for students who want to enter the workforce after two years of study. Some bachelor’s and master’s degree programs also are available at the West Plains Campus through Missouri State University’s Academic Outreach program.

The college offers an associate of arts (A.A.) degree in general studies and an associate of science degree (A.S.) in nursing. Missouri State–West Plains also offers associate of applied science degrees (A.A.S.) in business, child development, computer graphics and programming, computer technology, enology, entrepreneurship, fire science technology, general agriculture, general technology, law enforcement, respiratory therapy and viticulture.

Missouri State–West Plains also offers courses at extended campuses in Houston and Mountain Grove, Missouri. The associate of arts degree in general studies can be completed at the Mountain Grove Campus. The program at Mountain Grove is housed in Shannon Hall, and the program at Houston is housed in the Houston Higher Education Center.

As part of an educational cooperation project between Liaoning Normal University and the Missouri State System, Missouri State–West Plains offers the associate of arts degree in general studies at the Missouri State University–Liaoning Normal University Branch Campus in Dalian, People’s Republic of China.

The college is accredited by the Higher Learning Commission and is a member of the North Central Association. The nursing program has full accreditation from the National League for Nursing. In June 2005, Missouri State–West Plains officials received notification from the Committee on Accreditation of Respiratory Care stating the program had preliminary accreditation and was eligible to admit its first class.

Missouri Southern State University was established by the General Assembly in 1965 as a two-year, upper-division state college to be operated in conjunction with the Junior College District of Jasper County. Missouri Southern operated under this arrangement through June 30, 1977, when the state assumed the responsibility of funding and operating the four-year program.

MSSC became Missouri Southern State University after Governor Bob Holden signed Senate Bill 55, on July 12, 2003. The legislation also allowed MSSU to enter into cooperative agreements with other state universities to provide graduate programs.

In June 1990, MSSU's board of regents approved a change in the university mission to include an international emphasis in undergraduate education. This change is intended to help students prepare for the merging global environment. In 1995, the governor approved House Bill 442 directing the university to "develop such academic support programs and public service activities it deems necessary and appropriate to establish international or global education as a distinctive theme of its mission." An assessment of outcomes program is in effect to evaluate the effectiveness of that education.

Through the university's Institute of International Studies and other areas, international programs have been implemented to fulfill the mission, such as student and faculty study abroad and exchange options, international lectures, themed semesters and symposia and internships abroad. Faculty continue to develop a global perspective throughout the curriculum. Foreign language offerings have been expanded, and students are encouraged to become proficient in a second language.

The following degrees are offered: bachelor of arts, bachelor of science, bachelor of science in business administration, bachelor of science in education, bachelor of general studies, associate of arts and associate of science. The university offers bachelor's degrees in 42 major areas in liberal arts, teacher education, business and technology. In addition to the four-year programs, the curriculum offers premedical, pre-engineering and other preprofessional programs and two-year associate degrees in dental hygiene, computer science, law enforcement, radiological technology, computer aided drafting and design, computer assisted manufacturing technology and respiratory therapy.

Missouri Southern also uses its outstanding faculty and distance learning technology to offer cooperative graduate degree programs with Missouri State University (Master of Arts in Teaching), Northwest Missouri State University (Master of Science in Education-Early Childhood Education and Instructional Technology), Southeast Missouri State University (Criminal Justice) and the University of Missouri-Kansas City (Nursing and Dental Hygiene).

The university is organized into four schools: Arts and Sciences, Education, Business Administration, and Technology. The university mission statement stresses a liberal arts-based core curriculum which is designed to provide every graduate with knowledge in the basic areas of learning. Under a revised and moderately selective admission policy, the university encourages high school students to be better prepared for college study by following the core curriculum requirements outlined by the Missouri Coordinating Board for Higher Education.

The administration of the university is vested in an eight-member board of governors appointed by the governor with Senate consent.

The 373-acre university campus is located in Joplin, a southwest Missouri city with a population of more than 47,000. The university plant presently consists of 28 major buildings, including a performing arts center, an artificial turf stadium, a 3,200-seat athletic center with a 200-meter indoor track, and a modern library with wireless access and a cyber café.

The university is accredited by The Higher Learning Commission and is a member of the North Central Association, the National Council for the Accreditation of Teacher Education, Missouri State Board of Nursing, Missouri State Department of Elementary and Secondary Education, American Dental Association Commission on Dental Accreditation, National League of Nursing Accrediting Commission, National Accrediting Agency for Clinical Laboratory Science, National Environmental Health Science and Protection Accreditation Council, Joint Review Committee on Education in Radiologic Technology, Committee on Accreditation for Respiratory Care, Association of Collegiate Business Schools and Programs, Accreditation Board for Engineering and Technology, and Peace Officer Standards and Training.

Founded in 1871, the University of Central Missouri (UCM) has grown from a regional normal school dedicated to teacher preparation into a comprehensive university charged with meeting the higher education needs of all Missourians. A new chapter in the university's development took place September 20, 2006 with a name change to reflect a new vision. Formerly known as Central Missouri State University, UCM aspires to be a nationally recognized, comprehensive university that delivers a world-class university education by providing a small-college learning environment coupled with large-university opportunities.

The Missouri Coordinating Board for Higher Education approved the university's statewide mission in professional applied sciences and technology on October 10, 1996. This enhanced mission reflects an overall commitment to academic excellence and career preparation that has allowed UCM to evolve into one of the outstanding public universities in the Midwest. It also means the latest technologies are being integrated throughout UCM's comprehensive liberal arts curriculum. This is having far-reaching impact on more than 10,000 students from nearly all 50 states and over 50 foreign countries who attend UCM and engage in 150 areas of study tailored to meet individual needs.

Beyond Missouri, UCM offers onsite and online learning opportunities to students in other parts of the United States and the world. The university's international programs include exchange opportunities, internships and student teaching programs that are all among the most challenging and affordable anywhere.

Degrees conferred by the university include the Associate in Science, Bachelor of Arts, Bachelor of Fine Arts, Bachelor of Music, Bachelor of Music Education, Bachelor of Science, Bachelor of Science in Business Administration, Bachelor of Science in Education and Bachelor of Science in Social Work. At the graduate level, UCM offers excellent programs leading to Master of Arts, Master of Science, Master of Science in Education, Master of Business Administration and Education Specialist degrees. In addition, a cooperative doctoral program in educational leadership exists in conjunction with the University of Missouri (UM), and a cooperative Ph.D. program in technology management is available in conjunction with Indiana State University (ISU). UM and ISU serve as the degree-granting institutions.

Administratively, the university's academic affairs division is divided into five core academic colleges, The Honors College and The Graduate School. The academic colleges are:

- The Adrian and Margaret Harmon College of Business Administration, which ranks among the finest business schools in Missouri and offers programs in accounting, marketing and legal studies, computer and office information systems, and economics and finance.

- The College of Arts, Humanities, and Social Sciences, which provides a comprehensive liberal arts foundation in support of the entire university curriculum. Departments include art, communication, English and philosophy, history and anthropology, modern languages, music, political science and geography, psychology and theatre.

- The College of Education prepares teachers for all grade levels, as well as professionals in career and technology education, counselor education, physical education, educational leadership and human development.

- The College of Health and Human Services provides students with the educational background they need to work in a wide range of service careers. Departments include communication disorders, criminal justice, health and human performance, nursing, safety sciences, sociology and social work.

- The College of Science and Technology prepares students for highly competitive careers in industry, government, health care, the military and many more fields. The college includes its own School of Technology, plus departments such as agriculture, aviation, biology and earth science, chemistry and physics, mathematics and computer science, and military science.

All course work at the University of Central Missouri is fully accredited by the North Central Association's Higher Learning Commission. UCM also is a state leader in program-specific accreditations, which have been granted by national organizations in actuarial science, art, aviation, business administration, chemistry, consumer services management, drafting technology, industrial hygiene, manufacturing and construction, music, nursing, social work, speech pathology and audiology and teacher education. All of the university's business administration degrees are accredited by the Association to Advance Collegiate Schools of Business-International (AACSB).

UCM's main campus—with its instructional buildings, Elliott Union, 18 conveniently located residence halls, and modern family housing—is the center of university life. However, the complete physical plant comprises more than 1,300 acres, including the Prussing Farm, the 300-acre Pertle Springs recreational and biological research area, and Max B. Swisher Skyhaven Airport. State-of-the-art athletic facilities include the 8,500-seat Multipurpose Building, Audrey J. Walton Stadium at Vernon Kennedy Field, James R. Crane Stadium

The Department of Insurance was reorganized by executive order of Governor Matt Blunt on February 1, 2006, to include regulation of financial institutions and professions regulated by the Division of Professional Registration. The new Department of Insurance, Financial Institutions and Professional Registration regulates the consumer service industries in Missouri by encouraging a fair and open market, establishing coherent and evolving policies that balance the interests of consumers, professionals and industry, and enforcing state laws and regulations governing business to protect consumers from unfair and inequitable treatment. The department is funded through fees and assessments from the industries and professionals regulated by the department rather than state general revenue.

The department has seven divisions: Resource Administration Division, Consumer Affairs Division, Insurance Solvency and Company Regulation Division, Insurance Market Regulation Division, Division of Finance, Division of Credit Unions and Division of Professional Registration.

Office of the Director

The director's office includes the department director, deputy director/general counsel, enforcement counsel, public information staff, legislative coordinator and support staff. The director's office is responsible for policy decisions, regulation, legislation and communications. The director's office also includes receivership activities. When a judge orders an insurance company into receivership, the director is responsible for either rehabilitating the company or liquidating it. The department's enforcement counsel represents the department director in circuit court and various divisions in proceedings before the director.

Resource Administration Division

DOUG OMMEN
Department Director

LARRY MCCORD
Deputy Director/General Counsel

ROCHELLE HENDRICKSON
Director, Resource Administration

The Resource Administration Division is responsible for the general operation and support within the department. The division includes the Support Services, Human Resources and Insurance Licensing sections. The division prepares the department's annual budget request and strategic plan, monitors department revenues and expenditures, organizes training and professional development opportunities for department employees and handles all accounting, procurement and grant management for the department. The division is also responsible for the licensing and renewals of all insurance producers, bail bond agents and public adjusters, totaling over 100,000 operating within the state. Prior to granting each license, an application review process is conducted to determine if applicants are sufficiently qualified.

Consumer Affairs Division

The Consumer Affairs Division assists the general public in resolving complaints, providing information to consumers regarding insurance policies and investigating alleged acts of insurance fraud. The division has two sections: Consumer Services and Investigations. The Consumer Services Section fields inquiries from the insurance-buying public and provides general information regarding insurance companies operating in Missouri. In 2006, the division responded to more than 3,603 complaints and opened 726 investigations, recovering more than $12 million for consumers. The division operates the Consumer Insurance Hotline at (800) 726-7390. Consumers can file a complaint or inquiry electronically through the department's website, which has a broad array of consumer and industry information available.

The Investigations Section records complaints filed on behalf of consumers against insurance producers, bail bond agents and public adjusters. The staff also investigates unlicensed insurance activities and reviews license applications that are referred from the Insurance Licensing Section. Department investigations may result in license denials, revocations or suspensions, cease and desist orders, injunctions and referrals for criminal prosecution.

The department receives a federal grant from the Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services, which funds the CLAIM program in Missouri. The CLAIM (Community Leaders Assisting the Insured of Missouri) program provides counseling and educational activities to seniors on health insurance coverage and Medicare benefits. The department contracts with a not-for-profit organization to administer the CLAIM program. The program recruits sponsors and volunteers, develops and conducts volunteer training, publicizes the program and maintains a toll-free number (800-390-3330) for consumers to call. Volunteers are recruited locally and community organizations such as hospitals, community centers, extension offices or senior centers serve as co-sponsors and provide space, supplies and local publicity for the program.

Insurance Solvency and Company Regulation Division

The Insurance Solvency and Company Regulation Division monitors the financial condition of all domestic (Missouri based) and foreign (non-Missouri based) insurance companies operating in Missouri. The division includes the Financial Analysis, Financial Examination, Premium Tax and Surplus Lines sections.

The Financial Analysis Section reviews financial statements received from insurance companies on quarterly and annual bases. By monitoring insurance companies, this section is able to identify financially troubled companies so that further action may be taken to prevent insolvencies. The analysts recommend action on proposed business transactions by Missouri-domiciled companies and evaluate mergers and acquisitions, payments of dividends and other proposed transactions for financial and operational impact. The division conducts financial examinations of 232 domestic insurance companies at least every four years and analyzes the financial condition of all foreign companies licensed to sell insurance in Missouri. The department director can call for an examination of a licensed insurer at any time.

The Premium Tax Section audits and determines premium taxes, which insurance companies pay in lieu of income taxes. The department certifies to the Department of Revenue the tax due from each company. In 2006, the Premium Tax Section certified for collection over $197 million in tax, which is deposited into general revenue and the state school fund. The Surplus Lines Section regulates the placement of policies and collection of premium taxes on business written in the non-admitted market known as surplus lines. The section oversaw the activities of 899 surplus lines brokers in 2006, and collected $23.8 million in taxes on surplus lines premiums, which is deposited into general revenue.

Insurance Market Regulation Division

The Insurance Market Regulation Division protects the interests of Missouri's insurance buying consumers by ensuring companies are conducting business in compliance with applicable state statutes and regulations. The division reviews insurance contracts, endorsements and other insurance documents by reviewing and analyzing a number of rate structures and underwriting practices and by analyzing and examining companies' marketing and claims handling processes. This division works with insurance company compliance offices to strengthen internal compliance systems. The division includes four sections: the Market Conduct Examination, Statistics, Life and Health, Property and Casualty, and Managed Care sections.

The Life and Health and Property and Casualty Sections approve policy forms, endorsements, illustrations and some rate filings. The Managed Care Section oversees activities of Missouri HMOs and reviews company applications for new certificates of authority or service area changes and analyzes trends in HMO activities. The Statistics Section analyzes and publishes industry and market data as well as trends in the overall industry.

The Market Conduct Examination Section performs exams of insurance companies operating in the state to ensure equitable treatment of policyholders. The department director can call for a market conduct examination at any time. Market conduct examiners review insurers' operations, including marketing, claims handling, policies and rates. If violations of the laws are detected, the director may issue an order requiring future compliance. For some violations, the director may also require the insurance companies to pay restitution to Missouri citizens, either through re-adjudication of claims or re-evaluation of the premium charged for the policy and/or a fine or penalty. In 2006, consumer recoveries totaled over $9.6 million.

The original statute governing credit unions was passed by the state legislature in 1927. This enactment gave the secretary of state chartering authority and required that all amendments to the bylaws be approved by that office. Effective August 13, 1972, these powers were transferred to the commissioner of finance.

The Omnibus State Reorganization Act of 1974 removed credit unions from the jurisdiction of the Division of Finance. On July 1, 1974, the Division of Credit Unions was created and all powers, duties and functions were transferred from the commissioner of finance to the director of the Division of Credit Unions. This agency is under the Department of Insurance, Financial Institutions and Professional Registration and has a director who is nominated by the department director and appointed by the governor with the advice and consent of the Senate.

The Credit Union Commission was created in 1998. The commission determines appeals from certain decisions of the director of the Division of Credit Unions, approves or disapproves regulations proposed by the director, and consults with and advises the director on matters pertaining to the organization, operation and supervision of credit unions. The bipartisan commission is comprised of seven members; four must have certain credit union experience, two must be individuals not involved in the administration of a financial institution and one must be an attorney.

The Division of Credit Unions is the regulatory agency responsible for the examination, supervision, chartering, merger and liquidation of all state-chartered credit unions. The division also responds to consumer requests or complaints in regard to credit union services or operations.

As of December 31, 2006, Missouri ranked eighth in the nation in the number of state-chartered credit unions. The Division of Credit Unions currently regulates 143 credit unions with assets exceeding $8.5 billion. There are approximately 1.2 million members of Missouri credit unions.

Missouri state-chartered banks, trust companies, savings banks and savings and loan associations be examined for safety and soundness at least once every 18 months. The division also licenses and examines consumer credit companies, credit services organizations and money order companies.

State-chartered banks were under the jurisdiction of the secretary of state from 1895 until 1907, when the General Assembly created the State Banking Department. Over the years, the agency was renamed the Division of Finance and is now an agency within the Department of Insurance, Financial Institutions and Professional Registration.

The State Banking Board, a quasi-judicial body, was created in 1955 to handle appeals from certain decisions and orders of the commissioner of finance. The bipartisan board is comprised of five members: two must be non-bankers, one must be a lawyer and two must be experienced bankers. The Savings and Loan Commission, created in 1957, serves a similar function for state-chartered thrift associations. This bipartisan commission is also comprised of five members, one of whom must be a lawyer.

The Division of Finance has 25 administrative and clerical employees in the Jefferson City office and a total of 68 field examiners – 54 bank examiners, 10 consumer credit examiners and four trust examiners. Field offices are maintained in Kansas City, St. Louis, Columbia, Springfield and Sikeston.

The entire cost of the division's operations is funded through assessments paid by state-chartered banks, trust companies, savings banks, and savings and loan associations and fees paid by licensees.

Banking in Missouri

Missouri ranks fifth in the nation in the number of state-chartered commercial banks. As of December 31, 2006, the Division of Finance (pursuant to Chapters 361 and 362, RSMo) supervised 304 state-chartered banks and trust companies with combined total assets of $65.2 billion. During the 2005–2006 biennium, the division approved charters for 10 new banks. The number of state-chartered banks decreased by 15 during the period as a result of six mergers into other state banks, seven mergers into out-of-state banks, one non-deposit trust company merger into an out-of-state bank and the dissolution of one non-deposit trust company. The deposits in all Missouri state-chartered banks and trust companies are insured by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation; savings banks and savings and loan associations are also federally insured.

Branching and Interstate Banking

For most of the 20th century, Missouri was a unitary banking state and branching developed gradually as laws were changed over the last 45 years. Interstate barriers have also fallen and, since June 1, 1997, banks in Missouri have been able to merge with banks in other states. The Division of Finance has entered into arrangements with other regulators to examine banks with interstate branches.

Savings and Loan Supervision

The Division of Savings and Loan Supervision, created in 1895, was merged into the Division of Finance effective July 6, 1994, in accordance with the provisions of House Bill 1165. This bill transferred the supervision of state chartered savings and loan associations as well as the licensing of mortgage brokers to the Division of Finance.

As of December 31, 2006, there were six savings and loan associations with total assets of $413 million.

Mortgage Brokers

The mortgage broker law, Section 443.800 et seq., RSMo, was substantially amended in 1995; and currently there are 626 active licensees. Brokers are subject to surety bond and net worth requirements. A five-member Residential Mortgage Board approves regulations and hears appeals from the commissioner's decisions.

Consumer Credit

The consumer credit section supervises institutions licensed pursuant to state law (Chapters 364, 365, 367 and 408, RSMo) to engage in consumer lending, payday lending (making unsecured loans of $500 or less), automobile title lending, retail credit financing of motor vehicles and other goods and the financing of insurance premiums. The statutes give the commissioner authority to issue necessary regulations and examine for compliance with consumer protection laws. This unit also enforces the Sale of Checks Law (Sections 361.700 et seq., RSMo), which provides for the licensing of companies which issue money orders or electronically transmit funds. The consumer credit section also licenses financial services organizations (credit repair companies) per Sections 407.635—644 RSMo.

The consumer credit section handles consumer complaints in the areas of usury, disclosures, notices, refunding, credit insurance, billing disputes and collection harassment. This section also coordinates enforcement of the Missouri residential real estate anti-discrimination (redlining) laws, per Sections 408.570—408.600 RSMo.

The Missouri State Board of Accountancy was created in 1909 and consists of six certified public accountants and one public member who are nominated by the director of the Division of Professional Registration and appointed by the governor with the advice and consent of the senate for terms of five years. The board meets at least six times each year. Officers are elected in June of each year.

The Missouri accountancy law protects the interests of the citizens of Missouri through the examination, licensure and regulation of individuals, limited liability companies, partnerships and professional corporations engaged in the practice of public accounting; assures the users of financial and economic data of an independent, objective and uniform product based upon generally accepted accounting principles and auditing standards; and ensures that the services are provided by competent and ethical practitioners. Only individuals, partnerships, limited liability companies, professional corporations and sole proprietorships qualified and registered as prescribed in Chapter 326, RSMo, may practice public accounting in the state.

Examinations for licensure are computerized and administered in three month testing windows throughout the year.

The board is entirely self-sustaining by means of fees derived from issuance of new licenses and permits to practice and the biennial renewal of licenses and annual renewal of permits to practice.

The board is a member of the National Association of State Boards of Accountancy and participates in the Federation of Associations of Regulatory Boards (FARB) and the Clearinghouse on Licensure, Enforcement and Regulation (CLEAR).

The Missouri Board for Architects, Professional Engineers, Professional Land Surveyors and Landscape Architects was established in 1941 to protect the health, safety and welfare of the citizens of Missouri against the danger of collapse of structures erected for public use. The board also exists to safeguard Missouri residents and their property from damages that might result from illegal and incompetent architectural, engineering, land surveying and landscape architectural practices.

The board consists of 14 members, including one voting public member. Each board member is nominated by the director of the Division of Professional Registration and appointed by the governor with the advice and consent of the senate. Terms are four years in length.

Members of the board — except for the public member — must be licensed under Missouri law, residents of Missouri for at least five years and have been actively engaged in the practice of their profession for 10 consecutive years prior to their appointments.

The State Board of Barber Examiners was created by an act of the Legislature approved May 5, 1899, titled, "An act to establish a board of examiners for barbers to regulate the occupation of a barber in Missouri to prevent the spreading of contagious diseases." The board functioned as the licensing and regulatory agency for all persons involved in the practice of barbering in this state and derived its authority from Chapter 328, RSMo.

The licensing of cosmetologists began in 1929 as a result of HB 650, which required the regulation of the occupation of hairdressers, cosmetologists and cosmeticians. The State Board of Cosmetology was established by law in 1956 through SB 430 for the purpose of regulating the practice of cosmetology and, effective August 1995, esthetics. The board functioned as the licensing and regulatory agency for all persons involved in the practice of cosmetology in this state and derived its authority from Chapter 329, RSMo.

On August 23, 2005, Senate Bill 280 was passed by the 93rd General Assembly that abolished the cosmetology and barber boards' respective duties and responsibilities by merging the boards and creating and establishing the Board of Cosmetology and Barber Examiners" for the purpose of licensing all persons engaged in the practice of cosmetology, manicuring, esthetics, and barbering; and to fulfill all other duties and responsibilities delegated by Chapters 328 and 329, RSMo, as it pertains to barbers and cosmetologists. The duties and responsibilities of the board of cosmetology and barber examiners did not take full force and effect until the governor appointed the members of the board and the appointments were confirmed by the senate on April 19, 2006. The first combined meeting was held in May of 2006.

The combined board is comprised of 11 members, who are United States citizens and who have been residents of this state for at least one year immediately preceding their appointment. Of these, three shall be licensed cosmetologists holding a "Class-CA" license classification, one shall be an accredited cosmetology school owner as defined in section 329.010 RSMo, one shall be the owner of a school licensed under subsection 1 of section 329.040 RSMo, one shall be a cosmetologist with a license of any type of cosmetology classification, three shall be licensed barbers and two shall be voting public members. All members, except the public members and the accredited cosmetology school owner member, shall be cosmetologists and barbers duly registered as such and licensed under the laws of this state and shall have been actively engaged in the lawful practice of their profession for a period of at least five years immediately preceding their appointment.

Annually, the board elects one of its members as president, one vice president, and one secretary with the limitation that no single profession can hold the positions of president and vice president at the same time. The board meets regularly six times each year as well as holds any special meetings that are deemed necessary.

Section 329.025, RSMo sets forth the board's authority to promulgate rules necessary to carry out the duties and responsibilities designated by Chapters 328 and 329, RSMo. These rules include, but are not limited to, the inspection of barber and cosmetology establishments and setting the fee amounts at a level sufficient to produce revenue that does not substantially exceed the cost and expense of administering Chapters 328 and 329, RSMo. The board is self-sustaining. It generates the necessary funds through the collection of fees for the issuance of new licenses, renewal of licenses and other fees paid by the 77,419 barber and cosmetology licensees.

The board's mission is to protect the public's health, safety and welfare by ensuring that only qualified persons are examined and licensed to practice barbering and cosmetology, as well as to strive to reduce the number of instances of incompetent, negligent, fraudulent or dishonest

The board was created in 1895 by an act of the General Assembly. In 1965, the legislature passed a bill licensing funeral directors as well as embalmers and changed the name of the board to the State Board of Embalmers and Funeral Directors. The board also has statutory oversight of pre-need providers and sellers with regard to any contract or other arrangements which requires pre-payment of money or property in consideration for the final disposition of a dead human body. The board licenses funeral directors, embalmers, and funeral establishments. The board also registers preneed providers and sellers. The board consists of six members, including one voting public member. Members of the board are nominated by the director of the Division of Professional Registration and appointed by the governor for a five-year term, with the advice and consent of the senate. No more than three members of the board may belong to the same political party. Annually, the board holds an election for chair, vice chair and secretary, each of whom serves for one year.

The board is governed by Chapters 333 and 436, RSMo. The board's regulations can be found in 20 CSR 2120.

Meetings are held at least three times per year. Examinations are given throughout the year on dates designated by the board.

The board is entirely self-sustaining by means of fees, derived from new licenses issued and through renewal of licenses of embalmers, funeral directors and funeral establishments.

The board is a member of the International Conference of Funeral Service Examining Boards (Conference) and the Federations of Associations of Regulatory Boards (FARB). The board participates in the National Funeral Directors Association (NFDA), Missouri Funeral Directors and Embalmers Association (MFDEA) and the Clearinghouse on Licensure, Enforcement and Regulation (CLEAR).

The Missouri Veterinary Medical Board was created in 1904 and consists of five licensed veterinarians, one of whom is the state veterinarian who serves as an ex officio member of the board, and one public member. The board is nominated by the director of the Division of Professional Registration and appointed by the governor with the advice and consent of the senate for terms of four years. No more than three members of the board may belong to the same political party.

The Missouri Veterinary Medical Practice Act, revised in 1992, protects the citizens of the state through the examination, licensure and regulation of doctors of veterinary medicine and veterinary technicians. It authorizes the board to respond to consumer complaints and investigate and file formal complaints against licensees who violate the law.

The board appoints a Veterinary Technician Examining Committee, consisting of two veterinarians, two veterinary technicians and the executive director, to administer the examinations for registration for veterinary technicians.

The Labor and Industrial Relations Commission is composed of three commissioners. Each commissioner is appointed to a staggered six-year term by the governor with the advice and consent of the Senate. One member of the commission, a licensed Missouri attorney who is qualified by reason of previous activities and interests, represents the public. Another member represents employers, while the remaining member represents employees. The governor designates one member as chair.

The commission appoints a secretary to keep full and true records of all commission proceedings and copies of all rules, regulations, decisions and orders made by the commission.

The commission hears appeals from decision and awards in workers' compensation, unemployment compensation, crime victims' compensation and tort victims' compensation cases, at the highest administrative level. The commission also hears and decides prevailing wage disputes.

The commission has the responsibility of determining an appropriate bargaining unit of public employees, based on their community of interests. It also conducts secret ballot elections to determine majority status. The law provides that public bodies or their representatives shall meet, confer and discuss proposals relative to conditions of employment with the labor or employee organization, which is the exclusive bargaining representative.

In addition, the commission is charged with the statutory authority to approve or disapprove all rules or regulations promulgated by the divisions within the department.

The Labor and Industrial Relations Commission nominates and the governor appoints, with the advice and consent of the Senate, a director to be chief executive officer of the department.

Division of Employment Security

421 E. Dunklin St., PO Box 59

www.dolir.mo.gov/es

The Division of Employment Security was established to administer the Missouri Unemployment Compensation Law on July 1, 1946. With the enactment of the Federal Unemployment Insurance Tax Act provision under the Social Security Act of 1935, the Missouri General Assembly had created the Unemployment Compensation Commission on July 17, 1937. The division currently consists of five sections: Benefits, Contributions Field, Employer Contributions, Unemployment Insurance Programs and Appeals.

The division promotes employment security by providing for the payment of compensation to individuals in respect to their unemployment. The objective of the Division of Employment Security is to collect contributions from employers and pay unemployment benefits to individuals who are determined eligible under the law.

Costs for operating the division and the major part of its programs are paid from federal grants. The grants are derived from federal payroll taxes paid by employers and are made available by congressional appropriations. State unemployment contributions paid by Missouri employers are set aside for the sole purpose of providing for the payment of weekly unemployment benefits to qualified claimants.

Unemployment Insurance

Unemployment Insurance programs provide partial protection against loss of wages for workers who become unemployed through no fault of their own. The unemployment benefits paid to insured workers help to boost the economy of the state during periods of economic downturn by helping maintain the level of consumer purchasing power.

Payments of benefits under the regular program are made from a trust fund. The program is supported by contributions paid from employers. No part of the contribution is deducted from worker wages.

Eligible claimants can qualify for up to 26 weeks of unemployment compensation under the Regular Benefit Program. During periods of high unemployment, the Extended Benefit Program provides up to 13 additional weeks of entitlement for the long-term unemployed who have exhausted all regular program entitlements and who meet extended benefit eligibility requirements. The Extended Benefit Program is financed equally by the state unemployment compensation trust fund and the U.S. Department of Labor.

KATHARINE BARONDEAU
Director, Division of Employment Security

Employer Contributions

The division's contributions section ensures that employers are properly classifying their workers, reporting their workers' wages and paying the correct contributions on wages. Correct reporting helps to ensure the prompt payment of unemployment benefits to insured workers during periods of unemployment.

Employment security law includes an experience rating provision as an incentive for employers to maintain stable employment, review claims and reduce unemployment. The law allows employers that are eligible for rate calculations to submit voluntary payments for the purpose of reducing their contribution rates.

Employers file quarterly contribution and wage reports with the division to report their workers' earnings. Reports may be filed via the Internet at www.ustar.dolir.mo.gov.

Payment of Benefits

One of the main objectives of the division is the prompt payment of unemployment benefits to eligible claimants.

Through four claims centers located in Jefferson City, St. Louis, Kansas City and Springfield, unemployed Missouri workers file initial and weekly claims for unemployment compensation by telephone. As an additional option, the division offers filing of unemployment claims via the Internet at www.moclaim.com.

A person must have worked in employment covered under the Missouri Employment Security Law and earned qualifying wages in order to establish a claim for unemployment benefits. Detailed wage records are kept on every worker reported by employers on the quarterly contribution and wage reports. The wage records permit the prompt determination of benefit entitlement when an initial unemployment claim is filed.

Other unemployment insurance services include offering claim filing services to unemployed workers living in other U.S. states or territories who have worked in Missouri or more than one other state, detecting and preventing improper payments, and paying a percentage of weekly unemployment benefits to employees of participating employers in exchange for reducing work hours and avoiding layoffs.

Appeals

The Missouri Employment Security Law provides for the appeal of determinations concerning receipt of unemployment insurance benefits and tax liability of employers. In addition to appeals concerning tax liability of employers and payment of unemployment insurance benefits, the section also receives appeals regarding the withholding of child support, appeals under the Trade Adjustment Assistance program and other federal programs.

Division of Labor Standards

3315 W. Truman Blvd., PO Box 449
Jefferson City 65102-0449
Telephone: (573) 751-3403 / FAX: (573) 751-3721
www.dolir.mo.gov/lr
E-mail: laborstandards@dolir.mo.gov

The Division of Labor Standards was created through the Omnibus State Reorganization Act of 1974 by combining the Divisions of Industrial Inspection, Mine Inspection and Prevailing Wage. The division currently consists of four sections: Wage and Hour, On-Site Safety and Health Consultation Service, Mine and Cave Safety and Health; and the Workers' Safety Program.

The division administers these programs and handles receipts and expenditures of all funds; collection of fees; issuance of child labor work permits; assistance to the public relating to wages, hours and dismissal and minimum wage rights; assistance with voluntary compliance of child labor, prevailing wage, safety and health laws and enforcement of those laws where authorized and necessary; workplace safety and health, on-site consultations and programs; mine and cave inspection; and program reports and statistics.

Wage and Hour

This section provides assistance to the public by answering questions about wages, hours, dismissal rights and minimum wage issues (Chapter 290, RSMo). Working together with employers, school officials, parents and public interest groups, the division educates individuals involved with employing youth. Also, the section assists employers in understanding and meeting their responsibilities under Missouri's Child Labor Law. The section issues work permits for youth employed in the entertainment industry (Chapter 294, RSMo). When necessary, the section investigates and enforces compliance with Missouri's Child Labor Law. The division's increased outreach and educational efforts with public bodies, contractors, workers and their representatives assists with encouraging increased participation in the prevailing wage survey process. The division helps public bodies and contractors with attaining voluntary compliance with Missouri's Prevailing Wage Law (Chapter 290, RSMo).

ALLEN DILLINGHAM
Director
Division of Labor Standards

Minimum Wage

This division is responsible for the administration and enforcement of Missouri's Minimum Wage Law. Effective January 1, 2007, the Minimum Wage Law applies to all businesses. Any business, except a retail or service business whose annual gross volume sales or business done is less than $500,000, needs to pay employees the new Minimum Wage for each hour they work. Employees should be paid one and one-half times their regular rate for all hours worked over forty in a work week.

Wages, Hours and Dismissal Rights

This division answers questions for the public about breaks, lunches, vacations, hiring, wage levels, dismissals and discipline, among other topics. Employers and employees are provided information on their workplace rights and responsibilities. Assistance is provided by giving proper procedures or referrals to other agencies with more authority. While the division has no wage collection authority, information is provided for those individuals seeking such assistance.

Child Labor

This division is responsible for the administration and enforcement of Missouri's Child Labor

Law. The law ensures that no child younger than 16 years of age is employed in an occupation that is detrimental to the child's safety, health, morals, educational processes or general well being. No child under the age of 14 may work in any occupation, unless specifically allowed. The exception is entertainment industry employment. The law restricts work hours for youth under 16. A child 14 or 15 may not be employed during the regular school term unless the public school superintendent or designee of the district where the youth lives has issued a work certificate. Youth under 16 may work in the entertainment industry if the division issues the youth a work permit.

Prevailing Wage

The Wage and Hour Section is responsible for compiling wage surveys, conducting wage inspections and issuing the Annual Wage Order and the General Wage Order for the Highways and Transportation Commission. The section also is responsible for providing information to the Labor and Industrial Relations Commission regarding objections to those orders.

Prevailing wage survey information for construction projects is collected on an ongoing basis. The survey information is used to determine the prevailing wage rates for workers employed on public works construction projects. Outreach with contractors, public bodies, employees and others occurs daily to assist in achieving voluntary compliance. Site inspections are performed to assure compliance with prevailing wage rates and to investigate complaints.

On-Site Safety and Health Consultation Service

This service provides a confidential, no-charge service to employers with up to 250 workers (or up to 500 nationwide). The service assists employers in reducing injuries and illnesses without penalties, thereby providing safer and healthier workplaces. Employers gain a better understanding of how to comply with federal Occupational Safety and Health Administration (OSHA) regulations. At an employer's request, trained occupational safety and health consultants visit the workplace. The consultant informs the employer of problems found and recommends solutions to eliminate hazards. Consultants also provide safety and health training when requested.

Safety and Health Achievement Recognition Program (SHARP)

Employers who eliminate all identified safety and health problems and have, or are willing to start a written comprehensive safety and health management program are eligible for an exemption from routine OSHA inspections. The Safety and Health Achievement Recognition Program (SHARP) recognizes the top level of employer participation in the program. It allows for the exemption from routine OSHA inspection for one to three years. There are currently 24 Missouri employers exempt from programmed OSHA inspection.

Mine and Cave Safety and Health

The Mine and Cave Safety and Health Section consists of three programs to aid miners, mine owners/operators and cave owners/operators.

Mine Inspection Program

The inspection program is mandated by Chapter 293, RSMo to inspect mines to ensure safety in the workplace. Each fiscal year, the Mine Inspection Program conducts safety and health inspections of mines regulated by Chapter 293, RSMo. Mines are inspected twice per year. There is an inspection fee based on the tonnage reported by the mine owner. This program includes consultation services. Mine safety inspectors assist miners with mine openings, closings, safety programs, dust and noise control and compliance with federal Mine Safety and Health Administration (MSHA) standards. The program also assists with coordinating mine rescue efforts.

Cave Inspection Program

All show caves, by law, must be inspected before opening to the public. Every cave owner, operator or agent is required to provide necessary safety measures, such as guard rails, bridges, ladders, entrances, platforms, walkways, safety barriers, rails, paths and electrical guards. The safety measures must be in place before opening to the public. Cave maps must be on file before caves are ready for public use. Caves also are inspected after opening to the public. The program also assists with coordinating cave rescue efforts. A listing of the caves inspected by the program is published on the department's web site at www.dolir.mo.gov/ls/minesafety/mocaves.html.

Mine Safety and Health Training Program

The Mine Safety and Health Training Program provides training services to miners that include safety and health, first aid, cardiopulmonary resuscitation (CPR) and mine rescue. Training is available at no charge. The program provides safety and health training to miners through a federal grant. This program is funded primarily by the Mine Safety and Health Administration. ## Workers' Safety Program

The Missouri Workers' Safety Program is responsible for the administration of Section 287.123, RSMo. The law requires all insurance carriers writing workers' compensation insurance in Missouri to provide comprehensive safety engineering and management services to employers upon request.

Program functions include certifying and maintaining a registry of safety consultants and engineers; certifying safety programs of self-insured employers, third-party administrators and workers' compensation insurance carriers; investigating complaints of inadequate loss control services against insurance carriers; monitoring the impact of safety services being provided by insurance carriers; performing on-site safety audits and consultations; and conducting occupational safety education and training.

On November 2, 1926, the Missouri Workers' Compensation Law was adopted by a vote of the people. Initially, the administration of the law was under the direction of the Workmen's Compensation Commission. Today, such responsibility is assigned to the Missouri Division of Workers'

Compensation. The division's primary function is to provide prompt and equitable resolutions of all cases of work-related injuries and occupational diseases with a minimum of formal litigation.

Under the Missouri Workers' Compensation Law, an individual who is injured on the job may be entitled to compensation in the form of medical benefits as well as potential temporary total disability, permanent partial disability benefits or permanent total disability. An employee is entitled to these disability compensation benefits in an amount equal to two-thirds of the employee's average weekly wage not to exceed certain statutory limitations. The average weekly pay is determined by examining various pay periods immediately preceding the date of injury.

The division's administrative costs are paid from the Workers' Compensation Administrative Fund. Employers finance the fund by paying an annual tax on net workers' compensation insurance premiums.

Adjudication

Administrative Law Judges hold dockets, including hearings that are designed to resolve disputes between injured workers and employers/insurance companies. The administrative law judges conduct dispute resolution services in a neutral and impartial manner. The division has eight local offices around the state. The adjudication staff also holds dockets at other sites either in the county where the injury occurred or an adjacent county.

Injury Processing

The Injury Processing Section receives, processes and retains information relating to work-related injuries that occur in Missouri. The division receives reports of injury, claims for compensation, answers, temporary benefits paid, medical costs paid and other information regarding work-related injuries.

Self-Insurance

Section 287.280, RSMo, and 8 CSR 50.3.010, provide for self-insurance as an alternative to traditional workers' compensation insurance coverage. Larger employers may apply to self-insure individually. Mid-size to smaller employers may find group trusts a viable alternative. Individual employers and group trusts must satisfy the division's requirements for financial soundness, administrative ability and post surety bonds or escrow accounts.

The Missouri Private Sector Individual Self-Insurers Guaranty Corporation was established in 1992. The Guaranty Corporation was established to administer workers' compensation cases for its members who become insolvent. The corporation collects assessments from the individual self-insurers to ensure funds are available to administer the claims of insolvent members.

Second Injury Fund

In 1943, the Workers' Compensation Law was amended to create the Second Injury Fund. An employer's liability is limited to the current injury. The Second Injury Fund is liable when an employee is injured, and the combined effect of the current injury and prior disability results in greater overall permanent disability. The fund also pays medical and death benefits for injuries incurred by employees of an employer who is uninsured.

Dispute Management

The Dispute Management Program is an alternative dispute resolution process to mediate disputes that arise soon after a workplace injury occurs. The division has mediators who assist parties in resolving medical treatment and lost wage disputes. This is a voluntary process and both parties must agree to mediate. When one of the parties does not agree to mediate, the party originally requesting mediation services is advised that he or she may take further steps if the problem persists, including requesting a setting on the docket from the appropriate local adjudication office.

Medical Fee Disputes

The unit's goal is to facilitate the resolution of medical fee dispute claims arising between health care providers and employers/insurers. Disputes arise when the health care provider is authorized by the employer to provide medical treatment but has not received payment or only partial payment. The division encourages informal resolution of these disputed claims. If this is unsuccessful, the division provides mediation, administrative resolution or an evidentiary hearing, if necessary, to resolve the disputed claims.

Physical Rehabilitation

The division's Physical Rehabilitation Unit determines if the employee's injury qualifies for a weekly physical rehabilitation benefit. To qualify the case must be one of serious injury involving disability. The benefit is paid from the Second Injury Fund. The injured employee must obtain therapy in a division-certified facility. The physical rehabilitation benefit is paid for a maximum of 20 weeks. In unusual cases, the employee may qualify for a special order extending benefits if more treatment is needed.

The division certifies physical rehabilitation facilities. Certified facilities must meet function, personnel, equipment, quality and adequacy standards.

Vocational Rehabilitation

The Vocational Rehabilitation Program is voluntary. Employers may use the service to provide job retraining to severely injured employees. To conserve state resources and reduce duplication of services, an interagency agreement has been entered into with the Department of Elementary and Secondary Education and the Division of Vocational Rehabilitation to provide this service.

Fraud and Noncompliance

The Fraud and Noncompliance Unit was established by legislation enacted in 1993. The unit is charged with conducting confidential investigations of all allegations of fraud and noncompliance. Noncompliance means employers who are not properly insuring their workers' compensation liability. Fraud in the workers' compensation system may occur at any level involving employees, employers, insurance carriers, attorneys, physicians and others who attempt to obtain or deny workers' compensation benefits in a fraudulent manner.

The unit staff participates in educational seminars and fraud detection training to inform the public, including employer and employee organizations, civic organizations, insurance companies, legal associations and other groups about proper compliance with the workers' compensation law.

The unit has a toll free number (800-592-6003) for information or to report suspected fraud and noncompliance.

Missouri Commission on Human Rights

3315 W. Truman Blvd., PO Box 1129

The mission of the Missouri Commission on Human Rights is to develop, recommend and implement ways to prevent and eliminate discrimination and to provide equitable and timely resolutions of discrimination claims through enforcement of the Missouri Human Rights Act.

The commission responds to complaints of alleged discrimination in employment, housing and public accommodations based on race, color, religion, national origin, ancestry, sex, physical/mental disability handicap, age (40-70 employment only) and familial status (housing only). Chapter 213, RSMo 2000 (Missouri Human Rights Act) requires the Missouri Commission on Human Rights to receive, investigate, settle or conciliate complaints of alleged discrimination and conduct public hearings. The statute also enables the commission to certify local commissions, establish relationships with federal and local civil and human rights agencies, implement educational or research programs and develop ways to prevent discrimination.

Commission members are nominated by the director of the Department of Labor and Industrial Relations, and appointed by the governor with advice and consent of the Senate. The governor appoints at least one member from each of Missouri's nine congressional districts, one member-at-large and one member as chairperson. The commissioners serve for six years without compensation.

Complaint and Enforcement

Any person claiming to be aggrieved by an unlawful discriminatory practice may file a written complaint with the Missouri Commission on Human Rights within 180 days from the date of the last act of alleged discrimination. After the filing of any complaint, the executive director, with the assistance of the commission's staff, makes a prompt investigation. If the director determines that probable cause exists for crediting the allegations of the complaint, the director tries to eliminate the unlawful employment practice by conference, conciliation and persuasion.

In cases of failure to eliminate the discriminatory practice by conciliation, the chairperson of the commission may order a public hearing. The Office of the Attorney General or department staff counsel presents the complaint at the hearing. (In housing cases only, the parties have the right to make a decision whether to have their case decided at a public hearing or in circuit court.) Employment discrimination cases continue to consume the largest portion of the commission's workload.

The objective of the hearing process is to make a finding of fact, determine conclusions of law and determine if the respondent has committed an unlawful discriminatory practice. If the commission finds that an unlawful discriminatory practice has occurred, it may order the respondent to stop the unlawful act and to take affirmative steps, as the commission deems appropriate, which includes civil penalties. If the commission finds in favor of the respondent, after hearing all the evidence, the complaint is dismissed.

Either party has the right to appeal the commission's order to the circuit court. If no proceeding for review is instituted, the commission may obtain a court order for enforcement of its decision.

Although its functions date back to 1847, the Missouri Department of Mental Health was first established as a cabinet-level state agency by the Omnibus State Government Reorganization Act on July 1, 1974. The department serves as the state's Mental Health Authority, establishing philosophy, policy and standards of care.

State law provides three principal missions for the department: (1) the prevention of mental disorders, developmental disabilities and substance abuse; (2) the treatment, habilitation and rehabilitation of Missourians with those conditions; and (3) the improvement of public understanding and attitudes about mental disorders, developmental disabilities and substance abuse.

The vision of the Department of Mental Health is one of "Lives Beyond Limitations"—Missourians shall be free to live their lives and pursue their dreams beyond the limitations of mental illness, developmental disabilities, alcohol and other drug abuse.

Missourians must know that mental illness is a treatable disease, that persons with substance abuse problems can triumph over their addictions, and that persons with developmental disabilities can be productive citizens and good neighbors in their communities.

Mental Health Commission

The commission, composed of seven members, appoints the director of the Department of Mental Health with confirmation of the Senate. Commissioners are appointed to four-year terms by the governor, again with the confirmation of the Senate. The commissioners serve as policy advisers to the department director.

The commission, by law, must include an advocate of community mental health centers, a physician who is an expert in the treatment of mental illness, a physician concerned with developmental disabilities, a member with busi-

Office of the Director

With advice from the Mental Health Commission, the director is responsible for overall operations of the department, its three operating divisions, support offices, 28 facilities and central office. The director's duties include planning, supervising and evaluating the provision of services for Missourians with mental disorders, developmental disabilities and substance abuse.

Each year, the department provides services to more than 170,000 Missourians through the Division of Comprehensive Psychiatric Services, the Division of Mental Retardation and Developmental Disabilities, the Division of Alcohol and Drug Abuse, or through its contracted provider network.

Deputy Director

The office of the deputy director provides the leadership and direction for a variety of department-wide and statewide functions that support program operations and services to DMH consumers. The deputy director supervises staff and work units responsible for department-wide quality improvement activities, legal services, human resource operations and workforce development, administration of Medicaid funded programming and federal housing programs, and investigations of consumer abuse and neglect.

The deputy director's office oversees the department's services for the deaf and hard of hearing, and internal and external audit services related to compliance, financial and performance management reviews. The deputy directs the Office of Prevention, the Office of Disaster Readiness and the Office of Consumer Safety, which ensures that client rights are not violated.

In 2006, the Missouri Mental Health Commission and the Missouri Mental Health Task Force, lead by Lt. Governor Peter D. Kinder, developed recommendations to ensure the safety and well being of those being served by the department in facilities as well as the community. The deputy is responsible for the oversight and implementation of these recommendations, making consumer safety a major focus area for the office.

Medical Director

The medical director serves as the department's senior clinical leader by providing advice and counsel to the department director regarding a broad range of clinical, clinical policy, programmatic and strategic issues. The medical director provides leadership and mentoring to the department's clinical staff and establishes and promotes professional, clinical and ethical values and standards to which all clinical staff are expected to adhere. The medical director also promotes quality of care and is responsible for establishing and maintaining the department's standards of care on both clinical and programmatic levels.

General Counsel

The Office of the General Counsel is responsible for a variety of department-wide and statewide functions in support of the department services, division offices and other support offices: providing legal advice and litigation support; technical assistance with rules and policy development, consumer rights monitoring, compliance with HIPAA (Health Insurance Portability and Accountability Act) privacy administration and coordination, and providing appeals and hearings for administrative due process.

Administration

The Office of Administration, headed by the department's deputy director for administration, provides a range of administrative and financial services to help the department achieve effective results. Services provided by the Office of Administration can be divided into the following areas: 1) budget services develops and monitors the annual operating budget, provides expenditure oversight, and analyzes and compiles financial reports; 2) the accounting section accounts for all funds, manages expenditures, and produces fiscal summaries, analyses and reports; 3) general services is responsible for the mailroom operation, oversees the fleet management system, coordinates building leases and organizes building maintenance and services; 4) the contracts and procurement section secures more than 3,000 contracts with private agencies or individ-

Transformation

Effective October 2006, Missouri became one of nine states awarded a five year Mental Health Transformation Grant by the Substance Abuse Mental Health Services Administration. Mental Health Transformation is about moving the system from one driven by disability to one based on public health principles and recognizing that mental health is essential to overall health. The primary focus the first year is development of a Comprehensive State Mental Health Plan by the Transformation Working Group (TWG). The TWG was established by the governor, based upon the efforts of the president's New Freedom Commission, which identified weaknesses at the state and federal levels in mental health care. Grant funding will be used to support infrastructure required for transformation such as planning, workforce development, evidence-based practice implementation and technology enhancements. Additional information on the transformation initiative may be accessed through a web link at www.dmh.mo.gov/transformation/transformation.htm.

Division of Alcohol and Drug Abuse

The Division of Alcohol and Drug Abuse was established within the Department of Mental Health in 1975 and became a statutory entity in 1980 with the passage of the Omnibus Mental Health Act.

The division is responsible for assuring that treatment and prevention services are accessible and affordable for persons with substance abuse,

MARK STRINGER
Director, Division of

addiction or compulsive gambling problems, and those at risk for such disorders.

Over 485,000 Missouri residents—437,000 adults and 48,000 adolescents—need treatment due to their substance abuse or dependency, and thousands more need intervention services. Substance abuse costs the state's economy over $6.56 billion per year—an average of $14,620 in losses caused by each untreated substance abuser. These costs are associated with deaths and injuries, crime, traffic crashes, workplace accidents, medical care, property destruction, insurance premiums, lost productivity, and other costs that are a burden on all Missourians.

Recent studies show that two-thirds of the clients receiving services in the division's treatment programs remain alcohol-free and drug-free one year after entering treatment, and many others reduce their abuse of these substances. At least seven dollars in societal costs are saved in Missouri for each dollar invested in treatment services.

The division meets its responsibilities for comprehensive treatment, prevention, intervention and compulsive gambling services by contracting with community-based providers. The division's administrative responsibilities include procurement and management of federal grants and state funds, contracts monitoring, program management, development and enforcement of standards of care, clinical utilization review, federal reporting, data management, research, training, technical assistance and public information.

Services are provided through the Comprehensive Substance Treatment and Rehabilitation (CSTAR) program, the Substance Abuse Traffic Offender Program (SATOP), Primary Recovery programs, other clinical programs and a comprehensive substance abuse prevention system.

State Advisory Council on Alcohol and Drug Abuse

The State Advisory Council on Alcohol and Drug Abuse was established by state statute in 1980. Members are appointed by the director of the Department of Mental Health. The council is comprised of 25 members who collaborate with the department on developing and administering a state plan on alcohol and drug abuse; promote meetings and programs for discussing the reduction of the debilitating effects of alcohol or drug abuse; study and review current prevention, evaluation, care and rehabilitation technologies and recommend appropriate preparation, training and distribution of manpower and resources in the provision of services to persons affected by alcohol or drug abuse; and recommend specific methods, means and procedures to be adopted to improve and upgrade the alcohol and drug abuse service delivery system for citizens of Missouri. In addition to the State Advisory Council, Regional Advisory Councils have been established in each of the division's five regions. Members of Regional Advisory Councils are appointed by the director of the Division of Alcohol and Drug Abuse. Through public education and advocacy efforts, consumers and vendors of alcohol and drug abuse prevention, treatment and recovery services have become integral parts of defining priorities for the department and division on issues surrounding prevention, disparities, service array, recovery and housing. The council works with other advocacy groups at the local level to educate communities and individuals, disseminate information and support the development of accessible alcohol and drug abuse services and supports for individuals and families.

Division of Comprehensive Psychiatric Services

The Division of Comprehensive Psychiatric Services provides inpatient and residential services for children and adults at 11 state-operated facilities. These include four long-term care facilities, three acute care hospitals, one facility with both acute and long-term services, one sexual offender treatment center, one children's psychiatric hospital and one children's residential treatment center. These facilities are divided into four regions across the state—central, eastern, southern and western. Each region is directed by a chief executive officer who works directly with their respective facility chief operations officer for oversight at each facility.

In addition, the division contracts with not-for-profit community mental health centers to provide services for persons with mental illness in each of 25 geographic service areas. The agency responsible for service provision in each service area is designated as the division's administrative agent. The administrative agents are responsible for assessment and service delivery to eligible individuals in their geographic service area. This includes responsibility to provide follow-up services to persons who have been discharged from state-operated inpatient services. Children and their families are also served by administrative agents.

Supported community living programs are provided to individuals with mental illness who require financial subsidies to support their housing needs or need more structured services to live in the community. Living arrangements in this program range from nursing homes to apartments and other settings that are integrated into the community.

Persons in these programs are provided support through case management and community psychiatric rehabilitation program services provided by administrative agents. During fiscal year 2006, the division provided:

- Inpatient services to 6,965 adults and 655 children;
- Outpatient and community support (includes residential) to 55,244 adults and 16,681 children; and
- Supported community living services to 5,488 adults and 301 children.

State Advisory Council for Comprehensive Psychiatric Services

The State Advisory Council for Comprehensive Psychiatric Services was first established in 1977 by the governor's executive order. Members are appointed by the director of the Division of Comprehensive Psychiatric Services. The council is comprised of 25 members who advise and make recommendations on the development and coordination of a statewide inter-agency/interdepartmental system of care for children/youth with serious emotional disorders and persons with mental illness and their families. Council members are primary consumers, family members, service providers and state agency representatives. The council by-laws state the council will 1) Advise the division in the development of models of services, long range planning and budgeting priorities; 2) Identify statewide needs, gaps in services, and movement toward filling gaps; 3) Provide education and information about mental health issues; and 4) Monitor, evaluate and review the allocation and adequacy of mental health services within the state.

The state of Missouri is committed to ensuring the voice and perspective of mental health consumers and their families inform the provision of mental health services throughout the state. The council has played an active role in developing and fulfilling this commitment. Examples of council activities include planning Mental Health Awareness Day, participation at the Department of Mental Health's Annual Spring Training Institute, Anti-Stigma Public Education Campaign, Mental Health Transformation activities, and Procovery.

Fulton State Hospital, authorized in 1847 and opened in 1851, is the oldest public mental health facility west of the Mississippi River. The hospital is certified by the Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services (CMS), and has been accredited by the Joint Commission on Accreditation of Healthcare Organizations (JCAHO) since 1984.

The 464-bed hospital provides inpatient adult psychiatric services, including treatment and psychosocial rehabilitation for forensic patients and other patients requiring long-term inpatient care. The term "forensic" is used to describe individuals who are charged with a crime and have been committed to the Department of Mental Health by a circuit court for either a pre-trial or pre-sentence evaluation, or for restoration of competence to stand trial, or as a result of an adjudication of Not Guilty by Reason of Mental Disease or Defect (NGRI). Specifically, the hospital serves: (a) forensic and long-term care patients from a 31-county area in the state's Central Region totaling some 753,355 citizens; (b) patients from the entire state of Missouri who require hospitalization in maximum and intermediate security settings; and (c) forensic patients from a 21-county area in southwest Missouri totaling another 606,470 citizens.

The 88-bed Hearnese Psychiatric Center provides long-term inpatient care for the Central Region and minimum and campus security services for forensic patients from both the Central Region and southwest corner of the state. It includes the hospital's 21-bed ward that is certified by CMS.

Fulton has Missouri's only maximum and intermediate security units. The 201-bed Biggs Forensic Center provides treatment for individuals who have committed major offenses or those whose behavior in other settings demonstrates a need for a maximum security setting. Included is a program run in cooperation with the Department of Corrections (DOC) to provide acute mental health services for inmates from DOC and for jail detainees across the state whose charges or behavior require maximum security. The 175-bed Guhleman Forensic Center offers an intermediate security environment for former Biggs patients to progress toward increased liberty and responsibility. In addition, it provides a security setting for individuals whose charges or behavior do not require maximum security, but are nonetheless in need of a higher level of security than is available in other inpatient settings.

The hospital has a training affiliation with the University of Missouri's Department of Psychiatry. In addition, it provides training experience to students from various clinical disciplines, including nursing, social work, and occupational therapy, and an internship and fellowship program in psychology.

In December 1997, Southwest Missouri Psychiatric Rehabilitation Center (SWMPRC), formerly Southwest Missouri Mental Health Center, moved into a new facility in El Dorado Springs from its previous location in Nevada, Mo. The 24-bed, adult psychiatric treatment facility provides both acute and long-term care for Service Area 8 and long-term care for Service Area 9 and 10. These Service Areas are located in the CPS Southwest Region, consisting of 21 counties in Southwest Missouri.

The Administrative Agents are the entry and exit points for all DMH funded psychiatric services in the southwest region. However, four beds designated for acute care are subject to EMTALA requirements. Each Administrative Agent manages admissions to assigned beds at Southwest Missouri Psychiatric Rehabilitation Center based upon percentage of population. The facility accepts those persons in need of treatment for serious psychiatric illnesses and disorders. The staff at the facility provides intensive psychosocial rehabilitation treatment, designed to facilitate person centered recovery and community integration. Administrative Agent staff are involved with the treatment process and discharge planning by attending a monthly Clinical Review meeting at the facility.

Following discharge, community-based care and treatment is provided by staff of the Administrative Agents through the POS Program, the decentralized community placement program, and the Medicaid-funded targeted case management and CPRC programs. Treatment services are monitored by the staff of the Southwest Regional Supported Community Living Program, located in Nevada, Mo.

The Missouri Sexual Offender Treatment Center provides appropriate treatment, care, security and custody for those persons adjudicated as sexually violent predators. With the passage of the Sexually Violent Predator law, which was effective January 1, 1999, the Missouri General Assembly mandated that those individuals adjudicated by the court as "sexually violent predators" be committed indefinitely to the custody of the Director of Department of Mental Health for "control, care and treatment until such time that the person is safe to be at large." In order for such commitments to pass constitutional scrutiny, the department provides care and treatment that is consistent with existing professional standards and practice. The law also requires that individuals committed for treatment as sexually violent predators be kept in a secure facility and housed separately from Department of Corrections' inmates and from persons served by the Department of Mental Health who have not been found to be sexually violent predators.

The location and treatment of sexually violent predators is on the campus shared by Missouri Sexual Offender Treatment Center, Southeast Missouri Mental Health Center, and Farmington Correctional Center, in Farmington. As of Spring 2005, there were 68 individuals committed for treatment, with 38 individuals detained who are in the commitment review process. Projections suggest that 17-25 individuals will be referred to the program for detention and evaluation each year. It is anticipated that for the initial years of operation, the commitments to the center will greatly exceed court ordered releases.

In addition to the treatment and custody of sexually violent predators, the department is Further, the department is required to evaluate each individual for whom the court finds probable cause to believe the person is a sexually violent predator. Finally, the department must annually provide the committing court an annual report regarding the committed person's mental condition.

Southeast Missouri Mental Health Center began in 1903 as Farmington State Hospital. In 1984, the Missouri General Assembly approved the conversion of the hospital grounds into a medium-security prison, operated by the Department of Corrections. Subsequently in 1987, the state hospital was converted into a mental health center and moved into buildings adjacent to the prison.

The Acute Services Program operates a psychiatric emergency room and up to 60 inpatient beds for persons needing short-term hospital care. The Long-Term/Forensic Services program operates 98 minimum/campus security beds primarily for persons referred by the criminal courts for psychiatric evaluation and/or treatment. The MI/DD Program is a residential service for 20 persons with mental illness and development disabilities. These programs are accredited by the Joint Commission on Accreditation of Healthcare Organizations.

By cooperative agreement between the Departments of Corrections and Mental Health, the Corrections Treatment Center (CTC) operates on the grounds of Farmington Correctional Center. Within the CTC unit, the mental health center staffs a small, medium-security ward for inmates with psychiatric needs and provides case management and services for a 200-bed social rehabilitation unit.

Northwest Missouri Psychiatric Rehabilitation Center (NMPRC) provides adult long-term services for an 18-county area in northwest Missouri with a population of 256,780. It provides forensic services for that area plus an additional seven counties. The total population of the 25-county service area is 1,356,111.

The hospital opened as State Lunatic Asylum No. 2 in November 1874 on land east of St. Joseph. The capacity ranged from 250 beds to nearly 3,000 in the 1950s, and the name was changed to St. Joseph State Hospital. Over the years, downsizing occurred with the advent of better treatment options and emphasis on returning patients to the community.

In 1997, St. Joseph State Hospital was replaced with the current facility and renamed Northwest Missouri Psychiatric Rehabilitation Center. NMPRC currently provides 108 beds for adult, long-term psychiatric patients age 18 and over. Three wings, Carver, Lincoln and Twain, have 20 beds each and are designated minimum security. Six cottages with eight beds each are designated as open campus security.

NMPRC is fully accredited by the Joint Commission on Accreditation of Health Care Organizations.

Western Missouri Mental Health Center opened in 1966 after legislation authorized state operation of community mental health centers in St. Louis, Columbia and Kansas City.

The center's inpatient units for acute and intermediate care serve greater Kansas City, including the counties of Jackson, Johnson, Cass, Lafayette, Clay, Platte and Ray. The facility, accredited by the Joint Commission on the Accreditation of Health Care Organizations, is certified for Medicaid or Medicare reimbursement.

Through affiliation with several academic institutions, including the University of Missouri–Kansas City, Western Missouri Mental Health Center provides training for students in psychiatry, clinical psychology, psychiatric social work, psychiatric nursing and activity therapy.

Western Missouri Mental Health Center moved into a new facility in January of 2004 after having occupied what was originally known as the old General Hospital No. 2 since 1966.

Division of Mental Retardation and Developmental Disabilities

The Division of Mental Retardation and Developmental Disabilities (MRDD), established in 1974, serves persons with developmental disabilities such as mental retardation, cerebral palsy, head injuries, autism, epilepsy and certain learning disabilities. Such conditions must have occurred before age 22, with the expectation that they will continue. To be eligible for services from the division, persons with these disabilities must have substantial functional limitations in two (2) or more of the following six (6) areas of major life activities: self-care, receptive and expressive language development and use, learning, self-direction, capacity for independent living or economic self-sufficiency and mobility.

The division focus is on improving the lives of persons with developmental disabilities and their families through programs, supports and services to enable persons with developmental disabilities to live independently and productively. In 1988, the division began participation in the Medicaid home and community-based waiver program designed to help expand needed services throughout the state.

Specialized services are either provided directly or purchased through contracts by 17 entities operated by the division. The division's 11 regional centers are the primary points of entry into and exit from the system. The regional centers determine eligibility, provide service coordination and work with individuals, families and contract with SB 40 Boards, Affiliated Community Service Providers (ACSP) and private providers for the provision of a comprehensive array of services in the following areas: Albany, Central Missouri, Hannibal, Joplin, Kansas City, Kirksville, Poplar Bluff, Rolla, Sikeston, Springfield and St. Louis. There are also six state-operated habilitation centers— Bellefontaine Habilitation Center, Higginsville Habilitation Center, Marshall Habilitation Center, Nevada Habilitation Center, Southeast Missouri Residential Services, and St. Louis DDTC, which primarily provide residential care and habilitation services to persons who are medically and behaviorally challenged or court committed. All habilitation centers are Title XIX certified as Intermediate Care Facilities for the Mentally Retarded (ICF/MR).

State and Regional Planning and Advisory Councils

The Missouri Planning Council for Developmental Disabilities was created in 1971 under federal legislation. The council's federal mandate is to plan, advocate for, and give advice concerning programs and services for persons with developmental disabilities that will increase their opportunities for independence, productivity and integration into communities. The council also serves, under Missouri statute, as the Missouri Advisory Council on Mental Retardation and Developmental Disabilities, providing advice to the division and the division director. The council consists of up to 25 members which are appointed by the governor.

Additionally, Missouri statute allows the Director of the Division of MRDD to establish Regional Developmental Disabilities Advisory Councils in any of the regions of the state to advise and participate in the development of regional plans of programs and supports and services for persons with developmental disabilities. The regional councils may have up to 20 members who reside in the region and serve staggered three-year terms. The regional council members are appointed by the division director.

The Department of Natural Resources preserves, protects and enhances Missouri's natural, cultural and energy resources. Our staff works to ensure that our state enjoys clean air to breathe, clean water for drinking and recreation and land that sustains a diversity of life.

We take seriously our responsibility of stewardship to protect and enhance the environment in which we work and live. We consider all aspects of the environment when making decisions. To do this, we value integrity above all, openness to all individuals and points of view, diversity in people and approach, excellence in all we do and service.

Several offices enable the department to carry out its responsibilities: the Division of State Parks; the Field Services Division; the Division of Geology and Land Survey; the Division of Environmental Quality; and administrative support. In addition, the State Environmental Improvement and Energy Resources Authority and the Petroleum Storage Tank Insurance Fund are administratively attached to the department through the Office of the Director.

Office of the Director

The Office of the Director provides departmental focus on key outcomes and works to ensure that the decisions that are made result in real environmental improvements.

The Office of the Director seeks to improve efficiency of departmental actions, drives customer-focused initiatives, ensures public participation in decision-making, and attains results affecting the quality of our water, air, land, energy, recreational and cultural resources. It seeks to continue the protection and enhancement of our natural and cultural resources through collaborative, participatory approaches.

The Office of the Director coordinates inter-agency and intra-agency cooperative agree-

Compliance Assistance Initiative

The Department of Natural Resources launched a new Compliance Assistance Initiative in November 2005. This initiative reflects the department's new way of doing business, with an increased emphasis on customer service and bringing departmental resources closer to the citizens we serve.

The core pieces of the Compliance Assistance Initiative are the Ombudsman program, environmental assistance visits, improvements to state environmental permitting, expanded satellite offices and improved online information and services for department customers. This effort also includes a $50 million Clean Water Initiative that will help Missouri communities facing problems related to drinking water and wastewater treatment and management.

Through the Ombudsman Program, the department's ombudsmen facilitate communication on environmental protection needs, parks and historic sites, historic preservation, energy efficiency and other issues. Ombudsmen proactively meet with and serve as a point of contact for citizens, businesses and local governments. Any concerns or issues are forwarded to the appropriate technical staff for action and resolution.

Environmental assistance visits help citizens and facilities understand requirements of their environmental permits. The department walks permit holders through their unique permit requirements and provides compliance assistance rather than conducting formal inspections. Because the visits are not formal inspections, compliance assistance is provided with the expectation that corrections will be made if the department discovers any problems. However, the department will initiate formal enforcement actions if violations of a very serious nature are found.

As part of its recent Compliance Assistance Initiative, the department also has implemented a new strategy that has cut in half the time required to issue some of its permits. The agency also is working to make the permit process easier and more accessible to Missouri citizens and businesses through the use of eServices. Citizens may now fill out electronic forms for dry cleaner registrations, petroleum storage tanks registrations, open burning of vegetative waste and hazardous waste generator ID numbers online.

The department also has many of its permit, registration and certification forms available in Microsoft Word, Microsoft Works, Open Office and other word processing software. This change enables businesses to complete these forms electronically and save them so they can easily be updated for future submissions. By easing the paperwork process, the department hopes to help its permit holders focus on running successful businesses in a way that's sensitive to Missouri's natural resources. The department also has made significant changes to its Web site, www.dnr.mo.gov, including the addition of a Google search engine that allows the user to search the department's and the state of Missouri's Web sites for information by keywords or phrases.

The department has expanded its services to citizens in Missouri with the addition of several new satellite offices. These offices complement and extend the services provided by the regional offices. The department's goal is to serve communities and facilities more directly by placing more staff in the field. Providing local staff assistance helps the agency get environmental help closer to where it is needed.

The department's Compliance Assistance Initiative also includes financial assistance opportunities like the Clean Water Initiative, which is designed to help address the needs of Missouri communities facing water issues. For Missouri communities struggling with problems related to drinking water and wastewater treatment and management, a $50 million economic incentive and environmental investment package will benefit both rural and urban communities. Communities can use this bond funding to provide safe drinking water and to protect Missouri rivers and streams. Construction and other permanent jobs will be created at the local level.

Minority Environmental Literacy Advisory Committee

The Minority Environmental Literacy Advisory Committee was established under RSMo 640.240.

Members of the Minority Environmental Literacy Advisory Committee include the director of the Department of Natural Resources or the director's designee (who will serve as chairperson); three representatives of universities and colleges appointed by the affirmative action office of the respective institutions; the commissioner of the Department of Higher Education or the commissioner's designee; the state affirmative action office; and five at-large members appointed by the governor, with the advice and consent of the Senate. The five gubernatorial-appointed members shall be high school teachers and college professors and shall be selected to represent various regions of the state.

The committee awards scholarships to minority and under-represented students to pursue environmentally related courses of study in order to increase their enrollment in this field.

Soil and Water Conservation Program

The Office of the Director houses the Soil and Water Conservation Program. The program administers the policies and general programs developed by the Soil and Water Districts Commission for saving Missouri's soil and water through the conservation districts in their work with landowners.

The primary responsibility of the department's Soil and Water Conservation Program is to assist districts as they promote soil and water conservation to their constituents. The districts provide financial incentives and technical assistance to agricultural landowners as well as educate their communities through field days, tours and programs in schools.

Other program activities include encouraging concentrated land treatment in special watershed areas, updating a statewide soil survey, administering statewide Cost-Share and Loan-Interest Share programs and providing educational programs. The program also provides direct assistance to the 114 districts through grants and training.

federal agencies, the center provides technical assistance through drought assessment, planning and water resource monitoring. Functional units within the center include interstate waters, groundwater, surface water, dam and reservoir safety, wetland studies and water resource planning.

The interstate waters staff coordinates issues relating to major river basins that affect Missouri and provide technical support for negotiations and litigation actions to protect the state's rights to these waters. The groundwater section operates and maintains a groundwater level observation well network for monitoring Missouri's aquifers. Collection and analysis of groundwater data provides knowledge of available water quantity, aquifer response to water use, groundwater recharge and aquifer characteristics. The surface water section provides technical support by performing water supply analyses, in-stream flow assessments and floodplain studies. The surface water section also administers the collection and analysis of statewide water use data in accordance with the Major Water User Law. The Dam and Reservoir Safety staff and the Dam and Reservoir Safety Council are responsible for ensuring that all new and existing non-agricultural, non-federal dams 35 feet or more in height meet minimum safety standards as established by the Dam and Reservoir Safety Law. The center also provides technical support to the Missouri Drought Assessment Committee, and leadership and coordination of State Water Resources Planning and wetland activities.

Missouri Energy Center

The Missouri Energy Center helps Missourians meet their energy needs by focusing on three areas of responsibility: analyzing energy supplies and prices, encouraging the use of energy-efficient practices and technologies, and advocating for renewable energy resources and technologies to benefit Missouri's environment and economy.

The Energy Center provides technical and financial assistance for energy-efficiency and renewable-energy improvements; supports market development and demonstration projects promoting clean energy sources and technologies; provides energy data, information and research on energy issues to all Missourians; and promotes policies that support energy efficiency.

Employees work with residential, agricultural, educational, local government, business and industrial clients to develop energy-efficiency programs and measures that pay back the initial investment within a reasonable timeframe. Staff consults with the Office of Administration and other agencies to integrate energy efficiency into state buildings and purchases.

The department monitors energy supplies and prices, works with state decision-makers to help ensure adequate energy supplies for Missouri and reviews policy issues relevant to Missouri energy needs.

Staff also trains other state agencies to use alternative fuel vehicles in compliance with state laws, and it partners with the federal Clean Cities programs in Missouri's metropolitan areas to strive for cleaner air and water through alternative transportation fuels and technologies. Staff in the Department of Natural Resources also manages the mid-Missouri Rideshare program and connects Missouri commuters to the carpooling program nearest them.

The department provides financial assistance for energy-efficiency projects and administers the low-income weatherization assistance program, which serves Missouri citizens through 18 local agencies. The program makes more than 2,000 low-income family homes more energy efficient and safe each year by installing measures such as wall and attic insulation, by cleaning and tuning heating systems and by reducing air infiltration. The department's energy revolving loan fund helps schools, colleges, universities and local governments finance energy-efficiency projects so that money saved can be used for other public needs.

Low-Income Weatherization Assistance Policy Advisory Council

The council provides policy review and recommendations for delivery of the Low-Income Weatherization Assistance Program in Missouri. Federal regulations require that a policy advisory council be formed to advise the department on weatherization program issues and distribution of financial assistance. The council reviews and makes recommendations to the department pertaining to the Missouri Weatherization State Plan, federal grant application and programmatic policies.

Environmental Improvement and Energy Resources Authority

Telephone: (573) 751-4919 / FAX: (573) 635-3486

The Missouri General Assembly established the Environmental Improvement and Energy Resources Authority (EIERA) in 1972 to protect Missouri's environment, develop energy alternatives, promote economic development and conduct research.

The EIERA finances projects with tax-exempt bonds and notes, conducts environmental studies and provides technical and financial assistance for market development. The authority's mandate is broad and assistance can be offered to businesses, institutions, municipalities and government agencies for energy conservation and environmental projects.

Petroleum Storage Tank Insurance Fund Board of Trustees

The Petroleum Storage Tank Insurance Fund Board of Trustees was established in 1996 (Section 319.129, RSMo). The board administers the Petroleum Storage Tank Insurance Fund, which insures tank owners against the risks associated with leaks of petroleum products from their tanks or piping. It also provides funding to clean up certain properties where historic tank operations have contaminated the environment, restoring their properties to economic viability.

The 11-member board includes the commissioner of administration and the directors of the departments of Agriculture and Natural Resources. With Senate approval, the governor appoints eight citizens who each serve a four-year term. The citizens represent tank owners, financial institutions, industrial and commercial users of petroleum, the insurance industry and the public.

This division develops and manages state parks and historic sites and coordinates statewide programs in the areas of outdoor recreation and trails. The division is funded primarily through the parks, soil and water sales tax, which was approved by voters in 1984, 1988, 1996 and 2006.

In addition to providing Missourians with recreational opportunities, this division preserves natural and historically significant resources and houses the State Historic Preservation Office. To assist the department in coordinating with American Indian groups on issues related to state parks, historic sites and historic preservation, Morris Westfall was appointed to serve as the Governor's Ombudsman to Tribal Governments.

State Historic Preservation

The Department of Natural Resources supports historic preservation efforts in Missouri. The department receives an annual allocation of federal Historic Preservation Fund monies from the U.S. Department of the Interior's National Park Service. These funds are used to help identify, evaluate and protect Missouri's cultural resources.

The department coordinates surveys statewide to identify historic, architectural and archaeological resources. Significant properties identified in the surveys may be nominated to the National Register of Historic Places, the federal list of properties deemed worthy of recognition and preservation. Missouri has more than 1,800 listings on the National Register, representing more than 32,000 historic buildings, sites, structures and objects. The Missouri Cultural Resource Inventory is being built from information gathered from the survey and nomination process.

As part of its federally mandated responsibilities, the department reviews all federally funded or licensed projects in Missouri to ensure compliance with related federal legislation. The department also administers federal Historic Preservation Fund matching grants for identifying and preserving cultural resources. Through Missouri's Certified Local Government program, the department trains municipalities in local preservation techniques and awards federal matching grants to help accomplish local preservation goals.

Since 1976, federal tax incentives and related legislation have promoted interest in rehabilitating historic buildings. In 1998, that interest was augmented and revitalized with the authorization of state tax credits, administered by the Community Development Division of the Missouri Department of Economic Development. The federal tax credits are available to private investors who rehabilitate historic buildings for uses that produce income, such as office buildings and apartments. The state tax credits may be used in combination with federal credits for rehabilitation of income-producing property or for the rehabilitation of non income-producing residential properties. The Department of Natural Resources reviews both federal and state tax credit applications for historic eligibility and conformity with preservation guidelines and standards.

The State Historic Preservation Office also administers Missouri's Historic Preservation Revolving Fund, a state fund that allows the department to help preserve endangered historic buildings. Gov. Blunt's DREAM (Downtown Revitalization and Economic Assistance for Missouri) initiative, which helps communities engage in downtown revitalization, also supports and broadens these historic preservation efforts.

Missouri Advisory Council on Historic Preservation

This council reviews all Missouri nominations to the National Register of Historic Places. The council advises the department director, the state's historic preservation officer, on historic preservation needs, plans and issues.

Unmarked Human Burial Consultation Committee

This committee was established under provisions of Missouri's Unmarked Human Burial Act, which governs the disposition of unmarked human burial remains uncovered during ground disturbing activities.

Appointed by the governor, the seven-member committee, which includes an archaeologist, an anthropologist and representatives of minority and American Indian groups, makes final decisions as to the respectful treatment and appropriate reburial of all recovered unmarked human remains.

State Parks and Historic Sites

Protecting, developing and interpreting a well-balanced system of areas of outstanding natural and historic importance are the functions of the Division of State Parks. The state park system includes diverse recreational opportunities, ranging from wilderness areas to trout parks. The park system includes 83 state parks and historic sites totaling more than 140,000 acres plus 61,000 acres in the Roger Pryor Pioneer Backcountry. Almost 17 million people visit the system annually.

State parks protect outstanding natural features and interpret their significance for the general public through various means including programs, exhibits and brochures. Recreational opportunities include camping, picnicking, swimming, boating, fishing and hiking.

State historic sites commemorate events or structures of statewide historical importance and honor people of state and national importance. Development of these historic sites is oriented toward restoration. These sites include interpretation by signs, tour guides, booklets or museum exhibits.

Missouri State Park Advisory Board

The board was created in 1986 to advise the department on matters relating to state parks and historic sites. The board, appointed by the governor, is composed of Larry Russell, chair, Springfield; Elizabeth Buckrucker, vice chair, Holt; Albert Duane Addleman, Springfield; Jerry Hollingsworth, St. Peters; Robert D. Miller, Meadville; Wayne L. Morton, Osceola; Max H. Nall II, Webster Groves; and Anne O'Connell Albrecht, St. Louis.

Grant Management

The Division of State Parks is responsible for administering federal grant programs that provide financial assistance to individuals, groups and public entities for a variety of purposes.

The division administers funds from the Recreational Trails Program, which provides federal money for the development of trails. The Missouri Trails Advisory Board makes recommendations on grant awards and policy issues for the grant program. This advisory board is made up of representatives of trail user groups, including pedestrian, equestrian, off-highway motorcycling, all-terrain vehicle riding, bicycling, mountain bicycling, accessibility and general trail use.

The division also administers and monitors projects funded through the federal Land and Water Conservation Fund (LWCF) program, which provides federal funds for local outdoor recreation projects. The LWCF grants are awarded through the State Inter-Agency Council for Outdoor Recreation (SIACOR). SIACOR awards and oversees grants, provides a forum for consideration of outdoor recreation problems in Missouri and provides advice regarding problem solving and planning. Division staff provides administrative services to SIACOR; notifies the public regarding availability of grant funds; evaluates grant proposals; makes recommendations regarding funding to SIACOR; administers projects through acquisition, construction and reimbursement phases; and performs follow-up inspections to assure compliance. In addition to administering grants, the division develops the Statewide Comprehensive Outdoor Recreation Plan.

SIACOR members include the commissioner of the Office of Administration; a representative from the University of Missouri; and directors of the departments of Natural Resources, Agriculture, Conservation, Economic Development, Transportation and Social Services. The director of the Department of Natural Resources serves as council chair.

Thomas Hart Benton Homestead Memorial Commission

The Kansas City home of the late artist Thomas Hart Benton is a state historic site administered by the Division of State Parks.

Commissioners were selected for their personal knowledge of and friendship with Thomas Hart Benton to advise the department on the accurate restoration of his home and the development of an interpretive program for visitors. The commission accomplished its original mission.

Field Services Division

The Field Services Division delivers compliance assistance, permitting, inspections and other environmental expertise closest to where Missourians live and work. It oversees the department's system of regional and satellite offices and is home to the department's Environmental Services Program as well as environmental education and community assistance staff.

Regional and Satellite Offices

The five regional offices and 15 satellite offices deal with local environmental matters. Regional offices in St. Louis, Kansas City, Springfield, Poplar Bluff and Macon provide the department closer contact with the public through field inspections of regulated facilities, complaint investigation, front line troubleshooting and technical assistance, as well as local environmental emergency response. Regional offices support air pollution control, water pollution control, environmental emergency response, public drinking water, solid waste management, hazardous waste, and soil and water conservation efforts. Satellite offices are located in Portageville, Willow Springs, Fredericktown, Rolla, Maryville, Kansas City, Warsaw, Sullivan, Festus, Troy, LaGrange, Osage Beach, Neosho, Carthage and Branson.

Environmental Services Program

The Environmental Services Program staffs a 24-hour-a-day, seven-days-a-week spill notification hotline at (573) 634-2436 for the reporting of hazardous material and substance releases that impact public safety and the environment. Each year, the department receives 1,500 to 2,000 incident reports on the spill hotline, responding on-site to approximately 25 percent of them and providing information and coordination to the remainder.

The program operates air monitoring instruments at 34 locations throughout Missouri, performs air quality studies and uploads air quality data to the Internet for public access. It also maintains the state's environmental laboratory. More than 112,000 total analyses are performed each year in the analytical laboratory on air, water and soil samples. This includes 87,000 analyses on drinking water from public water supplies across Missouri.

The program assists with safe-handling management and disposal of hazardous chemicals from clandestine drug labs, primarily methamphetamine. The program distributes personal protective equipment, supplies and air monitoring equipment to law enforcement and provides clandestine drug laboratory investigation training and health and safety recertification training in cooperation with the Missouri State Highway Patrol.

Division of Geology and Land Survey

Telephone: (573) 368-2100 / FAX: (573) 368-2111

The Geology and Land Survey Division provides technical assistance, education and guidance in the use and protection of Missouri's natural resources; interprets the state's geological setting; helps determine the availability of its energy and mineral resources; evaluates and interprets geological hazards; and determines land boundaries. The division restores land survey monuments, provides survey data and defines hazardous areas such as those subject to earthquake or catastrophic collapse.

MIMI GARSTANG
Director, Division of Geology and Land Survey

The results of studies conducted by the division are available to the public through published reports, maps and other documents. Today, some information on water resources, geology, well locations, mineral resources and geologic hazards is provided using geographic information system (GIS) databases. Professional staff members are available to assist in solving a wide variety of geological and land surveying problems. Staff also conducts seminars, workshops and field trips.

The division cooperates with the U.S. Geological Survey on numerous projects, including the National Cooperative Geologic Mapping Program, a national effort to complete geologic maps for the entire United States at a 1:24,000 scale. Other responsibilities of the division include work carried out under contract with funding through grants or agreements with other state agencies. A number of activities relating to oil and gas permits and production, geological and hydrologic evaluations, studies of disposal waste sites, spill responses, land survey contracts, corner remonumentation and document distribution include work supported by fees or are carried out under contract with funding through federal grants.

Division Director and State Geologist

The division director serves as the State Geologist and is responsible for ensuring that statutory obligations are met. The state geologist is the administrator of the Missouri State Oil and Gas Council and a member of the Land Reclamation Commission, the Well Installation Board, the Missouri Boundary Commission, the Geologist Registration Board and serves as a Missouri representative to the Central United States Earthquake Consortium.

Geological Survey Program

The Geological Survey Program uses geologic information and knowledge to assist Missouri

citizens in the management of natural resources for a higher standard of living and healthy natural environment. The program gathers data that describes and interprets Missouri's vast geological resources. Accurate, reliable information about the distribution and composition of geologic materials is vitally important for making informed land use decisions. This information is necessary for locating mineral deposits, managing groundwater resources, selecting waste disposal facilities and evaluating geologic hazards. The program receives thousands of requests for geological assistance each year.

Staff in this program also conducts geologic field investigations that provide technical assistance to the public and government agencies. These services include determining the environmental hazards posed by waste disposal sites and spills of hazardous materials. Geological principles also are applied to minimize the impact of chemical releases or spills.

Missouri is blessed with vast quantities of fresh groundwater. The Geological Survey Program works to protect this valuable but fragile resource from contamination. In addition to assistance provided in siting waste disposal facilities, the program also implements the Oil and Gas Act and the Underground Injection Control Program of the Safe Drinking Water Act.

State Oil and Gas Council

The State Oil and Gas Council fosters and promotes the orderly and economic development and production of Missouri's oil and gas resources. The council also works to ensure that wastes generated by oil and gas wells are managed properly to minimize the impact on the environment. In addition, the council protects groundwater aquifers that may be affected by oil and gas well drilling.

Land Survey Program

The division's Land Survey Program provides information and resources for the economical and accurate location of all private and public boundaries in Missouri. The program is responsible for the restoration and preservation of the original corner monuments established by the General Land Office for the U.S. Public Land Survey System. The division maintains a records

Protecting and enhancing the quality of Missouri's environment is the responsibility of the department's Division of Environmental Quality. The division enforces environmental rules and regulations related to air and water pollution; hazardous and solid waste; land reclamation; well-head protection and safe public drinking water. The division's specific focus is to prevent pollution and to protect the public from harmful emissions, illegal discharges and waste disposal activities. through the traditional roles of permitting and inspections, and through proactive efforts to revitalize contaminated sites for redevelopment. This division also is responsible for protecting and enhancing Missouri's water quality. The division certifies and tracks the required continuing education of all operators of public drinking water systems, wastewater systems and concentrated animal feeding operation waste management systems. The division works to ensure clean air, land and water by cleaning up pollution from the past, addressing pollution problems of today and identifying potential pollution issues of the future.

The division administers five technical programs: air pollution control, hazardous waste management, land reclamation, solid waste management and water protection. The division has several policy making commissions: the Air Conservation Commission, the Hazardous Waste Management Commission, the Land Reclamation Commission, the Clean Water Commission and the Safe Drinking Water Commission. The division also includes the Solid Waste Advisory Board and the Wellhead Installation Board.

Air Pollution Control Program

The Air Pollution Control Program works to maintain the purity of Missouri's air to protect the health, general welfare and property of the citizens. The program researches, develops and implements control strategies that help Missouri improve air quality and implement the federal Clean Air Act.

The Air Pollution Control Program evaluates industries wanting to operate in Missouri, predicting their emissions and their impact on the state's air quality and requiring restrictions on emissions where necessary. The program issues construction and operating permits, selects locations for air monitoring equipment and analyzes data collected from these monitors. The Air Pollution Control Program also surveys and inspects sources of air pollution. If a source consistently violates the state's air pollution control regulations, it is subject to enforcement action to return the facility to compliance.

Under the state's federally required plan, the Air Pollution Control Program implements a vehicle emissions testing program in the St. Louis nonattainment area. The nonattainment area includes registered vehicles in St. Louis City, Franklin, Jefferson, St. Louis and St. Charles counties. Vehicles registered in these areas must have an emissions test on a regular basis. The program is designed to achieve the state's goal of reducing ground-level ozone created after vehicles release carbon dioxide, carbon monoxide, hydrocarbons and oxides of nitrogen through their tailpipes. Ozone is a respiratory irritant that can cause health problems, especially for children, the elderly and people with heart and lung diseases.

The Air Pollution Control Program works with stakeholders, the general public and regulated facilities to comply with local, state and federal air quality regulations. The program carries out the policies established by the Air Conservation Commission.

Air Conservation Commission

The Missouri Air Conservation Commission was created by the Missouri General Assembly in 1965. The commission carries out the Missouri Air Conservation Law. Most often, the commission's activities are directed toward achieving and maintaining the National Ambient (outdoor) Air Quality Standards. When air quality in an area meets all standards, the area is considered to be in attainment. If air monitors detect too much of a pollutant, the area is labeled as nonattainment for that pollutant.

The commission adopts, amends and rescinds rules related to air quality and assigns duties to local air pollution control agencies. The commission lists regions as attainment or nonattainment areas based on the national standards. The commission, through a program involving four delegated local governments and citizens' input, develops strategies for bringing pollutants down to safe levels in nonattainment areas. The commission makes decisions on appeals from enforcement orders and permit conditions. When necessary, the commission also begins legal actions to ensure compliance with Missouri Air Conservation Law and rules.

All members represent the general interest of the public and have an interest in and knowledge of air conservation and the effects and control of air contaminants. With Senate approval, the governor appoints the commission's seven members who each serve a four-year term. At least three of the members must represent agriculture, industrial and labor interests.

The Small Business Compliance Advisory Committee and Small Business Ombudsman are supported by the Air Pollution Control Program. The Clean Air Amendments require states to implement a three-component program to assist small businesses in their efforts to comply with air regulations: the small business ombudsman, technical assistance to small businesses and the compliance advisory committee. The committee and ombudsman take a multi media approach when acting as a liaison between the department and small business owners and managers. Committee members each serve a four-year term and continue until their successors are appointed.

Hazardous Waste Program

The department's Hazardous Waste Program protects public health and the environment by keeping Missouri's water, soil and air from being polluted with hazardous wastes and hazardous substances. In addition to enforcing the state laws passed to ensure proper management of hazardous wastes being generated today, the program also oversees the cleanup of problem sites resulting from poor waste management in the past.

The Hazardous Waste Program reviews applications for permits for facilities that treat, and dispose of or store, hazardous waste for longer than 90 days to ensure these facilities conform to environmental laws and regulations. The program studies the design and operation plans of the facilities for sound engineering practices. After extensive review, the program will prepare a notice of intent to deny or issue a draft permit. After public review and comment, the program will issue or deny a final permit. The program provides oversight for 99 hazardous waste treatment, storage and disposal facilities in Missouri. Currently, 20 are actively handling hazardous waste. The program maintains a database for nearly 15,000 Missouri sites registered as generators of hazardous waste. Many of these sites are no longer generating waste but the information is maintained for future reference.

The program's enforcement staff helps the regional offices inspect generators and treatment, storage and disposal facilities, and takes appropriate action to ensure a timely return to compliance for those generators or facilities that are out of compliance.

The program oversees cleanup activities at more than 100 active or formerly used federal facilities in Missouri. Cleanup activities at federal facilities include site assessments, investigations and remediation. These facilities include those owned or operated by the U.S. Department of Energy, U.S. Department of Defense, other federal agencies and, in some cases, companies that have a contractual tie with one of the federal agencies. The program focuses on sites requiring remediation of hazardous or radioactive wastes that were disposed of prior to the current laws and regulations. The program also currently provides oversight and long-term stewardship at 165 Minuteman II missile sites. In addition, the program has field offices, which allow an on-site presence during federal facility cleanups.

The program's Superfund section evaluates and cleans up federal National Priorities List sites, sites not listed and sites on, or proposed, for the Registry of Abandoned or Uncontrolled Sites in Missouri. The program administers 87 Registry of Abandoned or Uncontrolled sites, 12 Consent Agreement sites, 10 Cooperative Program sites and 26 National Priorities List sites.

The program promotes voluntary cleanups by allowing landowners to pay voluntarily for state oversight of hazardous substance cleanups. Upon satisfactory cleanup, the department will issue a Certificate of Completion stating that the property has been cleaned up to standards acceptable to both the department and the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency. Brownfield cleanups put properties back into productive use, encourage redevelopment and increase economic development in distressed areas. There are 225 brownfield/voluntary cleanup sites currently active in the program, and 329 sites have received a letter of completion.

The department's Hazardous Waste Program has oversight of underground storage tanks and leaking underground storage tanks that contain petroleum. The program oversees regulations governing the construction, installation, operation and closure of underground storage tanks and also is responsible for the investigation and remediation of all leaking petroleum underground storage tank sites.

The department's Hazardous Waste Program is responsible for cleaning up contaminated dry cleaner sites using a fund capitalized with fees paid by the dry cleaning industry.

The Hazardous Waste Program works with stakeholders, the general public and regulated facilities to comply with state and federal hazardous waste regulations. The program carries out the policies of the Hazardous Waste Management Commission.

Hazardous Waste Management Commission

The Hazardous Waste Management Commission encourages efforts to recycle, incinerate, dispose of properly or otherwise treat hazardous waste. The commission is responsible for categorizing hazardous waste and wastes by disposal method and determines fees to be paid by owners or operators of hazardous waste facilities that must obtain a permit. The commission establishes regulations for the generation, transportation, treatment, storage, cleanup and disposal of hazardous waste and hazardous substances. The commission also hears appeals of decisions made by the department director and rules on requests for variances from hazardous waste management and hazardous substance regulations.

All members represent the general interest of the public and have an interest in and knowledge of waste management and the effects of improper waste management on the health of the public and the environment. With Senate approval, the governor appoints the commission's seven members who each serve a four-year term. At least three members represent agriculture, waste generating industry and waste management respectively.

Land Reclamation Program

The Land Reclamation Program works with the mining industry and Missouri communities to minimize the environmental and health-related impacts of mining activities in Missouri.

The Land Reclamation Program carries out Missouri's Abandoned Mine Land program to reclaim abandoned coal mine sites within Missouri that have safety hazards or environmental problems. Abandoned mine lands are defined as lands mined prior to August 1977 using 100 percent federal funds for reclamation. Missouri's abandoned mine land emergency program allows the Land Reclamation Program to reduce or control emergency situations in which adverse effects of past coal mining pose an immediate danger to the public.

The Land Reclamation Program regulates mining and reclamation activities and issues permits for barite, clay, coal, granite, gravel, limestone, sand, sandstone, traprock and tar sands. As part of the permitting process, mining companies must provide financial assurance to the Land Reclamation Program that provides for reclamation should the company not be able to complete this activity. Reclamation bonds ensure that sites are properly graded, replanted and maintained after mining ceases. After the mining company completes all required reclamation, the commission releases these financial assurances and relieves the responsible company of any further reclamation liabilities.

The Land Reclamation Program works with stakeholders, the general public and the regulated facilities to comply with state and federal mining and land reclamation regulations. The program carries out the policies of the Land Reclamation Commission.

Land Reclamation Commission

The Land Reclamation Commission is the ruling body over Missouri's mining requirements set forth in three state statutes. These mining statutes protect public health, safety and the environment from the adverse effects of mining and assure the beneficial restoration of mined lands.

The Land Reclamation Commission is responsible for issuing mining permits related to industrial minerals, metallic minerals and coal and oversees Missouri's Abandoned Mine Land program. The commission establishes rules and regulations for mining activities and oversees investigations and inspections necessary to ensure compliance. The commission conducts hearings and, when necessary, may revoke a permit and cease operations at a facility for failure to comply with any order of the commission. The commission also orders forfeiture of bonds for failure to comply with any provisions of law or any order of the commission.

The seven-member commission includes three statutory and four public members. The statutory members include the state geologist, the director of the Missouri Department of Conservation and the staff director of the Clean Water Commission. The four public members must have an interest in and knowledge of conservation and land reclamation, and one must have training and experience in surface mining. Only one member of the commission may have a direct link with the mining industry. With Senate approval, the governor appoints four public members. All members serve a four-year term and continue until their successors are appointed.

Solid Waste Management Program

The department's Solid Waste Management Program works to help Missourians and Missouri businesses properly manage their solid waste to protect public health and the environment.

The department's Solid Waste Management Program issues permits and permit modifications for solid waste disposal and processing facilities. Staff reviews proposed permits for facility design, construction, operations and proper monitoring controls. Program staff inspects permitted facilities quarterly and oversees the operations of these facilities to ensure that they comply with permit conditions and do not have a negative impact on human health and the environment. In addition, staff investigates reports of illegal dumping across Missouri. Program staff teaches state regulations to landfill operators. Enforcement activities are conducted when necessary to ensure proper solid waste management. Other focuses of the program include planning, financial and technical assistance and educational activities that inform the public of the relationship between individual consumption and solid waste management.

The Solid Waste Management Program works with stakeholders, the general public and the regulated facilities to comply with state and federal solid waste regulations. The Solid Waste Advisory Board provides advice and input to the Solid Waste Management Program.

Solid Waste Advisory Board

Passage of Missouri's Solid Waste Omnibus Law in 1990 created the Solid Waste Advisory Board. The Solid Waste Advisory Board advises the department about the effectiveness of the department's technical assistance and problems experienced by the solid waste management districts in developing and implementing solid waste management plans. The board advises the department on the effect proposed rules and regulations will have on the districts and the criteria used for awarding grants from the solid waste management fund. The board also develops improved methods of solid waste minimization, recycling and resource recovery.

The membership of this board consists of the chair of the executive board of each of Missouri's 20 recognized solid waste management districts, three public members, two representatives from the solid waste industry and one representative from the recycling or composting industry appointed by the director of the Missouri

Department of Natural Resources.

Water Protection Program

The department's Water Protection Program regulates pollutants entering the state's waters by issuing permits for the construction and operation of wastewater discharges. Permits set wastewater treatment levels necessary to protect water quality. These treatment levels are contained as conditions in permits issued to municipal, industrial and other dischargers. The program evaluates discharge-monitoring data and permits to determine whether facilities comply with applicable laws and regulations. When a source violates the Missouri Clean Water Law, the program works with the facility to correct the problem and may assess penalties if necessary to obtain compliance with the requirement.

The program also develops water quality standards used when monitoring and assessing Missouri's waterways. Waters that are not meeting these standards are placed on the 303(d) List. The 303(d) List provides a snapshot in time and helps state and federal agencies keep track of those waters. Water quality standards protect beneficial uses of water such as swimming, maintaining fish and other aquatic life, and providing drinking water for people, livestock and wildlife. Once a water is added to the 303(d) List, the department develops and implements a study to correct the water impairments. Generally, this study takes the form of a Total Maximum Daily Load document. The document describes the maximum amount of a pollutant that may enter a water without violating water quality standards. It then allocates portions of this total load to the various sources in the watershed. If an impairment is linked back to a facility with a water permit, the department may modify the permit to bring the impaired water back into compliance.

In addition, the department's Water Protection Program reviews plans and issues permits for the construction and operation of public drinking water systems. The program requires all public water systems to monitor for contaminants and take corrective action if any health-based standards are exceeded. Staff provides public water systems with all the required testing for chemical contaminants as well as assistance with data interpretation and management.

The program performs periodic inspections and provides compliance assistance on water supply problems to cities, water districts, subdivisions, mobile home parks and other facilities. The program also certifies and tracks the required continuing education of all operators of public drinking water systems, wastewater systems and concentrated animal feeding operation waste management systems.

The program regulates the construction of wells including domestic and multi-family water wells, irrigation wells, monitoring wells, heat pump wells and mineral exploration borings to ensure that all new wells are constructed to appropriate standards. This helps to ensure our groundwater resources are protected from contamination due to poor well construction. The program also regulates the plugging of abandoned wells and licenses all Missouri well drillers and pump installers.

Financial assistance is provided through grants and low-interest loans to local governments to assist in the construction of wastewater, drinking water and storm water facilities to improve public health protection, regulatory compliance and customer affordability at public water systems. The program also provides financial and technical assistance for the control of nonpoint source pollution caused by agriculture, mining, transportation and other activities.

The Water Protection Program works with stakeholders, the general public and the regulated facilities to comply with state and federal water regulations. The program carries out the policies of the Clean Water Commission and the Safe Drinking Water Commission.

Mission

Established in 1974, the Department of Public Safety is responsible for coordinating statewide law enforcement, criminal justice and public safety efforts for the purpose of ensuring a safe environment for Missouri citizens. The department's mission "will provide a safe and secure environment for all individuals through efficient and effective law enforcement, national defense, disaster preparedness, service to veterans and education."

The department is organized into 11 separate functional agencies: Office of the Director, Missouri Capitol Police, Division of Fire Safety, Division of Alcohol and Tobacco Control, Missouri State Highway Patrol, Missouri State Water Patrol, Missouri National Guard (Office of the Adjutant General), State Emergency Management Agency, Missouri Veterans Commission and the Missouri Gaming Commission.

Office of the Director

To further give direction to the Homeland Security program, the Office of Homeland Security was established in the Department of Public Safety, which is headed by the Homeland Security Coordinator. Most of the administrative work associated with the federal Homeland Security grants is coordinated with the Homeland Security Grant Administration Branch of the State Emergency Management Agency.

The safety of Missouri's residents is the primary goal of the Missouri Office of Homeland Security. In cooperation with local, state and federal partners, the office has created a working network of professionals from all segments of emergency responders including public health, fire, law enforcement and healthcare. The Office of Homeland Security leads a well-regarded Governor's Homeland Security Advisory Council and the Regional Homeland Security Oversight Committees. In addition, the office is responsible for identifying Missouri's critical infrastructure and key resources as well as providing a critical link to the Missouri State Highway Patrol and Missouri Information Analysis Center regarding pressing homeland security bulletins and intelligence.

A tremendous investment in improving our nation's preparedness for natural and manmade events has been made in recent years. Missouri has upgraded communication and information networks, developed and tested response plans, and provided important training and education to partners at the state and local levels.

Since 1983, Missouri Capitol Police has been the primary law enforcement agency for the 72-acre state office building campus known as the Capitol Complex. Located within that area are: the State Capitol Building, Jefferson Building, Transportation Building, Supreme Court, James C. Kirkpatrick State Information Center, Broadway Building, Truman Building, Social Services Electronic Data Processing Building, State Health Laboratory, Governor's Mansion, Jefferson Landing historic site, associated parking facilities and grounds. In recent years, Capitol Police has expanded their services to include state agencies and facilities that have moved from the Capitol Complex to other areas in Jefferson City. Capitol Police has statutory authority on all state owned/leased property in Cole County. Capitol Police oversee a computerized, centrally-monitored, fire/life safety/after-hours entry control system in the Capitol Complex buildings. Closed circuit television monitoring in strategic locations and automatic ring-down emergency telephones have been among several security improvements added since 1983.

Field Operations

Missouri Capitol Police officers patrol the buildings and grounds in their jurisdiction, 24 hours a day, seven days a week. Patrols are made on foot, by vehicle and on bicycle. Criminal investigations, medical emergencies, traffic accidents, security and fire alarms and security escorts are only a few of the many incidents and calls for service that officers provide to over 15,000 state employees and over 200,000 annual visitors to the seat of government.

Executive Protection

Since 1978, officers have staffed the Missouri Governor's Mansion. From this origin, officers branched out to the Capitol and became a full functioning police department. A team of specially trained and certified police officers are assigned on a full time basis to the Missouri Governor's Mansion. Officers on this team provide residential security for the state's first family 24-hours a day. A stand alone fire and security system with redundant monitoring at the Capitol Police communications office is complemented by a closed circuit television monitoring system used for the security and safety at the house and the grounds. Training has been provided for these officers by the U.S. Secret Service, Pennsylvania State Police and other executive protection agencies.

Communications Operations

Capitol Police Communications and Command Center is a point of contact for those who need police services in the Capitol Complex 24 hours a day, seven days a week. Communications operators utilize computer terminals that interface with the Missouri Uniform Law Enforcement System (MULES), the National Crime Information Center (NCIC), the Missouri Department of Revenue Motor Vehicle and Operator files, and other information systems. In addition to radio and telephone communications with the public and other agencies, communications operators are responsible for management of a fire/life safety monitoring system, which includes fire, intrusion and "panic" alarms; after-hours building access for most complex facilities; and collection of weather-related information for implementation and dissemination of the State Employee's Hazardous Travel Policy.

Special Services

Capitol Police members provide specialized training and services on request. Special investigations involving suspected criminal conduct, site security surveys and programs covering personal safety and other safety related issues have been provided at several sites in Jefferson City and other locations throughout the state.

The Missouri State Fire Marshal's office was established by the 76th Missouri General Assembly in 1973. Effective September 1985, through a legislative reorganization, the office was renamed the Division of Fire Safety and was housed within the Missouri Department of Public Safety.

The division is charged with the oversight and enforcement of various programs to maintain the safety and well being of the general public. Responsibilities include providing fire safety standards and inspections for specific state licensed or certified care facilities; fire origin and cause investigative assistance to local authorities relating to suspicious fires and explosions as provided by law; regulating the use and sales of fireworks and licensing qualified fireworks operators; training and certification of fire fighters and emergency response personnel; inspecting and licensing of nonexempt boilers and pressure vessels; inspecting and issuance of operating permits for elevator-related equipment; inspecting and issuance of operating permits for amusement rides operating in the state of Missouri; evaluation and issuance of licenses for private fire investigators and companies doing business in Missouri; and licensing of users and explosives.

Fire Service Training and Certification

The Division of Fire Safety's Training and Certification Unit is responsible for the training and certification of over 25,000 firefighters in the state of Missouri. In addition, the unit's customers include representatives from law enforcement, private industry, emergency response personnel and other state agencies. Since the implementation of the certification program in 1986, and as a result of HB 230, the division has trained and tested over 47,000 individuals, while offering 14 different courses and 15 levels of certification. The Missouri Division of Fire Safety is accredited through the International Fire Service Accreditation Congress and the Peace Officers Standards and Training Commission.

The unit is also responsible for the Fire Fighter Training Contracts, National Fire Incident Reporting System, the State Fire Mutual Aid System and Fire Department Registration. When appropriated, the division also provides funding for cost-free training available to all of the state's firefighters and emergency response personnel.

Fire Inspection

Fire Safety Inspectors conduct fire safety inspections of facilities and locations licensed or certified by state agencies, including the Department of Health and Senior Services, Department of Mental Health, Division of Family Services, and Senior Citizens Nutrition Centers. These inspections, based upon nationally recognized codes and standards, are designed to reduce and eliminate fire safety hazards for occupants of childcare homes and centers, facilities and homes providing care for the mentally challenged, foster care providers and facilities housing at risk youth.

Fire safety inspections enhance fire prevention measures, making a safer environment for occupants. The Inspection Unit also provides courtesy fire inspections for county jails, schools and state-owned buildings.

Nearly 12,000 inspections and 233 plan reviews were conducted by 13 inspectors in fiscal year 2007.

Fire Investigation

The Investigation Unit provides fire and explosive related investigative services to Missouri's fire service and law enforcement agencies. Under RSMo 320.230, the State Fire Marshal and his appointed investigators are responsible for investigating incidents involving the possibility of arson, explosion or related offenses as requested by the fire service, law enforcement and prosecuting attorneys within the state. Investigators are trained in several fields of expertise to include insurance fraud, explosives recognition, weapons of mass destruction and post-blast investigations.

Fire Investigators have the power of arrest for criminal offenses, when investigating the cause, origin or circumstances of fires, explosions or like occurrences involving the possibility of arson or related offenses. Investigators also have arrest powers when aiding and assisting the sheriff of any county or the Chief of Police or their designated representative upon request.

The unit has two explosive detection canines assigned to investigator/handlers for assistance with bomb threat searches, post-blast investigations and security details. Two accelerant detection canines have been added to assist fire investigators during the investigation of suspicious fire-related incidents. Five Division investigators serve as certified Computer Voice Stress Analysis (CVSA) operators and assist other law enforcement agencies across the state with numerous types of felony investigations.

A total of 1,303 investigations were conducted in fiscal year 2007, with 320 involving incendiary fires. Total dollar loss related to those investigations is estimated at $92,245,772.

Fireworks Enforcement

The Division of Fire Safety is charged with enforcing RSMo 320.106, involving the investigation, permitting, and inspection of the fireworks industry in Missouri. This statute requires prospective manufacturers, distributors, jobbers, wholesalers, seasonal retailers, and persons requesting special fireworks displays to apply to the Division of Fire Safety for a permit to do business in Missouri. Applicants must meet certain requirements, follow safety procedures, and pay a fee for a fireworks sales permit.

The scope of this program was broadened by the 2004 Legislature with the addition of testing and licensing of individuals who shoot fireworks for public display. Additionally, proximate (indoor) fireworks such as those used in theatre shows, at ballgames, and concerts were previously exempt from the law and therefore left unregulated. These types of shows are now regulated due to this statutory change.

The division's Inspection and Investigation staff conduct inspections of facilities selling, manufacturing, or distributing fireworks. Of the 1,481 permits issued by the division in fiscal year 2007, 1,330 involved seasonal retailers. The division licensed 39 display and pyrotechnic operators in fiscal year 2007. That same year, the program generated $160,675, which was deposited to the credit of the Fire Education Fund to provide no-cost firefighter training.

Private Fire Investigator Licensure

In the 2004 legislative session, House Bill 1195 was passed creating the Licensed Private Fire

Investigator program. This newly created program will allow for better oversight of individuals performing fire investigations for a fee in the state of Missouri. This legislation will allow the division and the new Board of Licensed Private Fire Investigators the authorization to license only qualified individuals and companies. It will also allow for the ongoing monitoring of their performance to ensure ethical work practices, the investigation of any violations that may arise from their practice, and the implementation of any necessary measures against these individuals or organizations.

Private Fire Investigator Board Members

No members yet assigned.

Boiler and Pressure Vessel Safety

Missouri was the 47th state to pass a law requiring periodic safety inspections of boilers and pressure vessels operating in the state. The purpose of the law is to ensure the safety of the general public, those who work in the vicinity of boilers and pressure vessels and to protect property. The law, known as the Missouri Boiler and Pressure Vessel Act, RSMo 650.200 through 650.295, was passed in 1984 and became mandatory on November 12, 1986.

The act requires periodic inspections of boilers and pressure vessels. These inspections are performed by certified inspectors in accordance with nationally recognized standards. Vessels found to have violations in relation to these standards are required to be repaired prior to the issuance of the state operating certificate. Rules require installation permits be obtained prior to installing new objects. In more complex installations, a plan review is also required. The act requires that all weld repairs are completed by National Board certified "R" stamp holders. Accidents involving boilers or pressure vessels are investigated by the Boiler and Pressure Safety Unit.

Currently, the Boiler and Pressure Vessel Safety Unit consists of seven full time employees, including five Boiler and Pressure Vessel Inspectors who are strategically located throughout the state. In addition, the Division of Fire Safety has commissioned 223 insurance company inspectors who provide routine inspections to their insured. Approximately 39,000 objects are registered and receive periodic inspections. In fiscal year 2007, the unit generated $445,084 in revenue for the state.

Amusement Ride Safety Act

In 1997, the 89th General Assembly enacted House Bill 276 relating to amusement ride safety. This legislation placed certain requirements upon amusement ride owners/operators when a death or serious physical injury occurs as a result of the operation of an amusement ride. If an injury or death occurs under the purview of the statute, the Division of Fire Safety initiates an investigation into the cause of the accident. The legislation also placed certain restrictions on the rider of an amusement ride. A violation of any restriction may result in criminal prosecution.

State law also requires annual safety inspections on all amusement rides and for those rides to obtain state operating permits before commencing operation in the state. Additionally, the division staff has the authority to conduct spot inspections on any ride operating in Missouri.

In 2007, the division issued 1,105 amusement ride operating permits grossing $33,156 in revenues. Staff from the Elevator Safety program perform the duties required to support the Amusement Ride Safety Act. This program is overseen by a nine member Amusement Ride Safety Board.

Elevator Safety Act

In 1994, the 86th General Assembly enacted House Bill 1035 creating the Elevator Safety Act. This act established an Elevator Safety Board to develop and adopt a code of rules and regulations relating to the construction, maintenance, testing and inspection of all elevators and similar devices, as well as the evaluation of variance requests.

The legislation requires annual safety inspections of every elevator and similar devices as specified in the statute. Upon an approved inspection, a state operating certificate is issued.

Currently, the Elevator Safety Unit employs nine full time employees including six Elevator/Amusement Ride Safety Inspectors. This program also has regulatory authority over the issuance of state licenses to qualified elevator inspectors performing inspections within the State. To date, approximately 19,000 elevator type objects have been registered with the division. The program generates over $500,000 annually in state revenue.

The Department of Liquor Control was established by the Liquor Control Act in 1934 and was restructured as a division within the Department of Public Safety in 1974. The Division of Liquor Control's name was changed to the Division of Alcohol and Tobacco Control in 2003. The Division of Alcohol and Tobacco Control's responsibilities are to enforce the liquor control laws under Chapters 311 and 312, RSMo, the youth access tobacco laws under Chapter 407, RSMo, and the rules and regulations of the Supervisor of Alcohol and Tobacco Control. The agency's responsibilities are primarily threefold: revenue collection, liquor licensing, and liquor and tobacco enforcement.

The liquor control laws and the state's system of alcoholic beverage regulations are designed to ensure the public health and safety as affected by intoxicating beverages. The division supervises the state's revenue derived from the collection of excise taxes on alcoholic beverages and license fees. Additionally, state statute mandates that the division protect the consumer from tainted alcoholic products and the liquor industry from infiltration and exploitation by the criminal element.

The Division of Alcohol and Tobacco Control is headed by the supervisor of alcohol and tobacco control, who is authorized to appoint and employ all agents and assistants as are necessary for the proper enforcement and administration of the Liquor Control Law, Non-intoxicating Beer Law and Youth Access Tobacco Law. The Supervisor of Alcohol and Tobacco Control has the authority under Chapters 311 and 312, RSMo, to promulgate regulations, issue liquor licenses, suspend, revoke or fine liquor licenses for liquor control law violations. The Supervisor of Alcohol and Tobacco Control also has the authority under Chapter 407, RSMo, to issue citations prohibiting outlets from selling tobacco products for violations of youth access tobacco laws.

Administration, Audit and Collection Section

The main function of the administration, audit and collection section of the Division of Alcohol and Tobacco Control is to assure general compliance with liquor control laws requiring the supervisor to collect excise taxes on all alcoholic beverages sold in this state. This section collects approximately $31 million annually from liquor, wine and beer taxes for deposit into the general revenue fund. This is achieved by auditors regularly conducting audits of licensed manufacturers, wineries, breweries and wholesalers. Auditors also perform retail audits to determine food sales qualifications of resorts and restaurants licensed to sell intoxicating liquor by the drink on Sundays. The auditing section is also responsible for overseeing the proper enforcement of Missouri price posting systems, primary American source of supply enforcement, and product testing and registration.

In addition, this section annually collects and processes $4 million in license fees, processes 27,000 license applications and issues licenses after they are approved by the enforcement section and the supervisor. This section also acts as support to all aspects of the division with record retention, fiscal processing and data processing support.

Enforcement Section

The Division of Alcohol and Tobacco Control's enforcement section consists of three districts. The enforcement section is staffed with two district supervisors, 31 special agents and five agents. Special agents and agents are assigned territories within the district. All enforcement personnel are required to attend the basic and advanced basic law enforcement classes conducted at the Missouri State Highway Patrol Law Enforcement Academy.

The enforcement section fulfills its responsibilities of enforcing the liquor control and tobacco laws by conducting routine inspections and investigations; following up on citizen complaints; taking applications for over 27,000 new or renewal liquor licenses annually; working in a cooperative and coordinating effort with local law enforcement; and providing information to licensees concerning liquor control laws, tobacco laws and regulations.

As of August 28, 2001 the division assumed enforcement of tobacco laws with the passage of HB 381. The division has implemented and enforces the provisions of Sections 407.924 to 407.934. The division is charged with enforcing youth access to alcohol and tobacco products and enforcing the laws to vendors who sell to minors.

Badges in Business

The Division of Alcohol and Tobacco Control, in partnership with the Division of Highway Safety, has successfully introduced an innovative enforcement program called Badges in Business. Badges in Business allows State Alcohol and Tobacco Control Agents to periodically be present on a licensed premise at the request of the retailer. Agents assist store employees in the detections of underage patrons and false identifications. As minors enter and attempt to purchase alcoholic beverages, they are detained and taken into custody. The division has found a vast majority of underage youth attempting to purchase alcohol using fake IDs. The success of this project is largely attributable to the assistance and cooperative efforts of the Division of Highway Safety, local prosecutors, licensed retailers and local law enforcement agencies.

Educational Programs

In recent years the division has taken a more proactive stance by providing industry education and law enforcement education programs. Seminars for thousands of retail servers across the state have been conducted to reduce incidences of underage drinking and the over serving of intoxicating liquors to customers and the sale of tobacco products to underage individuals. Informational pamphlets are also provided to assist liquor licensees and tobacco outlets in compliance with liquor control laws and tobacco laws. The division also provides liquor control and tobacco law training to local law enforcement personnel. Training includes providing booklets that present liquor control and tobacco laws and elements of making cases on various liquor control and tobacco law violations.

In order to limit the availability of alcohol and tobacco products to minors, the division monitors retail accounts across the state with random compliance check operations. Under the program, minors working for the division are sent into the establishments and instructed to attempt to purchase alcoholic beverages or tobacco products. If asked, the minors must display their valid driver's license which indicates that they are under twenty-one years of age for alcohol purchases or under eighteen years of age for tobacco purchases, and must answer questions concerning their age truthfully. If the employee sells alcohol or tobacco to the underage buyer, the seller will be issued a criminal

In addition, the license holder will be cited for a violation of State Liquor Control Law or State Tobacco Law and will face a disciplinary hearing before the Supervisor of Alcohol and Tobacco Control, who shall determine the appropriate sanction against the establishment.

Summary

In recent years the division has streamlined the liquor application process, began enforcing the youth access tobacco laws, modernized revenue collections and enhanced the professionalism of personnel. Greater information is provided to the public, liquor and tobacco industries and local law enforcement to achieve an unprecedented level of efficiency and cost-effectiveness for Missouri citizens.

Since its inception in 1931, the Missouri State Highway Patrol has evolved from a highway patrolling force to a full service law enforcement agency with its primary emphasis remaining on traffic safety. The Patrol's original force, established by the enactment of RSMo Chapter 43, included 55 officers and a handful of civilians. Today, there are 1,022 uniformed members, 98 of whom are assigned to the Gaming Division, and 1,112 civilians in the Missouri State Highway Patrol. The Patrol is responsible not only for law enforcement on our state's highways, but also motor vehicle and commercial vehicle inspection programs, driver's license examinations, criminal investigations, crime laboratory analysis and research, public education on safety issues, and more.

The Missouri State Highway Patrol is nationally known for the success of its drug interdiction program. Because of its central location in the United States and its major interstates, Missouri has become a crossroad for the distribution of drugs. Operation Cash Crop, the methamphetamine hotline, and the drug-trained canine unit make the Patrol's drug interdiction program a success. In 2006, the Patrol's drug interdiction program resulted in the seizure of over 8,636 pounds of marijuana, 1,193 pounds of cocaine, 18 pounds of methamphetamine, 17.5 pounds of heroin, and 40 gallons of PCP, in addition to quantities of other illegal drugs. The seizure of PCP went on record as the largest of its kind in the nation. In connection with the drug interdiction program, 339 criminal arrests were made, and $1,599,884 in cash and 23 weapons were seized. In 2006, 1,284 methamphetamine laboratory incidents occurred, leading to the seizure of 255 operational clandestine methamphetamine laboratories. This is a decrease in seizures from previous years due to state legislation requiring over-the-counter packages containing ephedrine or pseudoephedrine be sold from behind the pharmacy counter.

Missouri's Automated Fingerprint Identification System (AFIS) is maintained and operated at the Patrol's Criminal Records and Identification Division. The system houses over 2 million ten-print cards. The system allows for the comparison of a set of fingerprints to more than 2 million prints on file in a matter of minutes. The system can also compare a latent fingerprint from a crime scene to the 20,000,000+ fingerprints in the system (10 fingers per person) as well as to the other "unsolved" latent prints housed in the system. AFIS has proven to be an exceptional identification tool for law enforcement agencies throughout the state in identifying and tracking criminals, identifying persons assuming another's identity, identifying persons who were at a crime scene, and identifying deceased persons found without identification. In 2000, law enforcement agencies began submitting tenprints electronically via livescan devices.

In October 1997, the Patrol activated three major crash investigation teams including a total of six officers. In August 1998, three officers were added to the existing teams. In March 1999, a fourth team was created, bringing the total number of officers assigned to 12. The office locations in Higginsville, Jackson, Wentzville, and Springfield were chosen as the best sites from which to serve the main population of the state. The teams were formed in an effort to bring the Patrol to a higher level of expertise and reporting in the field of accident investigation. In 2006, approximately 180 Level IV reconstructions were completed. Additionally, these teams answered 190 calls for service to assist Patrol members and other agencies with mapping of homicide scenes, crash data retrieval system downloads, photography of crash scenes, and mapping and crash scene expertise.

In 2004, Senate Bill 1000 was signed into law. This new law expanded Missouri DNA collections to include all felons, where previously, DNA

These are just a few of the programs with which the state has tasked the Patrol in order to ensure the safety of the citizens of Missouri. During its first 43 years, the Patrol answered directly to the governor; however, during the government reorganization of 1974, it was placed under the Department of Public Safety.

The superintendent commands the Patrol, with the help of an assistant superintendent who is second-in-command, five majors (each commands a bureau), and his chief of staff, all of which are uniformed members. A captain commands each of the nine troops and answers to the major assigned to the Field Operations Bureau. Twenty divisions organized under the remaining four bureaus lend administrative support to the troops and fulfill additional duties of the Patrol. The chief of staff serves as a legislative and governmental affairs liaison. This member serves at the pleasure of the superintendent and is considered a member of the Patrol's command staff except for promotions and disciplinary decisions.

statewide traffic safety education program and is a resource for the 13 public information and education officers assigned throughout the state. This division is also responsible for the Safety Education Center (Patrol museum) open to the public Monday-Friday (except holidays) from 8 a.m.-5 p.m.

In 1997, the position of Legal Counsel was created. The Patrol's legal counsel is an advisor to the superintendent and his staff.

Field Operations Bureau

The state of Missouri is divided into nine troops with headquarters in Lee's Summit, Macon, Kirkwood, Springfield, Poplar Bluff, Jefferson City, Willow Springs, St. Joseph and Rolla. The Field Operations Bureau supervises all field activities.

major disasters, such as floods, tornadoes, or major fires with an aerial observation platform and rescue assistance. The division also plays a primary role in marijuana eradication activities.

Originally, several areas within the Patrol handled duties related to Homeland Security. However, in 2006, those duties were consolidated and assigned to a uniformed member, who acts as a liaison to local, state, and federal agencies.

Criminal Investigation Bureau

The Crime Laboratory Division analyzes evidence found at the scene of crimes throughout the state. Crime laboratories in Jefferson City, Macon, Park Hills, Springfield, Joplin, Cape Girardeau, Willow Springs, and St. Joseph provide services to local law enforcement agencies at no cost. Initially, the American Society of Crime Laboratory Directors Laboratory Accreditation Board accredited the Crime Laboratory in 1985. It has been re-accredited every five years since. The Patrol Crime Laboratory is responsible for managing Missouri's Combined DNA Index System (CODIS) database. The Missouri State Highway Patrol became a partner in the Midwestern Drugfire System in 1996. Drugfire is a computerized database that compares expended firearms cartridges allowing law enforcement officers to compare evidence from shootings not only within the same jurisdiction, but also throughout the state of Missouri and in the states participating in this system.

The Division of Drug and Crime Control provides criminal investigators specializing in the investigation of narcotics, criminal intelligence, explosives disposal, field investigations, lottery enforcement, missing persons, and motor vehicle theft to assist various criminal justice agencies—federal, state, and local—throughout the state.

The Missouri Information Analysis Center was formed to collect, evaluate, analyze, and disseminate information and intelligence to local, state, and federal agencies tasked with homeland security responsibilities. The center was placed within the organizational structure of the Division of Drug and Crime Control in 2006.

The Governor's Security Division provides protection for the governor and the governor's family. The division also provides security to the lieutenant governor, at his request when acting as governor, as well as to visiting governors and other dignitaries.

Gaming Division members perform background investigations on gaming boat operators and upper-level management, and enforce Gaming Commission rules/regulations and state laws on Missouri riverboats. Each operating riverboat must have at least one Gaming Division officer on board during all operating hours. The division also regulates bingo in Missouri, performing background checks on suppliers for bingo operations and enforcing state laws regarding the game.

Technical Services Bureau

The Communications Division operates a statewide voice communications network from the nine troop headquarters on a 365-day/24-hour basis. More than 70 radio sites located throughout the state provide radio coverage in the 42 MHz band. In addition to operating the radio network, the division members receive calls and walk-in visits from the public. This division communicates critical, time-sensitive information received and disseminated by radio to officers on patrol, and communicates and coordinates traffic-safety and criminal apprehension activities with other law enforcement jurisdictions on a statewide basis.

The division operates a computer aided dispatch system and is provided near instantaneous access to nationwide criminal justice information via the Missouri Uniform Law Enforcement System (MULES), the National Criminal Information Center (NCIC), and other criminal justice databases. The division is responsible for the Patrol's state highway emergency hotline (800-525-5555, and wireless *55), the Missouri recorded road report system (800-222-6400), and performs electronic maintenance on the Patrol's communications equipment and telecommunications facilities. All Patrol communications equipment is purchased, installed, and maintained by the Communications Division, with radio repair facilities located at General Headquarters and each troop headquarters. The division also conducts training and certification on the operation of MULES for other law enforcement agency personnel.

The Patrol's Criminal Records and Identification Division (CRID) was officially designated by the Legislature in 1987, as the Central Repository of criminal history records for Missouri. Section 43.500 RSMo., made reporting criminal history actions to the Central Repository mandatory for all police officers, prosecutors, court clerks, and corrections facilities in Missouri. The Criminal Records and Identification Division disseminates criminal history record information through the Missouri Uniform Law Enforcement System (MULES) for criminal justice agencies, and disseminates criminal record information to the public by mail or at the criminal records public window at General Headquarters. The Central Repository is the single point of contact for criminal history information exchanged between Missouri and the Federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI). The Criminal Records and Identification Division also maintains the sex offender registration file for Missouri, which can be accessed by the public via the Internet or by calling the Missouri Sex Offender Registry hotline. The Patrol's custodian of records is assigned to CRID and handles all requests related to the Sunshine Law. This division also manages the Uniform Crime Reporting program. CRID includes a training and auditing unit dedicated to assisting users within the criminal justice system.

The Information Systems Division (ISD) manages information technology solutions and computer network services for the Patrol and the Department of Public Safety. The division manages data repositories for wanted/missing persons, stolen property, criminal records, traffic accident and arrest records, drug and alcohol offender records, and other related criminal justice information. ISD also supports the criminal justice network and application systems that deliver this information to local, state, and federal agencies connected to the network. This network includes connections to the National Crime Information Center, the National Law Enforcement Telecommunications System, the National Crime Information Bureau, the Missouri Department of Revenue, and other regional justice systems.

The Research and Development Division reviews, evaluates, and makes recommendations on Patrol programs, policies, and operating procedures. The division also conducts staff inspections, coordinates strategic planning, prepares written directives, monitors Patrol accreditation, coordinates the evidence control system, designs forms, develops reference materials, conducts general research and responds to requests for information as needed. The Patrol has been an accredited law enforcement agency since 1992.

The Traffic Division is comprised of accident records, traffic arrest records, and the fatality analysis reporting system. The accident records section maintains traffic crash records for the Patrol and the statewide traffic accident records system. The traffic arrest records section maintains a computerized listing of driving while intoxicated offenses occurring in Missouri. This section also conducts Uniform Citation audits. The fatality analysis reporting system performs in depth research on causes of fatality accidents and forwards this information to a computerized database in Washington, D.C.

History

In 1959, legislation was enacted to create the Missouri Boat Commission. The purpose of the commission was to make the waters of the state safe for boating and other water-related activities through law enforcement, registration, inspection and educational programs. In 1974, the Omnibus State Reorganization Act transferred the Missouri Boat Commission to the Department of Public Safety, and the agency was named the Division of Water Safety. In 1989, the agency name was changed to the Missouri State Water Patrol. Since 1959, the authorized number of patrol officers has grown from 8 to 99 highly trained professionals.

The Missouri State Water Patrol (MSWP) is a statewide law enforcement agency specializing in the regulation of waterways and boating safety. They operate in a quasi-military fashion with authority being delegated by rank. The commissioner is appointed by the governor and holds the rank of colonel. The commissioner determines policy for the Water Patrol. Second in command and assistant to the commissioner is the assistant commissioner, who holds the rank of lieutenant colonel. Next in command are the administrative services commander and the field services commander, who hold the rank of major. The administrative services commander is responsible for supervision of all administrative services of the Water Patrol, and the field services commander is responsible for supervision of all field activities and operations of the Water Patrol. The state is divided into six districts with a captain in charge of each district. District captains are responsible for supervision of all field activities in their respective districts. Patrol officers in each district are responsible for carrying out the policies of the commissioner.

Mandated Programs

Pursuant to Section 306.124, RSMo, the MSWP is responsible for the uniform marking of the waterways in the state of Missouri through placement of aids to navigation and regulatory markers. Applications for buoys must be submitted to MSWP, at which time a public hearing is scheduled and notice of the hearing is published. Results of an investigation conducted by a MSWP officer of the affected area as well as testimony from the hearing are provided to the commissioner, who approves or disapproves the application.

Section 306.130, RSMo, authorizes regattas, motorboat and other watercraft races, marine parades, tournaments, parasail operations and exhibitions on waters of this state after determining that an event will not create conditions of excessive danger for the participants, observers and operators of other watercraft nor unduly disrupt navigation. An application for permission to hold an event must be filed with the MSWP prior to the event.

In accordance with Section 301.560, RSMo, Water Patrol officers perform marine dealer inspections subsequent to an application for licensure as a boat manufacturer or boat dealer.

To address boating and water safety, the MSWP administers a mandatory boating safety course. This water safety education program is directed toward Missouri boating enthusiasts, both adult and children. Programs are taught by Water Patrol officers during the winter months, primarily November through March. The goal is to teach water safety to current and future boaters. It is believed that knowledge and awareness from educational programs, in conjunction with law enforcement, have reduced injury and fatality rates associated with water-related accidents. Therefore, in 2004, the legislature enacted legislation requiring boat operators born after January 1, 1984, to obtain a certification card from an approved boating safety course.

In Missouri, the number of boats and their use on recreational waters has increased over the past years. The major lakes of Missouri and the Mississippi and Missouri Rivers account for approximately 275,000 acres with over 8,000 miles of shoreline, not including the numerous tributaries and popular float streams across the state. As of December 2006, there were 324,789 boats registered in Missouri. The number of boats using Missouri waterways also includes approximately 200,000 watercraft not requiring registration and an additional 30,000 out-of-state watercraft.

In 2006, there were 266 boating accidents reported, resulting in 129 injuries and 19 fatalities with an additional 28 drownings reported on state waterways. The total number of accidents, injuries and fatalities fluctuate from year to year but have generally declined even though the number of watercraft has increased. Professional enforcement policies, education and safety awareness have been contributing factors to these reductions.

In addition to patrolling the state's recreational waters and enforcing state law, the Water Patrol provides many other services to the public. Services include public safety exhibits; boat safety inspection stations; boat and motor verifications; authorization of regulatory markers and navigational aids; issuing permits for regattas, races and organized fishing events plus patrolling those events; investigation of citizen complaints, navigational obstructions, boating and water-related accidents and criminal activities; drug eradication and coordinated enforcement activities with other agencies; and recovery of accident victims. The MSWP has many specialized teams such as a scuba dive team, SWAT team and K-9 units.

Coordinated Activities

Flood Duty—The Water Patrol provides rescue and recovery assistance during flooding conditions. The division works closely with the State Emergency Management Agency and various other state and local agencies requesting flood assistance. The Water Patrol is one of the few agencies with proper equipment and experience to work in flooding conditions.

Dive Team—Dive team members are fully trained for dive operations in lakes, rivers and ponds. In 2006, members of the Water Patrol Dive Team conducted 53 dive operations to recover drowning or boating accident victims, or recover criminal evidence in felony cases. Water Patrol divers also logged 2,482 hours for dive operations.

Assistance—As a police agency, the Water Patrol often assists other agencies in emergency situations. These situations include searches for fugitives and missing persons, felony criminal investigations, drug eradications and specialized enforcement activities. The Water Patrol offers specialized departmental resources including personnel for these coordinated activities.

The Missouri National Guard is the Home-town Guard working to serve Missourians and the United States. The Missouri Guard is an active participant in emergency management and response for the state and routinely deploys forces worldwide to perform federal missions as a partner in the Army and Air Force, including combat missions and operations other than war.

People—Approximately 11,000 men and women serve in the Army and Air National Guard units based in approximately 65 communities across the state. They are trained in hundreds of specific skills, most with direct application to civilian work and professions.

Roles and Missions—Unique among all the nation's armed forces, the National Guard has a dual state and federal role under the U.S. Constitution.

The Guard is Missouri's force in times of disaster and emergency. Recent state missions have included helping the community of Caruthersville recover from tornado damage in April 2006, assisting with summer storm recovery during a heat wave in St. Louis in July 2006 and helping in the Amber Alert search for a missing infant in Union in September 2006. Severe winter storms in December 2006 and January 2007 saw our Citizen-Soldiers and Airmen called to duty again, helping in Southwest and Central Missouri, as well as in the St. Louis region.

The Guard is a federal reserve force, fully accessible to the president for short-notice duty in times of national emergency. Federal missions have kept Missouri Army and Air National Guard units very busy since the terrorist attacks on our nation on Sept. 11, 2001. The Missouri National Guard has seen almost 7,000 Citizen-Soldiers and Airmen mobilized overseas in support of the Global War on Terrorism and Homeland Security roles here in the United States. Many of the deployments have lasted more than one year.

In order to better support the needs of our Guard members and their families with the continued deployment operational tempo, several initiatives have been enacted.

The Military Family Relief Fund is headed up by the lieutenant governor and provides financial assistance to families who have been affected by a mobilization.

Our Family Readiness Program continues to expand and improve, reaching out to provide support to the families left in Missouri when the Citizen-Soldiers and Airmen mobilize away from home.

Our benefits coordination office works diligently around the state helping to ensure that all veterans, the Missouri National Guard and all other branches know of the benefits available to them because of their service.

State duty is performed under orders of the governor, the Guard's peacetime commander in chief. The governor appoints the Adjutant General, who wears the two stars of a major general and oversees the Army and Air National Guard units assigned to the state by the federal government. He is advised by a state military council of senior leaders of the Army and Air National Guard, including the commanders of each major unit in the state.

Missouri is fortunate to have a strong arsenal in support of Homeland Security. The 22-member Missouri National Guard 7th Civil Support Team is stationed at Fort Leonard Wood. This team is highly trained to assess, advise and assist incident commanders in situations involving weapons of mass destruction. The team also facilitates military support to local first responders across the state. In February 2007, the team responded when the University of Missouri-Rolla campus had an anthrax scare.

Another homeland security tool available to the Missouri National Guard Adjutant General, and in turn, the governor, is the Chemical, Biological, Radiological, Nuclear or High Yield Explosive Enhanced Response Force (CERF team). The CERF team is specially trained to save lives while responding in a homeland defense role or to an incident site involving weapons of mass destruction. The team has a robust capability to decontaminate casualties impacted by a terrorist attack or accident.

The National Guard Bureau, a joint agency of the U.S. Army and Air Force, provides peacetime federal oversight of National Guard units. While the governor commands the guard on a day-to-day basis, most costs are paid with federal funds. That includes the regular pay for soldiers and airmen of the guard, except when they are on a state emergency mission. The federal funding and a force of full-time, federally paid employees ensure the readiness of the guard for federal missions or state duty if called on by the governor. The federal government pays approximately 95 percent of the annual cost of the guard.

With its ability to perform federal duty or state duty as the need arises, the guard is the most capable and cost effective of all the components of the nation's armed forces. While National Guard units and members can perform federal duty in the same manner as members of the Army, Air Force, Navy and Marine Corps Reserves, only National Guard units have the constitutional responsibility to serve at home during emergencies.

The guard offers additional benefits. It provides Missouri communities with citizens whose military experiences pay off at home. Its men and women receive training in skills, work ethic, physical fitness and leadership that benefits their communities and civilian employers. They earn GI Bill and other educational benefits, including state funded educational support and matching scholarships provided by many Missouri colleges and universities, unique to the National Guard.

The Missouri National Guard works with community groups in drug demand reduction programs while also supporting local, state and federal agencies in drug supply reduction efforts. Other innovative readiness training projects let guard units train by working on projects benefiting their communities.

The Missouri National Guard is also involved in several initiatives working to make Missouri a better place to live. The Missouri Air and Army National Guard work together with the Missouri Department of Health and Senior Services to operate Camp Guardian. The camp provides mentally and or physically challenged citizens with an annual summer camp in Missouri.

The Missouri National Guard Military Funeral Honors Program coordinates approximately 26 funerals for veterans across the state every day. The program began in July 1999 and coordinates funeral honors for every Missouri veteran. Anyone interested in funeral honors for their family member should inform their funeral home director.

The Missouri National Guard also honors our living veterans with the Veterans Awards Program. The Missouri Legislature approved this program providing a medal and certificate to Veterans of the Vietnam War, World War II and the Korean War. Veterans or their family members wishing more information can contact the program director at (573) 638-9838.

The oldest Missouri National Guard units claim a military lineage to pre-territorial times, when militia units were organized in the St. Louis area under French and Spanish colonial rule. Since then, guard units have performed state emergency duty hundreds of times in their federal role. In the 20th Century, Missouri National Guard units or members saw active service in World Wars I and II, Korea, the Berlin Crisis, Vietnam, Just Cause in Panama, Desert Shield and Storm, Somalia, Haiti, Joint Endeavor/Joint Guard in the Balkans, Operation Enduring Freedom, Operation Iraqi Freedom and routinely supported smaller contingencies or deployments on every continent except Antarctica.

To Learn More – The National Guard offers speakers to civic and community groups statewide through its Speaker's Bureau. Speakers can discuss local National Guard units, major guard activities, the guard's work in drug education and awareness or the guard's role in current national defense contingency missions.

Community and school groups visiting Jefferson City are also invited to tour the headquarters of the Missouri National Guard and State Emer-

The State Emergency Management Agency (SEMA) coordinates and develops the State Emergency Operations Plan, oversees Missouri's disaster preparedness, floodplain management, hazard mitigation and public assistance programs and coordinates the state's response operations for all types of large scale emergencies anywhere in the state. SEMA administers the U.S. Department of Homeland Security Grants for Missouri.

Agency History: The Agency began in the 1950s when State Civil Defense programs operated as a high national priority to protect U.S. citizens from the potential threat of enemy attack. By the mid 1960s, the civil defense organizations focused on domestic emergencies such as floods, tornadoes and other state hazards. In 1967, the state legislature moved Civil Defense and the Adjutant General's Office to the Department of Public Safety. The name of the office was then changed from the Division of Civil Defense to the Disaster Planning and Operations Office.

During the 1984 legislative session, the office name was changed to the State Emergency Management Agency (SEMA) to better reflect its current and expanding role. The governor appoints the SEMA director, who works with the Missouri Adjutant General, and for the Director of the Department of Public Safety.

SEMA's mission is to protect the lives and property of all Missourians when major disasters threaten public safety in any city, county or region. These disasters include major snow and ice storms, floods, tornadoes and severe weather, earthquakes, hazardous material incidents, nuclear power plant accidents, radiological or biological hazards, and now terrorism.

SEMA updates the State Emergency Operations Plan, which directs the actions of Missouri state government departments and agencies in the event of any emergency requiring use of state resources and personnel.

State Emergency Operations Center

SEMA and the State Emergency Operations Center (SEOC) are located at the Missouri Army National Guard Ike Skelton Training Site, east of Jefferson City. SEMA has a state-of-the-art facility and technical equipment to direct Missouri's disaster emergency response and recovery operations. The SEOC enables all state agencies to come together during an emergency, gather information from local jurisdictions and quickly respond to the disaster.

Coordination of Preparedness Activities

Emergency preparedness is, by law, a joint responsibility of federal, state and local governments. SEMA coordinates emergency preparedness activities among these groups and both supervises and administers a number of key, federally funded programs to boost Missouri's level of preparedness for specific emergency preparedness categories. These programs are designed to help local governments across the state in such areas as natural disaster planning, earthquake preparedness, floodplain management and mitigation, emergency management assistance, radiological protection, public warning, training and education. SEMA's free training courses in emergency preparedness are made available to schools, the public, first responders, local emergency management agencies and local officials.

SEMA's Earthquake program provides operational oversight and administrative support to the 1,000-member SAVE (Structural Assessment Visual Evaluation) Coalition authorized by RSMo 44.023. This statute tasks SEMA to establish a building inspection program to mitigate injuries by determining if buildings damaged by natural or man-made disasters are safe for continued occupation. The service also reduces the need for mass care such as sheltering and feeding by enabling citizens to return home sooner following an event. The SAVE Coalition organizes and trains architects, engineers, building inspectors and skilled construction industry personnel to serve as volunteer inspectors in stricken communities and counties. SAVE Coalition members are required to pass the ATC-20 structural evaluation course prior to receiving SAVE credentials and performing inspections. When requested, these volunteers are available to work for up to three days inspecting damaged buildings. During this service period, the volunteer inspectors are immune from liability for acts committed in the performance of their official emergency duties, except in cases of willful misconduct or gross negligence. Incidental expenses incurred by the inspectors are paid by the local jurisdictions they serve. After the April 2006 tornadoes, the SAVE Coalition was activated to provide building inspections in Pemiscot and Dunklin Counties.

SEMA provides administrative support to the Missouri Seismic Safety Commission, which was established by RSMo 44.227 to initiate a comprehensive program to help prepare Missouri for responding to major earthquakes. One of the commission's initial duties was to prepare a report, or Strategic Plan, for reducing earthquake hazards in the state. This Strategic Plan listed 38 recommendations for improving earthquake preparedness, mitigation, response and recovery. The commission periodically presents a formal report to Missouri's governor and legislature, explaining earthquake issues and reviewing progress made on the 38 original recommendations.

State and Federal Disaster Assistance

When a disaster overwhelms the ability of local communities to respond and/or recover, the governor may declare a state of emergency for the impacted area. This action triggers the use of additional state government resources to augment the needs of local governments in combating disaster conditions.

In extreme circumstances, the governor makes a request to the president for a federal disaster declaration in accordance with Public Law 93-288. If issued by the president, such a declaration makes a wide variety of state-federal assistance programs available to individuals, families and businesses adversely affected by the disaster. In these cases, SEMA coordinates emergency life safety information to the impacted areas and administers key resources and financial assistance to benefit affected jurisdictions and individuals in declared counties. Disaster assistance includes the state-federal Individuals and Households Program (IHP), which helps disaster victims meet basic needs and expenses. Other federal programs such as low interest loans from the Small Business Administration are also available. Federal Public Assistance funds may be available for local governments to help repair disaster damaged roads, bridges and other critical infrastructure. Communities may be eligible for cost effective mitigation projects, which help prevent similar damages in the future.

Volunteer Agency Disaster Coordinator

SEMA's volunteer agency coordinator has a federal counterpart in the Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA). During a disaster, SEMA's volunteer agency coordinator works with state, private and volunteer agencies to coordinate disaster services for Missouri citizens. The coordinator provides technical assistance to FEMA, state and local emergency management officials and local long-term recovery committees on disaster survivor needs. The coordinator is the point-of-contact for the Missouri Disaster Recovery Partnership and the Missouri Voluntary Organizations Active in Disaster.

Disaster Declarations

In 2006, Missouri received eight disaster declarations. Missouri received five presidential disaster declarations for severe weather, tornadoes, power outages, snow and ice impacting many Missouri counties. Disaster declarations for individual assistance and public assistance were approved following the March and the April storms. An emergency public assistance declaration was declared after the summer power outages. Public assistance declarations were approved for the City of St. Louis and St. Louis County for the severe summer heat and power outages, and the November severe winter weather and ice. Three Small Business Administration disaster declarations were declared for the September tornadoes and the winter storms.

In January 2007, Missouri received a Presidential Disaster Declaration for Public Assistance for Severe Winter Weather.

Homeland Security/Terrorism Activities

SEMA is the State Administering Agency (SAA) for Homeland Security grants. In 1999, SEMA administered the Department of Justice Terrorism Equipment Grants. Currently, SEMA administers the Department of Homeland Security Grants at the direction of the Governor Homeland Security Advisory Council (HSAC). The program includes the State Homeland Security Program grants, the Law Enforcement Terrorism Prevention Program grants, the Citizens Corps grants, Buffer Zone Protection grants and the Transit Security grants.

Logistics, Mitigation and Floodplain

The Logistics, Mitigation and Floodplain Management Branch services three areas very important to Missouri's citizens. The Logistics Section is responsible for disaster logistics planning, training, preparedness, response and recovery operations. The timely and effective provision of emergency life-sustenance supplies such as food, water, ice, infant items, bedding, clothing, and other emergency items is critical to those suffering adversely from a disaster. During an event, the section's staff must rapidly analyze the logistics situation, including locally available support and shortfalls to determine the appropriate logistics support required. As evidenced during the many emergencies and disasters that occurred during 2006, the Logistics Section will be very busy helping coordinate, integrate and track the efforts of multiple state, local, volunteer, and private stakeholders who perform the requisition, acquisition, delivery, reception and distribution of personnel, equipment, supplies and materials in support of key aspects of disaster operations. As the disaster response matures into the recovery, the Logistics Section coordinates the redeployment of non-consumable equipment and supplies to the proper owners.

The efforts of the Mitigation Section are designed to lessen or avoid the adverse impact that disasters inflict on lives and property of Missouri's citizens and visitors. To do this, the section administers five federal mitigation grant programs, and has assisted the 785 Missouri counties and communities that now are covered by FEMA approved hazard mitigation plans to qualify for these grants. Under the voluntary flood mitigation buyout programs that followed the Great Flood of 1993, more than 4,500 residential properties have been acquired, demolished and deed restricted to remove them permanently from harms way and help the homeowners avoid financial harm. Additionally, mitigation grants have funded the replacements of bridges and low water crossings, as well as creek bank stabilizations and rechannelizations to lessen the threat of future flood hazards. In cooperation with Missouri's rural electric cooperatives, SEMA also has been able to employ mitigation grants to increase the number of National Oceanic and Atmospheric Association (NOAA) weather warning transmitters from ten (10) to thirty-one (31), providing early warning coverage to nearly the entire state. And in recent years, the need to mitigate tornado and severe wind damages has become increasingly urgent, resulting in the growing use of mitigation funding to construct multiple school and community tornado safe rooms around Missouri.

The Floodplain Management Section administers the National Flood Insurance Program (NFIP), a key statewide financial protection opportunity. Floods are one of the most common hazards in the state of Missouri, and even an inch of water can cause costly property damage. Although many do not realize it, most homeowner insurance does not cover flood damage, so the purchase of specific flood insurance usually is necessary. For those who live in a mapped high risk Special Flood Hazard Area (SFHA), federal law compels federally backed mortgage lenders to require the purchase of flood insurance. However, anyone could actually be subject to flooding, and for this reason, all citizens, even those not located in a high risk area, are eligible to purchase flood insurance, so long as the community participates in the NFIP. The Floodplain Section works with the 594 NFIP participating communities, conducting community assistance program compliance visits and providing technical assistance that ensures continued NFIP participation. The section's staff also manages much of the Flood Insurance Rate Map (FIRM) work performed under the federal map modernization program. In addition, the section partners with the Missouri Floodplain and Stormwater Managers Association and others to offer extensive training for local floodplain managers, insurance agents, elected officials, engineers and surveyors, lenders and realtors. Missouri now has 77 nationally Certified Floodplain Managers (CFMs), and during this past year, the section held 17 additional workshops throughout the state, training 843 people.

Missouri Emergency Response Commission (MERC)

The Missouri Emergency Response Commission implements the federal Emergency Planning and Community Right-to-Know Act (EPCRA) and related Missouri laws. These laws pertain to the storage of hazardous chemicals. The commission designates and supports the Local Emergency Planning Committees (LEPC), reviews hazardous chemical contingency plans, assists local officials with training for chemical emergencies, collects information on toxic and hazardous storage and makes this information available to the public. The MERC administers the Hazardous Material Emergency Preparedness (HMEP) for HAZMAT training to local public sector employees and the Chemical Emergency Preparedness Funds (CEPF) for planning and training for LEPCs to carry out their responsibilities designated under EPCRA and RSMo 292.600-625.

Advisory Committee for 911 Service Oversight

House Bill 816 established the Advisory Committee for 911 Service Oversight in 1997. The committee adopts 911 standards, helps communities with 911 issues, reviews and comments on proposed 911 legislation. The committee's priorities include 911 compliance issues, reviewing the rule on 911 service repairs, and becoming a resource for communities either developing a 911 system or for more mature 911 systems who want help upgrading their service.

The Missouri Veterans Commission is vested with the responsibility of representing all Missouri veterans, ensuring their needs are met and defending the entitlements of those who have served their country with honor and distinction. This is accomplished through programs and services funded by the state and federal government as well as private and corporate contributions.

Our Vision

In recognition of the sacrifices made by veterans in service to our country, the Missouri Veterans Commission will lead in the provision of high quality, holistic health care to disabled veterans, in providing a final resting place with honor and compassion, and in facilitating timely, quality benefits administration.

Our History

The State Federal Soldier's Home was established in 1896 by the Women's Relief Corps Soldiers' Home Association and was deeded to the State of Missouri in 1897. Its original purpose was to provide care to aging Missourians who had fought for the Union in the Civil War. In 1931, the state Legislature, at the request of organized veterans groups, created the Office of State Service Officer for the purpose of counseling and assisting veterans of WWI and earlier conflicts whose service connected disabilities were becoming manifest and for whom numerous benefits were being made available through the newly established Veterans Administration.

In 1974, the Omnibus Reorganization Act placed the Division of Veterans Affairs within the Department of Social Services. The State Federal Soldier's Home and Office of State Service Officer remained separate entities until the Reorganization Act of 1974 combined the two, renaming the home and establishing the Division of Veterans Affairs within the Department of Social Services.

As defined in the Omnibus State Reorganization Act of 1974, the Division of Veterans Affairs, as provided in Chapter 42, RSMo, 1978, was transferred from the Department of Social Services to the Department of Public Safety, Office of the Adjutant General, by a Type I Transfer.

Executive order 81-18 (February 1981) passed at the First Regular Session of the Eighty-First General Assembly, put this law into effect in September of 1981.

On August 28, 1989, the Division of Veterans Affairs was replaced by the establishment of the Missouri Veterans Commission as a Type III Transfer. Chapter 42, RSMo governs the commission's operation as a state agency. The commission is comprised of five veterans appointed by the governor and confirmed by the Senate.

The commissioners then appoint an executive director, who implements commission policies and is responsible for statewide management of veterans programs. The executive director reports regularly to the commission concerning all aspects of program operations through quarterly commission meetings.

Administrative offices are located in Jefferson City at 205 Jefferson Street, 12th Floor. This location also houses the local Veteran Service Office.

Services and benefits provided to veterans by the Missouri Commission are:

The mission of the Service to Veterans Program is dedicated to providing services and benefits assistance to veterans and their families in a timely and compassionate manner. Further, the program seeks to facilitate a proper and effective partnership with the federal Department of Veterans Affairs, other government agencies, veterans service and other organizations.

Through the Service to Veterans Program, the Missouri Veterans Commission provides counseling and assistance to veterans throughout the state in filing claims for benefits from the U.S. Department of Veterans Affairs. Veterans Service Offices are located in almost every county of the state to make services available to veterans close to their homes.

Information concerning locations and phone numbers of Veterans Service Officers may be found in the local telephone directory under 'Missouri, State of, Veterans Commission', by contacting Commission Headquarters at (573) 751-3779, or through the Service Office Directory at the commission's website: www.mvc.dps.mo.gov.

Automation of the entire Service to Veterans Program allows each Veterans Service Officer improved access to the DVA system, expediting the filing of claims and delivery of benefits to veterans. Veterans Service Officers are thoroughly trained and knowledgeable in all areas of veterans benefits, including compensation, pension, education, burial and widow's benefits. Information and counseling regarding medical eligibility, VA Home Loan Guaranty, and other benefits, including those offered by the state, may also be obtained from the Veterans Service Officer as well.

Veterans Service Officers are also available to groups interested in veterans benefits. These qualified personnel may give presentations and instruction regarding the benefits for which veterans are eligible as a result of honorable military service in the U.S. Armed Forces.

Veterans Home Program

The Missouri Veterans Commission currently operates and maintains seven long-term skilled nursing care facilities with a total of 1,350 available beds. Early in 2004 the Mt. Vernon Veterans Home moved into a 200-bed replacement facility and St. Louis Veterans Home added a 100-bed dementia unit.

The mission of the Missouri Veterans Home Program through inspired employees, is to daily enrich the lives of the veterans we care for through the provisions of quality healthcare in a state-of-the-art facility.

Veterans in need of nursing home care may seek admission to a Missouri Veterans Home by filing an application with the home of their choice.

Prospective residents may obtain application forms from any Missouri Veterans Home, from a Missouri Veterans Service Officer (phone book listing under 'Missouri, State of, Veterans Commission'), or by contacting the Missouri Veterans Commission Headquarters at (573) 751-3779. Home applications may also be downloaded from MVC website at: www.mvc.dps.mo.gov.

Eligibility:

- Applicant must be an honorably-discharged veteran of the U.S. Armed Forces;
- Applicant must have resided in the state of Missouri for at least 180 days during his/her lifetime;
- Applicant must have been determined to require nursing home care.

Funding/Costs:

- State general revenue;
- Federal funding, through the U.S. Department of Veterans Affairs Per Diem Grant Program;
- Charges to the veterans themselves, based on the individual's ability to pay.

The maximum amount that a veteran may be charged currently is $1,750 per month. Ability to pay is based upon the veteran's (and his or her spouse's) total income and assets. The veteran is always allowed to keep at least $90 per month for personal use.

Missouri Veterans Homes are inspected at least annually by the Department of Veterans Affairs for the continuance of per diem payments. Policies for health care administration are centrally managed by the Commission's Superintendent of Homes, who routinely reviews management practice and clinical outcomes. Therapeutic modalities of physical, psychosocial and rehabilitative origin are provided in each facility.

As a one-stop of referral information, the program functions to bring connections and dollars to the families of deployed service members as well as returning veterans faced with:

- Financial constraints due to deployment
- Legal issues as a result of service commitment
- Job retraining due to deployment injury
- Education needs for service member or family

The Missouri Gaming Commission was established in 1993 by the 87th General Assembly as specified by Chapter 313, RSMo. The commission assumed the responsibility for regulating charitable games on July 1, 1994.

The commission is composed of five members, no more than three of whom may be members of the same political party. Commission members are appointed by the governor, with the advice and consent of the Senate, for a term of three years. Pursuant to statute, the overall membership of the commission reflects experience in law enforcement, civil and criminal investigation and financial principles.

The commission's role is to monitor gaming related activities to ensure that criminal elements do not infiltrate licensed gaming operations. In addition, the commission works to protect the public by ensuring that games are conducted fairly, according to their rules and with full disclosure.

As a state regulatory agency, the commission and its staff hold themselves to the highest ethical and professional standards and strive to conduct all business in a manner that is in the public interest and maintains the public trust. Pursuant to statute, a strict code of ethics has been adopted prohibiting conflicts of interest and certain ex parte communications.

The key regulatory responsibilities of the commission are:

- To conduct thorough background investigations on all key persons involved in gaming operations, including substantial owners, management personnel, key operational employees and suppliers;
- To thoroughly investigate the finances of applicants and their key persons to determine if they have the financial resources and responsibility to meet their proposed obligations;
- To investigate the background of all occupational licensees, including dealers, slot attendants, food and beverage servers, security and surveillance personnel and all other employees who have access to the gaming area to ensure that the personnel operating the casino are of sufficient character to maintain the integrity of Missouri gaming;
- To photograph and fingerprint each employee so as to maintain a complete and accurate database of gaming personnel;
- To assign appropriate staff to each gaming operation to be present at all times when gaming is conducted. Enforcement agents are charged with ensuring that gaming is conducted in accordance with the Missouri gaming statutes, the rules and regulations of the commission and the licensee's own internal controls;
- To ensure that the safety of the passengers is guarded, to conduct investigations of suspected wrongdoing and to receive complaints from customers;

- To review and audit the finances and compliance of the gaming operation through the combined use of commission staff, independent public accounting firms and internal casino audit staff that are retained by the licensee and approved by the commission;
- To monitor the financial integrity of gaming operators to ensure that Missouri's financial interests are protected;
- To assess qualifications of organizations applying for a charity gaming license, conduct required background investigations, conduct audits, collect taxes, conduct necessary investigations and maintain all records related to charity games.

Pursuant to statute, the commission has entered into a Memorandum of Understanding with the Missouri State Highway Patrol to perform background investigations and to provide enforcement personnel on the boats and for bingo enforcement.

Office of the Executive Director

The office of the executive director is responsible for the day-to-day operations of the commission. The director supervises all staff activities, reports to the commission and is responsible for organizing and distributing all public documents and reports. The director oversees five principal sections.

Administration Section

The Administration section of the Missouri Gaming Commission is responsible for managing all fiscal, personnel and recordkeeping resources of the agency. In addition, the administration section provides support services to commission employees and, pursuant to a Memorandum of Understanding, to Highway Patrol officers assigned to the commission. This section oversees budget development, revenue collection, accounts payable, accounts receivable, cost accounting, procurement, facilities management, support services, human resources, asset inventory and records management.

Corporate Securities and Finance Section

The Corporate Securities and Finance section is responsible for financial and transactional investigations, tax collection and enforcement, casino audit examinations, financial analysis and economic analysis of the casino industry. This section recommends appropriate regulatory action for certain corporate control transactions and also studies the economic markets for casino nos in the state to assist the commission in determining the number and placement of riverboat casinos.

The Financial Analysis unit of this section is responsible for examination of licensee's business transactions, including mergers, acquisitions and other major financial transactions.

The Tax Collection unit of the Corporate Securities and Finance Section is responsible for the collection of the gross receipts tax and admissions tax assessed upon casino licensees by statute. The audit unit section is responsible for casino audit examinations, which determine casino compliance with state statutes and regulations. These examinations concentrate on compliance with financial internal controls established to ensure that the tax owed to the state is secured.

Enforcement Section

The Enforcement Section is responsible for regulating operations at gaming facilities, with an emphasis on the integrity of gaming, the protection of assets, and the safety of patrons and staff. The licensing staff coordinates and implements the licensing of excursion gambling boats, suppliers of gambling games, and over 11,000 occupational licensees. The audit staff performs independent audits, reviews, and investigations to identify and document noncompliance with laws, policies and procedures. The Enforcement Section provides extensive classroom training for gaming agents, including a fully equipped minicasino with surveillance and the latest in electronic gaming devices. In addition, the Enforcement Section is responsible for background investigations of license applicants, investigation and resolution of patron complaints, policy development, coordination of the industry discipline system, new construction oversight, and evaluation and approval of games and electronic systems.

The Enforcement Section also coordinates and oversees the activities of the Gaming Division of the Missouri State Highway Patrol, pursuant to a memorandum of understanding with the Gaming Commission. The Gaming Division provides criminal and regulatory enforcement of gaming operations within the state. The eastern and western enforcement districts are responsible for enforcing Missouri statutes and regulations on licensed casino properties. The background unit conducts investigations of individuals and companies applying for licensure with the commission, as well as persons applying for employment with the commission. The background unit has a section that is responsible for enforcement related to charitable games in Missouri. The administrative services section oversees the collection and preservation of evidence and property, division training, criminal records, case management, and special projects performed by the Gaming Division.

Legal Section

The legal section provides advice to the commissioners, executive director and other commission staff regarding riverboat and charitable gaming issues, including review of financial transactions, interpretation of laws and regulations and analysis of policy proposals. The section assists the commission in its quest to ensure that riverboats, bingo organizations, suppliers and individual licensees abide by all laws and rules of the commission. In particular, commission lawyers are responsible for drafting proposed disciplines against licensees for violations of laws or rules and presenting those disciplines to the commission.

This section administers the commission's problem gambling programs, including the voluntary exclusion program, public education and outreach and participation in the Missouri Alliance to Curb Problem Gambling.

Bingo Section

The commission assumed responsibility for the regulation of bingo on July 1, 1994. Charitable, fraternal, religious, service, social and veteran organizations are eligible to hold licenses to conduct charity games in the state. Regular bingo licenses, special bingo licenses, abbreviated pull tab licenses, supplier licenses, manufacturer licenses and bingo hall provider licenses are all issued by the Bingo division.

On November 6, 1984, Missouri voters authorized the General Assembly, by Article III, Section 39(b) of the Missouri Constitution, to pass legislation establishing a Missouri state lottery.

The governor, with the advice and consent of the Senate, appoints the five-member commission. No more than three members may be of the same political party. Commissioners receive no salary and serve three-year terms.

The commission supervises the lottery by issuing rules and appointing a director. The director runs the day-to-day business of the lottery, including hiring employees, issuing licenses and negotiating contracts with vendors.

The attorney general provides legal services for the lottery and the state auditor reviews operations by conducting audits. The legislation also details the operation of the lottery, including distribution of lottery monies, conflicts of interest, who may play the lottery, criminal penalties and taxation of lottery winnings.

The Missouri Department of Social Services (DSS) was constitutionally established in 1974 because "the health and general welfare of the people are matters of primary public concern." The department is charged with administering programs to promote, safeguard and protect the general welfare of children; to maintain and strengthen family life; and to aid people in need as they strive to achieve their highest level of independence.

The department is organized into four program divisions: Children's Division, Family Support Division, Division of Medical Services, and the Division of Youth Services. The Divisions of Budget and Finance, General Services and Legal Services provide department-wide administrative and support services.

The department cooperates and partners with many private organizations, businesses and individuals to extend the outreach of human services to Missouri citizens.

Office of the Director

The director of the Department of Social Services is responsible for the overall administration of programs within the department except as otherwise provided by law. The director determines priorities for program implementation and has final approval for uses of state and federal funds appropriated to the department.

There are currently three administrative support divisions within the department: Budget and Finance, General Services and Legal Services.

There are four program divisions within the department responsible for policy formulation, organizing programs and facilitating service delivery. The directors of these divisions report to the department director. These divisions are: Children's Division, Family Support, Medical Services and Youth Services.

Missouri's State Technical Assistance Team (STAT) has evolved from implementing Missouri's Child Fatality Review Program (CFRP) in 1992 to providing comprehensive integrated services to the entire child protection community. From data collection and interpretation, to prevention facilitation, training and complex criminal investigations, STAT provides support and expertise to professionals responsible for the protection of children at risk.

The Human Resource Center (HRC) guides the overall human resources management system for the more than 8,500 employees within the department. The section is responsible for ensuring compliance with merit system rules and coordinating activities in the areas of labor relations, recruitment, selection, classification, compensation and training. HRC is also responsible for union negotiations and resolution administration as well as administering the employee grievance system.

Administration divisions

The Division of Budget and Finance provides budgeting and financial support services to all divisions within the department. The responsibilities of the Division of Budget and Finance can be divided into the following major support areas: accounts payable, payroll, purchasing, receipts, audits, grants management, budget and planning.

The Division of Legal Services provides comprehensive legal support to all programs and support divisions in DSS. The division represents the department, its divisions and the state, not individuals. The Division of Legal Services (DLS) is organized into three major sections: Litigation, Administrative Hearings and Investigations.

The Division of General Services provides a variety of support services to all agencies within the department. Offices are located in Jefferson City, Kansas City and St. Louis. Services include mail processing, telecommunications, inventory and warehouse management, fleet management, homeland security and safety and capital improvement oversight.

The Litigation Section represents the divisions of DSS before administrative tribunals and in the circuit and appellate courts. These cases relate to judicial review of administrative child support orders on behalf of the Family Support Division (FSD), Children's Division (CD), proceedings involving child abuse and neglect, licensure and revocation of foster homes, minor guardianships, permanency planning for children including, as appropriate, termination of parental rights; legal services to the Division of Youth Services (DYS) in restoring young people to leading lives as productive citizens; and, for all divisions, advice on contracts, personnel matters and the reviewing and implementation of administrative regulations.

The Administrative Hearings Section is comprised of hearing officers who conduct hearings related to child support enforcement and public benefits under Chapter 208, 454, 536 and 660, RSMo. (Administrative hearings include enforcing, establishing and modifying child support orders, to ensure the obligation to provide child support is current and reflects the parents' ability to provide financial and medical support to their children in accordance with Supreme Court Rule 88.01.) The Administrative Hearings Section also provides hearings to thousands of public assistance applicants and recipients as mandated by federal law. These due process hearings provide the forum for determining whether the denial or termination of public benefits was justified.

The Investigation Section is divided into four units: Welfare Investigations Unit, Medicaid Investigations Unit, Claims and Restitution Unit and General Assignment Unit. The Welfare Investigations Unit investigates fraud and abuse committed by public assistance recipients. The Medicaid Investigations Unit investigates fraud and abuse committed by recipients against Medicaid providers. Also, the Medicaid Unit is responsible for Medicaid provider compliance investigations including overpayments, denial of enrollments and program sanctions. The Claims and Restitution Unit operates and manages the Claims Accounting Restitution System (CARS). The CARS system tracks the establishment and collection efforts in all claims in the public assistance programs administered by DSS. This unit processes in excess of 40,000 recoupments and 100,000 hot line and mail requests annually. The General Assignment Unit conducts criminal, personnel and internal investigations; investigates allegations of discrimination and civil rights violations; locates persons owing monies to DSS, as well as other state agencies, identifies their resources, initiates collection actions, monitors payments and takes appropriate action on delinquent accounts; conducts background investigations and associated research in support of DSS investigations, as well as background checks on prospective DSS employees.

Child welfare services are provided under federal and state laws to help each eligible child and family function at their maximum potential, both personally and socially.

The division has a legal mandate to provide services in three primary areas – child abuse and neglect investigations and family assessments; treatment and placement services to children and families; and provision of child care.

Child Abuse and Neglect Investigations and Assessments

The division is responsible for receiving reports of alleged child abuse or neglect. Upon receiving a report, the division responds to protect the child. The goals of child abuse or neglect investigations and assessments are to assess the level of risk to the child; protect the child from harm; determine if abuse or neglect occurred as reported; and provide services to the family.

Under the provisions of the Child Abuse and Neglect Law (Sections 210.110, 210.167, RSMo) a “child” is any person under 18 years of age; “abuse” includes both actual and threatened physical injury, sexual or emotional abuse inflicted on a child other than by accidental means by those responsible for his or her care, custody and control, except that discipline, including spanking, administered in a reasonable manner, shall not be construed to be abuse; “neglect” is failure to provide, by those responsible for the care, custody and control of the child, the proper or necessary support, education, as required by law, or medical, surgical or any other care necessary for the child’s well-being; and “persons responsible for the care, custody and control of the child” include, but are not limited to, the parents or guardian of the child, other members of the child’s household, or those people exercising supervision over a child for any part of a 24-hour day.

Two categories of reporters of child abuse or neglect are established in the law: mandated and permissive. Mandated reporters include physicians, medical examiners, coroners, dentists, chiropractors, optometrists, podiatrists, residents, interns, nurses, hospital and clinic personnel and other health practitioners, psychologists, mental health professionals, social workers, day care center workers or other child care workers, juvenile officers, probation or parole officers, teachers, principals or other school officials, Christian Science practitioners, peace officers or law enforcement officials or other persons with responsibility for the care of children. Permissive reporters are others who may report when they have reasonable cause to suspect that a child has been, or may be, subjected to abuse or neglect or who observes a child being subjected to circumstances which would reasonably result in abuse or neglect.

All reporting is done to the central office of the division, which is required to provide toll-free statewide telephone service for reporting purposes (1-800-392-3738). The division is responsible for responding with investigations or family assessments for all reports and for offering protective services on a multi-disciplinary basis in cooperation with the juvenile court and other public and private agencies.

PAULA NEEZE
Director
Children's Division

Family-Centered Services

The overriding goal of family-centered services is to prevent child abuse or neglect and the possible removal of the child from the home, by stabilizing the family and improving family functioning.

Treatment services, referred to as family-centered services, are provided in preventive and protective capacities. These case management services are provided protectively to families when a finding of child abuse and neglect (CA/N) was determined by a preponderance of evidence in an investigation. Preventive family-centered services are offered when an investigation of abuse or neglect is unsubstantiated or when a family assessment detects family problems that might be mitigated by services and abuse or neglect prevented. Preventive services are contingent on the family's willingness to accept services. Families may also self-refer for services. Services may be provided by CD staff and/or purchased on behalf of the family.

Intensive in-home services, also known as family preservation services, is a short-term, crisis-intervention service aimed at stabilizing a crisis that puts the child at imminent risk of being removed from the home. Intensive in-home service specialists serve small caseloads and are available to families 24 hours a day for up to six weeks. The goal of these services is to prevent children from being removed from their homes, while ensuring the safety of the child in the home.

Federal law mandates that the division provide services to children and families of children in alternative care. These services are geared toward permanency for the child, either by reunification with his or her biological parent(s) or permanency through adoption or guardianship. The goals of these services are to: prevent further child abuse or neglect; mitigate family factors that could lead to further child abuse or neglect; reunite children with their families whenever safely possible; and obtain permanent homes for children who cannot safely return home through adoption or guardianship.

To achieve these goals, the division employs staff to provide services to eligible children and families. These services are provided through two major components: direct services and contracted services.

Direct Services

The major components of the direct service program are detection, treatment and prevention of child abuse and neglect.

CD staff provides direct services when using the family-centered services case management model with families in treatment and families whose children are in alternative care settings. The CD staff work with families in assessing service needs and case planning. Actual services may be provided by CD staff, through contractors, or both.

Alternative care services (family-centered out-of-home services) are provided to children who are determined by the juvenile court to need care in a setting other than their biological family homes. These children are cared for in substitute family care or non-familial group care. Any one of three types of licensed settings provides alternative care: foster family homes, group facilities, and residential treatment facilities. Transitional Living Services and Independent Living may also be utilized for older youths who may not return home and for whom adoption or guardianship is not deemed appropriate.

Child safety and permanency for children is the overriding goal of all services and integrates the principles of permanency planning – reunifying the child with the biological family when possible and, when necessary, finding other permanent family relationships for children.

Families who wish to adopt children unable to reunite with their families may, in some instances, receive an adoption subsidy payment. This is a statewide program developed to provide financial benefits, in the form of a subsidy, to encourage potential adoptive parents to adopt and to finance the cost of adopting “special needs” children. Adoption subsidy may be used for any child in adoptive placement who is determined to be a “special needs” child because of a handicapping condition, racial or ethnic minority status, age, social maladjustment or membership in a sibling group.

Contracted Services

Contracted services are available to individuals and families who are receiving family-centered services, or in efforts to recruit and maintain resources for permanency. These services are usually provided as a result of a child abuse/neglect report with a “preponderance of evidence” finding, but may also be authorized for children in alternative care, children in adoptive placements and family members receiving preventive treatment services or foster and adoptive services. Services are provided through contracts with both public and private community agencies and play a major role in extending services throughout the state.

Licensing Program

The division inspects and licenses foster care facilities, residential care facilities and child-placing agencies. In addition, the licensing staff monitors licensed facilities to assure that the facilities maintain requisite standards, conducts public education programs, and consults with facility personnel in the development and implementation of services to the children being served, as well as residential program development.

Early Childhood and Prevention Services

The Early Childhood and Prevention Services section administers early childhood/child care and child abuse prevention programs and services. These programs provide child care subsidies to low-income families and quality improvement and professional development activities for child care programs and their staff. Staff also administers a portion of the state Early Childhood Development Education and Care Fund, which provides grants to community-based organizations and individuals for early childhood and child abuse/neglect prevention services like Early Head Start, grants to start or expand quality child care programs for infants and toddlers, accreditation services for child care providers, and early childhood development and educational supports for parents of infants and toddlers.

The Family Support Division (FSD) was established in 2003 under Executive Order 03-02. Through this reorganization, the Income Maintenance Programs from the former Division of Family Services (DFS) and the Child Support Program from the former Division of Child Support Enforcement (DCSE) were merged into one agency. FSD is responsible for the administration of these programs and services: Temporary Assistance (TA); Food Stamps; Community Services Block Grant; Low-Income Home Energy Assistance; Rehabilitation Services to the Blind and the Visually Impaired; Medical Assistance; Supplemental Nursing Care; and Child Support Services.

Organization

The Family Support Division (FSD) is administered by a director appointed by the director of the Department of Social Services. The division maintains an office in each county and in St. Louis for the administration of the Income Maintenance Programs. The division maintains 24 offices across the state for the administration of the Child Support Program. Administration of the Rehabilitation Services for the Blind is managed by seven offices throughout Missouri.

Income Maintenance Programs

The determination of an individual's financial need is basic to the granting of temporary assistance (TA), Food Stamps, Child Care, Blind Pension, Supplemental Aid to the Blind, Medical Assistance, and Nursing Care benefits. The division has a legal requirement to consider all facts and circumstances in determining eligibility for public assistance, including the applicant's earning capacity, income and resources from whatever source received. The amount of benefits, when added to all other income, resources, support and maintenance, shall provide such person with reasonable subsistence. If the applicant is not found to be in need, assistance is denied.

The federal Social Security Amendments of 1972 provided that the adult assistance programs of Old Age Assistance, Permanent and Total Disability and Aid to the Blind be taken over by the Social Security Administration on January 1, 1974. The primary intent was to make a nationwide, uniform minimum payment to eligible adults and the handicapped. The law further provided that any state may, or in some instances, must supplement federal payments. The division administers this state supplementation program in Missouri.

Temporary Assistance

Temporary Assistance (TA) makes cash grants on behalf of needy children who have been deprived of parental support and who are living in homes maintained by parents or close relatives. This program provides temporary financial assistance for a period of time, up to five years, while the adult transitions to self-sufficiency.

JANEL LUCK
Director
Family Support Division

During Fiscal Year 2006, a total of $129.6 million was paid to TA families. There was a monthly average of 45,865 families who received TA payments. The average payment was $235 per family per month.

MC+ Family Health Care

The MC+ program provides healthcare coverage to children under age 19, parents and pregnant women. Family income is compared to the applicable percentage of the federal poverty guidelines. The applicable income limit is dependent on age of the children and the individual's insurance status. MC+ is funded by Medicaid and the Children's Health Insurance Program (CHIP). In Fiscal Year 2006, the program provided coverage to 500,967 children, 20,203 pregnant women and 138,442 parents.

Supplemental Aid to the Blind and Blind Pension

The division administers two separate programs for the blind: the Supplemental Aid to the Blind and the Blind Pension Program. Under the SAB program, the amount of the monthly grant is $541 minus any Supplemental Security Income (SSI) payment received. Under the Blind Pension Program, a flat monthly payment of $541 per person is made. The programs differ slightly in eligibility requirements. Funds are provided from a Missouri constitutionally established Blind Pension fund with no matching federal funds.

During fiscal year 2006, a total of $21.4 million was paid from the Blind Pension Fund to SAB and BP recipients. There was a monthly average of 794 SAB and 2,842 BP recipients.

Supplemental Nursing Care

The Supplemental Nursing Care Program in Missouri provides cash assistance and medical services coverage to eligible aged, blind or disabled individuals who reside in non-Medicaid, licensed skilled nursing, intermediate care, assisted living residential care facilities. Individuals who reside in licensed, skilled nursing facilities or intermediate care facilities may receive monthly cash benefits of up to a maximum of $390. If they live in a licensed assisted living facility, they may be eligible for monthly cash benefits of up to $292, or if in a licensed residential care facility, they may receive monthly cash benefits of up to $156.

During fiscal year 2006, a total of $23.3 million was paid to SNC recipients. There was a monthly average of 7,994 recipients.

Medical Assistance

The Medical Assistance Program provides medical services for aged, blind or disabled individuals whose income and resources fail to meet medical needs. An individual must have limited resources. Income is compared to 100% of the federal poverty level. Persons whose income is below this maximum would receive the medical services covered by Missouri. Persons with income above the maximum may gain eligibility for medical services by incurring medical expenses equal to the amount of income which exceeds 100 percent of the federal poverty level.

Additional persons receive Medical Assistance based on being a Qualified Medicare Beneficiary, treatment of breast or cervical cancer, being a child in the custody of the Division of Youth Services or a juvenile court, or receipt of short-term Refugee Assistance.

In Fiscal Year 2006, an average of 219,320 persons per month were eligible to receive medical services under this program.

Food Stamp and Food Distribution Programs

The Food Stamp Program is designed to help low-income families increase their purchasing power for buying food for their families. Depending upon the adjusted income and the number of persons in the household, a family receives a monthly benefit amount. The division is responsible for determining the eligibility of Food Stamp applicants according to guidelines established by the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

During federal Fiscal Year 2006, $737.5 million in food stamp benefits were issued to 300,498 households.

The division also administers a number of food distribution programs providing USDA-donated commodities to charitable and residential child care institutions, summer food service programs for children, emergency food providers and disaster relief agencies.

Low Income Home Energy Assistance Program

The Low Income Home Energy Assistance Program (LIHEAP) is a federally funded program established in April 1980 with enactment of the Crude Oil Windfall Profits Tax Act. Eligibility for assistance is based on household income and the number of persons residing in the household. Benefit amounts vary based on income, family size and type of fuel utilized. Missouri provides two programs with the LIHEAP grant: Energy Assistance/Regular Heating (EA) and Energy Crisis Intervention Program (ECIP). EA begins in October and runs through the month of March (as long as funding is available). ECIP (crisis) has two seasons: winter (October through May as long as funds are available) and summer (June through September as long as funds are available).

Community Services Block Grant Program

The Community Services Block Grant (CSBG) Program is a federally funded program implemented in October 1981 pursuant to enactment of the Community Services Block Grant Act. The CSBG makes funds available to impact causes of six poverty conditions: unemployment, inadequate housing, inadequate education, malnutrition, poor use of income and unmet emergency needs. The program provides for a flexible local partnership of elected public officials, business and civic interests and low-income citizens. The partnership identifies and implements programs within the general areas of community coordination/resource development and family development. CSBG programs are usually operated locally by community action agencies and serve individuals whose family income falls within the federal poverty guidelines.

Blind and Visually Impaired Services Program

The Rehabilitation Services for the Blind administers six service programs to blind and visually impaired persons: vocational rehabilitation, prevention of blindness, independent living rehabilitation to adults, Older Blind Services (OBS), children services and the Blind Enterprise Program (BEP). OBS assist blind and visually impaired seniors over age 55 to function independently and remain in their homes and communities.

Vocational rehabilitation services are supported by both federal and state funds. Services include diagnosis and evaluation, counseling and guidance, physical and mental restoration, college and other types of vocational training, job placement and services after employment when needed. All vocational rehabilitation services, some of which are conditional upon financial need of the individual, are to enable a person with visual disabilities to obtain or retain suitable employment.

Prevention of Blindness services are funded with state funds. Services are for the purpose of early detection of eye disease that may lead to blindness and, when indicated, providing treatment to eligible persons. Services include diagnostic examinations, surgery, hospitalization, glasses, prostheses and certain medications that are not available through other sources. Outreach vision screening clinics are conducted in conjunction with schools of ophthalmology in Missouri. The Prevention of Blindness Program conducts glaucoma screening clinics throughout the state. All services, except those available at outreach vision screening and glaucoma screening clinics, are conditional upon the financial need of the individual.

Independent living rehabilitation services for adults are supported by both federal and state funds. Services are for the purpose of enabling that person to function independently in the home and community. Services, some of which are conditional upon financial need, include diagnosis and evaluation, adjustment to blindness services, alternative techniques in the areas of daily living activities, physical restoration, home-making, communication and orientation and to travel within the home and community.

Independent living rehabilitation services for blind and visually impaired children are supported by both federal and state funds. Services include counseling to the parents of the child, Parents Families Supportive Services, consultation in development and readiness skills that the child will need in order to enter and succeed in an appropriate educational setting and referral to community resources.

The federal/state Randolph-Sheppard Blind Enterprise Program provides employment opportunities for legally blind persons who have participated in special training and are licensed by the division to manage a vending facility. Located in federal, state and private industry and in rest areas along the interstate highway system, vending facilities range from full food service cafeterias to banks of vending machines.

Child Support Program

Missouri's Child Support Enforcement Program began in 1977 and operates pursuant to Title IV-D of the federal Social Security Act and Chapter 454 of the Revised Statutes of Missouri (RSMo).

The Child Support Program responsibilities include location of parents, paternity establishment, establishing child and medical support orders, monitoring and enforcing compliance with support orders, reviewing support orders for modification and distributing child support collections.

Family Support Division (FSD) collects child support on behalf of families receiving public assistance, not only to eliminate their dependence on assistance programs, but also to reimburse the state for the benefits provided to these families.

In addition, individuals not receiving public assistance benefits may apply for child support services.

Federal funds available under the Social Security Act assist state and local jurisdictions in financing the costs of program operations. Currently, the federal matching rate is 66 percent. In addition to federal funds, the state is entitled to retain approximately 34 percent of the collections it receives for families who receive public assistance.

The program partners with county prosecuting attorneys through cooperative agreements to assist with child support activities. All counties that have entered into a cooperative agreement with FSD receive reimbursement for their activities as provided by state and federal law.

The program partners with the state Attorney General through cooperative agreement to assist with child support enforcement and modification activities.

Pursuant to Section 454.530, RSMo, FSD, together with the Missouri Department of Revenue, operates the state disbursement unit known as the Family Support Payment Center (FSPC) which receives and disburses support on behalf of families. The FSPC forwards to the state collections received for families receiving public assistance. When a family is not receiving public assistance, the FSPC sends payments directly to the family.

FSD collected $558.4 million in state fiscal year 2006.

The Missouri Medicaid program provides medical services to eligible beneficiaries within defined program benefits in somewhat the same way insurance companies provide coverage for their policyholders.

The services provided include those required by the federal government such as hospital and physician services. Also included are optional services such as pharmaceutical and personal care services authorized by the Missouri General Assembly and identified in Section 208.152 of the Revised Statutes of Missouri.

The Division of Medical Services administers a mandatory Medicaid managed care program called MC+ managed care for eligible recipients in the eastern, central and western areas of the state. Children, pregnant women, TANF families and children in state custody receive their medical care through managed care organizations, allowing the state to ensure access to health care and control costs at the same time.

The division also oversees an expanded MC+ program which provides health insurance coverage for eligible uninsured low-income children. Authority for this program is through a waiver of Section 1115 of the Social Security Act and Senate Bill 632, signed into law June 1998 and reauthorized in 2002. This waiver initiative builds on the original MC+ program by focusing on uninsured children.

Medicaid has included specialized services for specific populations within the state by receiving waiver authority from the federal government. Home and community-based waivers for the elderly, certain mentally retarded, developmentally disabled beneficiaries as well as patients with AIDS were obtained and allow the state Medicaid program to pay for otherwise non-covered home care as an alternative to more expensive institutional care. These services are restricted to those beneficiaries who would otherwise require, and whose home care is no more expensive than, institutionalization.

The Medicaid program is jointly funded by state and federal funds. The division's fiscal year 2007 appropriation of $5 billion includes $2.2 billion in state and other funds and $2.8 billion in federal monies.

The Omnibus Reorganization Act of 1974 created the Division of Youth Services (DYS) and placed it within the Department of Social Services.

STEVEN E. RENNE
Interim Director
Division of Medical Services

TIM DECKER
Director
Division of Youth Services

General Responsibilities

Youth judged to be delinquent and in need of rehabilitation and education are committed to the division by the state's juvenile (circuit) courts until approved for return to the community under supervision or discharged.

The division provides an array of services, including residential care, community-based services, nonresidential services and aftercare supervision. Chapter 219, RSMo outlines the division's responsibility to include prevention of delinquency, incentive subsidy to juvenile courts, consultative and information services to non-DYS agencies upon request and technical assistance to local communities.

Organization

The division is administered by the director who is appointed by the director of the Department of Social Services. The division operates institutions throughout the state, as well as community facilities consisting of group homes, park camps, specialized residential programs and nonresidential community-based programs as well as a case management system. Five regional administrators are responsible for the programs in their geographical areas. Central office personnel, together with the regional administrators, aid the director in planning for the agency as well as setting goals and objectives.

Goals and Objectives

The mission of the Division of Youth Services (DYS) is to protect communities from juvenile offenders and to provide appropriate services to youth in the division's custody and their families. This balanced approach relies on community partnerships for the development and enhancement of services for the prevention of delinquency.

Methods of Treatment

DYS forms a unique treatment environment. The youth centers provide highest structure for students in need, while group homes and park camps provide residential settings for youth who can adequately function with supervision in a community environment. Nonresidential services are provided to low-risk youth as a diversion to residential care and as a supplement to after-care.

Case Management

A case management system has been developed to provide assessment, treatment planning, coordination of services, monitoring and evaluation of the services for youths and their families. A needs and risk assessment helps the case manager determine the most appropriate services for each youth. The assessment takes into account all pertinent factors involving the youth's delinquent history while identifying the general treatment needs.

Each division facility creates an environment which is designed to contribute to positive changes in the student's behavior and attitudes through the provision of group and individualized treatment services, recreation, academic and vocational training. The ultimate goal is to return each youth to his or her home community as a productive, responsible member of society.

Community-Based Services

Focusing on more individualized services and delivering programs at the community level, the division has expanded its program design to be more community-based. The program components are:

Intensive Case Monitoring

This service is provided by employees who track a youth's behavior and activities. Trackers also provide support and counseling to the youth when needed. Great effort is made to ensure the matching of similar personalities and interests of youth and the tracker.

Day Treatment

This service provides a structured alternative educational program which includes traditional academic courses, GED classes, career planning, job placement and community service supported by individual, group and family therapy.

Proctor Care

This specialized alternative living program places a youth in residence with a young adult proctor who serves as a role model.

Family Therapy

DYS family therapists provide counseling to adjudicated and non-adjudicated youth and their families. In addition, the family therapy unit accepts referrals from juvenile courts, child welfare agencies, mental health agencies, schools and other sources. DYS family therapists also provide training to other state agency staff and court personnel.

Short-Term Programs

Several short-term programs have been established statewide to prepare youth for re-entry into the community. These facilities provide residential-based programs to help youth move from traditional residential services into productive community living. Intensive family involvement is required and youth are expected to accomplish specific community goals before release.

Group Home Programs

Group homes provide the least restrictive residential environment. Staff provides 24-hour supervision in a home-like setting with a capacity for ten youths. Youth follow a daily schedule with time allowed for interaction with the community (school, jobs and community projects) as well as treatment services within the facility (group, individual and family counseling). Youth in this program can participate in public schools and vocational programs or attend on-site educational programs.

Residential Facilities

Residential facilities provide a structured environment for DYS youth. The residential programs target youth who cannot function well in the community and require a more structured setting. Many of these youth have participated in repeat property offenses and require continuous structure to mature.

The program divides youth into groups of ten with 24-hour staff supervision. A traditional school program is provided on-site by full time teachers offering basic education, GED programming and various remedial/special education activities.

Secure Care

For those youth who have a history of offenses and require a more structured setting, the division offers programs in secured facilities. Seven highly structured, secure care programs provide on-site educational classes, vocational training and recreational activities. These programs target youth with longer offense records that may include crimes against people. The offenders tend to be older and may include youth who have been unsuccessful in community-based programs. Scheduled outings into the community serve the purpose of involving the youth in community support projects. Secure care programs use a group-treatment approach with individual and family centered services. The educational program contains the broadly classified areas of basic, remedial, special and vocational education. Emphasis is placed on the acquisition of knowledge and skills that will meet the practical needs of each student.

An individual education plan, including both youth goals and staff strategies, is developed for each youth. Parents are encouraged to attend these planning meetings.

Dual Jurisdiction

The division also operates a secure care program in Montgomery City which serves youth sentenced under the dual jurisdiction provisions in Chapter 211.073, RSMo. This alternative sentencing provision allows certified youth to receive an adult and juvenile sentence with a suspended execution of the adult sentence. Treatment and educational services are provided to youth whose length of stay is significantly longer than that of other DYS students.

Aftercare

When youth are ready to return to their communities, the division provides services to help them make the smooth transition. Virtually all youth under the DYS care enter the aftercare program upon their return to the community. An assigned case manager ensures support services are provided to help each youth enter and readjust to community living. Support may be of a referral, supervisory or counseling nature. The primary goal of aftercare is to provide supervision and resources to youth to assist them in making a satisfactory community adjustment. This is defined as a youth being able to function in the community without becoming involved in delinquent behavior that could lead the youth into court.

Division of Youth Services Advisory Board

Established in 1974, the DYS Advisory Board is charged with the responsibility to advise the director, the legislature and the general public on all matters pertaining to the operation of the division. The 15 member board consists of citizens from across the state who are dedicated to the prevention of delinquency and the containment and rehabilitation of juvenile offenders.

Overview

The Missouri Department of Transportation, under the guidance of the Missouri Highways and Transportation Commission, is committed to providing the public with a safe and modern transportation system. MoDOT is responsible for maintaining 32,800 miles of highways and 10,224 bridges throughout the state.

In addition to designing, building and maintaining roads and bridges, MoDOT works to improve airports, river ports, railroads, public transit systems and pedestrian and bicycle travel. The agency also administers motor carrier and highway safety programs.

In ten districts statewide and at MoDOT's Central Office in Jefferson City, about 6,300 employees use the latest technology to serve the traveling public.

History

The Centennial Road Law of 1921 created a system of connected state highways. Under the terms of this law and subsequent legislation and constitutional amendments, more than 32,000 miles of state highways have been constructed and improved through the years. These highways connect large population centers, county seats and small communities within the state.

The following table summarizes Missouri's state highway system.

System	Road Miles
Major highways	5,573
Minor highways	27,227
Total	32,800

The Missouri Department of Transportation was created by legislation passed in 1996 that changed the name of the Highway and Transportation Department. That department was formed when voters approved Constitutional Amendment 2 in November 1979 merging the previously separate Highways and Transportation departments.

MoDOT is responsible for five major transportation alternatives available to Missourians—highways, aviation, waterways, transit and railroads. Those responsibilities include the total operation of the 32,800-mile state highway system, including highway location, design, construction and maintenance.

In addition, the department cooperates and coordinates with owners and operators of the four other modal systems in developing and improving airports, rail facilities and ports and in the operational cost of transit systems. The department administers state and federal programs and funds available for these systems.

MoDOT's main sources of state revenue are motor fuel taxes, motor vehicle sales and use taxes and motor vehicle and driver's licensing fees.

Voter-approved bond issues of $60 million in 1920 and $75 million in 1928 helped fund early road-building programs. Bond principal and interest were paid from revenues provided by highway users. All road bonds in Missouri were retired on June 15, 1957.

An additional revenue source was created in a special November 6, 1979, state election. Voters approved Amendment 2—a measure providing revenue through reallocation of part of one-half of the motor vehicle sales tax revenue to the department. Of this revenue, 75 percent went to the Department of Transportation. Counties received a ten percent share and cities received the remaining 15 percent.

Missouri voters approved a road and bridge improvement program on April 7, 1987, that increased the motor fuel tax from seven to 11 cents per gallon, increased heavy truck registration fees ten percent and placed a cap on administrative expenses going to other state agencies.

In April 1992, in response to new federal transportation legislation and the need for further transportation improvements, the Missouri Legislature increased the motor fuel tax by two cents per gallon in 1992, 1994 and 1996, bringing the motor fuel tax to 17 cents per gallon.

In 1998, legislation changed the department's structure by creating the position of director to be the chief executive officer. That legislation also mandated MoDOT to prepare a comprehensive annual report to the legislature that includes finances, road and bridge construction schedules and accomplishments. A chief engineer and a chief financial officer assist the director.

In 2000, the commission was authorized to issue bonds to accelerate Missouri highway construction. More than $900 million in bonds was sold.

In July 2002, Governor Bob Holden signed legislation implementing an earlier executive order merging into MoDOT programs from four separate agencies serving motor carrier and railroad operators in Missouri.

In November 2004, voters approved a constitutional amendment that redirects some existing highway user fees from other state services to MoDOT. The department is using this revenue to finance $1.7 billion to $1.9 billion in bonds. Called Smoother, Safer, Sooner, this bond program is improving thousands of miles of the state's busiest highways, accelerating existing major projects by several years and constructing more than a billion dollars in new, high-priority major construction projects.

In January 2007, MoDOT launched the Better Roads, Brighter Future program, which will improve the remainder of the state's 5,600 miles of major highways over the next five years. These busy highways will receive wider stripes and rumble stripes, brighter signs, paved shoulders and smooth pavement that will bring 85 percent of Missouri's major highway system up to good condition by the end of 2011. The five-year program will cost $1.1 billion, using existing funds allocated for taking care of the state highway system. Nearly every Missourian will benefit from these improvements, which will save lives, create jobs and save motorists money.

State Highways and Transportation Commission

The Missouri Highways and Transportation Commission is a six-member bipartisan board that guides the Missouri Department of Transportation and is responsible for planning for and maintaining the state's highway network. The commission also has responsibilities in the other Commission members are appointed by the governor and confirmed by the Senate. No more than three commission members may be of the same political party. State law requires six-year terms, with two members replaced every two years. The two most senior commissioners serve one year each as chair and vice chair for their last two years on the commission.

The commission appoints the Missouri Department of Transportation's director and secretary to the commission.

Department Mission, Tangible Results

The department's mission is to provide a world-class transportation experience that delights our customers and promotes a prosperous Missouri.

In addition to the department's mission, 18 tangible results drive the organization's operations. The 18 results are outcomes Missourians expect to see as MoDOT fulfills its mission. They are:

- Uninterrupted traffic flow
- Smooth and unrestricted roads and bridges
- Safe transportation system
- Roadway visibility
- Personal, fast, courteous and understandable response to customer requests
- Partner with others to deliver transportation services
- Leverage transportation to advance economic development
- Innovative transportation solutions
- Fast projects that are of great value

District 10 has a total of 3,885 miles of state highways.

Multimodal Operations

The Multimodal Operations Division is responsible for administering a number of state and federal programs that fund and support the following modes of transportation: aviation, railroads, transit and waterways.

Aviation

The Highways and Transportation Commission is mandated by law to administer an aeronautics program. The law further requires the commission to "encourage, foster and participate with the political subdivisions of this state in the promotion and development of aeronautics." The commission has made this the responsibility of the aviation section, and the section fulfills its obligation in a variety of ways.

The aviation section administers federal and state grant programs that help local governments in planning, maintaining and developing existing airports and establishing new facilities. The objective of these grant programs is to provide modern, all-weather airports for safety and to enhance economic development throughout the state.

The aviation section inspects most of the publicly and privately owned airports within the state that are open to the public. These inspections assist airport operators in maintaining safe, efficient facilities. The section maintains a statewide airport system plan that guides airport development project priorities. Aviation also produces a free aeronautical chart and airport directory for the flying public.

Railroads

The railroad section is responsible for freight rail regulation, passenger rail support, light rail safety regulation, highway/rail crossing safety, rail/highway construction issues, inspection of railroad employee facilities and railroad safety inspection and outreach.

The railroad section also provides assistance in all railroad matters affecting the state and is responsible for activities cited in Chapters 389, 622 and 680 of the Revised Statutes of Missouri.

The railroad-highway section administers federal and state funds to improve safety at railroad crossings by implementing and financing lights and gates projects, pedestrian treatments, signing programs of various types, and approving and overseeing grade separations over railroads. The railroad section also inspects the various railroads operating in the state for track safety, hazardous materials, operating practices of trains, and grade crossing surfaces, conditions and signals. Most of the section's rail inspectors have been certified by the Federal Railroad Administration.

The section investigates all grade-crossing fatalities and serious accidents at crossings and participates in the Operation Lifesaver program to reduce rail grade-crossing accidents. The section also produces a free map of all railroads in Missouri and maintains a current listing of Amtrak passenger rail information and schedules of passenger trains that run through the state. Further information is available on the section's website at www.morail.org.

Transit

The transit section assists in the financial and technical support of the state's public transit and specialized paratransit systems. This function is carried out through the administration of state and federal programs relating to general public transportation and specific programs for nonprofit agencies serving the mobility needs of senior citizens and people with disabilities.

The Missouri Elderly and Handicapped Transportation Assistance Program provides state financial assistance for nonprofit organizations offering transportation services to seniors and people with disabilities at below-cost rates. The program has more than 190 grantees that provide approximately 4.8 million trips annually.

Twenty-eight small urban and rural general public transit systems receive financial and technical support from the department. These systems have an aggregate operating budget of $18 million, provide more than three million trips, and travel ten million vehicle miles per year. The entire state of Missouri is covered by these sys-

MoDOT also provides federal and state assistance to transit systems in "small urbanized" areas with populations of more than 50,000 and less than 200,000. Participating cities in Missouri are Columbia, Jefferson City, St. Joseph and Joplin. The combined fleets number about 60 vehicles. They provide 2.1 million annual trips with a combined operating budget in excess of $7.0 million annually.

The transit section purchases approximately 82 vehicles for about 64 grantees annually, using funds allocated to the state through the Federal Transit Administration's Elderly and Persons with Disabilities Capital Assistance Program. The program is open to all areas of the state (rural, urban and urbanized) for nonprofit organizations and qualifying public entities. There are more than 500 active vehicles operated by almost 200 organizations. The active fleet provides more than 800,000 elderly trips and 1.6 million disability trips per year and travels more than 7.5 million miles.

The transit section also administers the rural transportation assistance program, a training and technical assistance function funded by the Federal Transit Administration. Training courses offered include defensive driving, CPR and first aid, passenger assistance techniques and emer-agency procedures. Technical assistance is offered in vehicle procurement and maintenance.

The transit section prepares a statewide application for national discretionary capital assistance. The capital discretionary program has funded about 1,000 vehicles since the state began to receive Section 5309 assistance in fiscal year 1993. These vehicles are operating throughout the entire state. Major facilities funded to date include park-n-ride facilities, bus facilities, transitways, personal computers, radio systems, maintenance equipment and miscellaneous equipment.

Waterways

Chapter 68, RSMo allows cities and counties located on or adjacent to navigable waterways to form port authorities and become political subdivisions of the state, upon approval from the Highways and Transportation Commission.

The waterways section helps port authorities develop commerce and foster local economic development. The section also promotes the use of Missouri's navigable rivers, assists in capital and administrative funding, acts as an information clearinghouse, provides technical assistance and represents port interests within industry and government.

Program Delivery

The director of program delivery reports to the chief engineer and oversees the following divisions: Bridge, Design, Right of Way, Construction and Materials and Transportation Planning.

Bridge Division

The Bridge Division produces structural designs and detailed plans for all state highway bridges, including cost estimates and site-specific job provisions.

The bridge design process begins with a preliminary investigation that includes a detailed and complex study to determine the most suitable type of structure for a given location considering hydraulics, economy, site requirements and aesthetics. The finished product is a set of detailed design plans from which contractors can construct the bridge.

Bridge personnel provide inspection services in steel fabrication shops around the nation to ensure structural steel for bridges and other materials meet specifications, and that the bridges are safe for motorists.

The Bridge Division maintains extensive microfilm files of all plans and design data for bridges, culverts and retaining walls on the state highway system. The division also reviews plans for rehabilitating or replacing locally owned bridges using federal bridge funds. It administers a program for inspecting locally owned bridges and provides engineering assistance to counties and cities.

Bridges are analyzed to determine their safe load-carrying capacities and the division initiates posting of bridges not able to safely carry the state's legal loads. The unit also maintains the National Bridge Inventory for Missouri and helps in developing overall strategies for managing MoDOT's highway structures.

Design

Design prepares all roadway plans and advertises projects for bids. Included in plan preparation are determination of state and/or federal funding for projects, ground surveys and aerial photography, public involvement meetings, consideration of social, environmental and economic factors, detailed plan design, Bid Analysis Management Systems (BAMS), and the development of specifications and cost estimates for highway projects prior to advertising for bids.

In addition, Design is responsible for the department's computer aided drafting and design (CADD) program including support and training. The division also provides printed and electronic documents to support submissions of bids for MoDOT's monthly bid openings.

The division's responsibilities include the planning processes that identify and evaluate the state's transportation needs and the location, environmental and cultural resource studies required for initial evaluation of proposed projects. Professional engineers, planners, environmental and cultural specialists and other support staff are involved in the comprehensive evaluation and study of transportation projects prior to detailed design.

The division coordinates with district project teams and regional planning organizations as well as other federal, state and local agencies to facilitate completion of transportation projects. Design's involvement begins with the initial concept, proceeds through the project development process and provides services and support through and beyond construction of transportation facilities.

Environmental and cultural assessments provide clearances allowing the expenditure of federal funds and issuance of permits by regulatory agencies.

Right of Way

Right of Way acquires all realty rights for constructing and improving state highways and related facilities. It provides a relocation assistance and payments program for all persons displaced by the commission's land acquisition activities. It also is responsible for the disposition of right of way no longer needed for state highway purposes and assists the Chief Counsel's Office in preparing condemnation cases for trial.

Right of Way administers the regulation of outdoor advertising, salvage yard control and scenic byways programs. It also assists the Chief Counsel's Office in preparing outdoor advertising and salvage yard cases.

Construction and Materials

Construction and Materials administers highway construction and other contracts to ensure quality highways and materials so the traveling public has a safe, efficient transportation system.

The division provides technical assistance, implements new technology and assures quality materials on department projects. It also provides assistance in preparing many specifications for materials used in highway and bridge construction and maintenance, as well as continual testing and inspection for all materials used in the highway system.

After a contract has been awarded through the competitive bid process, the work is assigned to project offices located throughout the state. Engineers and technicians assigned to these project offices do field surveying and perform quality control tests on the work performed by contractors to ensure quality construction that improves Missouri's transportation system.

Division engineers make periodic field inspections to help field personnel and ensure uniform contract administration over the entire state. Quality assurance reviews of the project offices are performed regularly.

materials used in the highway system. Testing is done in a modern laboratory in Jefferson City.

Personnel analyze pavement designs, roadway foundations, asphaltic concrete and portland cement mixtures, as well as carry out soil and subsurface condition surveys and furnish geotechnical information for the design, construction and maintenance of roads and structures.

Division employees are also involved in the national Strategic Highway Research Program (SHRP), an ongoing national research effort to improve highway materials such as concrete and asphalt pavements. By using new technology such as the Superpave bituminous pavement mixture, the department strives to improve the Missouri roadway system for the future. Personnel also inspect and oversee disposal of hazardous and environmental materials related to highways.

The External Civil Rights Administration unit also falls under Construction and Materials and works to ensure civil rights policies relative to department operations meet standards. The unit is also responsible for implementing the department's Disadvantaged Business Enterprise (DBE) program to ensure non-discrimination in the award and administration of contracts and to create a level playing field on which DBE firms can compete fairly for federally funded transportation projects.

Transportation Planning

Transportation Planning is responsible for long-range planning, data administration, systems analysis, and planning and programming.

Transportation Planning collects, manages and analyzes data to provide a single source of information to support the department's decision processes. A common reference system links safety, bridge, congestion, traffic and pavement data to provide a map-based geographic information system (GIS).

The division also develops and tracks the five-year Statewide Transportation Improvement Program, the department's highway and bridge construction program. The department's regional planning partners, along with local officials, participate in the schedule and program development.

Transportation Planning maintains a transportation plan that looks at least 20 years into the future. This plan analyzes needs for all modes of transportation including aviation, bicycle and pedestrian accommodations, freight rail and ports, highways and bridges, passenger rail and bus service between cities, and public transportation. This plan also provides policy and goal direction for MoDOT as it develops the construction program.

Transportation Planning provides statewide guidance on issues including bicycle and pedestrian accommodations, involvement of local public officials in transportation decision-making, statewide and metropolitan planning regulations and Clean Air Act impacts to transportation. The unit also provides oversight of federal transportation planning funds and implementation of planning activities.

System Management

The director of system management reports to the chief engineer and oversees the following divisions: Highway Safety, Maintenance, Motor Carrier Services and Traffic.

This unit provides direction and oversight for safe and efficient management and operation of the state highway system. In addition, this unit promotes statewide programs and campaigns such as work zone safety and Work Zone Awareness Week, the No MOre Trash! program and the department's participation in the Missouri State Fair.

Highway Safety

Reducing deaths, injuries and property damage caused by traffic crashes on Missouri roadways is the goal of the Highway Safety Division, which was created as a result of the National Highway Safety Act of 1966. Administration of the state's highway safety programs became a MoDOT responsibility in August 2003 when the Division of Highway Safety was merged by executive order into the department.

Highway Safety staff concentrate their efforts in three areas that are proven effective in preventing deaths and injuries from motor vehicle crashes—education, enforcement and engineering. The lives saved and injuries prevented save Missouri taxpayers millions of dollars. The unit provides resources and/or technical information to the public, state and local governmental entities, the legislature and safety advocates across the state. Funding to support these efforts is provided through federal grants.

The Highway Safety Division works with other MoDOT divisions and safety partners from both the public and private sector as part of the Missouri Coalition for Roadway Safety. The coalition is charged with leading the statewide implementation of Missouri's Blueprint for Safer Roadways. The Blueprint outlines strategies to reduce fatal and serious injuries occurring on our roadways due to motor-vehicle crashes, with a goal of 1,000 or fewer fatalities by 2008.

Maintenance

Maintaining state highways and bridges is the primary function of the Maintenance Division. The division also establishes broad policy, disseminates best practices and supports field activities by providing quality assurance. Included in these are preservation, upkeep, operation and restoration of roadways, bridges, signs, traffic control equipment and all appropriate facilities so they remain safe and usable.

Maintenance of bridges requires annual inspections (sometimes using an aerial bucket truck modified to look under bridges and also using underwater diving techniques), painting and major repairs by unit personnel.

Increased highway use continues to place increased demands on the maintenance of interstate rest areas, rapid and complete removal of snow and ice from pavement surfaces, and many other additional services provided by the division. The Maintenance Division also coordinates a variety of roadside management programs including Adopt-A-Highway, No More Trash!, Growing Together and the incarcerated personnel work release program.

Motor Carrier Services

The Motor Carrier Services Division provides information, credentials and permits to and enforces safety and economic regulations for businesses and individuals operating commercial vehicles on the state's public highways. MCS works to ensure a level playing field for trucking businesses and increase voluntary compliance with state and federal safety regulations.

Missouri's motor carrier companies can conduct nearly all of their business with the state through Motor Carrier Services. In many ways, MCS is similar to a retail business. A first-in-the-nation Internet-based business system allows carriers to interact with MoDOT 24-hours a day. Agents answer thousands of telephone, Internet and faxed inquiries each month. With more than 20,000 active accounts, the division collects more than $163 million annually, dispersing $76 million to other states and provinces according to international fuel tax and registration agreements and depositing $87 million into the state road fund.

With headquarters in Jefferson City and nine regional offices throughout the state, Motor Carrier Services employs approximately 100 individuals who are dedicated to improving highway safety and saving lives.

Traffic

Traffic is responsible for the safe and efficient movement of people and goods on the state highway system. The division supports signing, striping, traffic signal operations, lighting, roadway access and traffic safety programs throughout the state. Traffic coordinates training activities that incorporate traffic-engineering principles in all MoDOT activities.

There are currently more than 110,000 miles of striping, 800,000 highway signs, 2,300 traffic signals and numerous other traffic control devices on the state highway system. The department's central sign manufacturing facility produces more than 120,000 signs annually. The division is working to implement many new technologies, including enhanced pavement markings, highly reflective sign materials, video cameras for traffic monitoring and control and light emitting diodes for various applications. These new technologies help increase the efficiency and effectiveness of traffic devices and traffic personnel. Traffic also provides oversight for the logo signing services program throughout the state.

The Traffic Division is involved in determining the safety and operational implications involved in requests by outside parties for changes in access on roadways. These changes in access include driveway and street connections, levee attachments and grading on interstate right of way.

Traffic also analyzes crash data, which is used by district and Central Office units for location studies and project prioritization. Traffic supports districts and local safety partners in the development of regional safety plans that support Missouri's Blueprint for Safer Roadways. Federal funding is administered to provide traffic engineering services and training for smaller cities and counties that do not have traffic engineering expertise.

The Traffic Division also provides statewide coordination of management and operations activities such as traffic management, incident management, traveler information services and telecommunications networks. This coordination helps to provide a single operating system to maximize the performance of the statewide transportation system while improving safety, mobility and customer satisfaction. Other management and operations activities include managing work zones and operating a radio communications system for field operations and emergency response. The Traffic Division coordinates the Motorist Assist Program in the Kansas City and St. Louis areas.

System Facilitation Team

The department's chief financial officer manages the System Facilitation Team, whose role is to help the System Delivery Team achieve its tangible results. Equal Opportunity, Employee Benefits, Information Systems, Human Resources, General Services, Resource Management, the Controller's Division and Risk Management make up the System Facilitation Team. The chief financial officer reports to the MoDOT director.

Equal Opportunity

The Equal Opportunity Division administers the department's workforce diversity program. This includes outreach, cultural education, cooperative education, mentoring, exit interviews and other specialized programs to leverage human resources to transportation needs. Additionally, the division coordinates the affirmative action program to comply with federal regulations and state statutes.

Employee Benefits

Employee Benefits oversees all aspects of MoDOT's medical and life insurance plan. The division also provides support to the Missouri Department of Transportation and Highway Patrol Employees' Retirement System. The division also monitors claims to pinpoint areas of concern and works with actuaries to determine appropriate premium schedules. Employee Benefits provides information allowing employees to make informed decisions regarding benefit options. This division also assists employees with enrollments for the various benefits, such as retirement, health and life insurance, employee assistance program, cafeteria plan and deferred compensation.

Information Systems

Information Systems provides information technology products, services and support to the department and coordinates its information technology activities. It provides application, data, voice and video services from a central computing facility to remote locations through wide-area and local-area networks. The division also coordinates the operation of remote computing facilities located in each district.

Additionally, Information Systems provides other services in the form of Help Desk support, media conversion, client relations' activities, technology standards facilitation, computer equipment checkout, Internet access, web publishing and E-mail accounts. The division also creates and maintains hundreds of applications for the department's engineering, financial, operational and general information needs.

Human Resources

The Human Resources Division develops and administers a statewide personnel program to meet department needs. The division recruits nationally for college graduates to fill civil engineering positions throughout the state and recruits locally for all positions in the Central Office in accordance with affirmative action efforts. Employee development staff is responsible for conducting or coordinating training programs in managerial leadership and vocational technical training and also works in the area of performance assessment.

Human Resources also develops personnel policy, manages the department's classification and pay system and maintains personnel records for employees.

General Services

The General Services Division is responsible for supporting MoDOT activities by providing guidance and support services to all districts and Central Office in the areas of facilities management, procurement, distribution center services and fleet management.

Facilities Management provides planning, guidance and design services to build and maintain more than 1,700 facilities located at 600 sites throughout the state. Fleet Management provides support services for a state fleet of more than 6,900 vehicles and specialized equipment. The Procurement unit supports the department's purchasing activities and manages a central distribution center.

The General Services Division also provides travel, mail/freight and facilities maintenance services.

Resource Management

The Resource Management Division is responsible for managing the department's funding mechanisms and helping the agency use fiscal resources effectively and efficiently. The division develops a comprehensive financial plan based on financial analyses, forecasts and evaluations and provides fiscal information to MoDOT's transportation partners.

Resource Management also administers various innovative finance programs. The division provides debt-financing programs through the Statewide Transportation Assistance Revolving Fund and the Missouri Transportation Finance Corporation, a non-profit lending corporation established to help local transportation projects. Cost sharing and economic development programs bring in dedicated project funds that do not have to be repaid to MoDOT. Under the cost-sharing program, the division works with MoDOT's district offices to provide guidance and financial planning analysis on projects where MoDOT commits a portion of project costs. The division also works with the Department of Economic Development to fund projects that will significantly impact the economic development in a given area.

Controller's Division

The Controller's Division is responsible for the department's accounting, financial reporting and financial policy development. The division maintains all financial records and prepares financial statements for the department, the medical plan, the self-insurance plan and the Missouri Transportation Finance Corporation. To support this role, the Controller's Division is responsible for accounting functions including payroll, accounts payable, accounts receivable, federal billing, inventory and fixed assets.

The Controller's Division is also responsible for the department's use of the statewide financial and payroll accounting systems and the administration of MoDOT's Financial and HR/Payroll Data Marts. The quality assurance section of the Controller's Division documents processes to ensure appropriate internal controls exist and reviews transactions for compliance with policy.

Risk Management

The Risk Management Division provides leadership and support for the statewide safety and health program and administers the department's insurance operations in the areas of workers' compensation, general liability and fleet vehicle liability. The division also provides collection services for property damage.

The goal of the Risk Management Safety and Health Unit is to provide a safe and healthful work environment for all MoDOT employees by developing, communicating and promoting safety and health programs. The unit accomplishes this goal by helping develop safety-related policies, employee training, incident review and safety incentive programs. The unit also administers the department's pre-employment/post-offer physical program and the drug and alcohol program.

The department is self-insured in the areas of workers' compensation, general liability and fleet vehicle liability. The claims administration units are responsible for administering all claims related to these three programs and maintaining the self-insurance plan. Claims administration is also responsible for collecting damages from taxpayers who damage property on state right of way.

Organizational Support Team

The third team, Organizational Support, includes the Chief Counsel's Office, Audits and Investigations, Organizational Results, Governmental Relations and Community Relations. These units report directly to the MoDOT director.

Chief Counsel's Office

The chief counsel is appointed by the MoDOT director with the consent of the Highways and Transportation Commission to handle legal responsibilities for the department and the commission. The Chief Counsel's Office helps the commission and MoDOT to achieve their tangible results by providing three basic legal services: prosecuting and defending litigation; rendering legal advice and opinions; and reviewing and drafting documents.

Audits and Investigations

The Audits and Investigations unit is charged with improving efficiency and helping ensure organizational integrity by identifying problems early.

Audits and Investigations conducts internal audits of division and district operations; and external audits of overhead rates and actual cost agreements between MoDOT and entities such as cities, counties, utilities, railroads and consultant engineering firms. The division investigates a wide range of areas from grievances and equal opportunity complaints to misappropriation and employee misconduct. The division also conducts analyses of competitive bidding practices in the construction industry.

Organizational Results

The Organizational Results Division is responsible for working with department managers to improve organizational performance. This includes researching, developing and implementing business, policy and engineering solutions. Special attention is given to identifying best practices, technologies and new products to drive the organization's performance. Organizational Results also spearheads and directs organizational performance measures. These performance measures show the department's progress toward achieving its tangible results and help transform MoDOT into an efficient, customer-driven government organization focused on continuous improvement.

customer needs; provide information and technology for management policy decisions; and undertake research and development issues that have a high possibility of being implemented.

Other research responsibilities include policy, finance, environmental and community and economic development studies as related to transportation. MoDOT collaborates with the Missouri Transportation Institute, a consortium of Missouri-based universities and nonprofit organizations, to address transportation research, development, public policy and technology transfer needs.

Governmental Relations

The role of Governmental Relations is to work with federal, state and local officials, stakeholders, the public and department staff to advocate the department's objectives by advancing legislative initiatives designed to develop sound public policies relating to all modes of transportation. Governmental Relations develops legislation, recommends policy changes, increases public awareness of department initiatives and promotes positive rapport with customers and department staff.

Community Relations

The Community Relations Division works to provide information about the commission and the department's programs and services to the public, as well as to MoDOT employees. Community Relations informs communities about department activities through a variety of avenues, including news releases, special events and the department's Internet website at www.modot.org. The division also develops exhibits, creates multimedia presentations, prepares speeches, produces brochures, distributes official highway maps, prepares communication and marketing materials and provides support to district public information efforts. In addition, the division also publishes internal educational publications.

Missouri Mississippi River Parkway Commission

The Missouri Mississippi River Parkway Commission works to preserve, promote and enhance the scenic, historic and recreational resources of the Mississippi River, to foster economic growth in the corridor along the Mississippi, and to develop the national, scenic and historic parkway known as the Great River Road (GRR). The GRR is a river parkway system utilizing existing Mississippi River valley roads while preserving the region's landscape quality. The commission promotes and supports tourism, coordinates domestic and international marketing, facilitates efforts to enhance economic development and encourages resource awareness. It also works to leverage dollars for highway improvements, recreational trails, bikeways, scenic overlooks and historic preservation along the Mississippi River.

The Missouri commission is one of the earliest of other such bodies from the 10 states involved in the Great River Road program. Ten commissions were established as part of the National Mississippi River Parkway Commission to act in the planning and implementation of plans for the overall Great River Road development.

The Great River Road

The concept for a parkway along the Mississippi River originated in Missouri in 1936 when Governor Stark asked the Missouri State Planning Board to consider it. In 1938, the ten state national Mississippi River Parkway Commission was formed. Congress authorized the development of the Great River Road in 1954 after a two-year feasibility study and resulting report, which recommended a plan for a Mississippi River scenic route development by the states through which the route would pass. The various state highway departments would administer the plan by improving existing highways to parkway-like standards. It was further recommended that existing highways could be incorporated into a continuous route by interconnecting them where necessary with limited sections of new construction.

The Great River Road provides three major benefits.

(1) It represents a concentrated effort to protect and conserve the natural and cultural environment of the Mississippi River corridor.

(2) The road provides a diverse experience for the vacation traveler and residents that is both enjoyable and educational through the river's major scenic and historic areas.

(3) It provides a positive economic impact on the region serving as an important part of the nation's transportation system. The program has provided important funds for road improvements and enhancements in a predominately rural section of the nation.

The focus of the MRPC has shifted from solely designating and constructing the GRR to encompassing tourism, economic development and natural/cultural resource awareness.

A 26-mile portion of the Great River Road—Route 79 between the Ralls County line to Clarksville within Pike County—is the first State Scenic Byway designated in Missouri. It also is a National Scenic Byway known as the Little Dixie Highway of the Great River Road.

Tennessee-Missouri Bridge Commission

Although attached to the Missouri Department of Transportation by law for organizational purposes, the Tennessee-Missouri Bridge Commission operates independently of the department.

Metro

707 N. First St., St. Louis 63102
Telephone: (314) 982-1400

Although attached to the Missouri Department of Transportation by law for organizational purposes, the St. Louis Area Metro operates independently of the department.

Origin

Metro of the Missouri-Illinois Metropolitan District was established September 20, 1949 by compact between the states of Missouri and Illinois to make plans for the overall development of the St. Louis metropolitan area and to carry out specific projects. In the following year, the U.S. Congress and the president approved the compact. The compact was authorized by legislative acts of the two states and was consented to by the Congress as required by Article I, Section 10, Clause 3 of the Constitution of the United States. Under subsequent legislation, the two states agreed to amend the original compact. These changes were approved by the Congress and the president in 1959.

The compact was further amended by Illinois in 1979 and Missouri in 1980 to broaden Metro's powers to include the authority to acquire and operate facilities handling refuse or waste derived resources, fuel or energy.

Scope and functions

The compact created the Missouri-Illinois Metropolitan District to include the City of St. Louis and the counties of St. Louis, St. Charles and Jefferson in Missouri and Madison, Monroe and St. Clair in Illinois. Within this district, Metro has two functions. First, it is empowered to construct, maintain, own and operate specific facilities including bridges, tunnels, airports, wharves, docks, warehouses, grain elevators, passenger transportation facilities and air, water, rail and motor vehicle terminal facilities. Second, it is authorized to make plans for coordination of streets, highways, parking areas, terminals, water supply, sewage and drainage facilities, recreational facilities, land-use patterns and other matters in which joint or coordinated action of the communities within the areas will be generally beneficial.

Metro may charge and collect fees for use of such facilities as it may own, issue bonds upon the security of revenues to be derived from such facilities and receive for its activities any contributions or money appropriated by municipalities, counties, states, the federal government or other agencies.

Metro is authorized to issue revenue bonds, collect fees and receive funds from federal, state, local and private agencies. Metro has no taxing powers.

Administration

Metro's ten member board provides overall leadership and policy direction for the agency and is comprised of five members from Illinois and five from Missouri. In Missouri, members are selected by the governor. In Illinois, the chairmen of the board for both St. Clair and Madison counties appoint their representatives. Members of the board serve their five-year terms without compensation and must be resident voters of their state, as well as reside within the bi-state metropolitan region.

Background

The Kansas City Area Transportation Authority (KCATA) was formed with the signing of a bi-state compact created by the Missouri and Kansas legislatures on December 28, 1965. The compact was authorized by legislation enacted by the 73rd General Assembly of the State of Missouri (Revised Statutes of the State of Missouri 1969, Sections 238.010 to 238.100) and by the 61st regular session of the Kansas Legislature (Sections 12-2524 to 12-2535 Kansas Statutes Annotated). The compact was approved by the 89th Congress (Public Law 89-599) and the bill signed on September 21, 1966, by President Lyndon B. Johnson. Actual transit operation began February 1, 1966.

The compact gives the KCATA responsibility for planning, construction, owning and operating passenger transportation systems and facilities within the seven-county Kansas City metropolitan area. These include the counties of Cass, Clay, Jackson and Platte in Missouri, and Johnson, Leavenworth and Wyandotte in Kansas.

Commissioners

The ATA is governed by a ten member board of commissioners, five from Kansas and five from Missouri. Commissioners serve a maximum of two four-year terms. The commissioners select their own officers on an annual basis.

Missouri Voting and Elections

Who registers to vote in Missouri?

Citizens of the U.S. living in Missouri must register in order to vote. Any U.S. citizen 17 years and 6 months of age or older, if a Missouri resident, may register and vote after reaching age 18 except:

- A person who is adjudged incapacitated
- A person who is confined under sentence of imprisonment
- A person who is on probation or parole after conviction of a felony until finally discharged
- A person who has been convicted of a felony or misdemeanor connected with the right of suffrage (RSMo 115.133, 115.135)

How do Missourians register?

Qualified citizens may register in person at the office of their local election authority, by mail, at the driver's license fee office or at participating state agencies. Registration in person is accomplished by filling out registration forms with information on identity, residence and qualifications which are signed and sworn to, then witnessed by the election authority or a designee. The voter must present appropriate identification such as a birth certificate, a Native American tribal document, other proof of United States citizenship, a valid Missouri driver's license or other form of personal identification. (RSMo 115.155)

Registration by mail, at the driver's license fee office or at the participating state agencies requires submission of an application stating qualifications. If mailed, this form must be postmarked by the fourth Wednesday preceding an election to be eligible to vote in that election. The voter must include a copy of appropriate identification (see above). If the voter does not submit such information, the voter will be required to vote in person for the first time and to present additional identification upon voting for the first time. A verification or rejection of registration is sent by the election authority within seven working days. (RSMo 115.155)

When do Missourians register?

An unregistered citizen may register to vote whenever local election officials' places of business are open, by requesting an application by mail from the election authority, when renewing a Missouri driver's license or when receiving services from a participating state agency. Special registration sites and dates may be utilized prior to major elections. (RSMo 115.145, 115.151)

The deadline for registration is the fourth Wednesday prior to an election. (RSMo 115.135)

When do Missourians vote?

In general, the statutes require that public elections be held on the general election day, the primary election day, the general municipal election day, the first Tuesday after the first Monday in February or November, or on another day expressly provided by city or county charter, the first Tuesday after the first Monday in June and in nonprimary years on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in August. (RSMo 115.123.1)

The general election day is the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November in even-numbered years. The primary election day is the first Tuesday after the first Monday in August in even-numbered years. (RSMo 115.121 (1 & 2))

Elections for cities, towns, villages, school boards and special district officers are held the first Tuesday after the first Monday in April each year, known as general municipal election day. (RSMo 115.121.3)

A statewide presidential preference primary is held on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in February of each presidential election year. (RSMo 115.755)

Elections may be held on other Tuesdays for bond elections necessitated by fire, vandalism or natural disaster, where ownership of real property is required by law for voting and for special elections to fill vacancies. (RSMo 115.123.2)

Who conducts registration and elections?

Voter registration and the conduct of elections are the responsibilities of Missouri's 116 local election authorities (election boards and county clerks). Boards of election commissioners administer elections in the counties of Clay, Jackson, Platte and St. Louis and in the cities of Kansas City and St. Louis. The county clerk serves as the election authority in all other counties of the state. In 2005, legislation was passed giving Cass County the option of setting up a board of election commissioners. (RSMo 115.015, 115.017)

Special voting provisions

Disabled voters and persons prevented from voting because of absence or illness may vote absentee. Persons with permanent disabilities may apply for permanent absentee ballot status by making application with the local election authority. (RSMo 115.284) Curbside voting is permitted in Missouri, or voters may be transferred to more accessible precincts. Local election officials should be contacted about absentee federal service balloting or "new resident" ballots for residents who arrive after the registration deadline.

When voting, Missourians must show an approved form of personal identification. (RSMo 115.427)

1. Identification issued by the state of Missouri, an agency of the state, or a local election authority of the state;
2. Identification issued by the United States government or agency thereof;
3. Identification issued by an institution of higher education, including a university, college, vocational and technical school, located within the state of Missouri;
4. A copy of a current utility bill, bank statement, paycheck, government check or other government document that contains the name and address of the voter;
5. Driver's license or state identification card issued by another state.

If you do not possess any of these forms of identification, you may still cast a ballot if two supervising election judges, one from each major political party, attest they know you.

Elections and political parties

Missourians do not register under party affiliation. Hence, at primary elections, voters may choose which "established party" ballot they vote (RSMo 115.397). Party nominees—and independent candidates—are then listed on the general election ballot.

There are presently three "established political parties" statewide—the Democratic, Republican and Libertarian parties. Persons may seek the nomination of these parties for any elective office from the county level and above. In order to become "established," a party must have received more than two percent of the votes cast statewide for at least one of its candidates. New parties are formed by petition and may exist on the county, district or state level. They must meet the same standard as any other party to remain established. (RSMo 115.317)

At the time of primary elections, voters select county committee members of established parties in Missouri. Those committee people, thus elected, have certain duties and responsibilities. They serve, as appropriate, as members of legislative, senatorial, judicial, and congressional district committees (RSMo 115.613, 115.619). County, district, or state committee members may be called on to fill candidate vacancies on party ballots or to select nominees for special elections as needed. The state committees are selected, indirectly, by local committee persons.

Constitutional Amendment No. 2Proposed by Initiative Petition*

Shall the Missouri Constitution be amended to allow and set limitations on stem cell research, therapies, and cures which will:

- ensure Missouri patients have access to any therapies and cures, and allow Missouri researchers to conduct any research, permitted under federal law;
- ban human cloning or attempted cloning;
- require expert medical and public oversight and annual reports on the nature and purpose of stem cell research;
- impose criminal and civil penalties for any violations; and
- prohibit state or local governments from preventing or discouraging lawful stem cell research, therapies and cures?

The proposed constitutional amendment would have an estimated annual fiscal impact on state and local governments of $0-$68,916.

Constitutional Amendment 3(Proposed by Initiative Petition)*

Shall the Missouri Constitution be amended to create a Healthy Future Trust Fund which will:

1. be used to reduce and prevent tobacco use, to increase funding for healthcare access and treatment for eligible low-income individuals and Medicaid recipients, and to cover administrative costs;
2. be funded by a tax of four cents per cigarette and twenty percent on other tobacco products; and
3. be kept separate from general revenue and annually audited?

Additional taxes of four cents per cigarette and twenty percent of the manufacturer's invoice price on other tobacco products generates an estimated $351 - $499 million annually for tobacco control programs, healthcare for low income Missourians, and payments for services provided to Missouri Medicaid beneficiaries and uninsured Missourians. Local governmental fiscal impact is unknown.

Constitutional Amendment No. 6Proposed by 93rd General Assembly(Second Regular Session) SJR 26*

Shall the Missouri Constitution be amended to include a tax exemption for real and personal property that is used or held exclusively for non-profit purposes or activities of veterans' organizations?

It is estimated this proposal will have a minimal cost to state government. The estimated costs to local governmental entities range from zero to approximately $45,000.

Constitutional Amendment No. 7Proposed by 93rd General Assembly(Second Regular Session) HJR 55*

Shall Article XIII, Section 3 of the Constitution be amended to require that legislators, statewide elected officials, and judges forfeit state pensions upon felony conviction, removal from office following impeachment or for misconduct, and to require that compensation for such persons be set by a citizens' commission subject to voter referendum?

It is estimated this proposal will have no costs to state or local governments.

Proposition BProposed by Initiative Petition*

Shall Missouri Statutes be amended to increase the state minimum wage rate to $6.50 per hour, or to the level of the federal minimum wage if that is higher, and thereafter adjust the state minimum wage annually based on changes in the Consumer Price Index?

The proposed revisions to Missouri's wage rate laws generates an estimated $3.3 million to $4.3 million annually in state revenue. The impact on local government is unknown.

Constitutional Amendment No. 1Proposed by the 93rd General Assembly (First Regular Session) SJR 1*

Shall Article IV, Section 47(a), (b), and (c) of the Missouri Constitution be amended to:

- A) reauthorize for ten years the one-tenth percent sales/use tax for (1) soil and water conservation; (2) state parks and historic sites; and

- B) resubmit this issue to a vote every ten years or at an earlier special election?

The proposed constitutional amendment continues until 2016, but does not increase, the existing sales and use tax of one-tenth of one percent that is set to terminate in 2008. The tax would generate approximately $82 million annually for soil and water conservation efforts and operation of the state park system.

Classification of Municipalities

Missouri statutes classify municipalities on the basis of population and limit the form of government options of each classification. The statutes provide that a community may incorporate as a city of the third class, fourth class or village on the basis of the population at the time of incorporation. Once a community is incorporated under a given classification, the municipality does not automatically change classification with a gain or loss of population. A municipality may change classification only when the change is approved by a majority vote of the people.

There are certain forms of government permitted for each classification of municipality. Villages are permitted only one form of government—an elected board of trustees, five in number if the village has less than 2,500 population and nine if more than 2,500 population. Fourth-class cities are permitted to have either a mayor/board of aldermen form or a mayor/city administrator/aldermen form. The board of aldermen may adopt a city administrator form by ordinance, without a vote of the people. Third-class cities are granted greater flexibility with the authority to establish a mayor/council form, a council/manager form, a commission form or a mayor/city administrator/council form. Finally, constitutional charter cities may adopt any form of government that the people approve in the charter.

<sup>1</sup>From 1821 to 1875, the Missouri General Assembly passed special charters for specific cities, until the 1875 Constitution prohibited further granting and amending of special charters. However, eight Missouri municipalities are still operating under special charters granted before 1875. They are Augusta, Carrollton, Chillicothe, LaGrange, Liberty, Miami, Missouri City and Pleasant Hill. If the voters of these municipalities decide to relinquish their special charters, they will be governed by the appropriate sections of the statutes relevant to their population classification.

The Missouri Press Association is an organization of newspapers in the state.

Organized May 17, 1867, as the Editors and Publishers Association of Missouri, the name was changed in 1877 to the Missouri Press Association. In 1922, the association became a non-profit corporation; a central office was opened under a field manager whose job it was to travel the state and help newspapers with problems.

The association, located in Columbia, became the fifth press association in the nation to finance its headquarters through member contributions. The MPA's building was purchased in 1969.

As a founder of institutions the Missouri Press Association aided in the establishment of the Confederate Soldiers' Home, the upbuilding of the normal schools, support of the public school system and advancement of the University of Missouri.

The association founded the State Historical Society of Missouri in 1898 and today several of its members serve on the board of trustees. Greatest among its achievements is the establishment of the first school of journalism in the world in 1908. The Missouri School of Journalism at the University of Missouri—Columbia continues as the largest and foremost school of its kind. It will celebrate its centennial in September 2008. The association led the drive to fund the Chair in Community Newspaper Management at the School of Journalism and its donations helped fund the student lounge in the school's Lee Hills Hall.

Through their association, the publishers in Missouri have worked to keep the press free and alert, as well as responsible; to keep it financially independent so it can render impartial public service; to understand changing trends in business and in reader needs. Activities of the association include setting up workshops, seminars, conventions, publishing of a magazine, The Missouri Press News, supplying information to members, helping newspapers find skilled personnel and assisting with the placement of students.

DOUG CREWS
Executive Director
Missouri Press Association

On the occasion of its 100th anniversary in 1966, the association re-established the old Saline County Herald newspaper office in historic Arrow Rock and maintains a newspaper equipment museum in connection with it.

The Missouri Press Foundation administers and funds seminars and workshops for newspaper people, supports Newspapers In Education programs, and funds scholarships and internships for Missouri students studying community journalism in college.

Membership in the association is voluntary. All daily newspapers in the state are members and 99 percent of the weekly newspapers are members. In 2007, there were 252 weekly newspaper members and 48 daily members. The association also has 185 associate and sustaining members. It is supported wholly by dues paid by these members.

The central office in Columbia has nine employees. Doug Crews serves as executive director by appointment of the board of directors.

Show-Me Press Association

The Show-Me Press Association was formed in June 1995 at Lake Ozark when members of the Central Missouri Press and Northeast Missouri Press associations voted to combine their organizations with one board of directors.

In these counties are located the State Capitol, University of Missouri, State Fair Grounds and the University of Central Missouri. The first organizational meeting of Northeast Missouri Publishers was held in Hannibal in November 1889. ## Democratic Editors of Missouri

The present Democratic Editors of Missouri organization had its beginning on June 5, 1894. A meeting of leading party editors of that day was held at Pertle Springs, a well-known resort near Warrensburg, and the first Democratic Press Association was formed. H. Martin Williams was the first president and U.A. McBride, then editor of the Warrensburg Journal-Democrat, was chosen secretary. It was named the Democratic Editorial Association of Missouri.

Ten years later a statewide meeting of Democratic editors held in St. Louis changed the name to Missouri Democratic Press Association. George H. Scruton of the Sedalia Democrat was named president and served until his death two years later. For many years John C. Stapel of the Atchison County Mail at Rock Port was president. He was followed by W.C. Hewitt of the Shelby County Herald of Shelbyville.

The interest of Mark R. Holloran, national Democratic committeeman from Missouri, in a strong party press led to the reorganization of the Democratic Editors of Missouri. He appeared at a breakfast meeting during a Missouri Press Association meeting in Kansas City in November, 1955, and called for an active Democratic press in Missouri. An advisory committee was named including: Edgar Blanton, Shelbina Democrat; Kay Miles, Benton County Guide; John Henry Cox, Atchison County Mail; Jess Stewart, Farmington Press; James C. Kirkpatrick, Windsor Review; and Ben F. Weir, Nevada Daily Mail. The organizational meeting was held March 24, 1956, in Jefferson City with the following officers elected: President, James C. Each May, the Press Women gives the Virginia Betts White Quest Awards to professional communicators who excel and continuously represent the quest of the highest standards of professional ethics and excellence in the field of communications.

The Missouri Affiliate sponsors annual contests for members and high school journalism students. Categories are specified in all fields of communication. First place winners in the state contest are entered automatically in the national contest. In 1971, MPW received the Sweepstakes Award for earning the most points in the national competition.

The first radio stations to begin operations in Missouri were KMBC-AM (now KMBZ) in Kansas City and WEW-AM in St. Louis. Both signed on the air in 1921. In the following years, the number of radio operations steadily increased as the first FM stations began broadcasting in 1948. Today, we have approximately 250 radio stations serving listeners in Missouri.

Television broadcasting began in 1947 when KSD-TV (now KSDK) in St. Louis signed on the air, followed in 1949 by WDAF-TV in Kansas City. Federal policy suspended the granting of any further licenses until 1953. Shortly after licensing resumed, many additional television stations began operations. There are now approximately 45 commercial and public television stations broadcasting a variety of news, information and entertainment programs each day.

The Missouri Broadcasters Association was formed August 15, 1948, in Kansas City. Missouri was the second state to have a full-time broadcast association. North Carolina's association was formed earlier that same year. From its offices in Jefferson City, the MBA works for the broadcasters of Missouri, as well as allied organizations, to provide a variety of services.

The MBA is governed by a four-person executive committee and an eight-person board of directors representing radio and television broadcasters. Board members are elected for two-year terms and may seek re-election for one additional term. In addition, there are four standing committees, each responsible for a specific area of service. There are a total of 42 members serving on these committees. The committees have three roles: to represent member interests in state and federal legislative and regulatory processes; maintain the MBA office as a resource center for training, revenue expansion, cost control and information; and encourage the highest standards in broadcasting.

Since 1968, the Missouri Broadcasters Association has maintained a communications center on the first floor of the State Capitol. These facilities are available to radio and television broadcasters to aid in their coverage of state news. These facilities are also available to state officials and legislators for the recording of information to be sent to radio and television stations in Missouri. Currently, plans are being made to update this facility with the latest technology to better serve these purposes.

Academy of Missouri Squires

An organization unique among the states, the Academy of Missouri Squires was founded in the fall of 1960 by Governor James T. Blair Jr., who established it with a ceiling of 100 members. Governor Blair's purpose was to establish an organization to honor Missourians for their accomplishments at all levels—community, state or nation.

Governor Blair appointed the first class of 10 Squires after consulting leaders in every section of the state. Each succeeding class has been elected by the membership of the Academy, after receiving nominations from the public as well as from the membership of the Academy. The governor and former governors of Missouri are automatically members.

Squires are listed by class. Present addresses are noted in parentheses when different from address at time of election.

The Missouri Consolidated Health Care Plan (MCHCP) was created through legislation passed in May 1992 transferring the administration of the health care program for most of the state's employees and retirees from the Missouri State Employees' Retirement System (MOSERS) to MCHCP. MCHCP officially began operation on January 1, 1994. The legislation also allowed other non-state public entities to join MCHCP. MCHCP began providing access to health insurance for public entities as of January 1995. Types of public entities qualifying for MCHCP coverage include cities, counties, and school districts. MCHCP provides coverage for over 108,000 state and public entity members, retirees and their dependents offering various types of health insurance plans, including health maintenance organization (HMO), point of service (POS) and preferred provider organization (PPO) plans.

The Missouri Consolidated Health Care Plan is governed by a thirteen member board including: the director of the Department of Insurance, Financial Institutions and Professional Registration, director of the Department of Health, commissioner of the Office of Administration, two representatives from the House of Representatives, two representatives from the Senate and six members appointed by the governor. # Flag Etiquette

The following are some of the rules of flag etiquette regarding the time and manner of display and disposal of the flag of the United States of America pursuant to Title 4, Chapter 1 of the United States Code.

- It is the universal custom to display the flag only from sunrise to sunset on buildings and on stationary flagstaffs in the open. However, when a patriotic effect is desired, the flag may be displayed 24 hours a day if properly illuminated during the hours of darkness.

- No other flag or pennant should be placed above or, if on the same level, to the right of the flag of the United States of America, except during church services conducted by naval chaplains at sea, when the church pennant may be flown above the flag during services for the personnel of the Navy.

- No person shall display the flag of the United Nations or any other national or international flag equal, above, or in a position of superior prominence or honor to, or in place of, the flag of the United States at any place within the United States or any Territory or possession thereof; provided, that nothing in this section shall make unlawful the continuance of the practice heretofore followed of displaying the flag of the United Nations in a position of superior prominence or honor, and other national flags in positions of equal prominence or honor, with that of the flag of the United States at the headquarters of the United Nations.

- When flags of States, cities, or localities, or pennants of societies are flown on the same halyard with the flag of the United States, the latter should always be at the peak. When the flags are flown from adjacent staffs, the flag of the United States should be hoisted first and lowered last. No such flag or pennant may be placed above the flag of the United States or to the United States flag's right.

- The flag of the United States of America, when it is displayed with another flag against a wall from crossed staffs, should be on the right, the flag's own right, and its staff should be in front of the staff of the other flag.

- The flag of the United States of America should be at the center and at the highest point of the group when a number of flags of States or localities or pennants of societies are grouped and displayed from staffs.

- When the flags of two or more nations are displayed, they are to be flown from separate staffs of the same height. The flags are to be of approximately equal size. International usage forbids the display of the flag of one nation above that of another nation in time of peace.

- When displayed either horizontally or vertically against a wall, the union should be uppermost and to the flag's own right, that is, to the observer's left. When displayed in a window, the flag should be displayed in the same way, with the union or blue field to the left of the observer in the street.

- When used on a speaker's platform, the flag if displayed flat, should be displayed above and behind the speaker. When displayed from a staff in a church or public auditorium, the flag of the United States of America should hold the position of superior prominence, in advance of the audience, and in the position of honor at the clergyman's or speaker's right as he faces the audience. Any other flag so displayed should be placed on the left of the clergyman or speaker or to the right of the audience.

- The flag, when flown at half-staff, should be hoisted to the peak for an instant and then lowered to the half-staff position. On Memorial Day the flag should be displayed at half-staff until noon only, then raised to the top of the staff. By order of the President, the flag should be flown at half-staff upon the death of principal figures of the United States Government and the Governor of a State, Territory, or possession, as a mark of respect to their memory. In the event of the death of other officials or foreign dignitaries, the flag is to be displayed at half-staff according to Presidential instructions or orders, or in accordance with recognized customs or practices not inconsistent with law.

- In the event of the death of a present or former official of the government of any State, Territory, or possession of the United States, the governor of the state, territory, or possession may proclaim that the national flag shall be flown at half-staff.

- The flag should be hoisted briskly and lowered ceremoniously.

- The flag should be displayed in or near every polling place on election days.

- The flag should be displayed during school days in or near every schoolhouse.

- The flag, when it is such that it is no longer a fitting emblem for display, should be destroyed in a dignified way, preferably by burning.

The Pledge of Allegiance

I pledge allegiance to the Flag of the United States of America, and to the Republic for which it stands, one Nation under God, indivisible, with liberty and justice for all.
